RILEY'S PEN IS STILLED.

Mind Is Blank, Says Poet's Friend.

Stricken Genius Appears to Be Dead When Schoolmates See Him.

Old Self Flashes But Once, Then He Lapses Into Monosyllables.

News of His Plight Carefully Concealed at Indianapolis, His Home.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EXINGTON (Ky.) Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That James Whitcomb Riley, the famous Hoosier poet has been ill since last summer, [illegible] of his illness, which has been concealed by his friends and the newspapers of his home city, Indianapolis, has just come to light.

With two life-long women friends of Mr. Riley, one of whom was a schoolmate of the poet in his native town of Greenfield, John Wilson Townsend, the Kentucky writer, called at the Riley home December 29, and there, Mr. Townsend told a friend, he received one of the greatest shocks of his life.

THE POET'S PLIGHT.

On a sofa, with his eyes staring into vacancy, the veins of his face flushed, his hair almost gone, his small emaciated body covered with a big robe, lay the greatest poet Indiana can claim and one of the world's foremost dialect poets, James Whitcomb Riley. Mr. Townsend said his first thought was: "Riley is dead."

One of the women told the poet her name and asked him if he remembered her.

"Alice? Alice? Alice?" he said, and then finally: "Eh, Eh, yes, of course I do, sit down."

GREAT MIND DIES.

"Only once," Mr. Townsend continued, "did Riley's mind flash up like the final flicker of a spluttering candle before it goes out when he asked Alice: 'Well, anybody dead or married out in Greenfield?'"

Then with the trace of a smile he fell back into his monosyllables and short questions and answers.

For many years Riley had lived in the home of the late Major Charles L. Holstein, the Indiana poet and lawyer. He has had several strokes of paralysis, he is helpless, his mind is practically a complete blank. Truly, "Riley is dead."

CHICAGO ITALIAN BEATEN UP.

Refuses Demands for Money Sent Him by Letter and Is Attacked on Street by Thugs.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Following the reception by him of threatening letters in which demands were made for $200, Joseph Cavignara, an ice dealer, was severely beaten by two Italians at Wells and Chestnut streets, at 7:30 o'clock this morning.

Cavignara was passing the men when one of them drew a club and struck him in the face, inflicting a deep gash over the left eye. Cavignara, who carried an ice tongs, struck one of his assailants in the face. The men escaped.

"I believe the men who attacked me are the ones who have written letters to me demanding money," said Cavignara. "I received two letters, but treated them at first as the work of jokers. Then I turned them over to the police."

To Command Battleship Fleet.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4.—It is reported at Mare Island navy yard that Commandant Hugo Osterhaus, who has had charge of the station for over a year, will leave for the Atlantic seaboard in June to take command of the Atlantic battleship fleet.

MAIN ATTACK AT DAYBREAK

Rebels Warn Juarez Authorities.

Orozco Joins Forces With Blanco and Strikes at Federals.

Fierce Battle Raging Where Torn-Up Tracks Stopped Troop Train.

Non-Combatants Flee Over American Boundary for Safety.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

EL PASO, Feb. 4.—The battle of Juarez will begin about sunrise Sunday morning and an attack will be made simultaneously from the east and west. Orozco has announced that he will fight only in daytime and will take care in making the attack not to jeopardize American lives or the property in El Paso.

Orozco and Blanco joined forces early tonight fourteen miles south of El Paso. They are now engaged in battle with Col. Rabaga, who arrived at 7 o'clock over the Mexican Northwestern.

The battle is a fierce one and has been raging without intermission since 7 o'clock.

FROM OROZCO'S CAMP.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO (Tex.) Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gen. Orozco, in Campo Operacion, twelve miles below Juarez, on the Mexico Northwestern Railroad, will not attack the town of Juarez until daybreak Sunday morning. This news was brought to El Paso tonight by H. S. Potter, superintendent of the street railway, and George Rutledge, superintendent of the Mexico Northwestern, who went to the camp on a railway motor car and talked with Gen. Orozco.

The Northwestern's track has been torn up at the point where Orozco has established his temporary camp—two rails have been taken up to wreck the Northwestern passenger train from Casas Grandes, which is thought to bear Federal troops to relieve the Juarez garrison. The train was due there this evening and seventy-five cases of dynamite were stacked along the track to be used in case the soldiers under Gen. Rabago were on board.

Gen. Orozco has been joined by Gen. Blanco with 250 reinforcements for the insurrecto army outside of Juarez.

Consul F. T. Edwards, in charge of the American consulate in Juarez, received official notification from Gen. Orozco today that he intended to take the town within the twenty-four hours between Saturday and Sunday, and that he would probably shell the town if it did not surrender. The American consul thereupon ordered all non-combatants to leave town and the Juarez line cars were soon crowded with the refugees fleeing to El Paso. The Consul also sent an official notification to the Jefe Politico of Juarez, notifying him that he would be expected to protect American citizens and American interests to the best of his ability.

TOWN UNDERMINED.

The town is known to be undermined with heavy charges of dynamite and the Consuls are urging their charges to remain indoors or leave for the American side to avoid the explosions which are expected to result when the attacking party starts to take the town.

The fortifications have been strengthened and the citizens have been working for the past twenty-four hours to get everything possible done to withstand the attack.

A Red Cross hospital with a capacity for fifty wounded has been established on Calle Juarez, in charge of Dr. F. L. Arguiles, the municipal surgeon, and a corps of prominent Juarez doctors. The society women of the town are volunteering to act as Red Cross nurses and the Protective Red Cross flag is flying from the emergency hospital. Private residences are also being fitted as hospitals and will be used for caring for the wounded when the battle begins.

Miss Annette Cowles, a Canadian-American, who has been in charge of the hospital of the Mexican National lines in Mexico City has volunteered her services to the insurrectos to act as head nurse of their emergency hospital in Campo Operacion and will probably go through the Federal lines under a flag of truce tonight or early tomorrow morning. She will

CHURCH LEADER AN EMBEZZLER.

SENSATION SPRUNG AT TERRE HAUTE, INDIANA.

Appropriates $30,000 of Building and Loan Association Money to Bolster Up Company in Which He Is Interested—Turns Over Property to Insure Against Loss.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TERRE HAUTE (Ind.) Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Coming as a bomb out of a clear sky today, it was learned that John A. Dailey, churchman, prominent Y.M.C.A. leader, and secretary of the Home Building and Loan Association, had misused $30,000 of the company's fund.

He admits his guilt and says that no one except himself will lose anything. A year ago he began taking the association's money and investing it in a clay industry that he had founded at Bloomingdale. The clay company issued bonds and Dailey advanced the money, putting tickets in the cash drawer.

Dailey had proposed to the directors of the association that the bonds be bought as an investment, but they delayed action on his recommendation for five months. In the meantime Dailey had put the bonds in the vault as security for the $30,000 he had taken. He had hoped to make the sale and then straighten out the records so that the directors would not know that he had acted without their authority and bought the bonds.

Dailey has made an assignment to the association of his property which is said to be worth considerable more than the $30,000. He says he will sell the bonds, reimburse the association and take back his property. He has interests in another clay industry and was supposed to be a highly prosperous man. He is chairman of the board of directors of the Y.M.C.A. and treasurer of the Central Christian Church, which he has helped greatly in a flanancial way.

MILLIONAIRE PROVES USEFUL.

St. Louis Capitalist Chases Fleeing Thief in Automobile and Recovers Stolen Money.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] George J. Kobusch, millionaire president of the St. Louis Car Works and head of an automobile factory, in his automobile today chased a wagon nearly five miles through the streets and captured the driver, who was alleged to have stolen $10 from a woman.

Kobusch, with three friends in his automobile, was leaving the car works when Joseph Sick hailed him and cried:

"Mister, that man driving that wagon stole $10 from that poor woman."

Kobusch turned his automobile south and chased the wagon. At Tenth and North Market streets is a police station and Kobusch went there and called for a policeman. The auto went at the rate of fifty miles an hour until it caught the wagon and the policeman leaped out and arrested the driver. He had a $10 bill in his pocket when searched.

Demagoguery of Worst Type.

HENEY VIOLENTLY ASSAILS THE UNITED STATES CONSTITUTION.

BY W. R. WILLIAMS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The attempt to Heney-ize the Legislature soon after its being Lissnerized and Johnsonized has not had the effect desired by the triumvirate of socialist "Progressives."

Heney's demagogic speech in reply to the scholarly presentation of the Bar Association's protest against applying the recall to the judiciary has seriously injured the plan to drive the recall, as prepared by Senator Gates for the administration, through the Senate.

Unfortunately for Heney there are twenty lawyers of distinction in the Senate and some of them revere the Constitution of the fathers. They still believe it fundamentally the spirit of Americanism. Consequently the demagoguery of Heney last night is reiterated by members today and the more thought is given to his words the more resentment is shown.

These are some of the things Heney, parading up and down and screaming his constitutional heresies, offended the members with:

"The Constitution was a job made up in secret by aristocrats and slipped over by Alexander Hamilton and others who believed in monarchial government."

"The Constitution was a conspiracy of 'Big Business' against the people."

"I am sick and disgusted at this reverence for the fathers of the Constitution."

"The right of the Supreme Court to pass on the constitutionality of the acts of Congress was a stolen right."

"The Constitution was framed in the dark and its authors were so afraid of publicity that what transpired they did not dare to publish for fifty years."

Contrasting this spewing of intoxicated radicalism with the sane, patriotic and conclusive arguments of Wheeler is having a tremendous effect on the members of the upper house. And it is also having similar influence in the lower body.

TRIPLE PROPOSITION.

The result will probably be, at worst, a triple recall proposition by which separate amendments providing for

CITES BRIDE TO APPEAR.

Political Fight Takes New Twist.

Process Server, Thrown from Catlin Home, Bobs Up Serenely.

Sister of Congressman-elect Is Wanted to Explain "Beer Dinner."

Society Favorite Is Alleged to Have Distributed Campaign Funds.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At the end of a process server's twenty-four-hours siege of the home of Daniel Catlin, multi-millionaire tobacco manufacturer, during which his daughter, Miss Irene Catlin, became the wife there of Frederick W. Allen, a New York banker, her brother, Theron Catlin, announced that she would accept service of the summons to appear February 14 in the Congressional election contest of Congressman Patrick Gill against her brother, Theron.

Frederick Kline, the chief process server, who had been thrown out of the Catlin home during the siege by a special detective, was notified by the butler at 4:10 this afternoon that he might enter.

He was introduced to the bride by her brother. She was attired in a traveling gown ready to start for Palm Beach, Fla., with her husband.

"I am sorry to have kept you waiting," she said, "but we (pointing to her husband) wanted to wait until we were married."

SMILE "SQUARES" THINGS.

She gave Kline a pink [illegible] and a smile and he said:

"Oh, that's all right."

Congressman Gill demanded the summons be served before the sister of Theron Catlin, Republican, who defeated him for Congress, left town.

Gill's representative stated he could prove that she told Nat Goldstein, manager of Theron Catlin's Congressional campaign, that her brother did not know how to disburse his campaign funds.

Gill's representatives alleged Miss Catlin told Goldstein he was not to go to Theron Catlin for money but was to apply at the Catlin residence when the campaign exchequer needed replenishing.

Gill's lawyers also want to question her concerning a dinner the day after election at the Catlin home which she is alleged to have given working men, who, after imbibing beer, called for Theron Catlin and had him address them, according to a witness's testimony.

FATHER IS SERVED.

Daniel Catlin, the Congressman-elect's father, was served with summons in the contest at 10:30 this morning. Congressman-elect Catlin claims the time for hearing the contest has expired.

After Miss Catlin entertained President Roosevelt's daughter, Alice, during the St. Louis World's Fair, Miss Catlin was presented at the British royal court.

Miss Catlin, a tall and distinguished-looking blonde, and Mr. Allen were married at high noon in a balcony overlooking the hall of the Catlin home. They stood under arches of Bermuda lilies. She wore her mother's wedding dress, Alencon lace over a white satin gown. Dr. W. J. McKittrick, First Presbyterian Church pastor, performed the ceremony.

The bride was unattended, but the bridegroom had an unusually large number of attendants with her brother, and Philip Allen of Walpole, Mass., as groomsman. The wedding presents were the most numerous and costly ever given a St. Louis bride. Among the ushers were J. E. Davis, J. C. Greenway, Percy A. Rockefeller, F. B. Adams and W. S. Coffin, all of New York; Hulbert Taft, Cincinnati, O.

Among the out-of-town guests were: From New York, Mmes. William G. and Percy A. Rockefeller, Mrs. Bradley-Martin, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Gates McGarrah and the William Sloan Coffins; from Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leiter.

MRS. SCHENK TO GET ALIMONY.

Husband Willing to Pay Her $75 Per Month If She Will Leave City and Never Return.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WHEELING (W. Va.) Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Owing to the illness of Judge Herver, the question of alimony for Laura Farnsworth Schenk, which was to come before him today, was postponed. The matter will be taken up as soon as Judge Herver recovers. It is said that John O. Schenk is willing to allow his wife $75 a month, if, after her case is disposed of, she will leave the city, never to return. Counsel for Mrs. Schenk say this arrangement will be satisfactory.

Right One?

HE'S BELIEVED TO BE SCHMIDT, "TIMES" BUILDING DYNAMITER.

Man Under Arrest in Oklahoma City Answers Description of the Fiendish Murderer and Destroyer in Detail, and May Soon Be Identified — Habeas-Corpus Proceedings Instituted for His Release Fail.

ALMOST positive information has been obtained by Dist.-Atty. Fredericks that the one-eyed man arrested in Oklahoma City last Monday, under the name of Charles Smith, is none other than M. A. Schmidt, the leader of the dynamiting trio, Schmidt, Brice and Caplan, who destroyed the Times Building on the morning of October 1, ruthlessly murdering a score of employees. In order to leave no room for doubt, a pal of Schmidt's from Chicago is on his way to identify the prisoner. If he succeeds in his mission, Schmidt will be rushed here under a heavy guard at the earliest possible moment.

Yesterday habeas-corpus proceedings instituted in Oklahoma City by attorneys for Smith, or Schmidt, failed, and Smith will be forced to remain in jail until officers from Los Angeles reach there. This means that there will be no legal obstacle to prevent the prisoner's trip here if the identification is made positive. Dist.-Atty. Fredericks has the requisition papers all prepared for the Governor's signature. Every precaution will be taken to prevent his escape, and an armed force sufficiently strong to stand off a mob of unionites will be sent along under command of the District Attorney's chief detective. The fact that habeas-corpus proceedings were brought immediately upon Smith's arrest is regarded as a suspicious circumstance by the authorities here.

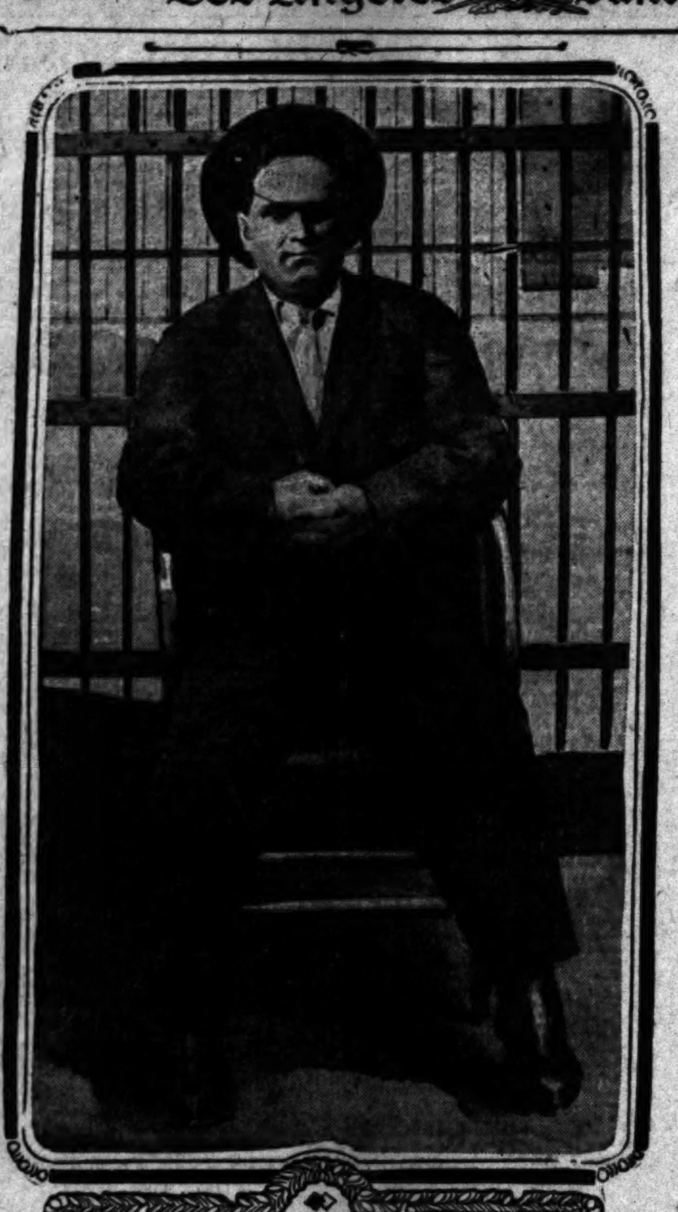
Smith was taken in custody by Chief of Police J. A. Brown of Clinton, Okla., upon the dynamiter's description contained in the circulars scattered broadcast throughout the country by the District Attorney's office. Brown followed Smith two weeks through various cities of Oklahoma before finally rounding him up.

At the time of his arrest Smith or Schmidt was a clerk at the Globe Hotel, a gambling resort. The proprietor, Gus Spiker, asserts that Smith was in Oklahoma City on October 1, when the Times Building was dynamited. Friends of the prisoner also aver that he has never been in California in his life. And Smith takes his arrest nonchalantly, according to reports.

But Dist.-Atty. Fredericks and Detective Browne are almost certain that the prisoner is none other than the man who, with Brice and Caplan, reduced the Times Building to a heap of ashes and snuffed out the lives of twenty employees. They have had excellent photographs of the prisoner taken in his jail quarters. These show his face and form from various angles, and are so true to the real Schmidt that they have gone to the expense of sending a man all the way from Chicago to make the identification absolute.

The four men who have positively identified the pictures of the prisoner as those of "Schmitty" are well acquainted with the dynamiter. They boarded at the same place with him in San Francisco and in Chicago, and are sure of their man. Capt. Fredericks, however, did not wish to take the slightest chance of a faulty identification, and for that reason summoned one of the dynamiter's pals.

This man will arrived in Oklahoma City today or tomorrow at the latest, and then the identification of the prisoner will be settled. If the man in custody turns out to be Schmidt, Chief of Police Brown of Clinton will be $5000 richer.



Is He Schmidt, the Times Dynamiter?

"Charles Smith" under arrest in Oklahoma City, papers for whose requisition are ready for prsentation to the Governor, in case he is identified as the wholesale murderer and destroyer of property. District Attorney Fredericks expects to establish his identity beyond question today or tomorrow. Attorneys for the prisoner brought habeas-corpus proceedings immediately after arrest to effect his release, but these failed yesterday. He seems to answer the description of Schmidt in every particular, his worthless left eye being conspicuous.

Holds the Key.

FATE OF LORIMER BELIEVED TO DEPEND ON ATTITUDE OF CULLOM.

Venerable Illinois Senator's Vote as to Seating Man Whom Scandal's Breath Has Tainted Will Be Followed by Many Members of Upper House — Trying Position in Which Middle West Solon Finds Himself.

BY SUMNER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Cullom is likely to hold the key to [illegible] settlement of the Lorimer case. [illegible] veloped today that several Senators—enough in all probability to determine the issue as to the right of Mr. Lorimer to his seat—are waiting to be guided by the senior Senator from Illinois. There is reason to believe that Senator Hale's "appeal" for some one to come to the rescue of Illinois at the conclusion of Senator Root's terrific arraignment yesterday, was designed to obtain a direct statement from Senator Cullom.

What is deemed of essential importance by many of Senator Cullom's colleagues at this particular time, is his personal view of the circumstances surrounding the election of Mr. Lorimer to the seat in the Senate. If he feels called upon to speak as to corruption in the Illinois Legislature Senator Cullom probably will contend that his State has not been afflicted more than other States. He may not deny—for his friends believe he realizes the fact—that the last Legislature and the one immediately preceding were under corrupt influences beyond the normal.

What is of immediate concern, however, is Senator Cullom's vote on the case now pending before the Senate. The venerable Senator is confronted with the most unpleasant situation of his public career. He has declined to announce publicly what stand he will take, and upon that stand depends the votes of several of his colleagues whose minds are revolving with respect to what disposition shall be made of the charges affecting Mr. Lorimer.

Not only upon the direct authority of Senator Cullom, but upon the authority of persons who have sought to ascertain his position, the statement is warranted that the Senator from the State of Lincoln and Grant does not see how he can vote to permit Mr. Lorimer to retain his seat. His position as thus understood, is deeply regretted—to use a mild term—by Speaker Cannon, Representative Lowden and Representative McKinley of the Illinois delegation in Congress, all of whom have been exerting influence to the utmost to save Lorimer from being unseated.

It is understood that Senator Cullom takes the position that these members of the House, however, are not clothed with any responsibility in settling the unfortunate case now pressing for a settlement. But there are Senators from other States who figure Cullom's vote under the circumstances as a vital factor. This is because of his long years of service and the convictions that he has a fuller and better understanding of the conditions at Springfield than any one else can have.

One Republican Senator with open mind has declared he will vote on Lorimer as Cullom votes and he asserts there are at least ten other members of the Senate who will do likewise.

Senator Cullom's name is twenty-sixth on the Senate roll call, and preceding him, when the vote is taken—if it ever is—are a fairly good bunch of the progressive element whose position in the pending case is well known.

Efforts are likely to be made to obtain from Senator Cullom a statement of his attitude before there is a vote. But if these efforts fail, it is declared to be the purpose of several Senators to withhold their votes until his name has been called.

CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER

Seven Men Held to Answer in Connection With Dynamite Explosion at Communipaw, New Jersey.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Seven officials and employees of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, and the Dupont Nemours Powder Company, and Capt. James Healing, of the ship Katherine W., the destroyed powder boat, arraigned on charges of manslaughter in connection with the dynamite explosion at Communipaw last Wednesday, waived examination today before Judge Queen of the Second Criminal Court in Jersey City, and were ordered held under bond to await the action of the Hudson county grand jury.

Tyrno Anderson, one of the Ingrid crew, has told the police he was offered a bribe to testify that he heard two distinct explosions when a dynamite blast wrought such havoc last Wednesday. Anderson had told the alleged briber that he had heard only one report.

The eight men held today for grand jury action are Frederick C. Peters, manager of the Dupont company; Ralph G. Morse, assistant manager; Capt. Burr St. John, superintendent of transportation of the same company; James Healing, owner of the powder boat Katherine W.; Arthur Hamilton, general freight agent of the Jersey Central Railroad; J. M. Morris, Communipaw freight agent of the Jersey Central; Louis Gallaudette, dock master; Charles Ridder, a clerk of the railroad.

DIES FROM LION'S ATTACK.

Brother of English Minister at British East Africa Encounters Wild Beast While Alone.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NAIROBA (B. E. A.) Feb 4.—George Gray, a brother of Sir Edward Gray, the British minister of foreign affairs, died during the night at the hospital, to which he was removed following his encounter with a lion last Tuesday.

Mr. Gray, with several companions, was stalking lion when he separated from the others and was suddenly set upon by a large beast. He was badly wounded before his friends could come to his rescue.

LORD DECIES DINES USHERS AND OTHER GUESTS AT GOTHAM HOTEL.

Vivien Gould's Fiance Celebrates Departure from Bachelorhood With Near-Relatives and Friends at Board—Wedding Gifts of Costly Gems and Rare Jewelry Represent Several Fortunes.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Col. Lord Decies, who is to marry Miss Helen Vivien Gould, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould on next Tuesday in St. Bartholomew's Church, celebrated his departure from bachelorhood this evening by giving a dinner at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel. His guests included foreigners of note as well as a unmber of New York men of social and business prominence. It is seldom that a nobleman gives a dinner of this nature in New York, and tonight's affair was the first of its kind ever held in New York's newest hotel.

Lord Decies's guests included his best man, a cousin, Lord Alastair Graham, of the British royal navy and son of the Duke of Montrose, Earl Percy, Lord Camoys, head of the Stonor family, which has figured prominently in English history; Robin Grey, also of London; Phoenix Ingraham, Moncure Robinson, Francis W. Crowninshield, Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., and Robert H. Russell. These will be his ushers. The other guests included Capt. Lamb, the Hon. George A. Wilkinson, brother-in-law of Lord Decies, and the Hon. Seton Beresford, a brother.

Some of the intimate friends of Miss Vivien Gould have had an opportunity of seeing the wedding gifts which she has received and have found them wonderfully beautiful. Mr. Gould has given his daughter a superb coronet of diamonds, topped with nine pear-shaped diamonds, and also a necklace of diamonds to which is attached a corsage ornament of the same gems.

Among Mrs. Gould's gifts are a fine gold chain set with diamonds, to which are attached as pendants a beautiful pink pear-shaped pearl and two marquise-cut diamonds; a sautoir of pearls and two rings, one set with rubies and diamonds and the other with a large pearl surrounded with smaller ones.

From Miss Helen Gould to her niece came a dog collar of matched pearls set with diamond bars. Her brothers Kingdon, Jay and George Gould gave her a bracelet set with solitaire diamonds and her grandmother, Mrs. Charles G. Kingdon, sent her a brooch of diamonds.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., her brother-in-law and sister, sent a gold vanity case with a diamond monogram and there was a similar one from Dr. and Mrs. William B. Anderson.

Mrs. Clarence Mackay's gift was a watch of blue enamel set with diamonds and pendant to a chain of pearls.

Mrs. Russell Sage sent a flexible placque of pearls and diamonds, and Harry S. Black's gift was a pearl and diamond brooch. From Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Jeffrey came a mesh purse of gold and platinum set with diamonds and a monogram of the same gems. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Penfield's was also of diamond slides for the neck. There are still more jewels to come. The Duke and Duchess of Connaught sent to Lord Decies a sold gold ink set.

Many gifts are awaiting the couple in London. From fellow officers of Lord Decies in the Seventh Hussars, his regiment, there is a silver tea service engraved with the names of the donors.

The Marquis and Marchioness of Waterford have sent a set of Chippendale furniture, and the Earl and Countess of Fingall a pearl brooch. Gertrude, Lady Decies, sister-in-law of Lord Decies, has sent a gold dessert service, and the Marquis and Marchioness of Bredalbane, a dressing case fitted with articles. From Mr. and Mrs. Maldwyn Drummond there is a tea service of silver and from Mrs. Willie James a set of old English silver candlesticks. There are also many gifts from members of Lord Decies's family.

Numerous presents have been received from friends in New York. Mr. and Mrs. Elbert H. Gary have sent a superb toilet set of gold and Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish a gold toilet set for automobiling. From Mr. and Mrs. Orme Wilson there was a writing set of dark blue Italian leather embossed with gold and from Mrs. Herman Oelrichs one of dark crimson Morocco leather heavily embossed with gold. Mrs. Joseph Stickney sent a set of English silver table jars made in 1768, and from Justice and Mrs. James W. Gerard there were two pierced dishes of old English silver.

Miss Gould's gifts to her bridesmaids will be gold vanity boxes. Lord Decies will give his best men and ushers scarf pins set with diamonds.

DECIES CHALLENGER FIRES MORE HOT SHOT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Angered by the indifference which his invitation to battle has been received "John Madison Thomas," the challenger of Lord Decies, fiance of Vivien Gould, wrote today to the newspapers indignantly telling of his fruitless efforts as a representative of the American Girls' American Society Association to find any or all the members of the Beresford family now in America and exact satisfaction on the field of honor for the winning of Miss Gould's hand and fortune by the head of their house. The handwriting of the letter—he may employ a feminine amanuensis—is distinctly ladylike, a feature strangely at variance with the warlike declarations he set forth.

Here is some of Mr. Thomas's letter:

"City Editor, Sir: In a burst of ten-room eloquence characteristic of his kind, the Hon. S. R. Beresford, according to the Evening World, today, proclaims:

" 'Oh, but I should like to get at the beggah.' I immediately called up his hotel and announced the 'Beggah' in question would be indeed happy to get at the 'Hon. S. R.'

" 'Beg-gah!' A happy word for one of his tribe of paupers to spout on landing here, is it not? Beggar, indeed. Who paid his passage and the passage of his party? And who will pay his hotel bills while here? Beggar, ah, yes. A fitting chant.

"This challenge stands. I am in the city until Saturday evening and will delay my departure readily.

[Signed.]

PLAN NEW DRY DOCK.

VICTORIA (B. C.) Feb 4.—Work will be started at once on the construction of a large dry dock at Esquimalt, suitable to the requirements of the Canadian warships to be built for the Pacific. W. E. and H. F. Bullen of the British Colmubia Marine Railway of Esquimalt, who have been in Ottawa in connection with the application for the Dominion subsidy for the construction of a dry dock and to interview the government officials with regard to the proposed construction of warships for the new navy, returned to Victoria last night and announced that the work on the shipyard would begin at once. Regarding naval construction here they said it was the fixed policy of the government to have the vessels planned for the new Canadian navy built in Canada.

PARIS RESENTS SUGGESTIVENESS

"Not Wickedest City in World," Says Senator.

"Pornography Must Be Wiped," He Declares.

Plans Crusade Against Lewd Works of Art.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Paris is tired of being called the wickedest city in the world. A great movement, backed by seventy-three societies and headed by the veteran Senator Beranger, has been started to fight determinedly against the flood of filthy literature and immoral pictures inundating the city.

PAREE IS "SMIRCHED."

"Pornography must be wiped out in France immediately," is the slogan. "Paris cannot afford to have its fair name smirched by the insults openly offered to visitors in the streets. It cannot afford to expose the young generation to the pernicious influences of immoral art. It cannot be the catch-all of the dirty scum cast out by other nations."

Today the correspondent visited Senator Beranger and asked him what the strongest force was that opposed the purifying movement.

"Public indifference," replied the Senator with a show of indignation. "Every Frenchman believes that it does not concern his own family and shrugs his shoulders.

"The condition is not new. Greece and Rome suffered from the same pest but limited it to certain degenerate circles among the educated rich.

HAS WIDE SCOPE.

"Now, however, pornographic commerce is not restricted to the back rooms of disreputable shops. Its ramifications extend from one country to another. It crosses the frontiers and becomes an international plague. England and Germany have begun measures to check it and France must do likewise.

"We already have laws prohibiting the sale of indecent literature and unclean works of art. The police have recently seized thousands of cinematographic films and hundreds of pictures and post cards. We must also have laws against the manufacture of such articles."

"Do you believe that art is a sufficent excuse for immorality?"

"No. Anything immoral must be forbidden even if made by the greatest artist."

San Francisco Judge Insists Upon Paying of Alimony to Wife Whom Iowan Divorces.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCICSO, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Subterfuge and connivance to cast off a wife who has been his helpmate for thirty-six years was today frowned upon by Judge Graham to such an extent that J. B. Warren, a former business man of San Francisco, is not rid of Mrs. Christina Warren, whom he divorced in Iowa several years ago.

The Warrens were married in 1874 and reared a family. In 1906 the husband brought a divorce suit for cruelty. Mrs. Warren denied specifically every charge and moved the court to allow her sufficient alimony for the support of herself and minor children. The application was granted and $50 a month was ordered paid by Warren. No sooner was the alimony ordered entered than Warren left San Francisco and went to Iowa, where he established a legal residence and sued for divorce again. However, the suit in the local court was allowed to remain standing.

Warren obtained the Iowa divorce without any alimony attachment and several weeks ago, through a local attorney, he filed dismissal of the San Francisco suit.

Mrs. Warren then learned of the Iowa divorce and appeared in court, where she explained that although her husband had been ordered to pay her $50 a month, he has paid nothing and left the State to avoid paying. The judge scored Warren for his attempt to evade alimony.

the recall of the administrative, legislative and judicial officials will be submitted as alternatives. The voter may thus choose one or all.

Others are advocating the biennial recall of judges. But this plan, even though it bears the Commonwealth Club's label, is gaining only merriment. It is jocosely styled an amendment to "Make the judiciary behave for six months before each election." It is also called the biennial "spanking" bee.

The most important news today is that the Governor is to demand the adoption of the Gates amendment without change as to judges. Wheeler assumed that the Republican platfrom which indorsed the recall never intended to include the judges. He is finding out now that this socialistic instrument is to be the shibboleth of the "progressive" radicals and that it is to be made a test of whether a member is "machine' or "independent."

Feeling that the amendment would be emasculated so far as its potency in controlling the judiciary is concerned, the "big stick" ordered Heney to the front to make the measure sacred.

It had been intended that the mild-mannered Dr. John R. Haynes of Los Angeles, "father of the I-R-R," not the "I.W.W.," should tell why judges should be recalled. But the doctor's political prescriptions are not for the class of men in the Legislature. While political revolution is on foot and there is a chance to upset representative government entirely it devolved on Heney to bear the torch to set aflame passion.

AMPLE PROVISION ALREADY.

In this connection the recent Ruef decision is being used among the members as justification for the recall of the judiciary. In his argument Wheeler urged that the Legislature avail itself of teh provisions of article 6 of Section X, of the Constitution, which permits the removal of any judge by concurrent resolution of both houses by a two-thirds vote. It was a suggestion that awakened the members to the fact that they have now ample provision to discipline the judiciary when occasion demands.

Heney's answer to this suggestion was that the section gives the corporations control of the judiciary and that it ought to be repealed.

It is not understood that the Cartwright resolution in the Senate calling for an investigation of the Ruef decision is more than a suggestion to the lower house. It is to be let die in the Judiciary Committee because the process of impeachment must begin in the Assembly and the Senate is the tribunal. For the tribunal itself to institute prosecution is not deemed proper, though it received the Cartwright resolution as an intimation to the Assembly that the Senate is conscious of its power.

BONDS FOR CHINESE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Secretary Nagel has issued an order which is expected to remove any friction between the United States and the Chinese government over the detention of merchants, students, travelers and others not subject to the exclusion laws who often arrive with incomplete or otherwise faulty credentials and necessarily are detained at the immigration stations. In future any Chinese of class entitled to entry whose credentials are not satisfactory may be released on a bond of $200 pending an investigation.

MARK TWAIN'S FACILE PEN TOOK SLAM AT THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Manuscript of Dead Dean of American Humorists Pictures Doughty Colonel as "Showy Charlatan" Whom Deluded Nation Has Admired as "Ancients Did the Golden Calf."

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Books formerly owned and manuscripts written by Samuel Clemens (Mark Twain,) collected here for disposal at auction at an early date, are found to contain some excellent indications of the late author's methods of work.

An interesting and comparatively recent document refers to Col. Theodore Roosevelt.

One of the early manuscripts is a page of notes for an outline of a portion of the story of Tom Sawyer, which relates to the fight in the cave. Among the notes are written "quarrel, fight, Potter knocked down with Tom's shovel. Joe rushes in and knocks Potter insensible. Joe will bury doctor in Tom's hole and will make Potter think he is accessory. Finds treasure—goes and hides it—returns and finds P. up. No use to bury body for Potter thinks he did it."

Among the other manuscripts is one described as an "Article on the Inauguration of President Taft and the Deliverance of the Country from Mr. Roosevelt," dated March 6, 1909.

A portion of it follows:

"Astronomers assure us that the attraction of gravitation on the surface of the sun is twenty-eight times as powerful as is the force of the earth's surface; and that the object which weighs 217 pounds elsewhere would weigh 6000 pounds there.

"For seven years this country has lain smothering under a burden like that, the incubus, representing, in the person of President Roosevelt, the difference between 217 pounds and 6000.

"Thanks be, we got rid of this disastrous burden—day before yesterday, at last. Forever? Probably not. Probably only for a brief breathing spell wherein, under Mr. Taft, we may hope to get back some of our health—four years. We may expect to have Mr. Roosevelt sitting on us again with his twenty-eight times the weight of any Presidential burden that a hostile providence would impose upon us for our sins—"

"Our people have adored this showy charlatan as perhaps no impostor of his breed has been adored since the golden calf; so it is to be expected that the nation will want him back again after he is done hunting other wild animals theoretically in Africa with the safeguard and advertising equipment of a park of artillery and a brass band."

Distillation Nature's Own Proce[illegible]

Distilled Water Is the Most "N[illegible] Water for Drinking Pur[illegible]

Puritas Distilled Water Is the [illegible] Reliably Pure Water Obtain[illegible] Hereabouts.

Did you know that distilled [illegible] was really the most "natural" [illegible] drinking purposes? As a matter [illegible] fact, rain water is nothing but [illegible] water—distilled in Nature's [illegible] oratory.

The heat of the sun causes [illegible] water to rise as a vapor, thereby [illegible] ing most of the impurities [illegible] may have contained. It gathers [illegible] clouds and is condensed—falling [illegible] the earth in the form of rain.

Indeed, rain water would be [illegible] desirable for drinking purposes [illegible] for the fact that the drops of [illegible] fall through an atmosphere [illegible] impure by smoke, dust, etc., [illegible] taking up impurities in transit.

We follow Nature's methods [illegible] production of Puritas Distilled [illegible] Roughly speaking, we turn water [illegible] steam. Upon reaching this vapor [illegible] form whatever impurities the [illegible] may have contained are deposited [illegible] solids in the boiler. We [illegible] the pure part of the water—the [illegible] the steam—into water again [illegible] water. Puritas Distilled Water [illegible] through this process twice, [illegible] we have found that double dis[illegible] is necessary to secure absolutely [illegible] water.

Then we aerate Puritas with [illegible] ozone, securing this by passing [illegible] rent of electricity through [illegible]

We bottle Puritas in clean [illegible] demijohns, wrapping the cork [illegible] lest impurities filtering through [illegible] ous corks may contaminate the [illegible] water within the demijohn.

Our process provides for every [illegible] tingency—it guarantees you [illegible] formly pure water—one that [illegible] rely upon at all times.

If you depend for drinking [illegible] upon ordinary natural water [illegible] from streams, springs, or wells [illegible] find that, in most cases, you are [illegible] ing water that is highly mineral[illegible] This is true of most waters in [illegible] ern California. RAGING RIVER ALTERS COURSE.

San Benito Does Great Damage to Ranch Land.

Cuts New Channel; Sweeps All Before It.

Water Higher Than It Has Been for Forty Years.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The San Benito River, which is swollen by the heavy rains, is doing a great deal of damage at San Benito. It has changed its course and is sweeping everything before it.

On Taylor's ranch, five acres of land and a barn full of hay were washed away by the powerful current.

The property loss as a result of the storm will run into the thousands of dollars. The river subsided slightly today.

Cutting into the earth at a bend near Taylor's place the current has been pushing the new course farther and farther for several days until a new channel has been cut through the farm and the old one is carrying little of the flood water. The property is between this city and Hollister.

In this county the sun broke warm and bright today and except for minor damage, mostly in the holding back of the crop sowing, there has been little damage by the second storm. All the local weather prophets predicted rain today and the sun shone all day.

The water is higher than it has been for forty years, and the telephone lines in the southern part of the county are down.

The stage lines have not been able to make any trips since last Saturday, and the mail is carried across the river on horseback.

The bridge between Hollister and San Juan is still in an unsafe condition and only very light rigs are allowed to go across it. A crew of men is watching it night and day to keep the brush from collecting around the piles.

STATE NEEDS FOREST FUNDS.

California's Losses Indicate Lack of Protective Measures, Deputy Forester States in Report.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 4.—Figures prepared by State Forester Homans show that during 1910 there were 738 brush, grass and forest fires in California, against 638 for the same period of 1909. The excess for 1910 does not show an actual increase for the year, but greater efficiency in fire fighting, asserts Deputy State Forester Hodge. In other words, wardens reported a greater percentage of the fires in 1910 than were reported the year previous.

Fires were of three classes, as follows: Small fires, put out by one man, [illegible] fires burning about ten acres, 205, [illegible] fires which gave considerable trouble, 251. The average fire burned over 634 acres of land and 326,000 feet [illegible] timber, worth $814, besides damage [illegible] ground, to new growth and watershed. In other words, the average fire burned more than a section of land and took seventy-four men ten hours to extinguish.

The total number of acres burned over in 1910 was 480,563, against 357,263 in 1909, but Deputy Hodge says this is because the wardens reported more accurately last year than they did the year previous. The value of timber burned is $601,000, and the number of feet 224,500,000.

August, as in 1909, was the worst month of the year. During August thirty per cent. of the fires occurred and during July, the next worst month, [illegible]teen per cent. of the fires occurred. It was on August 24 that the disastrous fires in Idaho and Montana were in full flame.

In connection with the number of forest fires in 1910, Deputy Forester Hodge says: "This indicated clearly that California must appropriate a larger amount of money to fight forest fires. We must start with a considerable sum, and when the fire fighting force is efficiently organized it will probably be possible to reduce the appropriation. The forestry board is asking $200,000 of the Legislature to carry on the fight against fires for the next two years."

Right One?

HE'S BELIEVED TO BE SCHMIDT, "TIMES" BUILDING DYNAMITER.

Man Under Arrest in Oklahoma City Answers Description of the Fiendish Murderer and Destroyer in Detail, and May Soon Be Identified — Habeas-Corpus Proceedings Instituted for His Release Fail.

ALMOST positive information has been obtained by Dist.-Atty. Fredericks that the one-eyed man arrested in Oklahoma City last Monday, under the name of Charles Smith, is none other than M. A. Schmidt, the leader of the dynamiting trio, Schmidt, Brice and Caplan, who destroyed the Times Building on the morning of October 1, ruthlessly murdering a score of employees. In order to leave no room for doubt, a pal of Schmidt's from Chicago is on his way to identify the prisoner. If he succeeds in his mission, Schmidt will be rushed here under a heavy guard at the earliest possible moment.

Yesterday habeas-corpus proceedings instituted in Oklahoma City by attorneys for Smith, or Schmidt, failed, and Smith will be forced to remain in jail until officers from Los Angeles reach there. This means that there will be no legal obstacle to prevent the prisoner's trip here if the identification is made positive. Dist.-Atty. Fredericks has the requisition papers all prepared for the Governor's signature. Every precaution will be taken to prevent his escape, and an armed force sufficiently strong to stand off a mob of unionites will be sent along under command of the District Attorney's chief detective. The fact that habeas-corpus proceedings were brought immediately upon Smith's arrest is regarded as a suspicious circumstance by the authorities here.

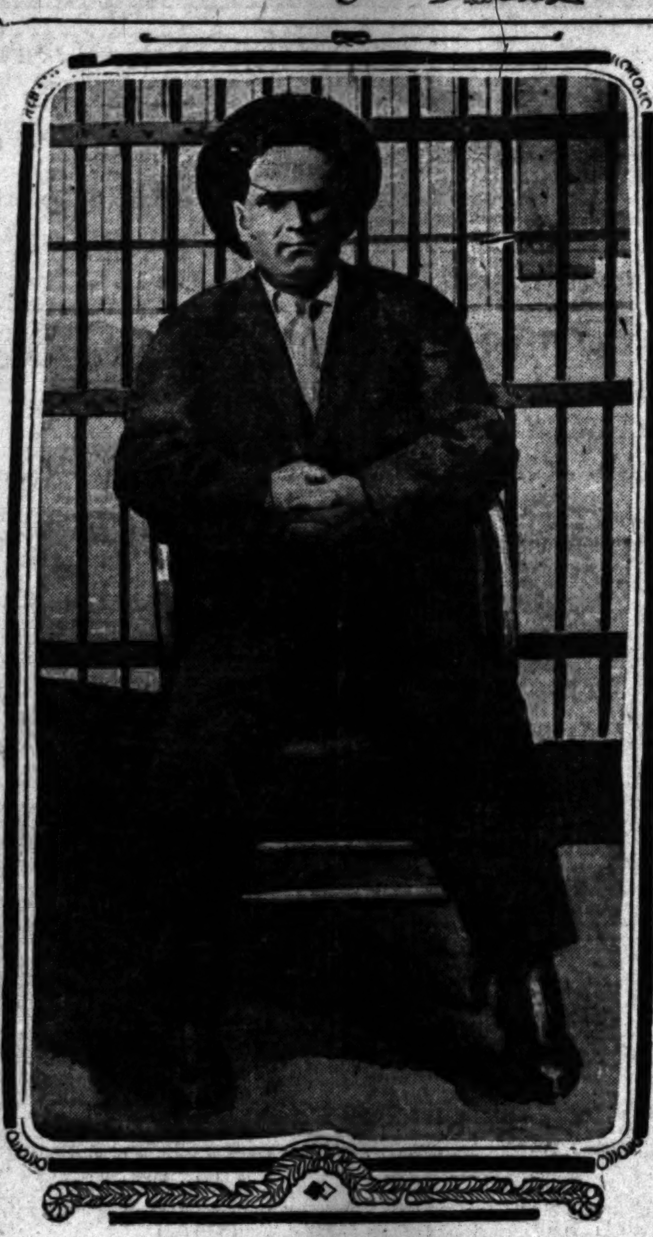
Smith was taken in custody by Chief of Police J. A. Brown of Clinton, Okla., upon the dynamiter's description contained in the circulars scattered broadcast throughout the country by the District Attorney's office. Brown followed Smith two weeks through various cities of Oklahoma before finally rounding him up.

At the time of his arrest Smith or Schmidt was a clerk at the Globe Hotel, a gambling resort. The proprietor, Gus Spiker, asserts that Smith was in Oklahoma City on October 1, when the Times Building was dynamited. Friends of the prisoner also aver that he has never been in California in his life. And Smith takes his arrest nonchalantly, according to reports.

But Dist.-Atty. Fredericks and Detective Browne are almost certain that the prisoner is none other than the man who, with Brice and Caplan, reduced the Times Building to a heap of ashes and snuffed out the lives of twenty employees. They have had excellent photographs of the prisoner taken in his jail quarters. These show his face and form from various angles, and are so true to the real Schmidt that they have gone to the expense of sending a man all the way from Chicago to make the identification absolute.

The four men who have positively identified the pictures of the prisoner as those of "Schmitty" are well acquainted with the dynamiter. They boarded at the same place with him in San Francisco and in Chicago, and are sure of their man. Capt. Fredericks, however, did not wish to take the slightest chance of a faulty identification, and for that reason summoned one of the dynamiter's pals.

This man will arrived in Oklahoma City today or tomorrow at the latest, and then the identification of the prisoner will be settled. If the man in custody turns out to be Schmidt, Chief of Police Brown of Clinton will be $5000 richer.



Is He Schmidt, the Times Dynamiter?

"Charles Smith" under arrest in Oklahoma City, papers for whose requisition are ready for prsentation to the Governor, in case he is identified as the wholesale murderer and destroyer of property. District Attorney Fredericks expects to establish his identity beyond question today or tomorrow. Attorneys for the prisoner brought habeas-corpus proceedings immediately after arrest to effect his release, but these failed yesterday. He seems to answer the description of Schmidt in every particular, his worthless left eye being conspicuous.

Holds the Key.

FATE OF LORIMER BELIEVED TO DEPEND ON ATTITUDE OF CULLOM.

Venerable Illinois Senator's Vote as to Seating Man Whom Scandal's Breath Has Tainted Will Be Followed by Many Members of Upper House — Trying Position in Which Middle West Solon Finds Himself.

BY SUMNER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Cullom is likely to hold the key to the settlement of the Lorimer case. It developed today that several Senators—enough in all probability to determine the issue as to the right of Mr. Lorimer to his seat—are waiting to be guided by the senior Senator from Illinois. There is reason to believe that Senator Hale's "appeal" for some one to come to the rescue of Illinois at the conclusion of Senator Root's terrific arraignment yesterday, was designed to obtain a direct statement from Senator Cullom.

What is deemed of essential importance by many of Senator Cullom's colleagues at this particular time, is his personal view of the circumstances surrounding the election of Mr. Lorimer to the seat in the Senate. If he feels called upon to speak as to corruption in the Illinois Legislature Senator Cullom probably will contend that his State has not been afflicted more than other States. He may not deny—for his friends believe he realizes the fact—that the last Legislature and the one immediately preceding were under corrupt influences beyond the normal.

What is of immediate concern, however, is Senator Cullom's vote on the case now pending before the Senate. The venerable Senator is confronted with the most unpleasant situation of his public career. He has declined to announce publicly what stand he will take, and upon that stand depends the votes of several of his colleagues whose minds are revolving with respect to what disposition shall be made of the charges affecting Mr. Lorimer.

Not only upon the direct authority of Senator Cullom, but upon the authority of persons who have sought to ascertain his position, the statement is warranted that the Senator from the State of Lincoln and Grant does not see how he can vote to permit Mr. Lorimer to retain his seat. His position as thus understood, is deeply regretted—to use a mild term—by Speaker Cannon, Representative Lowden and Representative McKinley of the Illinois delegation in Congress, all of whom have been exerting influence to the utmost to save Lorimer from being unseated.

It is understood that Senator Cullom takes the position that these members of the House, however, are not clothed with any responsibility in settling the unfortunate case now pressing for a settlement. But there are Senators from other States who figure Cullom's vote under the circumstances as a vital factor. This is because of his long years of service and the convictions that he has a fuller and better understanding of the conditions at Springfield than any one else can have.

One Republican Senator with open mind has declared he will vote on Lorimer as Cullom votes and he asserts there are at least ten other members of the Senate who will do likewise.

Senator Cullom's name is twenty-sixth on the Senate roll call, and preceding him, when the vote is taken—if it ever is—are a fairly good bunch of the progressive element whose position in the pending case is well known.

Efforts are likely to be made to obtain from Senator Cullom a statement of his attitude before there is a vote. But if these efforts fail, it is declared to be the purpose of several Senators to withhold their votes until his name has been called.

Seven Men Held to Answer in Connection With Dynamite Explosion at Communipaw, New Jersey.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Seven officials and employees of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, and the Dupont Nemours Powder Company, and Capt. James Healing, of the ship Katherine W., the destroyed powder boat, arraigned on charges of manslaughter in connection with the dynamite explosion at Communipaw last Wednesday, waived examination today before Judge Queen of the Second Criminal Court in Jersey City, and were ordered held under bond to await the action of the Hudson county grand jury.

Tyrno Anderson, one of the Ingrid crew, has told the police he was offered a bribe to testify that he heard two distinct explosions when a dynamite blast wrought such havoc last Wednesday. Anderson had told the alleged briber that he had heard only one report.

The eight men held today for grand jury action are Frederick C. Peters, manager of the Dupont company; Ralph G. Morse, assistant manager; Capt. Burr St. John, superintendent of transportation of the same company; James Healing, owner of the powder boat Katherine W.; Arthur Hamilton, general freight agent of the Jersey Central Railroad; J. M. Morris, Communipaw freight agent of the Jersey Central; Louis Gallaudette, dock master; Charles Ridder, a clerk of the railroad.

LORD DECIES DINES USHERS AND OTHER GUESTS AT GOTHAM HOTEL.

Vivien Gould's Fiance Celebrates Departure from Bachelorhood With Near-Relatives and Friends at Board—Wedding Gifts of Costly Gems and Rare Jewelry Represent Several Fortunes.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Col. Lord Decies, who is to marry Miss Helen Vivien Gould, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould on next Tuesday in St. Bartholomew's Church, celebrated his departure from bachelorhood this evening by giving a dinner at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel. His guests included foreigners of note as well as a unmber of New York men of social and business prominence. It is seldom that a nobleman gives a dinner of this nature in New York, and tonight's affair was the first of its kind ever held in New York's newest hotel.

Lord Decies's guests included his best man, a cousin, Lord Alastair Graham, of the British royal navy and son of the Duke of Montrose, Earl Percy, Lord Camoys, head of the Stonor family, which has figured prominently in English history; Robin Grey, also of London; Phoenix Ingraham, Moncure Robinson, Francis W. Crowninshield, Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., and Robert H. Russell. These will be his ushers. The other guests included Capt. Lamb, the Hon. George A. Wilkinson, brother-in-law of Lord Decies, and the Hon. Seton Beresford, a brother.

Some of the intimate friends of Miss Vivien Gould have had an opportunity of seeing the wedding gifts which she has received and have found them wonderfully beautiful. Mr. Gould has given his daughter a superb coronet of diamonds, topped with nine pear-shaped diamonds, and also a necklace of diamonds to which is attached a corsage ornament of the same gems.

Among Mrs. Gould's gifts are a fine gold chain set with diamonds, to which are attached as pendants a beautiful pink pear-shaped pearl and two marquise-cut diamonds; a sautoir of pearls and two rings, one set with rubies and diamonds and the other with a large pearl surrounded with smaller ones.

From Miss Helen Gould to her niece came a dog collar of matched pearls set with diamond bars. Her brothers Kingdon, Jay and George Gould gave her a bracelet set with solitaire diamonds and her grandmother, Mrs. Charles G. Kingdon, sent her a brooch of diamonds.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., her brother-in-law and sister, sent a gold vanity case with a diamond monogram and there was a similar one from Dr. and Mrs. William B. Anderson.

Mrs. Clarence Mackay's gift was a watch of blue enamel set with diamonds and pendant to a chain of pearls.

Mrs. Russell Sage sent a flexible placque of pearls and diamonds, and Harry S. Black's gift was a pearl and diamond brooch. From Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Jeffrey came a mesh purse of gold and platinum set with diamonds and a monogram of the same gems. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Penfield's was also of diamond slides for the neck. There are still more jewels to come. The Duke and Duchess of Connaught sent to Lord Decies a sold gold ink set.

Many gifts are awaiting the couple in London. From fellow officers of Lord Decies in the Seventh Hussars, his regiment, there is a silver tea service engraved with the names of the donors.

The Marquis and Marchioness of Waterford have sent a set of Chippendale furniture, and the Earl and Countess of Fingall a pearl brooch. Gertrude, Lady Decies, sister-in-law of Lord Decies, has sent a gold dessert service, and the Marquis and Marchioness of Bredalbane, a dressing case fitted with articles. From Mr. and Mrs. Maldwyn Drummond there is a tea service of silver and from Mrs. Willie James a set of old English silver candlesticks. There are also many gifts from members of Lord Decies's family.

Numerous presents have been received from friends in New York. Mr. and Mrs. Elbert H. Gary have sent a superb toilet set of gold and Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish a gold toilet set for automobiling. From Mr. and Mrs. Orme Wilson there was a writing set of dark blue Italian leather embossed with gold and from Mrs. Herman Oelrichs one of dark crimson Morocco leather heavily embossed with gold. Mrs. Joseph Stickney sent a set of English silver table jars made in 1768, and from Justice and Mrs. James W. Gerard there were two pierced dishes of old English silver.

Miss Gould's gifts to her bridesmaids will be gold vanity boxes. Lord Decies will give his best men and ushers scarf pins set with diamonds.

DECIES CHALLENGER FIRES MORE HOT SHOT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Angered by the indifference which his invitation to battle has been received "John Madison Thomas," the challenger of Lord Decies, fiance of Vivien Gould, wrote today to the newspapers indignantly telling of his fruitless efforts as a representative of the American Girls' American Society Association to find any or all the members of the Beresford family now in America and exact satisfaction on the field of honor for the winning of Miss Gould's hand and fortune by the head of their house. The handwriting of the letter—he may employ a feminine amanuensis—is distinctly ladylike, a feature strangely at variance with the warlike declarations he set forth.

Here is some of Mr. Thomas's letter:

"City Editor, Sir: In a burst of ten-room eloquence characteristic of his kind, the Hon.' S. R. Beresford, according to the Evening World, today, proclaims:

" 'Oh, but I should like to get at the beggah.' I immediately called up his hotel and announced the 'Beggah' in question would be indeed happy to get at the 'Hon. S. R.'

" 'Beg-gah!' A happy word for one of his tribe of paupers to spout on landing here, is it not? Beggar, indeed. Who paid his passage and the passage of his party? And who will pay his hotel bills while here? Beggar, ah, yes. A fitting chant.

"This challenge stands. I am in the city until Saturday evening and will delay my departure readily.

[Signed:]

VICTORIA (B. C.) Feb 4.—Work will be started at once on the construction of a large dry dock at Esquimalt, suitable to the requirements of the Canadian warships to be built for the Pacific. W. E. and H. F. Bullen of the British Colmubia Marine Railway of Esquimalt, who have been in Ottawa in connection with the application for the Dominion subsidy for the construction of a dry dock and to interview the government officials with regard to the proposed construction of warships for the new navy, returned to Victoria last night and announced that the work on the shipyard would begin at once. Regarding naval construction here they said it was the fixed policy of the government to have the vessels planned for the new Canadian navy built in Canada.

"Not Wickedest City in World," Says Senator.

"Pornography Must Be Wiped," He Declares.

Plans Crusade Against Lewd Works of Art.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Paris is tired of being called the wickedest city in the world. A great movement, backed by seventy-three societies and headed by the veteran Senator Beranger, has been started to fight determinedly against the flood of filthy literature and immoral pictures inundating the city.

PAREE IS "SMIRCHED."

"Pornography must be wiped out in France immediately," is the slogan. "Paris cannot afford to have its fair name smirched by the insults openly offered to visitors in the streets. It cannot afford to expose the young generation to the pernicious influences of immoral art. It cannot be the catch-all of the dirty scum cast out by other nations."

Today the correspondent visited Senator Beranger and asked him what the strongest force was that opposed the purifying movement.

"Public indifference," replied the Senator with a show of indignation. "Every Frenchman believes that it does not concern his own family and shrugs his shoulders.

"The condition is not new. Greece and Rome suffered from the same pest but limited it to certain degenerate circles among the educated rich.

HAS WIDE SCOPE.

"Now, however, pornographic commerce is not restricted to the back rooms of disreputable shops. Its ramifications extend from one country to another. It crosses the frontiers and becomes an international plague. England and Germany have begun measures to check it and France must do likewise.

"We already have laws prohibiting the sale of indecent literature and unclean works of art. The police have recently seized thousands of cinematographic films and hundreds of pictures and post cards. We must also have laws against the manufacture of such articles."

"Do you believe that art is a sufficient excuse for immorality?"

"No. Anything immoral must be forbidden even if made by the greatest artist."

San Francisco Judge Insists Upon Paying of Alimony to Wife Whom Iowan Divorces.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCICSO, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Subterfuge and connivance to cast off a wife who has been his helpmate for thirty-six years was today frowned upon by Judge Graham to such an extent that J. B. Warren, a former business man of San Francisco, is not rid of Mrs. Christina Warren, whom he divorced in Iowa several years ago.

The Warrens were married in 1874 and reared a family. In 1906 the husband brought a divorce suit for cruelty. Mrs. Warren denied specifically every charge and moved the court to allow her sufficient alimony for the support of herself and minor children. The application was granted and $50 a month was ordered paid by Warren. No sooner was the alimony ordered entered than Warren left San Francisco and went to Iowa, where he established a legal residence and sued for divorce again. However, the suit in the local court was allowed to remain standing.

Warren obtained the Iowa divorce without any alimony attachment and several weeks ago, through a local attorney, he filed dismissal of the San Francisco suit.

Mrs. Warren then learned of the Iowa divorce and appeared in court, where she explained that although her husband had been ordered to pay her $50 a month, he has paid nothing and left the State to avoid paying. The judge scored Warren for his attempt to evade alimony.

the recall of the administrative, legislative and judicial officials will be submitted as alternatives. The voter may thus choose one or all.

Others are advocating the biennial recall of judges. But this plan, even though it bears the Commonwealth Club's label, is gaining only merriment. It is jocosely styled an amendment to "Make the judiciary behave for six months before each election." It is also called the biennial "spanking" bee.

The most important news today is that the Governor is to demand the adoption of the Gates amendment without change as to judges. Wheeler assumed that the Republican platfrom which indorsed the recall never intended to include the judges. He is finding out now that this socialistic instrument is to be the shibboleth of the "progressive" radicals and that it is to be made a test of whether a member is "machine' or "independent."

Feeling that the amendment would be emasculated so far as its potency in controlling the judiciary is concerned, the "big stick" ordered Heney to the front to make the measure sacred.

It had been intended that the mild-mannered Dr. John R. Haynes of Los Angeles, "father of the I-R-R," not the "I.W.W.," should tell why judges should be recalled. But the doctor's political prescriptions are not for the class of men in the Legislature. While political revolution is on foot and there is a chance to upset representative government entirely it devolved on Heney to bear the torch to set aflame passion.

AMPLE PROVISION ALREADY.

In this connection the recent Ruef decision is being used among the members as justification for the recall of the judiciary. In his argument Wheeler urged that the Legislature avail itself of teh provisions of article 6 of Section X, of the Constitution, which permits the removal of any judge by concurrent resolution of both houses by a two-thirds vote. It was a suggestion that awakened the members to the fact that they have now ample provision to discipline the judiciary when occasion demands.

Heney's answer to this suggestion was that the section gives the corporations control of the judiciary and that it ought to be repealed.

It is not understood that the Cartwright resolution in the Senate calling for an investigation of the Ruef decision is more than a suggestion to the lower house. It is to be let die in the Judiciary Committee because the process of impeachment must begin in the Assembly and the Senate is the tribunal. For the tribunal itself to institute prosecution is not deemed proper, though it received the Cartwright resolution as an intimation to the Assembly that the Senate is conscious of its power.

MARK TWAIN'S FACILE PEN TOOK SLAM AT THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Manuscript of Dead Dean of American Humorists Pictures Doughty Colonel as "Showy Charlatan" Whom Deluded Nation Has Admired as "Ancients Did the Golden Calf."

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Books formerly owned and manuscripts written by Samuel Clemens (Mark Twain,) collected here for disposal at auction at an early date, are found to contain some excellent indications of the late author's methods of work.

An interesting and comparatively recent document refers to Col. Theodore Roosevelt.

One of the early manuscripts is a page of notes for an outline of a portion of the story of Tom Sawyer, which relates to the fight in the cave. Among the notes are written "quarrel, fight, Potter knocked down with Tom's shovel. Joe rushes in and knocks Potter insensible. Joe will bury doctor in Tom's hole and will make Potter think he is accessory. Finds treasure—goes and hides it—returns and finds P. up. No use to bury body for Potter thinks he did it."

Among the other manuscripts is one described as an "Article on the Inauguration of President Taft and the Deliverance of the Country rrom Mr. Roosevelt," dated March 6, 1909.

A portion of it follows:

"Astronomers assure us that the attraction of gravitation on the surface of the sun is twenty-eight times as powerful as is the force of the earth's surface; and that the object which weighs 217 pounds elsewhere would weigh 6000 pounds there.

"For seven years this country has lain smothering under a burden like that, the incubus, representing, in the person of President Roosevelt, the difference between 217 pounds and 6000.

"Thanks be, we got rid of this disastrous burden—day before yesterday, at last. Forever? Probably not. Probably only for a brief breathing spell wherein, under Mr. Taft, we may hope to get back some of our health—four years. We may expect to have Mr. Roosevelt sitting on us again with his twenty-eight times the weight of any Presidential burden that a hostile providence would impose upon us for our sins—"

"Our people have adored this showy charlatan as perhaps no impostor of his breed has been adored since the golden calf; so it is to be expected that the nation will want him back again after he is done hunting other wild animals theoretically in Africa with the safeguard and advertising equipment of a park of artillery and a brass band."

No Trace Yet Discovered of Aged Philadelphia Postmaster Believed to Have Killed Self.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) Feb. 4.—Coast life guards who started at daylight to drag the ocean bed in the vicinity of the million dollar pier for the body of Richard L. Ashhurst, postmaster of Philadelphia, abandoned their search at noon because of the rough sea. They found no clew, nor have the police learned anything further of the disappearance of the aged Philadelphian.

There is little doubt in the minds of some of the investigators that Ashhurst actually went on the pier last Monday night when he disappeared.

Rolling chair pushers who had waited for Mr. Ashhurst to come off the pier in the hope that he would engage one of them to wheel him to his hotel, admit they did not watch the small exit at one side of the structure, confining their attention to the main exit.

San Benito Does Great Damage to Ranch Land.

Cuts New Channel; Sweeps All Before It.

Water Higher Than It Has Been for Forty Years.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The San Benito River, which is swollen by the heavy rains, is doing a great deal of damage at San Benito. It has changed its course and is sweeping everything before it.

On Taylor's ranch, five acres of land and a barn full of hay were washed away by the powerful current.

The property loss as a result of the storm will run into the thousands of dollars. The river subsided slightly today.

Cutting into the earth at a bend near Taylor's place the current has been pushing the new course farther and farther for several days until a new channel has been cut through the farm and the old one is carrying little of the flood water. The property is between this city and Hollister.

In this county the sun broke warm and bright today and except for minor damage, mostly in the holding back of the crop sowing, there has been little damage by the second storm. All the local weather prophets predicted rain today and the sun shone all day.

The water is higher than it has been for forty years, and the telephone lines in the southern part of the county are down.

The stage lines have not been able to make any trips since last Saturday, and the mail is carried across the river on horseback.

The bridge between Hollister and San Juan is still in an unsafe condition and only very light rigs are allowed to go across it. A crew of men is watching it night and day to keep the brush from collecting around the piles.

STATE NEEDS FOREST FUNDS.

California's Losses Indicate Lack of Protective Measures, Deputy Forester States in Report.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 4.—Figures prepared by State Forester Homans show that during 1910 there were 738 brush, grass and forest fires in California, against 638 for the same period of 1909. The excess for 1910 does not show an actual increase for the year, but greater efficiency in fire fighting, asserts Deputy State Forester Hodge. In other words, wardens reported a greater percentage of the fires in 1910 than were reported the year previous.

Fires were of three classes, as follows: Small fires, put out by one man, [illegible] fires burning about ten acres, 205, fires which gave considerable trouble, 351. The average fire burned over 634 acres of land and 326,000 feet of timber, worth $814, besides damage to ground, to new growth and watershed. In other words, the average fire burned more than a section of land and took seventy-four men ten hours to extinguish.

The total number of acres burned over in 1910 was 480,563, against 357,263 in 1909, but Deputy Hodge says this is because the wardens reported more accurately last year than they did the year previous. The value of timber burned is $601,000, and the number of feet 234,500,000.

August, as in 1909, was the worst month of the year. During August thirty per cent. of the fires occurred and during July, the next worst month, fifteen per cent. of the fires occurred. It was on August 24 that the disastrous fires in Idaho and Montana were in full flame.

In connection with the number of forest fires in 1910, Deputy Forester Hodge says: "This indicated clearly that California must appropriate a larger amount of money to fight forest fires. We must start with a considerable sum, and when the fire fighting force is efficiently organized it will probably be possible to reduce the appropriation. The forestry board is asking $200,000 of the Legislature to carry on the fight against fires for the next two years."

District Court of Appeals Denies Petition of Officers of Last State Senate and Assembly.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 4.—The Third District Court of Appeals this afternoon handed down an opinion written by Justice Chipman denying the petition of Lewis A. Hilborn for a writ of mandate to compel State Controller [illegible] to pay him $3350, alleged to be due himself and Clio Lloyd, J. W. Harper and T. G. Walker, officers of the Senate and Assembly at the last session of the Legislature, for services performed after the adjournment of that legislative body.

The court based its opinion upon a constitutional amendment, ratified by the people of the State in 1908, and specifying that the Legislature must not spend over $500 a day for each session on employees.

The $3350 is the total of several sums appropriated toward the close of the last session for the men named who were instructed to do certain work after the Legislature had adjourned. The court decided these appropriations were not allowed by law.

The average fire burned over 664 acres of land and 326,000 feet of timber, worth $814, besides damage to the ground, to new growth and watersheds. In other words, the average fire burned more than a section of land and took seventy-four men ten hours to extinguish.

The total number of acres burned over in 1910 was 480,563, against 357,263 in 1909, but Deputy Hodge says this is because the wardens reported more accurately last year than they did the year previous. The value of timber burned is $801,000, and the number of feet [illegible] 24,500,000.

August, as in 1909, was the worst month of the year. During August [illegible] per cent. of the fires occurred and during July, the next worst month, [illegible] per cent. of the fires occurred. It was on August 24 that the disastrous fires in Idaho and Montana were in full flame.

In connection with the number of forest fires in 1910, Deputy Forester Hodge says: "This indicated clearly that California must appropriate a larger amount of money to fight forest fires. We must start with a considerable sum, and when the fire fighting force is efficiently organized it will probably be possible to reduce the appropriation. The forestry board is asking [illegible] of the Legislature to carry on the fight against fires for the next two years."

PAY FOR EXTRA WORK.

District Court of Appeals Denies Petition of Officers of Last State Senate and Assembly.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 4.—The Third District Court of Appeals this afternoon handed down an opinion written by Justice Chipman denying the petition of Lewis A. Hilborn for a writ of mandate to compel State Controller [illegible] to pay him $2350, alleged to be due himself and Clio Lloyd, J. W. [illegible] and T. G. Walker, officers of the Senate and Assembly at the last session of the Legislature, for services performed after the adjournment of that legislative body.

The court based its opinion upon a constitutional amendment, ratified by the people of the State in 1908, and providing that the Legislature must not spend over $500 a day for each session on employees.

The $2350 is the total of several sums appropriated toward the close of the last session for the men named who were instructed to do certain work after the Legislature had adjourned. The court decided these appropriations were not allowed by law.

[illegible] COLLEGE LAWYERS.

[illegible] Says State University Turns Out Enemies of the Common Good.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That our State University each year turns out lawyers who are enemies of the common good was the gist of a speech delivered by Rev. C. F. Lathrop, pastor of the Church of the Advent, tonight.

[illegible] from the standpoint of the [illegible], and pointed out the [illegible] in teaching men to place property rights above human rights. Here are some of the speaker's [illegible] statements:

"[illegible] are getting away [illegible]. Why is our Board [illegible] composed of millionaires? [illegible] a representative of the [illegible] upon the Board of Regents? [illegible] sells to a dishonest corporation the legal knowledge given to him by the people of the State is not only a useless citizen but an enemy of progress."

"Look over the list of our great corporation lawyers and judge whether you, the common people, are getting a just return from the school that is said to be yours."

"How many of our law graduates pay the debt of gratitude that they owe to the State? How many forget their duty to the people and become tools of corporations?"

"John O. Walsh held that there is no hope for progress while dishonest corporations exist. He argues that as long as corrupt aggrandizement of wealth is permitted there will be college bred lawyers to entwine legal technicalities around corporate wealth."

AID IS ASKED FOR CHINESE.

Seattle Commercial Club Sends Appeal Through "The Times."

[DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Times, Los Angeles: On account of the crop failure over a million people are starving in China. Seattle merchants are forwarding 1000 barrels of flour by the first steamer and more later. Each $2 subscription will save one life. We earnestly appeal to your readers for immediate assistance. The steamships here are all co-operating, except the army transports. Seattle is the shortest route. Send your donations or checks to our order.

SEATTLE COMMERCIAL CLUB.

WANTS INDIAN LANDS SOLD.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Senator Owen of Oklahoma, called on President Taft today to urge him to send to Congress a special message, urging legislation to provide for the immediate sale of 480,000 acres of coal and asphalt lands in Oklahoma belonging to the Choctaw Indians. For eight years efforts have been made, the Senator said, to secure for the Indians the money which should come to them on the sale of these lands.

THUGS' VICTIM IS BADLY INJURED.

Ship's Officer Is Unable to Leave Portland.

Craft Will Employ No More Union Men.

Petty Squabble of Organizations Ties Up Craft.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Feb. 4. [Exclusive Dispatch.] Because of the beating he received by union sailors while aboard the steamer Golden Gate at the Washington street dock last night, Harry Vahlbusch, first officer, was not able to go out on the craft which left for Tillamook this afternoon. Vahlbusch's condition is serious.

Captain Snyder sent to Astoria for a mate to fill the vacancy and V. Voss took the position on the arrival of the steamer there. Several others of the Golden Gate's crew sustained injuries when the unionites attacked them, but none is in a serious condition except Vahlbusch.

A full crew of non-union sailors was employed this morning to go out on the Golden Gate. From now on it is announced that no union men will be employed on her.

Captain Snyder said that the fight last evening was precipitated because a sailor was aboard that the union had secured work for and he still failed to join the organization. After the members learned that this man had gone to work on the Golden Gate which they had on the unfair list, the skipper says the organized seamen could not retain their anger.

Differences between the McCabe Company's stevedores, and the donkeymen's union have resulted in the British ship Nile being forced to remain idle at the Linnton ballast dock where a cargo of wheat is waiting to be loaded into her hold. The donkeymen operate the donkey engines on the vessels and they maintain an organization separate from that of the longshoremen.

When it was decided to begin discharging ballast from the Nile yesterday afternoon the stevedores selected men of their own choice from the union to operate the engines. The longshoremen obected, claiming that they enjoy the prerogative of naming the men who shall be employed on the ships.

SENATOR HURD HAS BILL TO END WAR OVER MEDICAL EXAMINERS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Hurd will offer a compromise measure Monday as a settlement of the long-standing friction over the State Board of Medical Examiners. The new measure is said to be satisfactory to the State Board of Health and to Guy B. Barham of Los Angeles, who has been waging war on the present board.

At present the membership of the board is chosen by the medical societies. That has been the cause of all the trouble, it is said.

Under Hurd's bill the board is to be composed of eleven members, to be appointed by the Governor. Five are to be from the allopathic school, two from the homeopathic, two from the eclectic and two from the osteopathic. No member may be interested in any way in a college or school of medicine. Seven votes are required to carry motions or resolutions and the Governor may remove any member from office for neglect, incompetency, unprofessional or dishonorable conduct.

Three forms of medical certificate are to be issued. One admits to practice medicine or surgery, another osteopathy, and another "any other mode or system." Applicants must file their verified diplomas with the board and each must be personally examined.

EXAMINATIONS.

The provision as to such examinations are:

"The examination shall be conducted in the English language, shall be practical in character and designed to discover the applicant's fitness to practice his profession, and shall be, in whole or in part, in writing on the following fundamental subjects, to-wit.: Anatomy, histology, gynecology, pathology, bacteriology, chemistry and toxicology, physiology, obstetrics, general diagnosis, hygiene. Examinations in each subject shall consist of not less than ten questions, answers to which shall be marked upon a scale of zero to ten. But all applicants must obtain not less than a general average of 75 per cent. provided, that applicants who can show at least ten years of reputable practice shall be granted a credit of 5 per cent. upon the general average and 5 per cent. additional for each subsequent five years of such practice."

ANOTHER PROVISION.

Another important provision is:

"Said board shall acecpt and register, on the payment of a fee of fifty ($50) dollars, and without an examination of the applicant issue a certificate as in this act provided to any person holding a license which shall have been issued to him or her by the medical or osteopathic examining boards of the District of Columbia, or any other State or Territory of the United States; provided, however, that the legal requirements of said medical examining board, and that the applicant's preliminary and educational qualifications shall have been at the time of issuing such license or certificate in no degree or particular less than those required by the laws of this State; provided, however, that such applicant shall have been actively engaged in the practice of his profession in the State issuing such license or certificate at least two years previously to his making such application to the board of this State."

There are strict regulations as to the anonymity of examination papers and the preservation of all examination work as official record.

BILLS STACKED LIKE CORDWOOD AWAIT ACTION BY LEGISLATURE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 4.—With an average of nearly twenty golden ideas in bill form from each of 120 legislators piled high in front of it, the legislative stamp mill will begin operations Monday on what promises to be largely a twenty-four-hour schedule. Leaders allow about two months in which to extract the pure worth from this mass.

Most of the measures of large importance have been introduced, although enabling legislation for constitutional amendment No. 1, voted upon at the fall election, is still in a formative state, and while bills may be introduced until next Friday, no great number is expected to be forthcoming in the few remaining days.

The total number of bills to be introduced by the end of the week is estimated at about 2400. Thereafter, bills may be offered only by special consent, and only those partaking of the nature of emergency measures are likely to be introduced.

MONDAY BUSY DAY.

Monday is considered the gala day for bills next week. Legislators who went home yesterday or today will return, unless all precedent fails, with one or two bills which they thought out on the train or which their constituents have asked them to introduce.

Those who remained here also gathered inspiration. Senator Campbell, whose attention, to a considerable extent, has been devoted thus far to regulation of his fellow automobilists, will present at least two bills. One of these makes it a felony for any notary or other public officer to certify that any person has appeared before him in witness to a document when the person has not so appeared. Much trouble over titles arising from loose practice in this respect necessitated such a bill, the Senator said.

Backed by approving letters from many juvenile court officers, the Senator also amended the juvenile court act to raise the age of majority for women from 18 to 21 years, and to define more accurately the duties of probation and other officers of the court. The bill is in conformity with one previously introduced by the Senator.

LOCAL OPTION BILL.

Greatest interest centers at present in the local option situation. The bill, which makes the county the unit of local option passed the House with no great difficulty. It faces trouble in the Senate. Amended so as to provide a township unit, it could pass, in the opinion of some of its present enemies, but no one found so far expects that it will be amended and otherwise the outlook for it is considered problematic.

Representatives of electric railway companies, electric light companies and other users of electricity appeared today before the Senate Committee on Labor and Capital opposing certain restrictions in the bill concerning the stringing of wires which they held to be impossible of fulfillment. Representatives of the electrical workers union also appeared, urging greater safeguards for their craft. No final action was taken.

SHENK IN SACRAMENTO.

City Attorney to Confer With Officials of Other Cities on Revision of the Vrooman Act.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] City Attorney Shenk of Los Angeles arrived here today for the purpose of conferring with city attorneys of other cities on the revision of the Vrooman Act. The bill for this purpose has already been introduced by Senator Hewitt.

Shenk will also assist Hewitt in the completion of many amendments to existing statutes to facilitate business in Los Angeles government. One concerns street lighting for ornamental purposes and permits the city to do this work with its own forces and electric power if it so choosen. This amendment is an aqueduct power preliminary.

John Topham, a member of the Los Angeles Police Commission, is here in the interest of the bill introduced by Senator Hewitt for the creation of a State board to supervise stationary engineers and license them to inspect boilers. The bill was authorized by the State Convention of Engineers and differs from the laborite measure, which does not include boiler inspection.

A continued hearing by the Corporations Committee of the Assembly on the bills of the laborites on electrical construction was held this afternoon. The measure is based on the San Francisco and Oakland ordinances and will, if passed, require the complete reconstruction of much of the overhead wire systems of power, telephone and telegraph companies. There are three measures, all by McDonald of San Francisco. Opposition to them came from B. F. Pearson, general superintendent of the Southern California Edison Company; A. C. Balch, Pacific Light and Power Company; L. O. Lieber, Los Angeles Railway Company; J. E. McDonald, secretary of the Joint Pole Committee; and S. G. McMeen, of the Home Telephone Company, all of Los Angeles. Another hearing will be held Monday afternoon.

HILL'S SON MAKES SPEECH.

Young Man Tells San Franciscans British Columbia-Mexico Highway Is by No Means Chimerical.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Samuel Hill, son of James J. Hill, railroad king of the Northern Pacific, today addressed the Commonwealth Club at luncheon on "Highway Improvements." Samuel Hill has often been called the missionary of highway improvement, and his plan is the establishment of a system of roads that will extend along the Coast from British Columbia to Mexico.

"This scheme is in no sense visionary," he said in his address. "It is thoroughly practical, and benefit would result that would be immeasurable.

"Here in California you have three men well to the front in roadway building. They are Ellery, Fletcher and Loder and they are not only capable of building roads but equally capable of teaching others how they should be built.

"The people of the whole State have voted a magnificent appropriation of $18,000,000 for road building which should, if properly managed, make a transformation of the whole State.

"The government of the United States has spent and is spending millions to improve the transportation by internal waterways, and aside from the commerce of the Great Lakes, what aid has this expenditure brought or what relief has been given to the great mass of our people?"

STEAMSHIP HEAD FAVORS BILL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] While General Manager Samuels of the Oceanic Steamship Company looks upon the ultimate passage of the Ship Subsidy Bill now before Congress with much misgiving, he said today that if it was not "knifed" in the House and became a law, the Oceanic Line would immediately put on a fleet of steamships to ply between San Francisco and Australian ports. "While it is gratifying to all steamship men to know that the Gallinger Mail Subsidy Bill has passed the Senate," said Samuels, "we have little hopes that the House will enact any law which will so greatly assist steamship interests. Should the measure pass, the Oceanic company will restore the steamers Sierra, Ventura and Sonoma to the Australian run, from which they were removed seven years ago. The Gallinger bill is a broad measure and should it become a law will be a great benefit to the entire Pacific Coast."

PUTS BAN ON PLUMES.

Audubon Society Starts Crusade Against Wearing of Bird Feathers on Hats.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Portland women who haven't anywhere from $25 to $150 to spare, or who don't like the surroundings in the County Jail, hereafter must cease wearing China pheasants in their headgear. The Audubon Society is inaugurating one of the most sweeping crusades against the widespread slaughter of these beauty birds of Oregon.

William L. Finley, president of the society, has instructed the constable's office to arrest every woman seen with pheasant plumage on her millinery.

While the officers of the society were conducting a raid on the taxidermist shop of F. J. Brezee at No. 303½ Third street, in search of the China hat birds, Brezee flew into a towering rage, reached into a chest for a handful of loaded shells, and made as if to draw a gun. He also threatened to kill himself.

Other places were visited, both department stores, millinery establishments and taxidermy shops, but the raiders found plumage only in one store, where a large quantity was seized.

COUPLE THROWN OVER FENCE.

Colton People, Victims of a Frightened Horse, Escape Serious Injury. Teachers Make Merry.

COLTON, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Davidson, residing southeast of Colton, were thrown out of their carriage today while driving to town. The horse they were driving became frightened and wheeling, upset and demolished the vehicle. The occupants were thrown over a fence, Mr. Davidson's head striking a pole. Both were painfully although not seriously injured. They were attended by Dr. J. A. Champion.

The Mexican residents of Colton are growing impatient, due to the nonarrival of mail. No mail has reached here for over a week from Mexico, on account of the revolution. There being a large Mexican settlement here makes the trouble more apparent than elsewhere.

The teachers of the Colton schools, twenty-two in number, enjoyed a "Mother Goose" party last evening at the home of Prof. and Mrs. George M. Green of North Ninth street. Mrs. B. J. Lauterback won the prize for the best verse in reply to the invitation. The prize was a book compiled by Mrs. Stella Sankey, of all the replies.

AFTERNOON BURGLARY.

Home of Former Civil Service Commissioner Ransacked in the Absence of Family and Valuables Taken.

The home of Attorney O. W. Morton, former civil service commissioner, No. 190 Mariposa street, was entered yesterday afternoon by a daylight burglar who walked off with about $200 worth of loot.

Entrance was effected by prying open a dining-room window some time between 1 o'clock in the afternoon and 6 o'clock in the evening, in the absence of the family. When Mr. Morton returned home in the evening, the house had been ransacked, several of the rooms being thrown into the greatest disorder.

Among the articles stolen were: A gold wire ring set with three pearls, a gold wedding ring, engraved, "W. O. L. to M. R. H., Nov. 15, '00;" a gold watch bearing the initials "J. H." on the front case; a solid gold chain made into a three-strand necklace, with a cross as a pendant, a family relic, fifty years old; a gold wire bracelet, set with sixteen moonstones; two pairs of gold link cuff buttons; one English sovereign, engraved with the initial "M" and fitted with an eye to catch a chain; three pairs of black silk socks; a meerschaum pipe, a 41-caliber revolver, a number of old Mexican coins and other articles.

DEAFNESS

Successfully Treated By the Simplest Method Yet Discovered.

Ninety-five per cent. of the cases of deafness brought to our attention are the result of chronic catarrh of the throat and middle ear. The air passages become clogged by catarrhal deposits, stopping the action of the vibratory bones. Until these deposits are removed, relief is impossible.

The inner ear cannot be reached by probing or spraying, hence the inability of specialists to always effect a cure. Neither can ear drums cure deafness. But there is a scientific treatment for deafness and catarrh which is demonstrated every day by the use of Actina. The vapor generated in the Actina passes through the Eustachian tubes into the middle ear, removing the catarrhal obstructions and loosens up the bones (hammer, anvil and stirrup) in the inner ear, making them respond to the vibration of sound. Actina is also very successful in relieving ringing noises in the head. We have known people afflicted with this distressing trouble for years to be entirely relieved by a few weeks' use. Actina has also been very successful in the treatment of hay fever, asthma, bronchitis, sore throat, weak lungs, colds, headache and other troubles that are directly or indirectly due to catarrh. Actina will be sent on trial, postpaid. Write us about your case. Our advice will be free as well as a valuable book—Prof Wilson's Treatise on Disease. The Doctor's Answers on Health and Beauty Questions

By Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character; the symptoms or diseases are given, and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Building, College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, Ohio, enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

Chronic:—Asthma has been conquered by careful regard to diet, exercise and general health when the following treatment has been persistently and regularly used for from two to six months.

Try it, and if it gives relief you can rest assured that it will be most effective as a cure in your case, as it has in many others:

Oil Eucalyptus 1 dram, Terebene 1 dram, Essence Mentho-Laxene 2½ ozs., Glycerine, pure, 6 ozs. Mix. Shake the bottle and take a teaspoonful every hour or two during attacks, and 6 doses daily at other times.

Ella:—Your distress is due to a complication of ills due in a great measure to poor circulation which affects the delicate organs of your sex, causing the usual abnormal symptoms of pain, griping, headache, and soreness in the chest and under the shoulder blades. Your weight is 20 pounds below normal and your blood is in poor condition. Have this prescription filled, and use regularly for several months: Virburnum Prunifolium 1 oz., Tincture Cadomene Comp. 1 oz., Comp. Syrup Hypophosphites 6 ozs. Mix, and take a teaspoonful every three hours during the day, followed by a glass of water.

Also obtain 3-Grain Hypo-Nuclane Tablets and take as per direction accompanying sealed package.

Hard Worker:—The trouble with your feet will require a long course of treatment to correct, but by patience and persistency the following treatment will do it. This, also, will relieve and cure tired, aching, sweaty and calloused feet, as it is a local tonic and stimulant to the muscles, ligaments and cells: To a gallon of hot water add a teaspoonful of Vilane Powder and a teaspoonful of alum. Immerse the feet 15 to 20 minutes each night. Then bathe the feet in cold water and dry.

Catherine:—Your acute indigestion, accompanied by constipation, has brought on rheumatism through mal-assimilation or a constant absorption of poisons which should have been eliminated. You must first regulate your diet. Discontinue coffee and tea. Omit meat almost entirely; also starches such as fresh bread, pastry and potatoes, except baked. Always eat less than your appetite craves. For the indigestion, take Tablets Triopeptine; pink after breakfast, white after dinner, blue after supper. Also take ½ to 1 teaspoonful of the following to correct liver and bowels: Fl. Ext. Mandrake 2 drams, Aromatic F Cascara 1 oz., Comp. Essence Cardiol 1 o Aromatic Syrup Rhubarb 4 ozs. Mix thr or four doses daily. After three weeks a ternate and take the following as a pow erful tonic to improve the circulation: Com Syrup Hypophosphites 5 ozs., Tinctu Cadomene Comp. 1 oz. (not Cardamon.)

This course of treatment should be co tinued until entirely relieved.

Society:—Excessive perspiration under th arms can be relieved by washing morni and night with a pint of warm water which has been added a level teaspoonf of Antiseptic Vilane Powder; but to cur the only sure method is to bathe the e tire body once daily and keep bowels a tive. The perspiration should not checked altogether.

Relief:—Your stomach trouble is due an excess of acid causing much gas, rum bling, headache, sour risings, etc., especi ly after eating acid fruits, etc. Take Ta lets Triopeptine as per directions acco panying sealed package. Also take ¼ te spoonful of Sodium Phosphate—in water after each meal. If constipated, take grain Tablets Sulpherb; put up in seal tubes. Never take a substitute for anythi I prescribe.

Frank I.:—Your description indicates th your blood is poorly circulated and yo main trouble is pruritis ani (itching piles The only reliable treatment is as follow Mix Hyposulphite of Soda 2 ozs., Antisept Vilane Powder 2 ozs. Add a teaspoonful a pint of warm water and wash the par thoroughly with it twice daily, after whic apply the following ointment: Carbol Acid 40 minims, Citrine Ointment 1 o Rose-Kayloin 2½ drams, Lanolin 1 oz. Mi and apply twice daily. Continue un cured. To improve the circulation, take teaspoonful 3 to 6 times daily of the fo lowing: Tincture Hamamelis 2 ozs., Tin ture Cadomene Comp. 1 oz., Aromatic Syru Rhubarb 2 ozs. Mix.

Mrs. E. S.:—I do not know the formu you refer to. An excellent and reliab stain for the hair which is not harmfu but beneficial as a hair tonic, follows: Ta six heaping tablespoonfuls of coffee an boil it in 3 pints of water until reduc by evaporation to 1 quart. Strain thoroug ly, let cool and then add one ounce Vilane Powder. Shake and dampen th hair twice daily. By making the coff stronger or weaker you can make any sha you desire. The odor of coffee is lost long boiling.

Harriet:—Use same treatment as "Ella

BANK DEPOSIT GUARANTY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

MADISON (Wis.) Feb. 4.—A bill providing for the guarantee of bank deposits was introduced in the upper house of the Legislature yesterday by Senator Owen. The bill has been agreed upon by the majority of the members of the Legislature. It provides that on the second Monday of next January all the State banks shall set aside an amount equal to 1 per cent. of their average daily deposits for a fund to be known as depositors' insurance fund. Every year thereafter they will be required to add to this fund one tenth of one per cent. of the average deposits until the total fund equals 2 per cent. of the average total deposits.

KILLED BY BLOW OF FIST.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

UNION CITY (Ind.) Feb. 4.—E. J. Robe, aged 30, died today from the effects of a fist blow on the head and Ed Hyatt, a wealthy business man of this city, is under arrest on the charge of murder. Hyatt, it is said, struck Robe after Robe had tried to force his attention on Hyatt's married daughter.

JEALOUS LOVER'S WORK.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

MOUNT CLEMENS (Mich.) Feb 4.—August Wiers, a farmer 27 years old, killed himself by taking poison today after shooting Miss Hattie Uplinger and beating the girl's mother, Mrs. Augusta Uplinger, with a hammer. Both women are in a critical condition. Wiers had been attentive to the girl for two years and was jealous because she went with another escort.

FEMALE GHOUL INSANE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

STANFORD (Ky.) Feb. 4. — The general belief expressed here today was that Mrs. Amanda Harrison, pursued, captured and returned here on a charge of having desecrated the grave of George B. Saufley, the attorney, would not be imprisoned. The remarkable statement by her in her confession, the officers believe, is evidence she has suffered mental affliction.

FIND THREE SKELETONS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

OFFERLE (Kan.) Feb. 4.—Farmers digging in the sandhills of Ford county in search of the body of Paul Reich, who disappeared from his home near here two weeks ago, unearthed three skeletons today. The men were digging at the farm of Jacob Mingle, a hermit. He told them they would find blood stains at the telephone in Reich's house and two empty gun shells in the stove. They did. To direct them as to where to dig for the body, Mingle charted the Reich farm and marked the spot. Reich was a prosperous bachelor farmer. None of the skeletons is his. One is that of an adult, the others are of children about 12 years of age. They appeared to have been buried many months ago.

Afraid of American Designs.

RECIPROCITY WITH CANADA TO BE FOUGHT BY ENGLISH UNIONISTS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Once more does the American factor become prominent in British politics. It is a variant of the "American dollar."

Tariff reform extremists in the United Kingdom are agitating for an immediate attempt on this side of the Atlantic to frustrate the ratification by the Dominion Parliament of the Washington-Ottawa reciprocity agreement.

Any obstacles to Mr. Taft's plan, whether raised in Canada or the United States, will be hailed as an economic ally by the controlling element in the Unionist party.

As the Canadian Legislature will begin the debate on the agreement next week, and at the very moment when the Westminster politicians will be discussing the speech from the throne and the address in reply, champions of imperial fiscal preference believe the occasion will be opportune for a broadside against free trade.

Their argument is that the Knox-Fielding scheme is the "first direct evil result on a large scale of the outworn, dismal, decadent Cobdenism by which prosperity is being banished from the United Kingdom and Canada driven into the arms of "Uncle Sam.""

Unionists do not like the allusion in the Montreal Board of Trades, pronouncement to the injury the agreement would work to the "interests of Canada as a nation," for the Canadian National movement is not a source of Unionist rejoicing, but as between that tendency and reciprocity with the Americans, they regard the former as the smaller evil.

They insist, however, that Laurier "never will venture to ignore the widespread wish of Canadian manufacturers for a prompt reference of the White issue to the electors."

All suggestions of opposition to the agreement in the United States are "played up" by the Unionist papers, one of which wonders why the western "Lankee farmers are ready to remortgage their farms."

All the arrangements for the momentous business of the London Parliament after the opening by the King next week have been completed by the various party organizations in both chambers and the work of preparation terminates with the first Parliamentary banquet given tonight.

There is a fierce struggle ahead, probably a succession of fierce struggles. Mr. Asquith will be held to the strictest letter of his pledge in every instance.

It has come to light that the members of the Welsh radical Parliament party have bound themselves to revolt if Mr. Asquith does not follow the veto limitation bill with a measure disestablishing the church of Wales.

Militant.

BRITISH SUFFRAGETTES THREATEN MOB VIOLENCE TOWARD GEORGE III.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Threats from militant suffragettes that they will mob King George on Monday if, in his speech opening Parliament, he does not indicate a wish that the franchise be granted to women, resulted in extraordinary political activity today.

The buildings of the Parliament will be surrounded by the largest number of police that has ever been called out at the opening of Parliament. The authorities fear that the declarations of the women that they will use greater violence than they have ever manifested heretofore will be carried out.

In fact, the suffragette is causing the authorities as much worry as the anarchists. There are now said to be more than two score members of continental anarchist bodies under secret arrest and more are being taken into court daily. It is also reported that the prisoners include American anarchists, but as the police have refused to give out any names, the rumor cannot be confirmed.

According to one report which reached the police, leaders of the suffragettes have purchased a large supply of locks and chains, planning to lock themselves to the seats if they are able to smash their way past the guards.

Scotland Yard detectives are investigating this report and if it is found to be true the chains will probably be seized.

AN WIVES' "HOOKS AND EYES."

Greeley (Colo.) Husbands Organize "Anti" Club, Which Imposes Fine for Working Overtime on Frocks.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

GREELEY (Colo.) Feb. 4.—The worm has turned. Greeley men have organized the "Anti-Hookers Up" society, the chief rule of which is the imposing of a $5 fine on any member who assists his wife in donning a frock on which there are more than seven hooks.

At the first meeting a "consolation" prize was awarded the member who held the long distance "hooking up" record. It was won by a man whose wife's star gown had 105 hooks.

FEUD BREAKS OUT AFRESH.

South Carolina Families Clash in Streets of Spartansburg and Bullets Fly—Many Arrests.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SPARTANSBURG (S.C.) Feb. 4.—Bullets flew yesterday in the business section of the city in three separate battles between the Lee and Fleming families of this county, who have been engaged in a feud for years. The first clash came when the trial of Roland and Creighton Lee, charged by Roland Fleming with intent to kill, ended for the day. Nobody was hurt. The combatants were arrested, relieved of their weapons and released on bonds.

One man bought a shot gun to replace his confiscated revolver. The others armed themselves with whips and sticks and a third battle started. Six of the combatants were rearrested and again released under bond. They left the city, but another clash is feared when they return to attend the trial.

Mrs. Leslie Carter Proposes to Reimburse Creditors With Portion of Her Weekly Income.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Mrs. Leslie Carter, the actress, who is known in private life as Mrs. Caroline L. D. Payne, submitted a proposal to her creditors today by the terms of which she will pay all of her debts on the installment plan.

Mrs. Payne's liabilities are stated to be about $20,000, her assets less than $1000. Her proposal is to hand a substantial part of her weekly income to a trustee to be selected by her creditors.

Caught after a long chase on clews furnished by Immigration Inspector Zurbrick of Niagara Falls, two Chinamen are under arrest at Rochester, N. Y., charged with unlawfully entering this country. In their pockets were packages of opium valued at several hundred dollars and two recently-severed queues.

IN TROUBLE WITH UNCLE SAM.

Denver Superintendent of Mails Rearrested and Original Bail Is Doubled.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DENVER, Feb. 4.—Carlson B. Wilson, for twenty years superintendent of mails at the Denver postoffice, was re-arrested today upon the assertion of Postoffice Inspector Waters that Wilson's alleged peculations might amount to $25,000. When first arrested, he had been released on $2500 bond. It was increased to $5000 today and he was unable to furnish that amount.

According to Inspector Waters, Wilson had two systems to beat the government. By one, he made out triplicate sheets in his own writing. The original, containing the correct figures as to weight of mail matter and amount of check received by him, was sent to Washington. Then he spread a piece of paper over the duplicate and triplicate sheets and made an entirely different record for th local offices.

ENGLISHMAN SPENDS FORTUNE AND STARVES.

Comes to America With Hundred Thousand Dollars and for More Than Twenty-three Years Works on Electrical Inventions Until Money Is Gone and Death Calls.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With his fortune of more than $100,000 spent in an effort to find the secret of generating cheap electricity so as to revolutionize the power systems of the world, John Needham Longdon, Fellow of the Royal Society of Engineers and distinguished am Longdon, Fellow of the Royal So- and mining engineer, died of starvation in the New York Hospital and his body rests in the potter's field.

Seeking the answer to the problem he had set for himself, Longdon worked for more than twenty-three years in this city and, locked up in a storage vault of the Lincoln Safe Deposit Company, are three large pine cases which are believed to contain apparatus, the result of his labor, which may be of inestimable value to the scientific world.

Longdon died on October 14, 1910, and following the usual routine, was buried in the potter's field.

Through friends it has become known that Longdon came to New York in 1884, with a fortune of $100,000 accumulated in Australia, and lived in two large rooms, where he worked on a machine which he claimed would make electricity so cheap that electrical power could be sold for a ridiculously low price. The model of his machine he kept so close that no one ever saw it.

PHYSICIAN ENDS LIFE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Leaving a note asking forgiveness, Dr. Stanley D. Curran, a prominent and well-to-do Harlem physician, shot himself in the head today. His wife found him dead upon a couch. Dr. Curran suffered an attack of illness recently, but had completely recovered, it was thought, and no reason could be assigned by his family or friends for his act.

MAKES STOMACH TROUBLE VANISH.

INDIGESTION, GAS, HEARTBURN AND DYSPEPSIA GO.

Thousands of Men and Women Here and About Los Angeles Will be Surprised at the Prompt Relief After Taking a Little Diapepsin. Get Some Now and Have Your Stomach Trouble Overwith FOREVER.

Why not get some now—this moment, and forever rid yourself of Stomach trouble and Indigestion. A dieted stomach gets the blues and grumbles. Give it a good eat, then take Pape's Diapepsin to start the digestive juices working. There will be no dyspepsia or belching of Gas or eructations of undigested food; no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach or heartburn, sick headache and Dizziness, and your food will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin costs only 50c for a large case at any drug store here, and will relieve the most obstinate case of Indigestion and Upset Stomach in five minutes.

There is nothing else better to take Gas from Stomach and cleanse the stomach and intestines, and, besides, one single dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into blood all your food the same as a sound, healthy stomach would do it.

When Diapepsin works, your stomach rests—gets itself in order, cleans up—and then you feel like eating when you come to the table, and what you eat will do you good.

Absolute relief from all stomach misery is waiting for you as soon as you decide to take a little Diapepsin. Tell your druggist that you want Pape's Diapepsin, because you want to become thoroughly cured this time.

Remember, if your stomach feels out of order and uncomfortable now, you can get relief in five minutes.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TI

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Feb.

the projected western ex of the El Paso and Southweste road system has been give
Dr. James Douglas, who, a fe ago at El Paso, said, "The ex of the El Paso and Southw
Railroad from Benson to Tucs
Phoenix is under favorable con tion, terminals having been in the two cities." No record sale of land to the Southwester thus far gone upon the books county, but a forty-acre tract mile south of the business sect the city lately changed hands, sibly to a realty firm which anno its intention of putting a new vision on the market. This tract to be the terminal referred to b
Douglas. It is so situated that right of way trouble would be h getting to it from either the Ea south, allowing a choice of bridge for a half dozen miles along River. The Southern Pacific forty acres adjoining this tract o northeast, as well as a quarter-se of ground farther toward the eas Tucson, terminal grounds have secured by the Chamber of Comm which lately paid over some m for extension of its options to M 1.

There is some evidence that main extension of the Southwe will be through Tucson, Sasco
Sacaton to Phoenix, as a final su of a line from near Benson to Tu is now in progress, a better grade the steep Mescal hill being secure a gradual climb from a point south Benson. At the same time it is lieved that the Southwestern will b down the San Pedro Valley from B district around Ray.

TO CONSTRUCT CUT-OFF.

Construction of the Colorado-A zona cut-off of the Southern Pac system has been provided for in annual budget of the company, j announced by President Lovett. S veys and estimates of the whole l have been complete for months pa and provision for financing its co struction has been made in approval a bond issue of $15,000,000, from whi payment will be made, as well, for t building of the western sections of t line, between San Carlos and Chris mas, Ariz., and between Arlington a
Yuma. Nearly half the distance acro
Arizona already has been covered b trackage extending eastward fro Phoenix 110 miles and westward fif miles. The connection between Sa Carlos and Bowie on the Gila Valle line of the company is now being p into main-line shape by the expend ture of about $500,000.

Reconstruction is in progress o twenty-six miles of railroad bough by the Southern Pacific from the Twin Buttes Mining Company, to be a par of its main line into Sonora. With the exception of this stretch of road the line from Tucson southward al ready is in the best of shape.

While the strike of engineers on the Sonora railroad seems to be still in existence, trains are running regularly. A score or so of engineers have been secured in the United States to take the places vacated by strikers and a large number of Mexican engineers have proven available and efficient. No disorder has occurred during the time of the strike. The strikers assert they are simply demanding the same wages paid by the Southern Pacific on this side of the line.

Two of the four daily trains on the Tombstone branch of the El Paso and Southwestern have been abandoned on the closing down of the Tombstone mines. Service has been abridged also on the Courtland branches of the Southwestern and Southern Pacific roads.

RAILROAD NOTES.

E. W. Clapp, late of the Southern Pacific offices in San Francisco, has assumed the place of general freight and passenger agent of the Southern Pacific and Arizona Eastern lines in Arizona, succeeding Ralph S. Stubbs, transferred to the Southern Pacific freight offices in New York. C. F. Mowbray, who has been traveling agent for the two companies in Arizona, has resigned, to join Mr. Stubbs, it is understood. To the place vacated has been promoted George Gann, for twelve years past Southern Pacific freight agent at Phoenix. He will be succeeded by Jack Arnold, now agent at Tempe.

Tucson is headquarters for the Arizona Eastern system, which is under the management of Col. Epes Randolph. The pay roll is a material benefit to the city, as about 250 clerks and engineering department employees contribute nearly $25,000 monthly to local business activities.

Not for years have hobos been as numerous or as troublesome along the Southern Pacific as at present. Wednesday morning a gang of more than fifty tramps captured a freight train at Casa Grande and went westward in state, with the train crew in entire subjection.

The Pullman rate to Los Angeles, heretofore $3.50, has been cut to $3.25 for lower berths and $2.60 for uppers.

CHEAP RATES TO THE COAST.

Low Round-Trip Rate to San Francisco Via Los Angeles for National Education Association.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—A move that may result in a diminution next summer of the receipts from the $2 membership fee of the National Educational Association—collected each year when conventions are held—was made yesterday when the Transcontinental Passenger Association adopted a National Educational Association round trip convention rate of $65.50 to San Francisco and Los Angeles. This offer means that a person wishing to take advantage of the rate to go to the Pacific Coast on account of the convention, which will be held in San Francisco from July 8 to [illegible] can buy a ticket to Los Angeles without the payment of the National Education Association fee of $2. [illegible] will be sold to the latter city

El Paso-Southwestern Plans Big Extension.

Southern Pacific Provides for Building of Cut-Off.

Rebuilding Mining Line from Twin Buttes Camp.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Confirmation of the projected western extension of the El Paso and Southwestern Railroad system has been given by Dr. James Douglas, who, a few days ago at El Paso, said, "The extension of the El Paso and Southwestern Railroad from Benson to Tucson and Phoenix is under favorable consideration, terminals having been bought in the two cities." No record of any sale of land to the Southwestern has thus far gone upon the books of this county, but a forty-acre tract a half mile south of the business section of the city lately changed hands, ostensibly to a realty firm which announced its intention of putting a new subdivision on the market. This tract seems to be the terminal referred to by Dr. Douglas. It is so situated that little right of way trouble would be had in getting to it from either the East or South, allowing a choice of bridge sites for a half dozen miles along Salt River. The Southern Pacific owns forty acres adjoining this tract on the northeast, as well as a quarter-section of ground farther toward the east. At Tucson, terminal grounds have been secured by the Chamber of Commerce, which lately paid over some money for extension of its options to March 1.

There is some evidence that the main extension of the Southwestern will be through Tucson, Sasco and Sacaton to Phoenix, as a final survey of a line from near Benson to Tucson is now in progress, a better grade over the steep Mescal hill being secured by a gradual climb from a point south of Benson. At the same time it is believed that the Southwestern will build down the San Pedro Valley from Benson, in order to tap the great mining district around Ray.

TO CONSTRUCT CUT-OFF.

Construction of the Colorado-Arizona cut-off of the Southern Pacific system has been provided for in the annual budget of the company, just announced by President Lovett. Surveys and estimates of the whole line have been complete for months past and provision for financing its construction has been made in approval of a bond issue of $15,000,000, from which payment will be made, as well, for the building of the western sections of the line, between San Carlos and Christmas, Ariz., and between Arlington and Yuma. Nearly half the distance across Arizona already has been covered by trackage extending eastward from Phoenix 110 miles and westward fifty miles. The connection between San Carlos and Bowie on the Gila Valley line of the company is now being put into main-line shape by the expenditure of about $500,000.

Reconstruction is in progress of twenty-six miles of railroad bought by the Southern Pacific from the Twin Buttes Mining Company, to be a part of its main line into Sonora. With the exception of this stretch of road, the line from Tucson southward already is in the best of shape.

While the strike of engineers on the Sonora railroad seems to be still in existence, trains are running regularly. A score or so of engineers have been secured in the United States to take the places vacated by strikers and a large number of Mexican engineers have proven available and efficient. No disorder has occurred during the time of the strike. The strikers assert they are simply demanding the same wages paid by the Southern Pacific on this side of the line.

Two of the four daily trains on the Tombstone branch of the El Paso and Southwestern have been abandoned on the closing down of the Tombstone mines. Service has been abridged also on the Courtland branches of the Southwestern and Southern Pacific roads.

RAILROAD NOTES.

R. W. Clapp, late of the Southern Pacific offices in San Francisco, has assumed the place of general freight and passenger agent of the Southern Pacific and Arizona Eastern lines in Arizona, succeeding Ralph S. Stubbs, transferred to the Southern Pacific freight offices in New York. C. F. Mowbray, who has been traveling agent for the two companies in Arizona, has resigned, to join Mr. Stubbs, it is understood. To the place vacated has been promoted George Gann, for twelve years past Southern Pacific freight agent at Phoenix. He will be succeeded by Jack Arnold, now agent at Tempe.

Tucson is headquarters for the Arizona Eastern system, which is under the management of Col. Epes Randolph. The pay roll is a material benefit to the city, as about 250 clerks and engineering department employees contribute nearly $25,000 monthly to local business activities.

CHEAP RATES TO THE COAST.

Low Round-Trip Rate to San Francisco Via Los Angeles for National Education Association.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—A move that may result in a diminution next summer of the receipts from the $2 membership fee of the National Educational Association—collected each year when conventions are held—was made yesterday when the Transcontinental Passenger Association adopted a National Educational Association round trip convention rate of $65.50 to San Francisco and Los Angeles. This offer means that a person wishing to take advantage of the low rate to the Pacific Coast on account of the convention, which will be held in San Francisco from July 8 to 14, may buy a ticket to Los Angeles without the payment of the National Educational Association fee of $2. Tickets will be sold to the latter city either via San Francisco or returning through San Francisco.

It has been the rule for some years that persons seeking to obtain low rates issued on account of the National Educational Association conventions must obtain a membership in that organization by paying $2. An understanding to this effect invariably was arranged with the railroads handling the business, and the result, it is said, has been a revenue for the association amounting, according to various estimates, to between $20,000 and $35,000 annually.

When the National Educational Association concluded to hold its convention this year in San Francisco, the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe roads agreed to the plan of giving the advantage of low fares only to members of the association. Officials of many other western railroads, however, have been opposed to this plan, and when the subject was brought before the Transcontinental Passenger Association yesterday a stormy debate ensued. It finally was agreed that the National Educational Association compact in regard to San Francisco should be observed, but that a similar rate to Los Angeles without any National Educational Association attachment also be offered. Tickets will be sold between June 27 and July 5.

It also was decided at the Transcontinental Passenger Association meeting to establish summer tourist rates to the Pacific Coast at $72.50 for the round trip. There will be no reduction from this amount on account of the conventions of the American Sunday-school Association and the Eagles in San Francisco and the annual meeting of the American Medical Association in Los Angeles.

CATHOLIC ARCHBISHOP SHOWS GREAT VITALITY.

Aged Prelate Himself, However, Discourages Too Optimistic View of His Condition—Spends Cheerful Day and Attends to Pressing Matters of His Diocese.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 4.—After a week's illness, during which he was very close to death because of attacks of the heart that caused unconsciousness, Archbishop Ryan tonight showed considerable improvement and those about him are endeavoring to hope he may continue to get stronger and be able to be about again. The archbishop threw a damper on these hopes, however, when, in answer to a remark by one of those about the bedside that he looked good, he said:

"I feel that way, but do not make it too strong, for something may happen at any minute."

The physicians in their statements used cautious language. While saying the archbishop had maintained the improvement that set in early today, they did not indicate that he had passed out of danger. The doctors, from the beginning, have said the only trouble with the archbishop is a weak heart and that a fatal attack may occur at any moment. The venerable prelate has a wonderful constitution and the vitality he has shown has astounded them.

The archbishop was cheerful throughout the day and disposed of several pressing matters affecting the diocese.

THUGS SHOOT UP SALOON.

Six Men Enter New York Liquor Resort and Smash Bar, Glass and Mirrors With Revolver Shots.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Six men, all armed with heavy revolvers, entered by twos at the three entrances to the saloon of Henry Fehn, on upper Second avenue, early today. At a signal from the leader, all six began blazing away at the mirrors and glassware. About forty shots were fired with such excellent effect that broken glass was strewn all over the place by the time two policemen ran up attracted by the fusillade.

The blue coats found the saloon empty, except for the two bar tenders, who were crouching uninjured close to the door behind the bar in fear of a renewal of hostilities. The six visitors had departed as suddenly and silently as they came.

The police believe they intended to rob the saloon, but were frightened away at the racket their revolvers caused and escaped without accomplishing their purpose.

When the fusillade began there were a dozen customers sitting in a back room playing cards and sipping beer. They fled.

According to the police the invaders probably were delegates from the notorious East Side gang, the "Hawks," which has been terrorizing the neighborhood for some time past. The "shooting up" of saloons is one of their favorite pastimes. One of the leaders of the gang, known as "Big Hawk" was recently convicted of holding up a banker and is now doing a five-year sentence in Sing Sing.

Defrauders of Government Complete Prison Terms—Fine Remains to Be Settled by Paupers' Oath.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

ATLANTA, Feb. 3.—Benjamin G. Green and John F. Gaynor, convicted on the charge of defrauding the government in the Savannah harbor work by the aid of Capt. Oberlin M. Carter, and sent to the Federal pprison, will be free men within a month. The two prisoners completed their term of imprisonment yesterday and would have been at liberty, but for the fine.

At the end of thirty days' time they can go before the United States clerk in Atlanta, take the pauper's oath and go where they will.

The term of imprisonment was for four years, but the "good service" time off allowed has reduced the sentence.

Green, who had been ill for years before his incarceration, is said to be completely restored to health.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Bearing the marks of a stormy passage, the North German Lloyd steamer Brandenburg, from Bremen, reached port here today. Her officers told of a tremendous sea which flooded the vessel from stem to stern on January 31, smashed ventilators, life-boats, stanchions, bridge- and deck house, and stove in the crow's nest, 50 feet above the water. The officers on the bridge estimated the height of the sea at sixty feet.

GRANGE OPPOSES NEW PACT PLAN.

Farmers See Discrimination in Reciprocity Idea.

Will Urge Congressmen to Defeat Proposal.

Fear Result of Competing With Canada.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—The machinery of the National Grange, an organization claiming a membership of one million farmers in thirty States, has been started to defeat the ratification by Congress of the Canadian reciprocity treaty.

The legislative committee of the grange, at a special meeting today, adopted a resolution protesting against the enactment of the reciprocity bill, called upon the membership to exert pressure upon Congressmen from their various districts to vote against the measure and decided to go to Washington to map out a campaign there.

The legislative committee is composed of Former Gov. Nahum J. Bachelder of Concord, N. H., chairman; Aaron Jones of South Bend, Ind., and T. C. Atkeson of Morgantown, W. Va.

As soon as the terms of the proposed treaty became public they exchanged telegrams, agreed upon New York as a meeting place, and left their homes without delay to head off any possible campaign that might be started for the bill's enactment.

WHY GRANGE OBJECTS.

"We are not opposed to a general reduction of the tariff," Mr. Atkeson said, "but we are opposed to any arrangement which will make fish of one industry and flesh of another. Revise the tariff—yes, but do it all at once, and not by a reciprocal treaty with a country which exports agricultural products almost exclusively.

"Remove the tariff on steel and iron and manufactured articles along with farm products, and we won't object. But we do not think it fair to compel the farmers to compete with foreign products and allow the manufacturer to derive the benefit of a high protective tariff.

"Acting along these lines, we have decided to oppose the enactment of the bill. The commission issued a statement this afternoon which will be sent every one of the 7500 granges in the organization. These have a membership of from fifty to 1000 farmers.

"We shall ask every member to write his Congressman urging him to vote against the bill. I think we can defeat it in this manner but we are not going to take any chances and the committee has decided to go to Washington and work for that end."

THE PROTEST.

In its statement the committee says that acting in response to thousands of letters and telegrams urging it to protect the farmers' interest, the following protest is issued:

"The undersigned, representing the principal organization of farmers in the United States, earnestly protest against the enactment of the Canadian reciprocity bill now pending in Congress for the following reasons:

"1. The bill provides for the admission free of duty of all Canadian farm products. Since Canada is the only country from which any considerable quantity of these products can under any circumstances be imported, this would result in practically free trade in everything the farmer produces.

"2. While putting farm products on the free list, the reciprocity bill makes no material reduction in the high tariff rates on all the manufactured articles the farmer buys, and therefore gives no relief from the heavy burden of taxation imposed by these duties.

GENERAL PROTECTION.

"3. The theory on which our protective policy has always been defended is that all classes and interests are equally entitled to protection. The farmers, however, receive much less protection than the manufacturers, for while farm products are taxed on the average about 25 per cent., manufactured articles are taxed on an average of about 45 per cent.

"4. The enactment of the Canadian reciprocity bill would still further discriminate against the farmers by abolishing the comparatively slight protection now given them, while leaving the high protective duties on manufactures practically untouched.

"5. The Canadian farmers, by reason of their lower general tariff and their preferential trade arrangements, cannot buy manufactured goods at lower prices than those prevailing in this country. The prices of farm lands in Canada are also much lower than in the United States. The conditions give the Canadian farmers an advantage over us, and the free admission of their products will submit us to unfair competition.

"6. We hold that the farmers should receive exactly the same measure of protection as is given the manufacturers, and that there must be no reduction of duties on farm products either by reciprocity or tariff revision, unless the duties on all manufactured articles are at the same time correspondingly reduced.

"7. To show that this reciprocity measure is not an honest effort to reduce the cost of living in the interest of the consumer, it is sufficient to point out that while wheat is on the free list, flour is taxed 50 cents per barrel, and that while cattle, sheep and hogs are free, meats, both fresh and cured, are taxed 1 1-4 cents per pound for the benefit of the meat trust."

GETS CHARIVARIED TO FINISH.

Colorado Mill Man and Bride Put Through Course of Sprouts by Exuberant Friends.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GEORGETOWN (Col.) Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] B. Burlingame, a well known mill man, is glad his charivari is over. Burlingame went to Boise, Idaho, married a young woman and returned quietly, but friends here had heard the news.

The couple were captured at their flat and forced to accompany a crowd of at least 200, the bride being given a seat in a burro-cart and the groom forced to take the place of a burro with cow bells fastened to his ankles. He was then compelled to pull his better half through the town, followed by hundreds.

At their new home, they found everything topsy-turvy. Wires had been strung and connected with the furniture so that when one sat down in a chair or on a bed there would be a loud ringing of bells. This kept the couple investigating all night, but the wires were not discovered until morning.

KANSAS CITY MAN MIXED UP WITH MILLINER.

Wife Presents Epistle in Court Wherein Affinity Pours Out Wealth of Affection and Winds Up by Declaring "I'm Just Simply Foolish About You."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. C. J. Boyle, wife of the former owner of the Drovers' Live Stock Commission Company, filed suit this afternoon against Miss Ella Stevenson for $50,000, for alleged alienation of her husband's affections. Mrs. Boyle is well known on the Live Stock Exchange. Miss Stevenson is head of the trimmed hat department in a Whiteside millinery establishment. Mrs. Boyle also has a suit pending in Circuit Court against her husband for separate maintenance. Boyle is 47 years of age and Miss Stevenson is 34, and of unusually attractive appearance.

One of the letters written by Miss Stevenson to Boyle while Miss Stevenson was working in Kansas City last June is set out in full in the petition. It says in part:

"Dear Sweetheart: It is Saturday evening and I am not with my dear good sweetheart. Dear, you do not know what that means to me. I am as lonely as if I did not have a friend on earth and I know that isn't true, for I know of several and one especially who, I know, is as good as gold, and that very one is you, love. At least that is the way I have it all summed up. If I wake up to find it all wrong, I will never be sorry that I believed, for it has afforded me pleasure which I could not have found anywhere else. And as it affords me such happiness, I think it can never be wrong.

"Wonder if my sweetheart will be good tonight?

"It is now 8:30 and just time for us to be getting home for dinner. We are just now on the inside. I have turned the key in the lock and I am kissing my sweetheart for the first time during the evening—but the real good part of it is, it is not the last time during the evening. Love, I feel real happy tonight. The only thing I have to console myself is to follow in my mind our usual proceedings, and tell you what we should be doing as the clock points out the time.

"Dear, do you think me a silly little girl for being so sentimental? Nothing else could cause such foolish feelings of sentiment to arise in me but you. I am just simply foolish about you."

BURGLARS SEEK PORTRAIT.

Futile Attempt Made to Steal Oil Painting of Frank Cushman from an Eastern Academy.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

MONSON (Mass.) Feb. 4.—Two men disguised with false beards, entered Cushman Hall, the dormitory of Monson Academy here, late last night, and attempted to steal the portrait of Frank Cushman, in whose memory the dormitory was erected.

One of the men was seen in the hall on the second floor by the cook, Mrs. Elizabeth Toomey, and he at once attacked her, throwing her to the foot of the stairs. Here the second man was working at the picture with a knife and, as the woman fought with the two men, this man cut her on the arm and also cut off a large part of her hair. Her clothes were partly torn off in the struggle.

There were a few students in the building on an upper floor who heard Mrs. Toomey's outcries and came to her rescue. When the students started down the stairs, the two men ran down through an open door and escaped. The academy officials can give no motive for the attempt to steal the portrait.

MICHIGAN ALUMNI BANQUET.

The alumni of the University of Michigan gave a banquet last night at the University Club, which was attended by about seventy graduates and former students of the university. Hon. Victor E. Taylor, F. C. Collier, E. T. Parker, F. W. Burnett and N. F. Sterry.

PUNCHES HOLES IN TARIFF PLAN.

Senator Flint Will Head Off Blow at West.

Would Give Europe Decided Advantage in States.

Member to Urge That Senate Ratify Appointments.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A new principle was enunciated today by the Finance Committee of the Senate when it declared that not only the cost of production but also the cost of distribution should be taken into consideration in fixing the rate of import duty necessary to give adequate protection to American industries.

This is a question of the deepest importance to the Pacific Coast. Its products must compete with many products of Europe and foreign goods can be laid down in New York for a tithe of what it costs to take the California products East. This enables the foreigners to dispute with California and the American market even as far west as the Mississippi, notwithstanding the fact that they may be paying a tariff which is designed to overcome their advantages in the lower cost of production.

The Finance Committee, of which Senator Flint is a member, will insist that this consideration be taken up by the Tariff Board if provision be made for that body and also that appointments by the President to the board shall be ratified by the Senate.

LET CANADA JOIN AMERICA.

Representative Hayes of California Offers Suggestion for Solving Reciprocity Question for All Time.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Notwithstadinng the announcement coming from the White House that the President is almost, if not quite, persuaded to call an extra session if the Canadian reciprocity treaty is not ratified by Congress, there is a very strong feeling around the capital that the treaty will not secure the approval of the Legislators before March 4.

Representative Hayes of San Jose said today that while it appeared certain that the fruit interests of his State would be considerably benefited and that his county, especially, would be the gainer on that score, he had received protests from the lumber, fishing, wood pulp and paper interests. The only hesitation he had in regard to endorsing the treaty, said Hayes, was that he was a strong protectionist and he feared that the adoption of the treaty would weaken the position of the Republican party on that question.

"I believe most profoundly," said he, "in conserving the home market for the people of the United States. If Canada desires the benefit of our markets for her produce there is one method of reciprocity she could adopt and I believe no American would or could criticize her, and that is for her provinces to make application for admission as States of this Union. That's the kind of reciprocity I could enthusiastically support. As to the treaty, I have a few doubts regarding it. The sentiment of the people in California will have great weight with me in my final action."

FUR SEAL POLICY ATTACKED.

Hearing Is Had on Nelson Bill to Absolutely Prohibit Killing for Period of Five Years on Pribyloffs.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—An attack on the government's policy in caring for fur seals on the Pribyloff Islands in Alaska was made by Dr. William T. Hornaday, of the New York zoological gardens, and President H. A. Elliott, today.

They spoke for the Camp Fire Club of America, before the Senate Committee on conservation of natural resources.

The speakers declared that under the act of last year, which cancelled the lease theretofore held by the North American Commercial Company, and gave control of the killing of fur seals to the Secretary of Commerce and Labor, there had been no cessation of wanton killing.

Dr. Hornaday condemned the policy of weeding out the males when they are babies, leaving only those needed for breeding purposes. He declared the system left weaklings.

The hearing was in connection with the Nelson bill to prohibit absolutely the killing of fur seals for five years from and after May 1, 1911, except by natives for food and clothing and manufacture of boats for their own use.

The Department of Commerce and Labor, through Mr. Lembkey, opposed the bill.

SENATE AMENDS TARIFF BILL.

Committee Hearing Results in Charges Which Are Certain to Cause Fight by Democrats.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—After so amending the House bill authorizing the creation of a Tariff Board as to require the confirmation of its members by the Senate, and to add the cost of transporting articles in estimating the cost of production as a basis for levying tariff duties, the Senate Committee on Finance today postponed further consideration of the measure until next Tuesday.

Evidences of opposition of Democratic Senators were so marked as to justify the conclusion by those present today that the measure would not get through the Senate in the present session.

The amendment requiring confirmation by the Senate of presidential nominees to the board, was presented by Senator Lodge, and the transportation provision by Senator McCumber of North Dakota.

The Lodge amendment met with general favor. The McCumber suggestion, however, was allowed to go in only with the understanding that any member of the committee would be at liberty to oppose it on the floor.

WILL PREACH RECIPROCITY.

New Agreement With Canada to Be Theme of President Taft's Next Public Addresses.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Reciprocity will be the theme which President Taft will discuss in most of the speeches he will deliver between now and the time Congress adjourns. Secretary Knox will help along the administration's campaign of education in this direction by delivering an address at a banquet to be held in Chicago on the night of February 15 by the Association of Commerce of Chicago. Chambers of commerce in a number of cities in the neighborhood of Chicago will participate in the banquet.

The President and Secretary Knox are thoroughly in accord in regard to the proposed reciprocity agreement. The President feels that he can have no better mouthpiece on this subject. It is possible, however, that one or more of the other Cabinet officers may make addresses on reciprocity.

Both at the Columbus, Ohio, Corn Exhibit, where the President will speak next Friday, and before the Illinois Legislature on the following day, he will talk reciprocity.

It is likely, also, it was said at the White House today, that at the Lincoln dinner at Springfield, next Saturday night, he may touch on the same topic.

Attention was called to the fact that the dinner came at a most opportune time for the President to say something regarding reciprocity which he felt might help the administrative measure through Congress.

Remedial.

OIL LAND BILL REPORTED OUT.

FAVORABLE ACTION HOPED FOR BY SUPPORTERS.

Committee Sent to National Capital by California Operators Ready to Leave for Home After Gruelling Fight to Secure Amelioration of the Yard Decision.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Prospects seem good enough for favorable action by Congress on Smith's bill, remedial of hardships caused under the Yard decision, for the committee sent here by the operators to leave for home. H. Treat and wife will leave tonight and O'Donnell will go tomorrow.

The committee, on reporting out the bill yesterday, added to it only a clause to this effect:

"Provided that such lands were not, at the time of entry into possession thereof, covered by any withdrawals."

The committee has had a gruelling fight here and it is not quitting Washington with any optimistic feelings. It hopes for the best, but is greatly inclined to opine that Congress is a "contrary and onsartin critter."

Flint's bill, identical with Smith's, is still in committee, where it has been reposing until the House showed its hand. Flint expects to get a favorable report on it Wednesday, and he believes it will go through the Senate without any difficulty. The bill is described tersely in its caption: "To protect the locators in good faith of oil and gas lands who shall have effected an actual discovery of oil or gas on the public lands of the United States, or their successors in interest."

TRAIN WRECK STATISTICS.

Three Hundred and Twenty-one Persons Killed During Months of July, August and September Last.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—During the months of July, August and September last, the number of persons killed in train accidents was 321, while 3892 were injured. These facts are disclosed in a bulletin issued today by the Interstate Commerce Commission, the first issued under the revised accident law. It includes many acidents not before included in such bulletins.

The total number of casualties of all kinds for the quarter was 22,328—2948 killed, and 19,380 injured on steam operated railroads.

The accident statistics of those electric lines on which interstate traffic is carried, shows 146 persons killed, and 170 injured.

RED TAPE STANDS IN WAY.

Seattle Commercial Club Refused Use of Army Transport in Sending Relief to China.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—For the purpose of sending an expedition from Seattle, Wash., to China with relief supplies for the famine sufferers in that country, the Commercial Club of Seattle today asked the War Department for the use of army transports.

They were informed the War Department was without authority to place a transport at their disposal and that it could be done only by an act of Congress.

The American National Red Cross Society today received a request for assistance in connection with the expedition. The society telegraphed to Seattle, asking for specific information as to what co-operation was desired from the Red Cross and is awaiting a reply before taking any action.

LAND OFFICE CASES. CRIMINAL INDICTMENTS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Criminal procedure by the field service of the general land office for January resulted in the indictment of three persons for timber trespass, three for conspiracy, four for perjury, and twenty-nine for unlawful enclosure, according to the report published yesterday. Convictions were reported in nine cases for trespass; seven for conspiracy and one in Missouri for conspiracy under the Criminal Code of that State. The government lost, through acquittals and dismissals in this period, eighty-six cases, of which forty-four were the Heney cases, Oregon.

MR. TAFT AT YALE SPREAD. PRESIDENT MAKES ADDRESS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Praise of Old Eli was echoed in song, cheer and speech at the annual dinner here tonight of the Yale Alumni Association of Washington. President Taft, the best-known member of the local association, being a graduate of Yale, '78, was the principal speaker, and being a loyal son of Yale, he gave his full share of the praise bestowed during the banquet upon the Alma Mater by the Alumni. The other speakers were: President Hadley of Yale, Franklin MacVeagh, Secretary of the Treasury; Lee McClung, Treasurer of the United States; Charles H. Sherrill, American minister to Argentine.

REAPPORTIONMENT PLANS. DEMOCRATS FAVOR INCREASE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Democratic leaders in the House are arranging to canvass their party on the Congressional reapportionment plan. The caucus of Republican Representatives last night agreed upon the plan of Representative Campbell of Kansas for a continuance of the present public membership of 391, which means a reduction of numerical strength in fourteen, and a gain in ten States. Some of the Democrats, like Speaker-elect Champ Clark, are emphatically in favor of a greater House, such as is shown by the Crumpacker plan, which is based on 433, as the lowest number that will prevent any diminished strength from any State. The Campbell plan is based on a ratio of 234,522 population to each Representative. The following States would have their representation reduced under the 391 plan:

Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Nebraska, North Carolina, South Carolina, Ohio, Tennessee, Virginia, Wisconsin and Maine one each, and Missouri two. On the other hand, California, New York, Oklahoma, and Washington would gain two each, and Arizona, Montana, New Jersey, New Mexico, Oregon, Pennsylvania and Texas one each.

TITLES UP TO HIGH COURT.

Validity of Four Thousand Conveyances of Indian Tracts Hinges Upon Opinion of Supreme Tribunal.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—On the outcome of suits docketed today in the Supreme Court of the United States will depend the validity of some 4000 conveyances of land by members of the Five Civilized Tribes of Oklahoma.

The Federal government is seeking to have the conveyances set aside because of alleged violation of the restrictions on the sale of the lands which had been allotted to the Indians.

The Circuit Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Oklahoma decided the government had no such interest in the case as entitled it to bring the suits, and that the Indians to whom the land had been allotted should have been made parties.

The Circuit Court of Appeals for the Eight Circuit held exactly to the contrary and directed the lower court proceed with the suits.

From this decision P. Heckman and Robert L. Owen appealed to the Supreme Court.

"If these suits can be maintained" said Judge Adams in dissenting from the findings of the Circuit Court of Appeals, "it is not apparent where the government can stop in its litigation in behalf of private persons in the enforcement of national policies. There are certainly many more recognized policies which might substantially be subserved by the practice of governmental interference as in this case."

TAKES HONORS TO COURT.

Californian Would Compel Navy Secretary to Officially Recognize Him as Rear-Admiral, Retired.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Proceedings in a mandamus against George von L. Myer, Secretary of the Navy, were instituted in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia today by Jefferson F. Moser of California, a retired navy officer.

Mr. Moser seeks to compel the Secretary to place his name on the official register of the navy as a rear-admiral on the retired list, instead of with the rank of captain, retired, as he is now designated.

The officer complains to the court that despite a decision of the Court of Claims that he is and has been since September 19, 1904, entitled to the rank and emoluments of a rear-admiral, on the retired list. Mr. Myer refused to recognize him as such and continues to publish him as a retired captain.

Mr. Moser entered the naval service September 29, 1864, and and on September 29, 1904, was placed on the retired list after forty years' service with a creditable record. Under the navy personnel act, it is claimed, he should have advanced to the grade of rear-admiral on his retirement.

How to Stop Pimples

In Five Days You Can Get Rid of All Skin Eruptions by the New Calcium Sulphide Wafers.

Trial Package To Prove It Sent Free.

Any man or woman gets awfully tired going around with a pimply face day after day. And other people get awfully tired, too, seeing them go around with their faces full of disgusting pimples.

If you are one of the unfortunates who can't get away from your pimples, and you have tried almost everything under heaven to get rid of them, take a few of Stuart's Calcium Wafers every day. Do that steadily for a few days, and in less than a week look at yourself in the mirror.

You will then say that Stuart's Calcium wafers are a wonder in getting rid of the eruptions.

These wonderful little workers contain the most effective blood purifier ever discovered, calcium sulphide.

No matter what your trouble is, whether pimples, blotches, blackheads, rash, tetter, eczema or scabby crusts, you can solemnly depend upon Stuart's Calcium Wafers as never-failing.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers have cured boils in three days and the worst cases of skin diseases in a week. Every particle of impurity is driven out of your system completely, never to return, and it is done without deranging your system in the slightest.

Most treatments for the blood and for skin eruptions are miserably slow in their results, and besides, many of them are poisonous. Stuart's Calcium Wafers contain no poison or drug of any kind; they are absolutely harmless, and yet do work which cannt fail to surprise you.

Don't go around with a humiliating, disgusting mass of pimples and blackheads on your face. A face covered over with these disgusting things makes people turn away from you, and breeds failure in your life work. Stop it. Read what an Iowa man said when he woke up one morning and found he had a new face:

"By George, I never saw anything like it. There I've been for three years trying to get rid of pimples and blackheads, and guess I used everything under the sun. I used your Calcium Wafers for just seven days. This morning every blessed pimple is gone and I can't find a blackhead. I could write you a volume of thanks. I am so grateful to you."

Just send us your name and address in full today, and we will send you a trial package of Stuart's Calcium Wafers, free to test. After you have tried the sample and been convinced that all we say is true, you will go to your nearest druggist and get a 50c box and be cured of your facial trouble. They are in tablet form and no trouble whatever to take. You go about your work as usual, and there you are—cured and happy.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 175 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

BIG STEAMER CLIPS RECORD.

YALE SLIPS THROUGH THE SEA FASTEST ON COAST.

Carries Traffic Men on Special Excursion and Turns a Trick That Beats All Time for Passenger Coastwise Vessels—A Twenty-two Knot Gait Is Maintained.

The special cruise yesterday of the steamer Yale, in addition to affording a pleasureable outing for the 400 invited guests, furnished thrills out of the ordinary when it was announced that the speed record for Pacific Coast travel had been broken on the stretch of sea between Point Dume and Point Vincent, the northern and southern extremities of Santa Monica Bay.

It had been announced previously that the Yale, on the cruise, would circle Santa Catalina Island, but Capt. T. D. McFarland declared that the trip skirting the towns along the shore line of Santa Monica Bay would be more interesting and so it moved.

Not until the big boat had rounded Point Dume on the return trip was it announced that a trial would be made for the Pacific Coast speed record. She slipped smoothly through the water at a twenty-two-knot gait, which was a faster speed than any passenger Coast-plying vessel had ever made before.

The Yale left San Pedro harbor in a drenching rain. Shortly after she rounded Point Firmin on the northern course, the sun broke through the clouds. The representative traffic men and newspapermen aboard now had an opportunity to view the shore scene and rolling hills, blanketed with a carpet of green.

The responses to the invitations sent out by T. C. Peck, general passenger agent of the Salt Lake Route, and Traffic Manager McGovern, of the Pacific Navigation Company, were heavier than expected, though adequate preparations had been made for the crowd that made the trip. The majority of the 400 persons aboard were directly interested in the transportation of passengers on the Pacific Coast. Their titles ranged from station agent to general agent and higher, and they were unanimous in their praise of the splendid treatment accorded them by the Pacific Navigation Company and the Salt Lake Route.

Everything possible for the comfort of the guests was done by Capt. Harry W. Goodall, principal owner of the Pacific Navigation Company; T. C. Peck, general passenger agent of the Salt Lake Route; T. B. McGovern, general traffic manager of the Pacific Navigation Company; R. F. Cullen, city passenger agent, and others of the official roster of the two companies. For divers attentions the guests are indebted to Capt. T. D. McDonald of the Yale, Purser A. C. Watson, Chief Steward Ernest A. Gruby and Chief Engineer E. W. Pierce.

The Yale arrived at the dock in Los Angeles harbor at 4 o'clock, where the guests boarded the special train of the Salt Lake Route for Los Angeles.

The railroad men and a number of invited guests met at the Angelus hotel for the annual "high jinks" of the Los Angeles Traffic Association. Following the dinner special stunts peculiar to railroad men were pulled off. About 150 were present at the affair.

BOOST SPIRIT PLEASES HIM.

Cotton Broker of Houston, Who Is Visiting Here, Speaks of the Textile Situation in Southern California.

S. Samuels, head of the S. Samuels Company of Houston, is a guest at the Hayward. Samuels is a cotton broker, one of the pioneers in the Texas field and is here on a pleasure trip. He is a great admirer of the California spirit of boost. He says that nearly all of Texas, despite the fact of its nearness to New Orleans, favored San Francisco for the fair.

"Just recently we had an example of California advertising in Houston. Some Imperial Valley shipper sent to Houston a car of cotton, not so much to sell it as to get the Texas people to realize that California can produce cotton, and good cotton at that. It is surprising that there are no mills in Southern California for the manufacture of cotton goods with the prospects of a great cotton harvest every year in various parts of the Southwest."

After a few weeks in Los Angeles, Samuels will leave for Oakland, Tacoma and other cities in the Northwest where there are factories for the manufacture of cotton products.

LORENA HEIGHTS BOOSTERS.

The residents of Lorena Heights, in the Euclid Heights district, have organized the Lorena Heights Improvement Association, and elected the following officers: President, F. B. Aaron; vice-president, M. T. Holcomb; treasurer, C. M. Robert; secretary; V. L. Sutliff; directors, S. E. Harris, S. L. Harris, S. L. Parks, J. P Bauder, U S. Worley, A. K. Irey. The association will meet every Thursday at No. 3502 Stephenson avenue.

COLLEGE EQUALITY LEAGUE.

Miss Lloyd Galpin will preside over a large public meeting to be held by the College Woman's Equality League Thursday afternoon, the 23rd inst., in the auditorium of the Young Woman's Christian Association building. This organization now has fifty-six members, all of whom are either women lawyers, women doctors or women teachers. In the campaign which they have launched for the education and persuasion of the male voter in behalf of the woman's suffrage constitutional amendment they propose that the several members shall take turns as chairwomen of the day, thereby dividing the responsibilities and work of the long battle.

As chairman of the February meeting, Miss Galpin has a large contract on her hands for it is the expectation of the league to have several hundred members of the Los Angeles Teachers' Association present. The men will be invited to all future public meetings held by the league.

By the death of Mrs. Eunice R. Smith of this city, a substantial fund is released for the benefit of Yale University. Mrs. Smith was the widow of Dr. David P. Smith, who died many years ago. Under the terms of Dr. Smith's will, his widow was to enjoy the income of his estate during her lifetime, but upon her death, two-fifths of the estate was to revert to Yale. Until the estate is appraised, its extent will not be known.

FRUIT GROWERS' CONVENTION.

TO BE HELD IN SAN BERNARDINO BEGINNING OF MARCH.

Partial Programme Is Mapped Out Which Includes Addresses by Commissioner Jeffrey and B. A. Woodward of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange.

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 4.—State Horticultural Commissioner J. W. Jeffrey met today with the managers of the National Orange show and leading fruit growers, and voted to hold the California Fruit Growers convention in this city March 7, 8 and 9. During the afternoon session a partial programme was mapped out, which will be considered by a committee, and the final programme decided by this committee. It is proposed to have Prof. Hopkins of the University of Illinois discuss soils; Prof. C. J. Lipman of the U. of C. will also address the convention on this subject.

Commissioner Jeffrey will address the convention on "Standardization of Fruits," and will be followed on the same subject by B. A. Woodward, manager of the California Fruit Growers Exchange. "Transportation" will be treated by G. Howard Powell, manager of the California Citrus Protection Association. Other prominent experts will discuss special topics. It is expected that the convention will bring here several hundred fruit growers from all over Southern California.

GAME WARDEN BUSY.

State Game Warden Pritchard late last night, after a long automobile trip through the rain, served a subpoena upon Dick Anderson, wanted to give testimony next Friday, at Redlands, against Gus Knight, a Bear Valley hunter, who is charged with violation of the game laws. The witness was missing yesterday, so the trial had to be postponed. When first tried some weeks ago, the jury stood eleven for conviction. Knight has for years been shooting game, and sold ducks in Los Angeles. He had several sacks of ducks consigned to Los Angeles patrons. These were caught by Pritchard. Knight claims he shipped other hunters' ducks in with his own, hence the big pile of birds.

Lon F. Chapin of Pasadena has bought of G. Liser a twenty-acre orange grove a mile south of Rialto, consideration, $22,000. Chapin, who was formerly owner of the Pasadena News, buys for a home, and will soon move with his family to the property.

M. E. and H. W. Brimmer have bought of C. W. Hager, a twelve and one-half acre grove on the Rialto bench, at Base Line, for $10,000. The grove is set to valencias.

KANSAS SOLONS KILKENNY CATS.

Bitter Scrapping Marks Each Legislative Session.

Lie Passes, Fisticuffs Next; End Not in Sight.

Little of Value Accomplished So Far by Lawmakers.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Twenty-seven of the fifty days session of the Kansas Legislature are gone and the sum total of business transacted includes the passage of the usual appropriation bills for pay of members and clerks, and a few local measures upon which there could be no contention.

If the closing days of the session are to be gauged by the record made, Kansas will present to the Nation a sample of acrimony and bitterness rarely exhibited in a legislative body. In both houses men have publicly denounced their fellow-members as liars and have applied other epithets equally disgraceful. Following one of these storms of denunciation and bitter invective, two State Senators met in a committee room and engaged in a fist fight.

The participants in these rows are about equally divided between the Stubbs reformers, the Democrats and the standpat Republicans. All agree that the real battle will not be pulled off until Governor Stubbs' administration measures come up. That will be the time when oratory and invective will fly thick and fast.

The big fight of the session will be over the passage of the public utilities bill. It is fashioned after the Wisconsin and New York laws, but is more drastic than either. Already the committees in the two houses declared that its provisions are too stringent and have commenced to frame committee bills to offer in its place.

The militant warriors in Kansas are the women, who in spite of certain defeat continued their battle for the ballot. The constitution provides that only three amendments can be submitted to the people for a vote at one time. Already a half dozen amendments are before the Legislature, and every one of them was offered to fulfill a platform pledge.

"WAR OVER," SAYS LEADER.

Gen. Lee Christmas Declares Evacuation of Puerto Cortez Marks Beginning of Davilla's Downfall.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

TELA (Honduras) Feb. 4.—Gen Lee Christmas, the American soldier of fortune, who came here to break a lance for former President Bonilla and restore to his party the political control of Honduras, says it is "all over but the shouting."

"The revolution is won," he declared in an interview. "The evacuation of Puerto Cortez and San Pedro was better than a victory by attack.

"The last stand of the government will be at the capital. We can surround Teguclgalppa and starve them out. There need be no more bloodshed."

It is reported the rebel gunboat Hornet arrived at Puerto Cortez today with coal and supplies.

BONILLA FAVORS MEDIATION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Gen. Manuel Bonilla, leader of the revolution in Honduras, in all probability will agree to an armistice within a few days and accept the mediation of the United States to end the revolution.

Commander Davis, of the American gunboat Tacoma, reported he had interviewed the revolutionary leader at Ceiba, tendered the good offices of the United States and proposed an armistice. In reply, Commander Davis said he understood that Gen. Bonilla would agree in a few days.

Upon the formal acceptance of the intervention of the United States it is understood the American government will offer the United States gunboat Tacoma as a neutral meeting place for the representatives of President Davilla and Gen. Bonilla to discuss terms of peace.

SPARRING FOR WIND?

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LA LIBERTA (Salvador,) Feb. 4.—Reliable reports received here say that President Davilla of Honduras, is suing for peace only for the purpose of gaining time, because war preparations in the interior are not completed. Elaborate plans have been made at Tegucigalpa for resisting the revolutionists.

MAILS CHANGES EXPECTED.

Postmaster-General Is Incensed at Alleged Mismanagement and Important Moves Are Hinted At.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Inefficiency, insubordination and mismanagement have developed in the railway mail service and are likely to result in an upheaval, perhaps in a reorganization of the entire service. Postmaster-General Hitchcock is thoroughly incensed. Recently he has been conducting a personal investigation.

Rumors reached Washington today from several points that changes in leading offices of the service were imminent; indeed, it was reported that the resignation of the Second Assistant Postmaster-General and the Chief of the Railway Mail Service had been submitted to the Postmaster-General.

Mr. Hitchcock, however, denied that either of the officials had resigned or that their resignations had been called for. He said tonight he was entirely satisfied with the administration of the office of second assistant by Mr. Stewart, but he expressed himself as much dissatisfied with the management of the railway mail service, particularly as respects the personnel of of the service.

His investigation, he indicated, had disclosed that orders had been issued by subordinate officers placing upon the employees unreasonable and in some instances humiliating burdens. These were promulgated in the name of the Postmaster-General, although he knew nothing about them until after investigation.

SENATOR TERRELL STRICKEN.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Senator Joseph M. Terrell of Georgia, was suddenly stricken with acute indigestion in his room at the Senate office building late today. He was removed to the George Washington University Hospital, where physicians say his condition is serious.

take with her any volunteer nurses who will consent to go under the Red Cross flag.

AMERICANS ARRESTED.

The Jefe Politico of Juarez issued orders at 2 o'clock this afternoon that the streets be cleared of people by the police and that the populace remain indoors, as shelling might begin at any time. In spite of this order the refugees continued to flock to the car lines to come to El Paso. When the cars stopped running, a few minutes later, the people were in a panic and it was necessary to start the cars again under American flags to carry the crowds who were trying to get out of the battle zone.

Five Americans—L. W. Hoflicer, Tom Greer and three others whose names are not known—were arrested in the plaza this afternoon while attempting to take plans of the fortifications which have been thrown up around the old Church of Our Lady of Guadaloupe.

Circulars have been thrown about the streets of Juarez by boys all this afternoon. They are in Spanish and contain an appeal from the insurrecto following for the people of Juarez to join the insurrecto cause and avoid a battle. The Jefe Politico was mentioned especially as being one who was wanted on the other side.

WHITE FLAG INCIDENT.

A white flag was seen late in the afternoon leaving the city limits, going in the direction of the insurrecto camp, and it was thought that a truce had been declared and the town would surrender without a fight, but it proved to be only a party of volunteer soldiers out drilling and they soon returned.

The cavalry, which has been quartered in the bull ring, has been moved to the quartel as it is feared that the bull ring has been undermined and would be blown up while the cavalry was encamped there. It is also reported that the Federal authorities have mined the principal buildings and will blow them up if the attacking force invades the city, in order to prevent the provisional government from using them as a seat of government.

Gov. Abram Gonzales has all of his plans made for taking charge of the city as soon as it is captured by Gen. Orozco. He is now in Juarez and is being advised by a prominent American, who is really the man behind the entire movement. Gov. Gonzales will issue a proclamation as soon as the town falls, and will declare martial law, he says, to prevent any robberies or other crimes and will then establish civil order and will conduct the affairs of the provisional government from the point until Chihuahua is captured by Gen. Orozco.

OFFICIALS DESERTING.

Many American sightseers from Juarez went to Gen. Orozco's camp Saturday in automobiles, with flags flying from their wind shields. They were courteously treated, but none of the rebels would talk about their plans. The Federal officials in Juarez continue to disappear and it is thought that open desertions will result if the all night and day guard vigils are maintained another day. Assistant Chief of Police Valentine Onate is missing, and has not been seen since Friday.

The Mayor's special guard has also disappeared and a number of the police are said to have deserted.

FIGHTING IS REPORTED FROM AROUND COYAME.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

PRESIDIO (Tex.) Feb. 4.—Fighting between insurgents and Federal soldiers under Dorantes, has been renewed around Coyame, according to reports received here today. The insurgents attacked the Federals when Dorantes attempted to lead his command back to Ojinaga. It is declared Dorantes's troops looted the town of Cuchillio Parrado during their flight, following the insurgent attack.

A company of moret han one hundred insurgents were encamped yesterday near Mulato. They are commanded by Emilio Salgado, a famous frontier character.

A ranchman reported to be working for the Diaz officials was fined $500 by Salgado and the money used to buy ammunition.

American cavalrymen are en route from Marfa, Tex., to this point and are expected to arrive tonight. At present one man, Deputy Marshal Eugene P. Warren, is the sole representative of the United States on more than 100 miles of the Rio Grande. Single-handed he has arrested several bands of insurgents that were using the American side of the river as a highway.

OROZCO OFFERS TERMS TO JUAREZ GARRISON.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

EL PASO (Tex.) Feb. 4.—The attack upon Juarez by the 1200 insurrectos under Generals Orozco and Blanco is scheduled for sun-up, according to information direct from the insurgent camp. A. N. Garcia brought word from Orozco that the latter would attack the city as soon as he was joined by Blanco, and that he expected the troops from the west not later than 9 o'clock tonight.

With a view of preventing bloodshed, Gen. Orozco has sent a proposal to the officials at Juarez that the Federal troops evacuate the city. According to its terms, the Federals will be allowed to march out of the city with their small arms and to proceed to any destination they may name without molestation from the insurrectos. No reply has been made, but the Juarez military authorities have received instructions from Mexico not to surrender under any circumstances. The streets of Juarez tonight are deserted except for the military, the people heeding the official warning to keep within doors.

Eighty-six men left Juarez this afternoon to join Orozco's forces. Each carried 500 rounds of ammunition.

MEETS THE REBELS.

MONTGOMERY COMES BACK.

A. E. (Bob) Montgomery arrived at the Alexandria yesterday from his Mexican properties. Last month he acquired valuable mining property in Ameca, State of Jalisco.

Outside of his mining deals, Montgomery had a number of interesting experiences on his way to the United States in various encounters with the rebel, as well as the Federal, troops of Mexico.

"We gave little attention to the revolution in the southern part of the country. There were no disturbances to speak of. On our way to the United States we came to a full realization that there is some trouble, and that the revolutionists are not to be lightly looked upon.

"In the battle between the revolutionary and Federal forces which took place about thirty miles south of Montezuma, on the way to Chihuahua, there were about 800 men. The numbers on the two sides were nearly equal. The revolutionists killed about 125 of the government soldiers, capturing all of the field guns and ammunition. They in turn lost only eight men.

"Our train, which carried a number of prominent Americans, among them James R. Garfield, former Secretary of the Interior; T. L. Woodruff, his mother, daughter and sister, was boarded by the revolutionists and searched a number of times for Federal officers who were supposed to be aboard.

"Arriving near the American boundary we were met by more revolutionary soldiers. They followed our train and blew up all the bridges to prevent the arrival of additional troops at Juarez. Gen. Orozco came aboard and politely offered us a pleasant view of his proceedings in the capture of the border city, which he declared would soon be his, and which he expects to use as a provisional capital while conquering other parts of the State."

Gains 30 Pounds In 30 Days

Remarkable Result of the New Flesh-Builder Protone, in Many Cases of Run-Down Men and Women.

Prove It Yourself By Sending Coupon Below For a Free, 50c Package.

"By George, I never saw anything like the effects of that new treatment, Protone, for the building up of weight and lost nerve force. It acted more like a miracle than a medicine," said a well-known gentleman yesterday in speaking of the revolution that had taken place in his condition. "I began to think that there was nothing on earth that could make me fat. I tried tonics, digestives, heavy eating, diets, milk, beer, and almost everything else you could think of, but without result.

Any Man or Woman Who is Thin Can Recover Normal Weight By the Remarkable New Treatment, Protone.

"I had been thin for years, and began to think it was natural for me to be that way. Finally I read about the remarkable successes brought about by the use of Protone, so I decided to try it myself. Well, when I look at myself in the mirror now, I think it is somebody else. I have put on just 30 pounds during the last month and never felt stronger or more 'nervy' in my life."

FREE PROTONE COUPON

It will cost you nothing to prove the remarkable effects of this treatment. The Protone Company will send to anyone a free 50c package of Protone if they will fill out this coupon and enclose 10c in stamps or silver to help cover postage and packing, and as evidence of good faith, with full instructions to prove that it does the work. They will also send full instructions and their book on "Why You Are Thin," free of charge, giving facts which will probably astonish you.

If you want to put on more flesh, fill out the following coupon today. Free 50c packages can only be had by writing direct to Detroit.

MADERO WAITING TO CROSS BORDER LINE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LAREDO (Tex.) Feb. 4.—Francisco Madero has again appeared on the scene and the Mexican authorities are on the lookout for him at all points along the border near here.

Madero is expected to cross from the United States into Mexico some time tonight, and cordons of troops, both on the American and the Mexican sides of the river, are on the lookout, the former to prevent violation of the neutrality laws and the latter to effect Madero's capture.

Locally everything is quiet and the only interest displayed in the revolution centers about Juarez.

Stricken on Pleasure Trip.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 4.—R. L. McCormack, the millionaire lumberman of Puget Sound, is so ill here at the Hotel Sacramento that his physicians say he cannot recover. On acount of ill health he was being taken from Seattle to Southern California, but on arrival in Sacramento became so enfeebled that the journey had to be discontinued.

Assassination.

FINANCIAL MINISTER OF PERSIA SHOT DEAD IN TEHERAN STREETS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

TEHERAN (Persia) Feb. 4.—Sani-ed-Dowleh, Persian Minister of Finance, was shot dead in the street today. His assassins, two Armenians, escaped.

The minister was returning home from a meeting of Parliament when he was attacked. Death was almost instantaneous. The murderers also killed two policemen.

There was great excitement throughout the city as the news spread. The assassins got a start on their pursuers and had not been overtaken late in the day.

WAS PROMINENT MAN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Mirza Ali Kuli Kahn, the charge d'affaires of the Persian legation here, in discussing the assassination of the Persian Minister of Finance at Teheran today, said the minister was a leading representative of the new regime in Persia, and one of the most influential men in the country. He was president of the first Parliament of Persia, had been Minister of Public Works and Education, and later a Minister of Finance in the present Cabinet. He was 48 years of age.

The assassination of Sani-ed-Dowleh comes at a time of considerable political excitement in the Persian capital as a result of a bitter quarrel in Parliament over the appointment of American financial advisers. Parliament voted on Thursday last to engage five financial experts from the United States to reorganize the country's financial system.

This action was preceded by a dispute as to the nationality of the advisers to be employed, which threatened a split between the ministry and Parliament. The ministers for a time supported the original plan to have Frenchmen placed in these posts and one faction of the chamber held out for Swiss advisers.

The Minister of Finance was president of the first Parliament and has held the posts of Minister of Commerce, Interior and Public Instruction. He got into trouble with the since dethroned Shah in December, 1907, and was arrested. The following day he was released as a result of the intervention of the British minister.

There have been several attempted assassinations in Teheran in recent years. August 31, 1907, Merzu Ali Ashghan Khan, the Premier and Minister of Finance, was shot and killed as he was leaving Parliament building, under circumstances similar to those of today.

Kavam-el-Melk Shirazi was murdered March 6, 1907. M. Ostogradaki, the Russian financial agent, was wounded in an attempt upon his life on the day following.

TRACE WHEELS TO HIM.

Police Think Colored Youth Is Leader of a Gang That Has Engaged in Wholesale Thefts.

In George Beeks, a colored youth, the police think they have the leader of the gang of boys that has been stealing bicycles and motorcycles in the southeast part of the city the past month. It is said that more than thirty wheels of various makes and values have disappeared in that time.

Beeks was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Watson of the University police division, upon a description furnished by a Central-avenue bicycle dealer, who had purchased several of the stolen wheels. The boy, it is said, was later identified by the dealer as the one who had sold him the loot.

Beeks was arrested several months ago for stealing pigeons, chickens, turkeys, and rabbits from owners residing in the vicinity of Ascot Park. He was taken before the Juvenile Court, but turned loose upon his promise to lead a batter life. Prior to that time he had been arrested, it is said, twice for minor offenses.

According to Watson, Beeks, together with three other youths, has been operating in the southeastern section of the city for weeks. In that time hundreds of dollars' worth of bicycles and motorcycles have disappeared. It is alleged that the boys took the wheels, and after shifting their various parts to prevent identification, repainted and sold them to dealers at greatly reduced prices. Watson hopes to round up the other members of the gang before Monday.

HAYTIEN REBELS VICTORIOUS.

Capture Three Forts, According to Advices Received at Washington from Minister Furniss.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The revolutionists in Hayti, according to a rumor which reached Port au Prince, the capital of the country, have captured Fort Liberty, Oanamintat, and Trou. This information was conveyed to the State Department today in a telegram from American Minister Furniss at Port Au Prince.

Two ministers of the Haytien cabinet, the minister adds, have left the capital to lead the government forces against the rebels. The war secretary left on a gunboat with troops for Gonaives and the Secretary of the Interior is on his way to Cahobas.

CORPS MEN SHED TO BORDER.

PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

TON, Feb. 4.—In order communication between States troops along the border, the War Department the American guard in that territory by three companies of the signal corps.

One has been ordered from the Presidio, California; one from Omaha, Neb., and a third from Fort Leavenworth, Kan. Two pack trains also were ordered to the border line, one to San Antonio, Tex., and the other to Nogales, Ariz.

Aside from the statement from Gen. Hoyt, Commander of the Department of Texas, that an attack on Ciudad Juarez was imminent, the War Department today was without advices from the front. Gen. Hoyt said it was reported that the revolutionists number about 1000.

The revolutionists are in possession of the country west of Chihuahua and all of the government troops have been withdrawn from the Guerrero district to Chihuahua, according to a telegram received by the State Department from American Vice-Consul Leonard at Chihuahua.

All is quiet at Chihuahua, the consul added, and the Mexican Northwestern Railroad is running its trains to Madera without molestation from the revolutionists.

It is rumored, Mr. Leonard continued, that all bridges and telegraph wires have been destroyed between Gallegos and the border and that repair trains have been sent to the scene.

AUTHORITIES ARE ACTIVE.

Planning to Retake Mexicali as Soon as Reinforcements Arrive.

Authentic advices have been received to the effect that the authorities in Mexicali have been by no means idle in the present crisis. Headed by Judge Miguel Lira y Lira of the court of First Instance at Mexicali, the authorities have been actively making arrangements for the retaking and holding of Mexicali. While they have not forces sufficient at their command to cope with the revolutionists, who are known to be camping not far from the outskirts of town, yet arrangements have been made for federal reinforcements, and on arrival of these, which are expected within a few days, the local authorities, with the forces which they have at hand and co-operating with the federal forces, will at once take possession of Mexicali, and will be prepared to hold the town against any siege, and to maintain order and protect property.

TO RECOGNIZE REBELS IF JUAREZ IS TAKEN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—If the Mexican insurrectos take Juarez the United States will be bound by precedent to recognize them as in control of the customshouse there.

Juarez is an important customs station for the Treasury Department, and in view of the impending attack, United States customs officers have appealed to Washington for instructions.

Secretary MacVeagh took up the question personally. It is said there are several precedents in international history in the last seventy-five years which would practically compel the customs authorities to recognize certificates and papers of the revolutionists as far as customs business is concerned, while they hold the town.

REBELS HAVE FRIENDS IN NOGALES, SONORA.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Finding many Maderist sympathizers at Nogales, Ariz., ready to join the insurrectos upon their arrival at the border, United States Marshal C. A. Overlock, upon visiting that city, immediately called for more troops, stating that while the infantry was working incessantly, cavalry would be necessary in covering more of the border.

The marshal said tonight that he met a wealthy Mexican, Jose Maria Mayorena, who claims openly that he has been commissioned by Madero as revolutionary Governor of Sonora and that he cannot return to that State until the revolution breaks out in full volume.

An unsuccessful effort was made by the marshal's force and infantry to locate a cache of ammunition. He has been authorized to employ all deputies necessary and to give customs inspectors the power of deputy marshals.

The marshal stated that 98 per cent. of the residents of Nogales, Sonora, are favorable to the insurrectos and will give them aid if opportunity affords.

TUCSON IS MECCA FOR MUCH MEXICAN WEALTH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Many wealthy Mexican families are arriving in Tucson from west coast cities and other places in the northern States of Mexico, bringing their money, bonds and other valuables with them.

Bankers here say that during the past few days more than $500,000 in money has been sent from Mexico to the United States, while the securities total a much larger sum. Much of this money has been placed on deposit here and many safe deposit boxes have been rented by these families for the storage of their valuables.

Many of the arrivals from Mexico have rented houses, taking them for indeterminate periods, from one to six months—in order to be outside the range of hostilities in Mexico.

GEN. TORRES IN BLOODY BATTLE.

FIGHTING REPORTED ON BANKS OF YAQUI RIVER.

Two Hundred Killed on Both Sides According to Information Received at Douglas, Arizona — Rebels Crossing Arizona Line With Horses.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Feb. 4.—Hemmed in by 350 rebels and 400 Pima Indians under Gen. Severiano Talamantes, who is now in command of all the insurrectos in Sonora, Gen. Lorenzo Torres, the government commander-in-chief, is now engaged in a desperate struggle on the banks of the Yaqui River, twenty-five miles below Sahuaripa, according to advices received here today. The information is based on the reports of couriers who were sent to Moctezuma by Torres to appeal for reinforcements to save him from disaster.

Torres has only 250 regulars, 100 Yaqui Indians and 100 citizen soldiers. It was with this force that he reoccupied Sahuaripa after the rebels evacuated the town, and against the superior numbers of Talamantes, he is fighting now to get back to Moctezuma.

Torres, after retaking Sahuaripa, decided that it was untenable, and started several days ago for Onevas. Since then there has been constant fighting. At one time the Mexican commander was opposed by only 150 rebels. Against this small force he made his way as far as Toledo, where he was ambushed. Heavy fighting is said to have occurred here, but Torres battled his way as far as San Geronimo, where the fighting is said to be raging now, with the advantage of numbers and position upon the side of Talamantes.

MANY REPORTED DEAD.

The couriers sent by Torres into Moctezuma say that more than 200 men have been killed on both sides since the Mexican commander left Sahuaripa.

Miners from El Tigre district, Sonora, reported today that three bands of rebels, with many horses, had marched southward after having crossed the Arizona line near this city. The homes of Mexicans resident in Douglas are crowded with refugees who fled from Mexico to avoid impressment in the Federal service, and declare they are only awaiting the appearance of the rebels to join them. One band of these refugees started last night to find the insurrectos, and succeeded in crossing the line.

The Federals posted at the customhouse town of Augua Prieta were busy all day building breastworks of adobe bricks, in anticipation of an early attack by the revolutionists.

Army officers stationed here received word this afternoon that a troop of the Third Cavalry, stationed at Fort Wingate, New Mexico, is en route here aboard a special train, and will arrive at 5 o'clock tomorrow morning. The same message conveyed information that Troop G of the Third Cavalry is being moved to Fort Hancock, near El Paso.

MEXICAN POOR SHOT.

Francisco Garcia, a wealthy Mexican who owns the Cinco de Mayo mine, arrested fifteen of his countrymen yesterday for expressing sympathy with the rebels. Garcia then left for Hermosillo to inform the Governor, and while he was gone other Mexicans liberated the prisoners and sacked the camp.

A line rider named Roberts, at Hachita, east of here, brought in a wounded Mexican whom he shot in the head last night, during a fight for possession of the officer's horse. The Mexican offered to help the officer find his mount. Three miles out of the camp, at point on the Mexican side, the horse was found and the Mexican suddenly turned on Roberts and ordered him to let the animal go. When Roberts refused the Mexican fired six times at him, and missed. He then started running. Roberts overtook him, and after shooting him, brought him to Hachita.

The pack train of the Eighth Cavalry from Huachuca, arrived here tonight to support the field operations of the two troops of the Third Cavalry sent here from Fort Wingate, N. M., to guard the border.

A blinding dust storm prevailed tonight, and under its cover a number of bands of rebel sympathizers crossed the international lines to join the advancing insurrectos, who are supposed to be on their way to capture the Mexican customhouse town.

TIA JUANA INTACT AT LATE HOUR YESTERDAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Persistent reports in circulation all day today were that a band of rebels had entered Tia Juana, burned the bull ring and hotel and had killed United States Immigration Officer Ralph Conklin. The reports proved false, as Ralph Conklin is at his home here in San Diego. United States soldiers and immigration officers at the Mexican line say Tia Juana is intact and that no rebels are in sight. A telephone message received from Tia Juana at 6 o'clock tonight states that the residents are still disturbed and anticipate an attack at any time.

A detachment of troops from Fort Rosecrans, under Lieut. Ruhlin, left this afternoon for the international boundary line, to be in readiness to protect American property. Fort Rosecrans troops are now distributed along the border from Calexico to Tia Juana.

According to reports received here, Americans and other foreigners have asked the War Department to send a war vessel to Tia Juana, and it is understood that one of the torpedo boat destroyers now here is under instructions to leave for the Mexican port as soon as further orders are received. Admiral Thomas, commander of the fleet now in the harbor here, will make no statement regarding the report.

Latest reports received here are that the Mexican Federal troops still await at Tecarte the advance of the rebel forces. The latter are said to be in camp near Campo, waiting for the rains to cease so they can move supplies by wagon.

Sounds Like Him.

JACK LONDON REPORTED AT HEAD OF MEXICAN INSURRECTO BAND.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A special dispatch to the Evening Post from Phoenix, Ariz., says: That Jack London, the famous novelist and socialist leader, is heading an aggressive band of insurgents in Mexico, was the startling intelligence conveyed to Gov. Sloan of Arizona by the Mexican government today.

The Mexican government, immediately upon learning the identity of the American who was taking a particularly prominent part in the uprising against President Diaz, at once protested, it is understood, to the United States government as well as to Gov. Sloan. It is feared the example of London will be followed by other Americans and by socialists who will take the opportunity to cross into Mexico to spread their doctrines among the rebels.

In the message to Gov. Sloan the Mexican government urged that Americans be prevented from crossing the borders to join London.

The hurrying of United States regular troops to the Mexican border is said to have been in response to a request from the Mexican government that the border be patroled to keep American soldiers of fortune from joining the rebels.

The Mexican government apparently realizes that a man of London's reputation coming to their cause from the United States would have great effect in strengthening the spirit of the rebels. London's picturesque personality and his liking for the rough sort of game he is now mixed up in is calculated, in the opinion of his friends, to make him a figure of consequence among the rebels.

ORDER IS GONE FROM MEXICALI.

THUGS TAKE ADVANTAGE OF CHAOTIC CONDITIONS.

General Belief Is Felt That Customhouse Will Be Dynamited or Burned Within Next Twenty-four Hours—Downpour of Rain Operates to Check Insurrecto Plans.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CALEXICO, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The insurgent forces, massed near the foot of Signal Peak, about forty-five miles south of Calexico, were today strengthened by the arrival of thirty-two recruits from across the American line. They came from small towns in the Imperial Valley and announced, as they crossed the international border, that 100 more men are following from Arizona.

It is believed the customhouse in Mexicali will be destroyed by dynamite or fire within the next twenty-four hours.

Aside from the main rebel forces, camped near the foot of Signal Peak, there are in camp at Mexicali at fewest fifty armed sympathizers, ready to execute the orders of their chief.

On account of heavy rains falling continuously the last few days it is impossible for forces to move in or out of this gateway and the insurgents frankly admit that their plans have been hampered by this condition.

Disregarding the warning that came from the revolutionary forces the customs officials are today in charge in Mexicali. Every time they inspected a consignment of goods or material passing through from the United States they were challenged by a representative of the insurgent gang, who warned them that they would be murdered tomorrow if they remained at their posts.

Though the customs officials have resumed their usual duties on the opposite side of the international border, the town of Mexicali is absolutely without law. Today there were committed numerous offenses which would mean arrest and imprisonment anywhere where the statutes are enforced, but the guilty parties walk the streets immune.

Descriptions of the lawless element guilty of various crimes on the Mexican side of the international line are on file with the United States authorities, and in every case it is found that the criminals participating in the daily hold-ups are not members of the revolutionary forces, but common thugs who are profiting by the unsettled conditions to ply their trades.

AMERICAN TRIBUTE TO REVOLUTIONIST LEADER.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

EL PASO (Tex.) Feb. 4.—Thrown into contact with Pascual Orozco during the four days in which the Mexican Central trains were held by the insurrecto chief, Burton Smith, a well-known author and playwright last night gave his impressions of the rebel commander. Regarding his impression and experiences Smith said:

"The younger Orozco, who shares the command equally with his father, is a most remarkable man and displays the fact in many ways. He is most conservative and seldom utters an unnecessary word. At all times he mingles freely with the men, but rarely talks unless questioned. A Mauser rifle which he carries, never leaves his hand and when he sleeps it is with his fingers clutched about the stock of the gun. He never hesitates to aid his men to perform any kind of dangerous work.

"When he first arrived at Moctezuma last Monday we were greatly surprised to hear shouts of 'Viva Madero' issuing from hundreds of throats. New York passengers thought the insurrectos would open fire on the train, but we soon were assured that all were safe. The insurrectos then entered the train, the officers cautioning their men not to shot.

"In the Pullman cars the insurrectos unbuttoned the berth curtains, striking matches each time so as to be able to detect the nationality of the occupants. An assurance that the occupant was an American was sufficient to cause the men to pass on after fastening the curtains again.

"Pascual Orozco, the chief, accompanied the men through the entire train quieting the fears of the passengers and searching for government men whom he believed were aboard. It was he who gave money to Mexican women whose husbands he retained when the train was finally released and it was he who paid for everything taken from small stores along the line."

PERRIS.

PERRIS, Feb. 3.—The funeral of Mrs. M. P. Deutsch took place Thursday morning. Rev. J. B. Long of the Congregational Church conducted the services. Mrs. Duetsch was 30 years of age and spent most of her life in this community. She came here when but a small child, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bentley, from Jackson, Mich. She leaves two small children and widower. She also leaves a mother, Mrs. J. A. Bentley, and sister, Mrs. Mack Crieger, of Riverside, and two brothers, Lisle and Llewellyn Bentley, of this place. Many beautiful floral offerings were sent as tokens of esteem.

The Masonic lodge met Friday evening in its hall in the Sharpless Building, to install the officers, for the ensuing year. The installation was conducted by George Kelsey, district inspector, and C. B. Bailey, master of the Evergreen lodge of Riverside. The following officers were installed: George W. Cummins, Worshipful Master; H. P. Maxfield, Secretary; W. W. Stewart, Treasurer; Rev. J. B. Long, Chaplain; J. E. Adams, Marshal.

Judge Julian W. Mack of Chicago, was sworn in as a member of the new Commerce Court yesterday.

Why I Lost My Job

Reasons Why Thousands Like Me Cannot Satisfy Their Employers.

"I believe my fate is not unlike that of thousands of other workers who daily lose their places for reasons they do not know, and probably would not believe. When their last pay envelope comes along it is usually, "Your services no longer required." If the truth were known, the reason for their unceremonious removal would probably be that their usefulness was destroyed because of some mental worry, bodily ailment or general indisposition. These things, as we all know, are the most fruitful causes of failure in all walks of life. The battle of Waterloo was lost because of a headache. In this quick age our minds must be clear, rapid, active and free from outside influence or worry, or else we go down to failure with the throng of "floaters" who go from one place of employment to another, giving no satisfaction to others or to themselves, constantly growing older and less useful, with no ambition, no will power, and no hope.

Every man requires from every other man the best that is in him. But no man can use or get the best that is in himself until he is first free from all fretful indispositions and worries.

That was my trouble. I was full of troubles. That's why I lost my job. My stomach in the first place was always out of order, and I was worrying about it, and my mind grew cloudy, and slow. I made mistakes and grew grouchy. That was the end.

There are thousands like me, going about with "quick lunch" faces, dyspeptic manners, and repulsive atmospheres. No employer wants such men's services.

Take my advice. A healthy stomach is half the battle, for it keeps your mind clear, and your face rosy. I have a healthy stomach now and hold a good position, and my employer is satisfied and so am I.

I started to take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which I was told were good for the worst cases of indigestion and dyspepsia. The first two tablets made a wonderful difference in my condition.

One ingredient of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets digests 3000 grains of food. The stomach doesn't have to work at all. The Tablets do all the work, no matter how heavy your meal.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure brash, eructions, burning sensations, bloat, irritations, loss of appetite, nausea, heartburn, lack of energy, loss of memory and dyspepsia and indigestion in their very worst forms.

No other little tablets in the world can do so much. You should carry them around with you wherever you go and take them regularly after meals. Then you will realize what it is to be freed from stomach torment, and have a clear mind, a quick memory, a happy disposition, comfort and rest. Get Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store for 50c a package.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

Pasadena.

LEGISLATURE THE ONLY BAR.

Friends of Throop Confident Plans Will Carry.

Would Transform School Into Institute.

Measure Drafted to Submit to Legislature.

(Office of The Times, 25 S. Raymond avenue.)

PASADENA, Feb 5.—Friends of Throop Polytechnic hope that it may, with State aid, become one of the leading schools of technology in the United States. Obstacles have been removed and grave difficulties overcome and the hope is expressed that favorable action may be secured at the hands of the State Legislature that will bring about the much desired end. Assurances have been received from a number of legislators that they think favorably of the plan.

A meeting was held in the Westminster Hotel, Los Angeles, yesterday afternoon at which Dr. Scherer, the members of the Board of Trustees of Throop, Mark Keppel, Dr. John Willis Baer and over one hundred of the prominent educators of Southern California were present. Dr. Scherer made a short address outlining the plans for turning Throop Institute over to the State of California to be known as the California Institute of Technology. The proposition comprehends the deeding only of the new part of Throop or that part now known as Throop Institute, which is located at California street and Wilson avenue, including twenty acres of ground, a new $160,000 concrete building and a $10,000 power house with a total valuation of something like $400,000. All of the donors to that fund have given their consent and when Dr. Sherer goes back to Sacramento tonight he will carry with him a document signed by all of the donors and trustees offering to deed the property to the State on the passage of the bill.

Throop Academy, now located at North Raymond avenue and Chestnut street, formerly known as the Throop Polytechnic College, is to remain as it now is, a preparatory school for the higher institution and Throop Elementary which is a still lower preparatory school, will remain as it now is, a feeder to Throop Academy. It would be impossible at the present time to give Throop Academy to the State because of the construction of the charter and the fact that many of the original donors are dead.

Dr. Scherer's bill, which it is proposed to submit to the Legislature, was read and received the endorsement of all present. Pasadena will endorse it because Throop has always been the pet of the Crown City and everyone of her citizens are heart and soul in their desires to see it made one of the great educational institutions of the world.

The bill provides that the institution will be governed by a Board of Regents to consist of fifteen members, whose term of office shall be fifteen years; that $100,000 be appropriated for expenses, one-half available June 30, 1912, and the other half June 30, 1913; that $400,000 be appropriated for the erection of buildings and the purchase of supplies and appliances, half of which sum will be available June 30, 1912, and the other half June 30, 1913.

"Everything is in the very best of shape," said Dr. Scherer, last night. "Practically everyone whom I have met at Sacramento is favorable and we do not anticipate the least objection to the passage of the bill. We have provided for every emergency and every contingency. There are no legal or other questions which have not been met and I can see no reason why the bill will not become a law without any changes whatever. The Board of Trustees are a unit on the entire proposition and I believe Pasadena will soon have one of the greatest schools in the world. Throop Academy will be greatly assisted by the change because it will give all students an incentive for higher work. It will be a great feeder to the Institute and so long as Pasadena has no Polytechnic High School, Throop Academy will be greatly needed."

THUM'S PLATFORM.

William Thum, candidate for Mayor at the spring election, announced his platform yesterday. Regardless of the rumors that he would make his race primary as a supporter of the Municipal Lighting Plant and secondarily on his views on water and other local issues, Thum places the old water question in the fore and has but little to say regarding the lighting proposition excepting that he believes in the continuation of the municipal plant and also that he is a firm believer in the municipal ownership of all public utilities. He states that the Mayor should insist on a correct statement of the actual earnings of all water plants and correct valuations; that the city should own the water plants; that they should be bought at their actual valuation; that if the people and the stockholders of the plants cannot agree on the price of the plans that same should be condemned. Regarding the liquor question Thum stated that he is a total abstainer and "abhors liquor" and personally would be in favor of more drastic laws than now exist but he does not believe the sentiment of the people would justify such amendments.

Regarding the question of annexation to Los Angeles Thum states that he is in favor of effecting some working arrangement with Los Angeles regarding securing a portion of the Owens River water, but that he is opposed to absolute annexation of the two cities, although because of the present discord it seems that annexation may be necessary for harmony's sake.

The platform is causing much comment both ways. It is believed the Board of Trade Water Committee, of which Thum is secretary, will agree with his water policy and that in this way many of the old Earley faction will be brought over. It is believed the Waterhouse faction will unanimously agree with Thum's policy and C. J. Crandall stated yesterday that he will positively not be a candidate against Thum.

The socialists will trot in the race for municipal offices all alone. That is they will work their own safety valves and will try to keep up as much steam as they possibly can. No consolidations or coalitions will be formed. They will follow the teachings of their cult, which are to work and vote for none who have not taken the oath of socialism. To this end a full ticket has been placed in the field. At the last State election the socialists cast 526 votes for the socialist candidate for Governor, and, if they hold together and cast the same votes for their Mayorality candidate, it will make considerable difference with the other candidates. For instance there are a large number of the socialists who are ardent members of the Municipal Light League. Just what number there is is not known, but it has been estimated that fully 400 of them are leaguers.

The socialist ticket decided on last night is Harry A. Nichols, for Mayor; E. A. Bonine, Councilman from the First Ward; James Charbonneau, Councilman from the Sixth Ward; J. C. Merrill, Councilman at large.

MULLER BURNED.

Emil J. Muller, exalted ruler of Pasadena Lodge of Elks, was severely burned by electricity yesterday morning and for several hours his condition was grave, but it was announced late last night that he was getting along nicely and will recover. Yesterday morning he went to his garage to light up his automobile and, in attempting to turn on the electricity, he took hold of the cord which was wet and heavily charged. Muller received a severe shock which rendered him unconscious. His hand and arm were badly burned.

HONOR HORACE GREELEY.

The members of the First Universalist Church will honor the memory of Horace Greeley in a special service which will be given this morning. Dr. Canfield of Los Angeles will conduct the services speaking on "Some Lessons for Old and Young in the Life of Horace Greeley." The services will be in commemoration of the one-hundredth anniversary of the birth of the great editor. It was hoped that Ambassador Reid, editor of the New York Tribune, which was founded by Horace Greeley, would deliver an address, but the Ambassador was not able to arrange the engagement.

Rev. B. B. Jacques, new assistant pastor of the First Baptist Church, will preach his first sermon tonight.

The men's meeting of the Y.M.C.A. will be addressed this afternoon at the First Baptist Church by Dr. Ervin S. Chapman, who will speak on "The Outlook at Sacramento." He has been at the State capital some time working for the local option bill.

SOCIETY EVENTS.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Gilbert entertained at dinner last night at their home, 672 Magnolia avenue, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith of Haverhill, Mass. Covers were laid for ten.

Mrs. Nelson March and Mrs. Richard Halstead gave a card party yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. W. H. Magee who will soon move to Los Angeles to make her future home.

A pretty luncheon of yesterday afternoon was that given by Mrs. H. C. Barroll at her home on Lester avenue in honor of Miss Adeline Wright.

SNOW BLANKETS HEIGHTS.

The sixth storm since January 9 ended yesterday afternoon with a severe hail, which was followed with a much lower temperature. The total precipitation for the storm was 1.90 inches, making a total for the season of 12.96 inches, and a total since January 9 of 11.75 inches. The ground was thoroughly soaked before the last storm and consequently much of the water which fell on the hillsides ran off. The Arroyo Seco was running a good head of water last night, likewise all of the mountain washes.

The rainfall in Altadena, taken near the foothills, for the storm was 2.06 inches, making a total for the season of 17.41 inches, which is within an inch of the rainfall of a year ago.

The severe downpour on Mt. Wilson and the other mountain ranges which started in Friday afternoon, turned into snow yesterday afternoon and last night all of the peaks were covered with a two-inch blanket of it, the first of the season. The trees were wet with the rain and the wet snow clung to the bushes and trees, so that the scene was beautiful last night when the moon came out bright and clear. Guests at the Mt. Wilson Hotel organized snowballing parties and had a gay time. On the trail to Mt. Wilson were a good many people last night going up to spend Sunday in the snow. The cars to Alpine Tavern on Mt. Lowe were crowded late yesterday afternoon. The street car company expects a rush of business today.

Advertising patrons of The Times living in Pasadena can telephone "want" announcements to local agent or direct to the Los Angeles office. No extra charge will be made for telephone calls. Just ask telephone operator for Times Classified Department. The telephone charge will be paid by The Times and bill mailed for the ad at regular rates. One cent per word daily, 1 1-4 cents Sunday. The Times regularly prints more "Liner" advertisements than the aggregate number printed by all the other Los Angeles papers.

WANT ADS BY LONG DISTANCE TELEPHONE.

Advertising patrons of The Times, living in Pasadena, Long Beach, Alhambra and El Monte, may now telephone classified ads direct to The Times Office in Los Angeles. As rapidly as possible, this service will be extended to other near-by cities. Telephone toll will be paid for by The Times and bill mailed for advertisement at regular rates, one cent per word daily, 1¼ cent per word Sunday. Rules governing insertion stated at head of classified columns.

Patrons will recognize in this added convenience a prompt and efficient method for copy delivery enabling them to place their "Wants," To Let's, Sales, Exchanges, etc., before the army of investment seekers and others who daily fill their wants through this popular and profitable method.

Couldn't See It.

An Irishman was once serving in a regiment in India. Not liking the climate, Pat tried to evolve a trick by which he could get home. Accordingly he went to the doctor and told him his eyesight was bad. The doctor looked at him for a while and then said:

"How can you prove to me that your eyesight is bad?"

Pat looked about the room and at last said: "Well, doctor, you see that nail on the wall?"

"Yes," replied the doctor.

"Well, then," replied Pat, "I can't."—[Chicago Tribune.

WOULD PROMOTE CLASS SPIRIT.

STUDENT BODY FORMED BY ATTENDANTS AT SCHOOLS.

Minneapolis Manufacturer Drops Into Town and Astonishes the Populace by Buying Twelve Different Pieces of Property With the Purpose of Utilizing Harbor.

WILMINGTON, Feb. 4.—With a view to promoting a better class spirit among the pupils of the Wilmington High School and intermediate grades, a student body has just been formed, the following officers being elected for the ensuing year: President, Harroid Stroud; vice-president, Virginia McBride; secretary, Olive McBride; treasurer, Forrest Moore. It is thought that this organization will, in a measure place the school upon a self-government basis and elevate the standard of deportment generally. In addition to having complete charge of all the sports of the school thes tudent body will have complete control of the work of beautifying the school grounds, which have been plowed and made ready for flowers, shrubbery and lawn.

The usual interest recently manifested in the schools of Wilmington is due in a large measure, to the activity of the Parent-Teachers' Association, the membership of which is said to include a larger number of active workers that any of the towns of similar size in Southern California. At the next regular meeting of the association, which takes place Thursday afternoon in the domestic science building, Miss Barker, who has charge of that work, will address the members of the advantages derived from teaching domestic science. Refreshments prepared by members of Miss Barker's class, demonstrating what they have already accomplished, will be served.

RIGHT OF WAY SECURED.

Word was this morning received from Los Angeles to the effect that the city officials have at last secured the right of way through Wilmington, for the harbor boulevard that is to be constructed from the business center of the city to the waterfront. The route secured is the one originally recommended by the harbor commission and is an extension in a straight line of the road that was partially constructed by the county Supervisors over a year ago, passing along J street to the harbor. The final settlement of this question has served to relieve the anxiety of a great many property owners, as numerous efforts have been made to have the route changed to various other sections of the city.

GOING TO INDIA.

The reception that was to have been held at the German M. E. Church last evening in honor of the former pastor, Rev. H. T. Hilmer and wife, has been postponed until next Thursday afternoon on account of the sudden illness of Mrs. Hilmer. The reception is in the nature of a farewell gathering, as Rev. and Mrs. Hilmer will sail shortly for India, where they go as missionaries in the foreign field. Invitations to the gathering Thursday have been issued to all the members of the First Presbyterian Church, most of whom have signified their intention of being present. A considerable purse has already been raised as a farewell offering to the departing missionaries, who, during their many years of work in Wilmington gained many warm friends.

MANUFACTURER BUYS REALTY.

Wilmington real estate circles received an unusual shock yesterday afternoon when a stranger dropped into the city and in less than two hours acquired possession of twelve different pieces of property in various sections of the city for explanation of this unusual conduct the speculator, who proved to be Nels Erickson, president of a large manufacturing establishment in Minneapolis, Minn., stated that he had made a thorough investigation of Los Angeles' harbor plans prior to coming to Wilmington and had too many other important business engagements to waste his time examining into a subject that he had already made himself familiar with. "I have $4000 in cash in my pocket," said Mr. Erickson, by way of introducing himself, "and I want as much Wilmington property as that amount will hold for sixty days, by which time I will have more money here from Minneapolis to close the deals." For all his haste, however, the visitor succeeded in landing some of the best snaps in the local market.

DIVERS INSPECT SUNKEN DREDGE.

COST OF RAISING IT WILL BE LESS THAN ANTICIPATED.

Property Found Near the Body of Tasse, Killed by a Long Beach Car, Was Identified by Charles E. Morris of Los Angeles, Who States That It Was Stolen.

LONG BEACH, Feb. 4.—Two divers were brought over from San Pedro early this morning on the tug Reliance and taken to the scene of the wreck of the dredger Windham. Their apparatus was made ready and they at once began an examination of the sunken vessel to ascertain the extent of the damage and make repairs.

The clam-shell dredger was taken along side the wreck this morning and John F. Craig said he believed the steam pumps on the clam-shell could pump out the sunken boat enabling it to be raised easily. The repairs will cost about $10,000.

COTTAGE BURGLARIZED.

Charles E. Morris of Los Angeles, who has a summer cottage at Alamitos Bay, paid a visit to the cottage last night and discovered that the rear window had been broken open and robbed. Later he called at police headquarters and identified as his property the silverware, bathing suit and vail, found in the possession of E. Tasse, the French-Canadian killed by an electric car Tuesday night. The house was topsy-turvy and Morris thinks Tasse was looking for something to eat. The dead man did not leave any of his own clothing in the house.

Announcements are being distributed by Hotel Virginia of the third annual tennis tournament to be held on the hotel court, February 15-18. More local players than ever before are expected to enter the amateur lists. The events will be gentlemen's singles, ladies' singles, ladies' special singles, ladies' doubles and mixed doubles.

ACTRESS DIES.

Miss Helen Gordon, an actress employed at a local theater, died this morning at a local hospital from cerebral apoplexy, resulting from a stroke of paralysis received a few days ago while rehearsing, and which was due to over work while in poor health. Miss Gordon was the daughter of a former prominent southern family at Newton's Point, near Savannah, Ga. A sister, living in New York, survives her, and the body will be sent there for burial.

THANK FLINT.

The City Council last night adopted a resolution of thanks to Senator Flint for his efforts in behalf of Long Beach in the effort to secure recognition of the inner harbor by the board of engineers.

WANT BAND.

Mayor Windham, who stopped at Salt Lake City on his way back from Washington, last night, told the City Council that a request had been made for a visit to the Utah capital of the municipal band, which was promised social care during a two weeks' stay in return for concerts. The Council thought it would be a splendid advertisement and authorized Director Willey to take the matter up with the Salt Lake people.

BONDS SALE POSTPONED.

The sale of the $107,000 issue of West Beach improvement bonds has again been postponed until March 3, because of the inability of the local banks to complete arrangements for taking over the issue before that time.

NEWS BREVITIES.

Miss Matilda Munoz, aged 22, died this morning at the home of her parents near Willows.

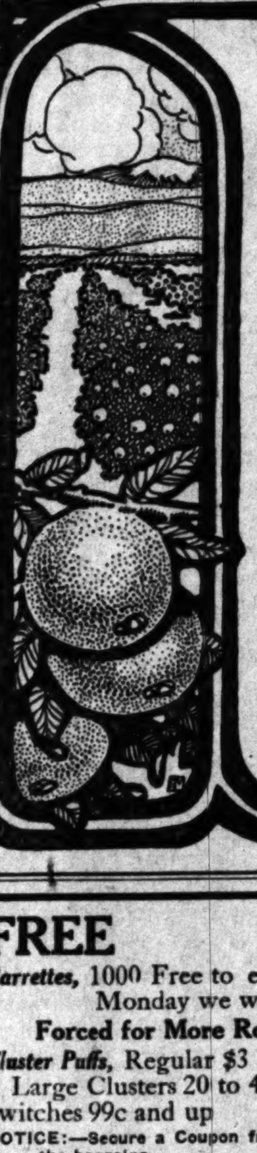
In response to a telegram sent from here regarding the man killed at Alamitos Bay Tuesday night, the Montreal Chief of Police has sent word that "relatives of E. Tasse, cannot be located."

Rev. W. H. Evans, of Wilmington was in the city today endeavoring to locate two runaway boys. About the same time Fred Bixby telephoned the police that two hungry boys were his ranch whom he suspicioned were runaways. They proved to be the boys Evans wanted and were taken back home.

Chief Moyer's efforts to have the sale of blood-and-thunder literature to boys stopped met with failure last night when the City Council decided that so many difficulties would have to be met that an ordinance would not be effective. The chief says that of the many boys who fall in the police net charged with petty larceny and other misdemeanors, the great majority admit that they read about such deeds in these five-cent novels.

James Welch, aged 27 years, died last night at his home on American avenue. He leaves a widow and three children.

Orange Vista



BE AN EARLY BIRD SELECT THE BEST Now!

Here's the biggest opportunity to secure perfect, well watered orange land at a low price, where oranges are a proven success. Orange Vista is the place for you if you are an earnest seeker. Decomposed granite soil, nestling up against the foothills which protect it fully. The elevation is 1600 feet. The land is above the frosts. Abundant water goes with it—every 10 acres gets 60 inches of water for 24 hours every thirty days. That's more than you will need, but you pay only for what you take, and it's cheap. Perfect conditions for perfect groves. Picturesque surroundings; ideal place, close to excellent town on the railway—a town with good schools; with churches, stores, telephones and all conveniences. Good train service to Los Angeles and Riverside. This is California's best, and people that know good orange land will quickly buy. The area is limited. You can buy ten acres, with water, at $250 an acre on remarkably easy terms. Get full details at my office and go on one of my Free Excursions.

SOCIETY PEOPLE IN BAND BENEFIT.

GREAT VAUDEVILLE CONCERT TO AUGMENT MUSIC FUND.

Beach Folk Will Tread the Boards With the Finish of Professionals as a Matter of Civic Duty—Juvenile Talent Will Be Featured in the Varied Programme.

SANTA MONICA, Feb. 4.—Much interest has been aroused among the residents of the bay district in the society vaudeville and band concert to be given at the Horseshoe Pier Auditorium on Tuesday evening, February 7, for the benefit of the Donatelli band. One of the most interesting features of the entertainment, which, as a whole, is under the direction of Edna Larimer White, will be a series of play pictures.

In these will be seen many of the prominent society people of the beach, and especially interesting will be the pictures posed by the little tots. The excellent programme will include several numbers by the popular Donatelli Band, and for the first time in this part of the country the band will give a selection from the famous new opera by Puccini, "The Girl of the Golden West." There will also be other musical numbers, including "In Seville" by Edna Larimer White, duets by Elizabeth Green Wilkes and Nathan Lawrence, solos by Louis G. Susemihl (Jean Coles,) Mrs. William Francis Kennedy and others, familiar airs on a one-string Chinese fiddle made by himself, by D. Braunberger, sometimes known as "The Merchant of Venice," shadow dancing by winsome Eleanor Anderson, and a French pantomime act by Eugene Estoppy, the world's champion long-distance runner.

In the list of play pictures, to be posed by well known people, are "Madame Butterfly," "Janice Meredith," "Arms and the Man," "Merry Widow," "Liberty Belles, "Babes in Toyland," "Baby Mine," "Merchant of Venice," "Girlies," and several others. Those posing in the pictures will be:

"A Doll's House," Virginia Burmister, Polly McCune, Mary Elizabeth Layne, "Toodles" Layne, Josephine and Betty White and Lelia Alice Carhart.

"Babes in Toyland," Eleanor Breeden, Harold Silverman, Leo Levengood and several of those taking part in the previous picture.

"Carmen," Laura Anderson.

"Madame Sherry," Mrs. William Francis Kennedy.

"Janice Meredith," Mrs. J. Naylor.

"The Dollar Princess," Mrs. H. C. Burmister.

"The Blue Moon," Mrs. Alvah Lane.

"The Girls of Gottenburg," Mrs. George Wilkes, Mrs. Lawrence, Rosemary Hamilton, Polly McCune and Josephine White.

"The Girl of the Golden West," Beth McCune.

"Held by the Enemy," Lieut. Boller, Miss Gloria Bean, Miss Hazel Davidson, Miss Beaulah Girard, Mrs. A. Layne, Mrs. J. R. Winn, Mrs. W. F. Kennedy, Elizabeth and Carrie Hughes, Mrs. A. W. McCune, Jr., and Mrs. Boller.

"Girlies," Beth McCune, Fay Rayburn, Miss Saunders, Talma Breeden, the Misses Gerard and the Misses Hughes.

"The Merry Widow," Mrs. Elizabeth Green Wilkes.

"The Man of the Hour," A. R. Fraser.

Dr. and Mrs. Kennedy will picture "Arms and the Man," and D. Braunberger "The Merchant of Venice."

Rehearsals have been in active progress for some time, and it is promised that there will be no waits between acts to try the patience of the audience. Many of those who will take

HERMOSA JARRED BY CONTACT WITH MONSTER FISH.

Blood of Injured Water Monster Dyes the Sea Crimson About the Boat—Long Island Woman, Who Holds the Season Record of Feminine Anglers, Scores Again.

AVALON (Cal.) Feb. 4.—While crossing the channel last evening the steamer Hermosa struck a monster grey-back whale. The shock was felt by all on board the ship. The surrounding water after was suffused with blood from the wounded denizen of the deep. He was not sighted after the violent impact.

Mrs. Ida Beech Stewart of Long Island made another large catch of albicore this morning while fishing near Seal Rocks in a chartered launch. The largest fish caught tipped the scales at 37 1-4 pounds. In the last four days Mrs. Stewart has captured several fish of the weights to qualify for a silver button from the light tackle class of the Tuna Club. Before leaving the island she is anxious to secure a fish weighing over 45 pounds, one large enough to win her the gold button trophy. To-date she holds the season's record for lady anglers.

Over one inch of rain fell here during the night. The heaviest fall was between the hours of 3 and 6 o'clock this morning. The total precipitation of the season is 7.71 inches.

H. Wilson as Tom Wrench and Robert Waggener as Sir William Gower. Mr. Salisbury had a combination of histrionic ability that assured the success of the play from the start. Miss Adelaide Clark's impersonation of Rose Trelawney pleased the audience immensely. Miss Clark possesses magnificent stage presence and a sweet voice, both qualities essential to the role she assumed. Miss Bertha Jones as Avonia Bunn kept the audience in a constant roar of laughter. It seemed as if all the life and merriment of the play radiated from her. Mrs. Herman Schmidt, as Mrs. Telfer, Mrs. C. P. Visel as Imogen Parrot of the Royal Olympic Theater and Miss Grace de Fremery and Miss Trafalgar Gower were admirably equipped for their parts.

EIGHT MILES OF DITCH ORDERED.

CONTRACT LET FOR EXCAVATION ALONG WATER MAINS.

Charles Frye Turns on the Gas in an Instantaneous Heater and Later Lights a Match—In the Explosion Which Followed He Was Knocked Down.

CORONA, Feb. 4.—The Newton Construction Company has been awarded the contract to excavate eight miles of ditch for the Temescal Water Company's new domestic water system. The line will extend from Temescal to Corona. Work has been commenced on the ditch which is only to serve as the bed for the concrete and steel pipe, the entire line to be of closed pipe.

GAS EXPLOSION.

Charles Frye, who lives at D. Huff's home, had a narrow escape from a serious accident a night or two ago. He turned on the gas in the instantaneous heater connected with the bath tub and went away, supposing he had lighted the gas. When he returned the tank was still cold so he struck a match to investigate. An explosion followed, knocking over the young man. He escaped with a good scare. A vent hole above the heater and the small amount of gas escaping probably prevented any damage.

J. H. Huyck has bought the D. O. Reeser seven-room house, and one lot on Tenth street, for $2100. The purchaser will occupy the home. The deal was made by Bowen & Whitten through whose agency this property was sold. D. O. Reeser has bought a lot on Washburn street near Tenth of W. G. Darst and will erect a two-story home.

The Baptists tendered their former pastor, Rev. B. B. Jacques and wife, a farewell reception this evening in the church parlors. Rev. Jacques, for three years local pastor, recently resigned.

NEWS BREVITIES.

W. W. Cochran, owning sixty acres of land on Ontario avenue, has set seven acres to oranges and will in the spring set twenty additional acres.

A 100-horse-power pumping plant is being installed on Pioneer Ranch to replace a smaller plant. The new one will pump 600 inches.

C. C. Lypps has sunk one 12-inch well on A. F. Call's 100-acre tract northeast of town and is to put down a second of the same size.

The Lypps's outfit is to put down an 18-inch well for Daly Brothers of Arlington.

The oratorio, "The Messiah" given by local talent this week under the direction of Prof. E. D. Keck of Riverside was the musical event of the season and scored a marked success.

Ira Long has bought of C. L. Sutherland the lease and furnishings of Hotel del Rey and will manage that hostelry.

Since 9 p.m. last evening .35 of an inch of rain has fallen, making 6.80 inches for the season.

C. E. Pippett and wife of Urbana, O., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hildreth.

Mrs. William Holmes of San Diego and brother, J. O. Green of Snohomish, Wash., are visiting their cousin, Mrs. A. H. Cross.

James Henderson of Vancouver, B. C., is a guest of John Don, the two men having been friends in Scotland. Mr. Henderson's brother-in-law, Arnold Baxter, a lumberman from Quebec, is expected here soon, with the intention of making Corona his home.

LOAN COMPANY ORGANIZED.

Capitalists Combine at Ontario to Aid With Their Money the Development of That Section.

ONTARIO, Feb. 4.—A new loan company known as the Security Mortgage Company has just been organized by local investors. The company is incorporated with a capital stock of $100,000, half of which is to be paid in at once. The remainder will be kept in the treasury for a time until needed. The stockholders are largely stockholders of the First National Bank of Ontario. A considerable number of local men not bank stockholders are however interested. It has been the idea of the promoters to sell small amounts of stock to a large number of persons. The object of the new loan company as implied in the name will be negotiating loans on real estate security in the Ontario-Upland district. For a long time there has been need of an institution that could by the powers of its charter make real estate loans. This company with well-known men behind it will admirably take care of that need. The officers will be in a position to bring outside capital into this district on the high class real estate security that is available. The officers of the new corporation will be elected at meeting in the near future. The charter has just been received from the Secretary of State.

MASONIC OFFICIAL.

G. C. Baker, grand lecturer of the Masonic Lodge of the State of California was in Ontario Saturday night for the purpose of examining and instructing the newly installed officers of the local blue lodge. A large meeting followed by a banquet and speeches took place Saturday night at the Masonic Temple. Officers installed for the ensuing year are: W. F. Blaikie, Master; F. E. Unholz, Senior Warden; Ed Bruner, Junior Warden; R. O. Brackenridge, Secretary; C. G. H. Bennink, Treasurer; W. W. Smith, Chaplain; K. D. Blaikie and L. Ripple, Senior and Junior Deacons; L. E. Merrill and H. F. Lageschulte, Senior and Junior Stewards, and I. W. Whitaker, Tyler.

Clifford Crabtree, a High School student, fell from the rings of a gymnastic apparatus at the High School grounds yesterday, breaking his right wrist. The youth was swinging with one hand and reaching for another ring which he missed.

El Centro.

TEXAS CAPITAL IS INTERESTED.

EXPANSION IS THE KEYNOTE OF IMPERIAL CONCERN.

Originally It Was Planned to Have All Stock Owned by Cotton Raisers, But the First Season Demonstrated Need of Additional Facilities for Handling Crop.

EL CENTRO, Feb. 4.—Texas capital has become interested in the Imperial Valley Oil and Cotton Company, and the enterprise will now have ample funds to complete its oil mill at El Centro and to install first-class machinery. At a recent meeting of stockholders it was voted to allow the directors to dispose of the balance of the stock in the treasury to others than cotton growers, as more capital was necessary to carry the project through. Originally it was planned that all stock should be owned by cotton growers. J. B. Dale and J. B. Spear are the purchasers of the stock. Dale is president of the El Paso Oil Refining Company and is also largely interested in the oil mill business of Texas. Spear is a practical mill operator of Cisco, Texas, and will be manager of the company here. Orders for the immediate shipment of the necessary machinery have been given and work in the buildings will be resumed at once. The company has 1900 tons of seed stored here and will be able to secure about 500 tons more from the growers. The mill will be put in operation this season, and will be a great factor in insuring the wide spread of the Imperial Valley cotton industry.

COL. HOLABIRD'S LECTURE.

Col. Holabird, receiver for the California Development Company, last Saturday delivered a lecture in the Holt Operahouse at El Centro on the Imperial Valley water system. The lecture was illustrated by many fine colored photographic slides thrown on a screen, and these embraced views from the headwaters of the Colorado River to the laterals of the Imperial Canal system, including many views of valley development. Col. Holabird's audience included people from all parts of Imperial Valley. He plans to give the lecture at outside points.

NEW HEATING SYSTEM.

Even in Imperial Valley it has been found desirable to have a heating system for the public schools, and a fine heating and ventilating system has just been installed in the grammar schools of El Centro at a cost of $1488. It was given an official test yesterday and proved satisfactory.

WATER COMMITTEE BUSY.

The committee composed of W. F. Holt, president, Raymond Satterwhite and M. L. Hazzard, appointed to formulate plans for the proposed Imperial Valley irrigation district, to be formed under the State laws, has been in session at El Centro this week, and is getting out petitions for the formation of the district, in accordance with the provisions of the law. An election will be called by the Board of Supervisors as soon as the required number of petitioners have been secured, and there is little doubt that the proposition will carry. It is proposed to have committeemen in each neighborhood to circulate petitions and arrange for public meetings to acquaint all the people with the details of the proposed organization. Wilbur J. Hall has been appointed secretary of this committee and headquarters have been established in El Centro.

VALLEY PLANS EXHIBIT.

Plans are being made for an exhibit of Imperial Valley products at the forthcoming Land and Products Show to be held in Los Angeles. Each of the valley towns will contribute to the fund to meet necessary expenses for this exhibit and help is expected from the county Supervisors.

RACING MATINEE.

For the benefit of the Imperial County Fair Association a racing matinee will be given on the racetrack of the Fair grounds at El Centro on the afternoon of Washington's birthday. A programme of trotting, running and pacing races has been arranged. The association found a deficit at the close of the late County Fair and hopes to be able to meet all demands by the proceeds of this racing matinee.

LAUNDRYMEN SKIP.

Japanese laundrymen who recently leased the Imperial Valley Steam Laundry, last Saturday night decamped without notice to anyone. The great mix-up of laundry bundles and clothes delivered to the laundry for washing has caused many ludicrous scenes during the past few days. The laundry will be leased by the owner, J. P. Heil, to Los Angeles parties and will resume operations next week.

BOMAN HEARING POSTPONED.

Preliminary hearing in the case of Paul Boman, ex-County Treasurer of Imperial county, charged with embezzling State school funds, has been postponed until today in Justice Franklin's court. When this case was called on Tuesday attorneys for Boman asked for a continuance. The deposition of State Treasurer Williams was read into the record and the case was continued as stated.

S. P. WINS SUIT.

Lucian Moore sued the Southern Pacific for $10,000 damages, alleged to have been sustained when he was put off a train between Imperial Junction and Bernice. The case was tried in the Imperial county Superior Court on Wednesday and judgment was rendered for defendant with costs taxed to plaintiff. Moore was intoxicated and made himself a nuisance to other passengers.

ORDERS TRESTLE REMOVED.

Word was received here today that United States Engineer Leeds has notified Receiver Holabird of C. D. Company that he must direct immediate removal of pile trestle at Weir dam before the intake of Imperial canal system in Colorado River. Leeds also notified Col. Holabird that it is his intention to order removal of rock placed in the river as soon as danger of low water for the season is past. Piles will be blown off with dynamite under direction of Chief Engineer C. K. Clark.

LOS ALAMITOS.

LOS ALAMITOS, Feb. 4.—The precipitation for the last twenty-four hours was 1.12 inches, making a total for the season of 6.26. As a rule all rains this season have come gently so that the water has all soaked into the ground and the underground reservoirs are well filled. The beet raisers are now simply waiting for the surface to get dry enough for seeding, when their work will go forward with great strides. Conditions have been ideal the whole winter through.

FORMULATE BILL FOR LEGISLATURE

ORANGE COUNTY MEN WANT A POLYTECHNIC SCHOOL.

Measure Drawn and Sent to Assemblyman Bishop for Introduction—Declared Purpose Is for School Which Will Provide Training for Non-Professionals.

SANTA ANA, Feb. 4.—A committee consisting of Dr. George H. Dobson, Prof. J. A. Cranston, County Superintendent of Schools R. P. Mitchell, V. V. Tubbs, L. A. West and S. M. Davis, appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to have charge of the matter of securing a State polytechnic school for Orange county, held a meeting yesterday afternoon in the office of S. M. Davis. At this meeting a bill was formulated which will be forwarded to Assemblyman Clyde Bishop to be introduced at the present session of the Legislature. The school is to be known as the Orange County Polytechnic School. The purpose of the school is to furnish to young people of both sexes mental and manual training which will fit them for the non-professional walks of life.

ASSESSOR APPOINTS.

County Assessor James Sleeper today named his appointees for the positions of field deputies for the coming year. The seven men named as deputies are Edward F. Waite, Santa Ana; A. G. Finley, Santa Ana; A. C. Newell, Orange; Richard Gregory, Fullerton; A. L. Cotant, Tustin, J. J. Schneider, Anaheim; W. H. Bentley, Westminster.

SANTA ANA RISES.

The rainfall in this vicinity for the last forty-eight hours amounts to 1.05 inches. This is the heaviest storm of the season. Thus far no damage has been done by floods, although a large volume of water came down the Santa Ana River early this morning. A large force of men has been engaged along the river strengthening the weak places in the dykes and guarding against any possible outbreak of flood waters.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The handsome new home of the Elks, erected in this city at a cost of $25,000, was completed today. The building is a three-story structure with basement, occupying a floor space of 60x110 feet. It is expected the home will be ready for occupancy about March 1, and plans are already under way for the dedicatory ceremonies, which will be held in the near future.

The total number of building permits issued in Santa Ana for the month of January was thirty-two, representing a total valuation of $20,540.

Marriage licenses were issued to: George S. Roberts, 25, and Ruth D. Pidgeon, 23, both of Los Angeles, on February 4, 1911; John J. Hollywood, 36, and Ellinor J. McLaughlin, 26, both of Los Angeles, on February 4, 1911; Joseph Buck, 31, and Ethel M. Sweet, 24, both of Santa Ana, on February 4, 1911.

CIVIL SERVICE CHANCE.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces an examination for the position of stenographer and typewriter in the departmental service to be held on the 25th inst., at a number of cities, among them being Los Angeles and San Bernardino.

FREE Medical Examinations Extended One Week

It May Mean Much to You

Dr. A. J. Shores.

Dr. G. W. Shores.

A good position for you may depend on your physical condition. All Civil Service positions require that you pass a rigid physical examination. You may be seeking a position on the POLICE FORCE, in the FIRE DEPARTMENT or with a RAILROAD—all of which require such an examination. Your ability to get LIFE INSURANCE also depends on your physical condition. If you are examined by the physicians of the above-interests, and do not come up to the standard of health, your chance for the coveted position will be gone. You may have some ailment which you have considered trivial and have neglected treating; but that has really become chronic. It isn't safe to diagnose your own case.

It takes years and years of skilled medical practice to correctly determine disease, its remedy and cure. DRS. SHORES & SHORES have successfully treated more than 100,000 cases of Chronic Diseases in the past 17 years, and know by continuous experience just what any trouble is, and if and how it can be cured. It is for this reason to demonstrate their ability to you, that they continue their great FREE EXAMINATION offer another week.

Drs. Shores & Shores are Skilled Specialists

Come to us and find out why you suffer, and if and how you can be cured. We have probably cured hundreds of cases of the same nature as yours; and can tell you quickly what should be done. You will be under no obligation to take treatment—but if you do desire us to treat you, remember that you will be only asked to pay the lowest fee ever charged by reputable specialists—for you can get no better treatment at any price.

Do You Have Catarrh?

MANY FOLKS HAVE CATARRH AND DON'T KNOW IT

CATARRH IN THE HEAD AND THROAT

This form of catarrh is most common—resulting from neglected colds—quickly cured with little cost by Drs. Shores' famous treatment.

"Is your nose stopped up?"
"Does your nose discharge?"
"Is your nose sore and tender?"
"Is there pain in front of head?"
"Do you hawk to clear the throat?"
"Is your throat dry in the morning?"
"Do you sleep with your mouth open?"

You can be easily cured now—don't let it run into complications.

THE BRONCHIAL TUBES.

When catarrh of the head or throat is neglected or wrongfully treated, it extends down the windpipe into the bronchial tubes and after a while attacks the lungs. Quickly cured with little cost by Drs. Shores' famous treatment.

"Have you a cough?"
"Do you take cold easily?"
"Have you a pain in the side?"
"Do you raise frothy materials?"
"Do you spit up little cheesy lumps?"
"Do you feel you are growing weaker?"

Don't risk neglecting these warnings—stop the disease before it reaches the lungs.

$5—A MONTH UNTIL CURED—$5 MEDICINE FREE.

THIS SPECIAL RATE APPLIES TO ALL who have Catarrh, Asthma, Deafness, Lung Trouble, Catarrh of the Stomach, Kidneys, Liver, Bladder—or any complication of Catarrhal Diseases.

WOMEN.

Weak, tired-out, sickly women—suffering from the ills peculiar to the sex, find Drs. Shores' treatment prompt and wonderful in results. Consultation Free and Confidential.

Now Understand the Offer

Drs. Shores offer a thorough medical examination and expert advice free to all who apply THIS WEEK with catarrh, deafness or any chronic, nervous or private disease of whatever name or nature, to show their good faith and skill and enable the sick to find out exactly what their disease is and if and how it can be cured.

OF THE EARS.

Catarrh extends from the throat along the eustachian tubes into the ears, causing partial or complete deafness. Quickly cured with little cost by Drs. Shores' famous treatment.

"Is your heart failing?"
"Do your ears discharge?"
"Is the wax drying in your ears?"
"Do you hear some days better than others?"
"Is your hearing worse when you have a cold?"

Don't neglect this until your hearing is irreparably destroyed.

OF THE STOMACH.

Catarrh of the Stomach is usually caused by swallowing poisonous mucus, which drops down from the head and throat at night. Quickly cured at little cost by Drs. Shores' famous treatment.

"Is there nausea?"
"Do you belch up gas?"
"Are you constipated?"
"Is your tongue coated?"
"Do you bloat up after eating?"
"Is there a constant bad taste in the mouth?"

Now is the time to be permanently cured. Drs. Shores are curing hundreds every year.

Skin Diseases

Skin eruptions are caused by POISONS CIRCULATING in the BLOOD and from EXTERNAL influences that IRRITATE the skin, to say nothing of the many PARASITES that attack it. To locate the real CAUSE depends the success of any treatment. The folly of using "lotions" if the trouble is "inside" is just as apparent as using "blood medicines" if the trouble is purely local and external. You must treat and remove the cause if you get a permanent cure. Drs. Shores' many years experience as Specialists in treating blood and chronic diseases enables them to locate the cause and effect radical cures.

Tell Your Friends About Drs. Shores

You who have suffered in the past and who have been cured by Drs. Shores—should help others who are sick by telling them your own experience. Sick people are skeptical—repeated failures of other Doctors have made them lose heart and hope—yet they can be cured if they only knew it—Make it your business to let every sick person you meet know that Drs. Shores cure thousands—talk hope—talk health—talk Drs. Shores to your sick friends—until they overcome their doubts and try Drs. Shores themselves. It costs nothing to talk with Drs. Shores—it is your duty and your privilege to consult these eminent Specialists FREE. Why not today?

All Diseases

Drs. Shores not only cure Catarrh, but they cure Nervous Diseases, Kidney Diseases, Bladder Troubles, Heart Diseases, Disease of the Stomach and Bowels, Rectal Diseases, Female Complaints, Rickets, Spinal Troubles, Skin Diseases, Asthma, Bronchial and Lung Troubles, Ovarian Diseases, Sciatica, Rheumatism, Hay Fever, Neuralgia, Hysteria, Ear Diseases, Goitre (or Big Neck,) La Grippe, Blood Diseases, etc. Scrofula and all forms of Nervous, Chronic and Private Diseases that are curable.

Fathers and Mothers

You are responsible for your children's eyesight and should watch closely to see that their eyes are not strained or overworked. If their eyes water easily or cause pain—if reading brings a headache, you should have their eyes examined at once. Don't delay. A pair of glasses fitted in time may save years of nervousness. Bring your children to Marshutz and have their eyes examined. If we find their eyes can get along without glasses by proper treatment, we will frankly tell you so.

HUNTINGTON PARK.

HUNTINGTON PARK, Feb. 4.—The house of L. D. Wellington on Fifty-eighth street near Pacific boulevard was destroyed by fire this evening. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wellington were away from home. The origin of the fire is unknown. The loss is $2800, largely insured. The fire department saved the house on an adjoining lot.

One passenger was killed, another seriously injured and two railroad men slightly hurt yesterday when two cars of a Boston and Maine train left the rails and rolled down a bank, at a sharp turn south of East Laffrey, N. H.

Teeth Replaced By A New Method.

No Plates or Old-Fashioned Bridge Work Necessary by This Remarkable Process — Your Teeth Made Perfect, Sound and Beautiful — Prices Within Reach of All.

Send Your Name and Address for Handsome Illustrated Copyrighted Book, Explaining This Great Discovery.

The success of the Rex Dental Co., Dentists of the Severance Bldg., Corner Sixth and Main Streets, Los Angeles, has become so well recognized that patients are coming to us from all the surrounding country, and even from distant states. Here is a letter from a Los Angeles man who had teeth replaced by the great Alveolar Method. (Teeth without plates) which this Company alone can furnish.

The Rex Dental Co.
Los Angeles, Cal.

Gentlemen:—

About three years ago I called upon your Company to investigate your method of inserting teeth without plates, and decided to have a full lower appliance.

I only had two teeth to attach to, and had thought there was nothing for a man's mouth in that condition but plates. I was skeptical at first, but when the appliance was finally in place I was delighted, for they were as solid and comfortable as my own teeth had been and was able to chew all sorts of food the same as when my mouth was in its natural perfect condition.

I have had no cause to change my opinion, and am delighted to hand you this letter.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) ROBERT BARRY,
811 So. Union Ave., Los Angeles.

Had this gentleman gone to any other dentist he could not have obtained new teeth without the use of plates or painful, distressing, old-fashioned bridge work. Plates have to be taken out and washed very frequently, and even then it is next to impossible to keep them clean. They interfere with speech, respiration and the proper flow of saliva, and are always uncomfortable and unsatisfactory.

Old-fashioned bridge work is always painful and often causes ulceration of the gums and the loosening and falling of adjacent teeth.

How much more pleasant and comfortable it is to have your teeth firm, solid and perfect without being harassed and distressed by these old-time, useless methods.

The Rex Dental Co., Inc., have had wonderful success in tightening loose and falling teeth by this great method, which could not have been saved by any other process on earth.

We also straighten twisted, crooked and protruding teeth and make them uniform, regular and beautiful.

We restore decayed, discolored, chipped or broken teeth to a perfect, sound and whole condition and give them the same shade and color as the natural teeth.

We cure Pyorrhea (Riggs Disease) and have done so in many cases which have been given up by other dentists as incurable. There is hardly a disease or trouble of the teeth, mouth or gums which we are not able to cure perfectly and permanently, no matter how bad it may be, no matter how long the trouble has existed, and no matter how many other dentists have treated it and failed. In fact, we are looking for the most difficult cases and have yet to find one that we cannot cure and are anxious to know if any such exist.

No charge is made for a careful examination, consultation or advice. Our fees are very reasonable, much more so than those asked by other dentists of equal skill, and when you come we shall tell you frankly and candidly just what we can do for you, and all the promises made will be fulfilled to the letter.

We invite all in need of dental services of any kind to call and see us. Our commodious offices are the finest and best equipped in the country. Those who are unable to call should send their name and address for our handsome free book, beautifully illustrated, entitled the "Alveolar Method of Dentistry." We are anxious that all should read this book. It gives much valuable information on the proper care and preservation of the teeth.

BY CONSULTING
THE WORLD'S GREATEST PSYCHIC.
PROF. BYRON STANLEY,
247—SOUTH HILL ST.—247.
Low Fee for This Week—Low Fee.

ALWAYS CONSULT THE BEST. IT IS THE CHEAPEST IN THE END. IT IS BETTER TO CONSULT NO PSYCHIC THAN ONE WHO IS NOT ABLE TO HELP YOU.

Before you go into anything of importance—or undertake anything serious—in business, love or marriage, or before you make any change—you should consult this master mind of phychics.

IN FACT, ARE YOU HAPPY,
KNOWING NOT WHICH WAY TO TURN.
THEN CONSULT BYRON STANLEY

The Acknowledged Leader of Them All.

Don't struggle with a burden you can divide. A troubled mind begets a morbid conscience. Sympathy, consolation and timely advice heal the worst of wounds. Be advised and relieved of anxiety.

If you want the truth, with reliable advice, you will consult BYRON STANLEY on past, present and future. Also remember what has been told you, which too often is not the case.

NO NEED TO TELL HIM!

There is no need to tell Stanley your story. There will be no "quizzing" or asking questions. His talents enable him to instinctively know your wants and troubles. Without any attempt at mystification, but with unerring sight into the inner nature of things, he reveals that which you most wish to know. His advice on all matters, business, lawsuits, marriage, health is invaluable. He is exact and correct—no guesswork. He gives names, dates, facts and figures and shows clearly and distinctly the road to success in business, as well as in domestic and family affairs.

Byron Stanley's name is a household word in thousands of homes in California. He has restored happiness (where there seemed no hope) to thousands, and has brought success, contentment and happiness to thousands more. He is here offering you the benefit of his priceless powers and knowledge gained during twenty of the best years of his dife. Could you possibly ask more?

To whom is may concern: We take great pleasure in recommending our brother, PROF. STANLEY, as a life reader of good standing, having to our knowledge been fully developed in all the various phases of mental mediumship. We cordially recommend him to any individual or society that may need his advices.

MUNDO.
The Man of Mystery.
Special Reading.
50c.
506—South Hill st.—506.
Hotel Willoughby, over Park Bank.

OPPOSITE CENTRAL PARK.

Strange and starling are the revelations that flow from the cultivated lips of this wonderful psychic. Every word a pearl of wisdom. Born and bred in India, the land of the mystic this wizard of psychicism stands aloft and alone, far in advance of the ordinary clairvoyants you meet.

Would you lift the curtains to the mysteries of the veiled beyond? If so, consult this great psychic.

DIRECT FROM INDIA.

Does everything go all wrong? If so, there is a cause. Do you wish to continue on the downward trail, or do you desire to change and claim what God intended you to have? If you would rise to your natural sphere and enjoy life as others do, see

THIS MAN.

He will tell you the cause of your woe and how to overcome it.

The peer of all psychics. The only graduate of the Ordoo College of Occultism to ever leave his native land. A herald of the mysteries of the prophets of olden days.

This great psychic has spent all the years of his active life in the study and pursuit of this, this naturally-endowed science, and stands alone at the head of a vast army of seers and prophets, many of whom he has taught and prepared for the pusuit of this grand calling. See him today. He may change the course of your whole existence. Many a sad heart has been gladdened, many a weary life made bright by the advice and magnetism of this wonderful man. He is unlike any you ever saw; does positively all that others claim to do and demonstrates the power of mind over matter free to every patron; the only man in America possessing this power. Seeing is believing. Try him, then try others and see if they can do the same. A capable man has confidence in his ability and will not require you to deposit your money before his work is done. Mundo has read for many of America's leading citizens and a few titled foreigners, but he has more respect for his patrons and more consideration for their feelings than to publish their names broadcast for the sake of advertisement. Nor does he claim to have read for dozens of prominent people that common sense will tell you he never saw. If you need advice and want a reading from a real life reader, who does not spend half his time slandering his competitors, see Mundo, the Great Life Reader, who really tells what you desire to know or no charge. A foolish weakling will only pay for a reading that gives no benefit. Stop and think, then see Mundo, the Indian seer, who stands behind what he says with a spot cash guarantee. If you wish, he will tell your name free and show you how it is done. Special readings, 50 cents.

506—SOUTH HILL ST.—506.

HOURS, 10 to 12, 2 TO 4, DAILY, AND 7 TO 8 TUESDAY AND SATURDAY NIGHTS.

This is the man the San Francisco papers said so much about for predicting the great quake and fire.

This man of mystery has rightfully gained the title, "The Wizard seer," the name so often applied to him, and patrons recommend him for dead trance readings and deep psychic work of all kinds, and to be the most thorough, consistant, concise and complete life reader before the public today.

PERSONAL—
PROF. C. IRVIN ALTHOUSE,
NOTED ASTROLOGER AND PALMIST.
305½ S. SPRING, NEAR THIRD ST.

A resident of Los Angeles 27 years.

PROF. ALTHOUSE is an experienced practitioner in the science of modern ASTROLOGY, by which he has made many REMARKABLE PREDICTIONS. The HOROSCOPE—calculated from the PLANETS at your birth, will show what a powerful influence they have in all affairs of life. It shows diseases, deaths, domestic affairs, financial affairs, your talents; your environments; tells about children; when and where to travel; what to seek and what to avoid; when in danger of illness, accidents, death, losses, troubles, etc., etc.; also your good periods coming—GIVING DATES OF THESE EVENTS FOR THE FUTURE. In fact, the HOROSCOPE GIVES ACCURATE AND RELIABLE information on ALL AFFAIRS OF LIFE. No important changes or ventures of ANY kind should be made except at such a time when the planets in YOUR horoscope are favorable. Predictions for the FUTURE—made by the trained judgment of Prof. Althouse, will stagger the senses. PROF. ALTHOUSE read E. H. Sothern, Nat Goodwin, Mary Mannering, Gadski, Admiral Schley, David Starr Jordan, ex-Gov. Pardee, ex-Senator Clark, Gen. Chaffee, Edison, Sousa, Modjeska, Annie Besant, Julia Marlowe, Anna Held, Fritzi Scheff, Ysaye, Capt. Hobson, Jefferson, Joaquin Miller, James T. Powers, Frederick Warde, Louis James, Lillian Russell, Calve, Admiral Evans, Baron Rothschild, H. E. Huntington, Countess de Swirsky, De Wolf Hopper, Barney Oldfield, Maxine Elliot, Josef Hofmann, Florence Roberts, etc. These are a few of the more NOTED PUBLIC PERSONS—and for this reason ONLY are they here mentioned—ALL positively read by PROF. ALTHOUSE—besides hundreds of the best people of Los Angeles, with whom all his readings are strictly CONFIDENTIAL.

DR. J. A. LARSON writes: "I want to say that your reading was the most satisfactory thing I have ever had in my life. I know a great deal about these sciences, and I consider your work as the most THOROUGH and reliable of any reader in the United States."

MME. SCHUMANN-HEINK says: "I was greatly surprised to find how many of your warnings were well founded. YOUR READING WAS MOST MARVELOUS."

PROF. ALTHOUSE is an expert PALMIST, and WITH EACH PALM READING gives also an ASTROLOGICAL READING.

PROF. ALTHOUSE'S SKILLED WORK, with his trained judgment, must in no wise be classed with that of other readers. Therefore, do not waste your money on the idiotic advice and warning of HUMBUG astrologers, palmists, psychics, Hindu readers who were never in India—those bitterly jealous of PROF. ALTHOUSE'S work and success.

PROF. ALTHOUSE'S wonderful proficiency in the casting of horoscopes and hand reading has brought him a large and successful practice. The most private confidences are reposed in him, and his advice is sought in the most difficult and critical circumstances.

HIGHEST GRADE OF WORK that skill and experience can produce; therefore HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE SOLICITED.

MRS. MASSON,
the noted palmist of London, Eng., may be consulted at 322 S. SPRING ST. (over Owl Drug Store)
by those desiring CAREFUL, CONSCIENTIOUS AND SCIENTIFIC HAND READINGS FROM ONE OF THE FOREMOST PALMISTS OF THE DAY.

The earnest student and thinker will soon learn in his investigation along psychological lines that that which pertains to occult phenomena proper can readily be distinguished from crude and oft-exposed SLEIGHT-OF-HAND TRICKS, the most common of which is the telling of the subject's name, age, etc., AFTER HE HIMSELF HAS WRITTEN THAT information.

PALMISTRY, HONESTLY PRACTICED, WILL NOT tell you your name, but it WILL give you information of considerably greater value in every-day life.

Your vocation, your present line of work, matters of health and domestic life, financial conditions and ways and means of climbing out of a rut of ill luck into wide paths of success and property can all be told you through scientific palmistry WITHOUT A SINGLE QUESTION, WRITTEN OR VERBAL.

MRS. MASSON DOES NOT APPEAL TO IGNORANT SUPERSTITION, BUT TO THE

TO LET—FREE. THIS IS NOT AN ADvertisement for any particular place; select your own hotel, rooming or apartment house, in any location, at any price, and under desirable circumstances to you we will pay for your residential accommodations while you're here, or at any other Southern California point, whether it be a week, a month, or even longer; this offer, while admittedly unconventional and extraordinary, is a legitimate, bonafide, advantageous one, and open to all, whether here temporarily or permanently. Not something for nothing, however, neither is it an eleemosynary proposition. Our references are any bank or trust company in this city. SCHAFFNER, Union Trust Bldg., Fourth and Spring sts.

WANTED—ADDITIONAL CAPITAL.

This business was started two years ago with practically no capital. Today it is the largest of its kind on the coast. It is growing faster than any other business we know of and the demand for our products is nation wide.

We must move to a switch property where we can handle goods in car load quantities. We must double our manufacturing facilities. Only a very small amount of this stock will be sold and we prefer to distribute it among the small investors. It is safe and a big money maker. For particulars see, or write, GEO. K. COSBY, 610 I. W. Hellman Bldg., 411 S. Main St.

A LARGE INSURANCE COMPANY PROtects your investment in the event of your death! A forty-million-dollar trust company in New York is trustee.

You pay in $1000 in ten equal annual payments.

You get $1000 a year for life thereafter. If you die, your family gets it.

Absolute proof furnished to earnest, discriminating investors, both men and women, upon request to V, box 191, TIMES OFFICE.

UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY.

Owing to other investments which demand his time, owner of controlling interest in fine, clean, profitable business in neighboring town will sell his stock, which carries position of manager at good salary. Stock pays 25 per cent. over and above salary. Don't bother unless you are a live wire and have $7,000 and mean business. If you are in earnest and investigate, you will buy. See W. J. LUMBLEAU & CO., 460 P. E. Building. Main 1060.

FOR SALE — WELL-ESTABLISHED AND profitable business. This is an excellent opportunity for capable dressmaker and business woman and will require about $4000 to handle it; present owner wishes to retire from business life. Any one looking for an exceptionally good business should not fail to investigate this. Address V, box 162, TIMES OFFICE.

INVESTORS.

Have device Basic Patent ready to organize; want several gentlemen with some capital to join me in organizing PARENT company here in Los Angeles. I HOPE I CAN FIND A MAN PRETTY SOON WILLING TO WORK ABOUT TWO-THIRDS AS HARD AS I DO, IN ESTABLISHED (SIX YEARS) LIGHT MANUFACTURING business. Lots of trade at good prices. Need good office man to occasionally visit trade, as I do, and draw moderate salary with splendid future. Plant and stock invoice about $12,000. You can invest $1000 to $5000 and it will earn eight per cent., aside from salary. Think I can convince you if you mean business. Address X, Box 186, TIMES OFFICE.

FOR SALE—FIRST-CLASS GROCERY BUSIness in prosperous inland, nearby town to Los Angeles; new goods, new fixtures, first-class trade among people who own their homes; rent only $27.50, including four good living rooms; two years lease; stock and fixtures, including first-class horse and delivery wagon, $2700. Unless you have the "dosh" and are looking for a gilt-edged, prosperous money-making business, don't fool away two cents answering this; no cards answered. Address M, box 179, TIMES OFFICE.

FOR SALE — AN EXCEPTIONAL OPPORtunity to buy a well established manufacturing business in whole or controlling interest. Good demand for output, with excellent future. Equipment the best and credit the highest. Present owners have too many interests to give business property attention. Goods well worth more than inventory. Will sell at invoice price which is about $30,000 or will sell controlling interest and give management. No debts to assume. If interested, Phone MANAGER, 31025, or East 282.

REMEMBER — THE BEST PLACES ARE NOT ADVERTISED. If you are looking for a business of any kind it will pay you to see me before buying. I am a salesman, call on the trade daily, have done so for years. Know every place in town, whether paying or not. Tell me what you want and I will tell you where to find it. It will cost you nothing, so don't fail to look me up. Write or call any day between 12 and 1:30 o'clock.

FOR SALE—YOUNG'S PEERLESS ANCONAS are the best in America. I have had five shipments direct from England. I had the parent birds of the birds that have just won the leading prizes at Crystal Palace and Dairy show, England. I also have 150 of their brothers and sisters. I also have Madison Square winners and they are not in it with my English birds. I have 12 grand breeding pens, every pen headed by prize winners; my customers have won seven blue ribbons this season with my birds. I won at Los Angeles show five times as many prizes as all my competitors combined. I have eggs $2 for 13; $12 per 100. No body can furnish such quality in California. Anyone cutting this ad. out and sending it to me will get three extra eggs. Member of International Ancona Club of America. This ad. is good for 3 extra eggs to any purchaser. Some extra fine trios for sale. C. H. YOUNG, 208 E. Adams st.

FOR SALE—
"SUCCESS" incubators outsell and outhatch any local incubator in this city. These machines are sold at WHOLESALE prices direct to you from our factory. We own our own buildings. We do not pay high rents nor employ a lot of useless office help. Any time you buy an incubator from an agent you loose 25 per cent. to 30 per cent. of the price, as that is what they make on you. I sell a $20 incubator for $14; I sell a $40 incubator at $25, and a $60 incubator at $40, and I pay the freight besides.

We make the following sizes: 60-egg copper tank, full nursery, $9; 130-egg, $14; 260-egg, $25, and the 612-egg, $40. Fireless brooders, $3, $5 and $6.50; we pay the freight. Send today for free 32-page catalogue. One 240 Old Trusty, good as new, $12. Get my free 48-page book; it will tell you all about the Success incubators.

These are the machines that are used by most large hatcheries in this section. The 60-egg size we make is a hot water full copper tank with nursery. Galvanized tanks will not last 6 months. If they were right we would use them instead of copper that costs 7 times as much. Think that over. We sell incubators cheaper than any factory—good incubators only. Sold on trial and guaranteed. Ask any poultryman about us. Send for the book today.

E. E. McCLANAHAN, 108-112 E. 8th st. Main 5631. F1635.

FOR SALE—BABY CHICKS. 4000 OF THEM on hand Monday of the following kinds. This is the big month for chicks, so act quick if you want some: Barred Rocks, Rhode Island Reds, White Wyandottes (300,) Black Minorcas, White and Brown Leghorns, Buff Leghorns, Buff Orps, and some extra fine baby turkeys. Also Wednesday we will have in a big hatch of the above kinds. Remember, we sell all sizes of fireless brooders at low prices when you buy chicks with them. Don't be afraid to buy chicks; these brooders will raise them. Just investigate this matter, that's what we ask. Remember, we print free the largest baby chick book ever printed, 64 pages; it's free, send for it. How about hatching eggs? We have the following kinds on hand laid since Thursday: White Minorcas, Brown and White Leghorns, White Rocks, Barred Rocks, White Wyandottes, Imperial Pekin duck eggs, bronze turkey eggs, Black Minorcas and Toulouse goose eggs. Send for catalogue; it tells prices and details of all kinds of chicks, eggs and grown stock we sell.

If you want laying hens, or pullets, cocks, or cockerels, see us; we have them. Visitors always welcome. We are the world's largest baby chick dealers. Don't forget we sell the Basley Poultry Book, best book of its kind ever printed on western conditions. Price $1 or $1.25 with Poultrycraft one year.

FACT AND COMMENT.

There have been expositions and expositions, and then some, but it may well be doubted whether any other indoor show project of the general scope of the Pacific Land and Products Exposition has ever been carried on so rapidly from the moment of its inception as has this significant enterprise. In the three weeks that have elapsed since the idea was first [illegible] publicly broached the great land show has become the talk of the town.

The Transcontinental Passenger Association at its meeting in Chicago last week [illegible] heralded to the world its worthiness by advancing the date of the [illegible] rate schedule especially to enable the annual visitors to this Coast to attend the land show. In taking this action the great railroad heads of the country [illegible] the Pacific Land and Products Exposition [illegible] the land-hungry man of small capital in the East to come out at comparatively small expense and see the resources of the West.

This action of the railroad companies is probably the most eloquent form of indorsement yet accorded to the land show. The railroads are credited, and perhaps rightly, with having developed commercialism to its utmost limit. The attitude of the passenger association, therefore, speaks louder than could words the belief of the keen, practical, unbiased business men who control the railroad interests of the West that the Pacific Land and Products Exposition is going to be the means of inducing thousands of visitors to become permanent settlers in the section this side of the Rockies.

The land show spells dollars to the corporations which control the transportation [illegible] and the powers that be in these money-making business institutions would not countenance the project beyond the point of courtesy [illegible] to co-operate with its management. If new settlers in the rich and undeveloped lands of the West mean dollars to the railroads it is too obvious that they mean dollars in the pocket of every man who has a little capital invested in western real estate or industry.

It is the purpose of the big show to convince the thousands upon thousands of tourists who will find it the biggest attraction of the tourist center of the West, as well as the thousands who will be induced by favorable rates to look into the western land proposition that the linking of fortune with the young and fertile empires of opportunity is the thing of the hour, [illegible] for every man who wants to advance himself in the world. It is a case where everybody, railroads, merchants, farmers, real estate men, capitalists and the people in general, works and boosts together for a project from which each and all of them will profit.

Indorsement Is Universal.

The very scope of the land show is one of its strongest features. The entire West recognizes that Los Angeles is the logical point for a general exploitation of the resources of the section at the season when it is planned to hold the exposition. Everyone who hasn't seen Southern California has a definite intention to come at some time in his life. [illegible] a greater number of people will witness the western exhibit, wherever they may be, than in Los Angeles [illegible] any other city.

FACT AND COMMENT.

There have been expositions and expositions, and then some, but it may well be doubted whether any other indoor show project of the general scope of the Pacific Land and Products Exposition has ever caught on so rapidly from the moment of its inception as has this significant enterprise. In the three weeks that have elapsed since the idea was first publicly broached the great land show has become the talk of the town.

The Transcontinental Passenger Association at its meeting in Chicago last week sized it up and heralded to the world its worthiness by advancing the date of the colonist rate schedule especially to enable the annual visitors to this Coast to attend the land show. In taking this action the association invites every land-hungry man of small capital in the East to come out at comparatively small expense and see the resources of the West.

This action of the railroad companies is probably the most eloquent form of indorsement yet accorded to the land show. The railroads are credited, and perhaps rightly, with having developed commercial selfishness to its utmost limit. The attitude of the passenger association, therefore, speaks louder than could words the belief of the keen, practical, unemotional business men who control the railroad interests of the West that the Pacific Land and Products Exposition is going to be the means of inducing thousands of visitors to become permanent settlers in the section this side of the Rockies.

The land show spells dollars to the corporations which control the transportation situation or the powers that be in these money-making business institutions would not notice the project beyond the point of courteously declining to co-operate with its management. If new settlers in the rich and undeveloped lands of the West mean dollars to the railroads it is too obvious that they mean dollars in the pocket of every man who has a little capital invested in western real estate or industry.

It is the purpose of the big show to convince the thousands upon thousands of tourists who will find it the biggest attraction of the tourist center of the West, as well as the thousands who will be induced by favorable rates to look into the western land proposition that the linking of fortunes with the young and fertile empire of opportunity is the dollar and cents move for every man who wants to advance himself in the world. It is a case where everybody, railroads, merchants, farmers, real estate men, capitalists and the public in general works and boosts together for a project from which each and all will profit.

Indorsement Is Universal.

The very scope of the land show is one of its strongest features. The entire West recognizes that Los Angeles is the logical point for a general exploitation of the resources of the section, especially at the season when it is planned to hold the exposition. Everyone who hasn't seen Southern California has a definite intention to do so at some time in his life. That fact has become recognized as axiomatic. In a word, the West knows that a greater number of people will witness a better western exhibit, wherever it is from, in Los Angeles than in any other city.

Every great agricultural division near Los Angeles took up with the exposition project immediately it was launched. The effect of the publicity accorded the show then began to be in evidence. The great land and development companies of Arizona investigated the plan and engaged floor space without a word. Inquiries from New Mexico, Utah, Colorado and Nevada were the next in order, and splendid exhibits from the finest districts of these States are assured.

The determination of the San Joaquin Valley to vie with other sections in a magnificent and comprehensive display stirred the entire northern portion of the State to emulation. The result is that the marvelous resources of the Sacramento Valley will be set forth in an exhibit that will be one of the features of the show. Farther north the growers of the great Northwest have been stirred and Washington and Oregon will be represented by fine displays.

Three weeks after the land show project was made public the entire West may be said to have acquired a live interest in it. There is every indication that the Southwest will be given a good run for its money in its efforts to corner the undivided attention of the exposition visitor.

The Southland's Interest.

There has probably never been another project of public interest to which the leading business men of Los Angeles have been aroused so quickly and heartily as they have to the land show. Fifty of the leading citizens, headed by Mayor Alexander, have permitted their names to be placed on the roll of the exposition's Advisory Committee. The project's claims to stability are therefore completely vouched for, for the best men of the city are back of it.

The great display at Shrine Auditorium will, in fact, bear many of the marks of a public enterprise. The organization of an Advisory Committee of a thousand members would, to judge from the reception given the exposition plan, be a comparatively easy undertaking.

The southland's interest, like that of the railroads, is a practical interest. The agriculturalists and horticulturalists of this section, in common with the investing public of Southern California in general, would willingly back local land and land products against those of the entire world, and competition from the rest of the best is invited as eagerly as it is apparently being accepted. The southland has nothing to lose from comparison with any other section.

The land show, however, offers the southland the finest opportunity in its history to exploit the peerless possibilities of this section to the world. It is an opportunity which is peculiarly the southland's, and one not to be lost. The visitor to the exposition cannot only be given an education in the advantages of Southern California, but he can be brought down to actual business almost on the spot.

The live exhibitors can make colonizers of themselves to their own immediate profit and to the benefit of the entire section. A few hours at the most separate Shrine Auditorium

SPLENDID SIGNIFICANCE OF LAND SHOW APPEALING.

Indorsement of Pacific Land and Products Exposition Universal—Thousands of Small Investors to Be Reached—"Best Idea Ever," Says Representative Men—Prominent Names on Advisory Committee.

THE idea of a great land and products show in the middle of the winter continues to grow in the esteem of the business men and agriculturalists of this section. This is largely because the splendid significance of the plan is so evident to everybody who considers it for a moment. At the season of the year when the Pacific Land and Products Exposition is to be held there are no crops of any kind in the East or Middle West, whereas California is at her very best in that regard. The appeal of the exposition lies in the fact that so large a proportion of the population of the Southland hails from the sections which send out the most tourists. Most of these remember with a thrill the delightful first impression of Southern California when an orange grove in full bearing came into view just this side of the desert.

The big land show will be held at a time when fully a hundred thousand visitors are in and around Los Angeles. The tourist traffic has been unusually large this year and hotels and apartment houses are crowded. Most of the visitors now here and to come are potential settlers. It will be the great object of the exposition of later March to advertise lands that are within the reach of the small investor through the medium of exhibits which will be educational as well as attractive.

The preparations for the show continue to advance at a rate which is highly satisfactory to the executive committee of the enterprise. The membership of the Advisory Committee of fifty is practically complete, the response to the invitation to places on this body having been heartily accepted by many of the most representative men of the city.

The first meeting of this Advisory Committee has been called by its Chairman, Mayor Alexander, for next Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, in the Council Chamber of the City Hall. Numerous details of importance will be brought up and discussed and, in many instances, disposed of. One of the things to be considered will be the Los Angeles Aqueduct exhibit, which the city has been asked to provide for. Suggestions for the layout of such an exhibit will be offered to the committee.

E. W. McGee, City Passenger Agent of the Santa Fe, yesterday received a telegram from his chief, J. J. Byrne, who has been in attendance at the meeting of the Transcontinental Passenger Association at Chicago, in which instruction was given to engage a large floor space for the Santa Fe interests. Here a most interesting exhibit will be installed. At the offices of the exposition, rooms 200 and 201 Grosse Building, the large floor plat of Shrine Auditorium is already liberally dotted with "reserved" signs.

"Los Angeles is unquestionably the best advertised city in the United States," said Stoddard Jess, vice-president of the First National Bank, yesterday in discussing the land show and its purposes. "The phenomenal growth of the city and section is undoubtedly largely due to that fact. Our genial climate and pleasing products can only appeal to the world as they are made known and this can most effectively be done by proper advertising.

"I fully believe that the work undertaken by the backers of the Pacific Land and Products Exposition in holding an exhibit that will demonstrate to our own people as well as to strangers within our gates the products of the country is a step in the right direction and should receive the hearty support of Southern California and the entire Coast region." Mr. Jess was one of the first to accept a place on the exposition's Advisory Committee.

The attitude of Mayor Alexander toward the land show enterprise is sufficiently well expressed in his acceptance of the chairmanship of the Advisory Committee of the exposition. In his letter of acceptance to M. H. Flint, chairman of the Executive Committee, the Mayor said:

"Your letter of January 24 appointing me chairman of the Pacific Land and Products Exposition received. I understand the object of this exposition to be the exhibiting to the tourists and visitors here of the products and the opportunities of Southern California. I am always in hearty sympathy with any movement for the boosting of Southern California, because I believe so thoroughly that it is worth boosting.

"I will call a meeting of the Advisory Committee at any time that may be convenient. Your Executive Committee will kindly notify me when they wish the meeting called, and oblige."

"The 'back to the land movement' has swept over the entire country," said Robert Marsh, member of the Advisory Committee, last night. "The supply of available land in America is being rapidly exhausted and the days of great ranches have almost passed. Thousands of large holdings are being cut up into small farms for the small holder who is eager to introduce the intensive cultivation system. Such a development results in beautiful and productive farms where formerly cattle and sheep ranged over wide expanses which were realizing only a fraction of their possibility.

"It is this kind of land development that is going to be the salvation of the country in the near day when a congestion of population similar to that of Europe is at hand. The desire deep down in the breast of every man to own a piece of land, however small it may be, is one of the best signs of the times. It refutes the croak of the economists who are always worrying about the rush to the cities.

"Educate the people to a realization of the possibilities of land cultivation on a small scale and they will flock to the land. Many are deterred from realizing the desire of their hearts through lack of information and a consequent feeling of uncertainty. This land show is going to be the greatest educational factor in the history of the Southwest. In my opinion it will result in getting thousands out upon the rich and undeveloped lands of this section to the incalculable and lasting benefit of Southern California."

Three men were added to the membership of the Advisory Committee of the exposition yesterday. The letters of acceptance of the men are herewith reproduced:

Secondo Guasti, president and general manager Italian Vineyard Company: "Your letter of the 24th inst. received.

"I wish to thank you very much for remembering me and putting me on the committee, which place I accept with much pleasure.

"An exposition of this sort is a mighty good thing and especially for Los Angeles and Southern California, as we have hundreds of home seekers in our midst at all times and this way of showing them our wonderful resources will bring to their attention many an opportunity which they would not find otherwise and make new and permanent residents out of them.

"There can not be too much said concerning the good results this exposition will bring."

Marco H. Hellman, vice-president Merchants' National Bank: "Replying to your communication of January 24, asking me to serve on the Advisory Committee of the Pacific Land and Products Exposition, will say that I will willingly lend any assistance I can, and it is with pleasure that I accept the appointment."

Reese Llewellyn: "Yours of January 24 at hand. I will be glad to do anything I can to assist this exposition insofar as my time will permit. Thanking you for considering me and wishing you and the exposition every success, I beg to remain."

Fred L. Boruff, manager Porter Ranch: "Your letter of January 24, informing me of the purpose of the Pacific Land and Products Exposition and asking me to serve as a member of the Advisory Committee has been received.

"The man who fathered the idea of holding such an exposition is deserving of a great deal of credit and support by those who will be educated and benefited thereby.

"This exposition can be made a great school of information to our visitors and of education and instruction to our own people, putting them in closer touch with the condition of affairs in a more practical way than would be obtained through State or local exhibits and fairs.

"Los Angeles is the ideal city to care for such an exhibit and I am sure it will benefit other sections and other people even more than Los Angeles.

"The very personnel of the Executice Committee spells success. I certainly appreciate your honored offer and will accept it. Wishing you success."

TAKES OVER SALES AGENCY.

Janss Investment Company to Have Selling Management of Great San Fernando Valley Tract.

The general selling agency for the lands of the former Van Nuys and Lankershim ranches in the San Fernando Valley has been turned over by the Los Angeles Suburban Homes Company to the Janss Investment Company. The area involved includes the entire 47,000 acres of the great valley holdings, with the exception of the new townsite of Van Nuys, which is being handled by W. P. Whitsett.

The move was considered necessary by the present owners of the rich valley tract, owing to the fact that H. J. Whitley, general manager of the Suburban Homes Company, now has his time completely occupied by the vast work of improvement which is being carried on preparatory to the settling up of the holdings.

This improvement work includes the construction of twenty-six miles of the finest asphaltum boulevard in the United States, together with the building of a $500,000 electric railway to and through the property and the general laying out of the lands. The project is of truly herculean proportions and only a man of Whitley's long experience in subdivision work could have brought the huge reach of unbroken barley fields of a year ago to the present state of preparedness for the advent of a high-class urban community.

The fact that the Janss company has assumed the sales management of the old ranch properties is in itself a guarantee of the early settling up of the San Fernando Valley as well as of the absolute good faith of its promoters. The Janss company has a wonderful record of subdivision activities, having sold twenty tracts, embracing over 5000 lots, in the Boyle Heights section, besides disposing of two-thirds of the fine Ramona Acres tract, a third of Sierra Park and all of Yorba Linda. The company now has the sales agency for the La Sierra Heights holdings near Riverside.

LAWNDALE ACTIVITIES.

The Guy M. Rush Company, owners of Lawndale, report sales for the week, as follows: Eduard Nuder, of Corona, $400; Hannah Johnson, $1925; I. Troub, $925; Mrs. Vertie Forbes Miller, $1300; Mrs. Edith Saunders, $500; L. E. Anderson, $425; William Quisinberry, $550; William Quinsberry, $1100.

Right in the heart of the Wilshire section, facing east, this seven-room bungalow has just been completed; has hardwood floors throughout, large cellar and furnace. The interior is most attractive, being beamed and paneled, having a cathedral ceiling in the large living-room, which gives a most beautiful effect. Three bedrooms and breakfast-room are very dainty in white enamel, as is the modern buffet kitchen, with its built-in features, woodstone sink, etc. Large screen porch, with wash trays, complete this up-to-date bungalow. Reasonable terms can be arranged.

A Wilshire district bungalow of eight rooms, never occupied, on a sixty-foot, east front lot, for this ridiculous price! Can you beat it? We know you cannot find its equal. The house is of that attractive, story-and-a-half type, with a wide cement veranda running entirely across the front and part way down the side. The interior arrangement is particularly good, with a large living-room, a library with French doors leading to the veranda, dainty breakfast room, four excellent bedrooms, an upstairs den, and other features too numerous to mention. Hardwood floors, furnace pipes, extra lavatory, etc., make this house a $6500 proposition. Very reasonable terms can be had if desired.

In this large, eight-room residence we have a home to strike the fancy of any beauty-loving woman. It is of the charming Swiss chalet type, although full two-story; the low porches, porte cochere and arches of heavy beams add much to the general attractiveness of its lines. There is a large living-room with separate music room, slightly raised, an ideal arrangement for music lovers; also, the coziest and sunniest breakfast room we have seen. Hardwood floors, fine furnace and a complete sleeping balcony are necessary features. The finish throughout is exceptionally artistic. Three bedrooms, one of which is about 15x20 feet with a dressing room large enough for a child's room, are unusually light and airy. Remember, this property must be sold. See us about this without fail.

Located on Westmoreland blvd., near the West Ninth and Eleventh st. car lines, on a beautiful, high lot, 60x165 feet. The elevation of the house is most pleasing, being broad and set off with a full-width stone and cement porch with a Peruvian mahogany front entrance, trimmed with beautiful mountings. The entrance hall and living-room are finished in Tabasco mahogany, with a very massive stone mantel; the dining-room is exceedingly handsome in Circassian walnut, paneled and beamed; very cozy den adjoins this room. The kitchen is in white enamel, with woodstone sink and many built-in closets. Off the kitchen are maid's room, laundry and large screen porch. Upstairs are four sleeping-rooms and inclosed sleeping porch and a beautiful bathroom, equipped with the most modern plumbing and shower bath. Furnace and Ruud heater are installed in the concrete cellar, which has both inside and outside entrances. An up-to-date garage completes this property, which would be cheap at $12,000. For a quick turn we are offering it at $9500, $2000 cash, balance $100 per month.

During the many years in which we have been in business we can honestly say that this is the biggest snap which has ever come into our office. The property has been held at $22,000 and we are now offering it at the sacrifice price of $15,500. Brand new and never occupied, standing on an east front lot, 60x165 feet. It consists of eleven large rooms, three beautiful tiled baths, finished billiard-room, cellar, furnace, automatic heater, two-story garage, with second floor plastered and arranged for chauffeur's quarters, and grounds improved with shrubs, flowers, trees and lawn. The lower floor is handsomely finished in fumed oak, genuine Tabasco mahogany, Circassian walnut and Peruvian mahogany, with specially selected wall coverings; the upstairs, consisting of four exceptionally large, light and airy bedrooms, and the baths, is in eggshell enamel, a very dainty scheme of decoration obtains throughout. There are numerous immense clothes closets, sleeping porch and outside porch. This house must be sold as the owner has changed his plans and cannot occupy it; if you are looking for a real bargain of this character, let us show this to you.

BEAUTIFUL ST. ANDREWS BOULEVARD HOME.

$21,500.
$21,500.

This magnificent twelve-room house will be finished in about ten days. It is one of the best we have had listed in over a year.

The exterior is of stone, cement and frame, and has a very imposing appearance. The lower floor consists of a huge living-room, dining-room, library or reception room, finished in solid oak and mahogany, and a dainty breakfast room and perfect kitchen in white enamel. Also a large reception hall in selected mahogany, with massive stairway.

The second floor has four extra large bedrooms and a sleeping porch. There are two fully tiled bathrooms and a shower bath on this floor.

The third floor has a fine billiard or card room, two bedrooms and a good bathroom.

The walls of the first floor have been beautifully decorated by hand and the second-floor walls are tastefully papered. Furnace heat to every room, even those on the third floor. This house cannot be adequately described in an advertisement—it must be seen to be fully appreciated.

The workmanship is exceptionally good and the property is worth every dollar asked for it.

7-ROOM BUNGALOW.

CLOSE IN.

WILSHIRE DISTRICT.

We seldom have the opportunity of offering such sterling value as is shown in this new, modern bungalow. A large porch extends across the entire front from which you enter a spacious living-room with dining-room on one side and den on the other. Built-in features, handsome fixtures, two fireplaces and an artistic buffet combine to make these rooms very attractive. Three airy bedrooms with ample closet room, bath, cabinet kitchen and screen porch complete the floor plan, which is unexcelled for convenience. Hardwood floors throughout. Furnace and garage. Situated within a half block of the car line and only 15 minutes from Broadway. Small cash payment and the balance on very easy terms. If you desire an ideal home in this exclusive section, investigate this at once, for it is going to go quick at this price.

$5500.

HIGH GROUND.

NEAR COUNTRY CLUB PARK.

Here is a chance to get full two-story, 7-room, modern residence at a price that is ridiculous when you consider the value offered. The lot is worth conservatively $2250. And the house cost nearly $4000 to build, so you are the one who is getting the long end of the bargain. The floor plan, both upstairs and down, is ideal, both in appointment and convenience, and consists of a large living-room with den off to one side, cheerful dining-room with plenty of windows, cabinet kitchen, screen porch with trays and toilet, and a cement basement with furnace. Upstairs there are three large, airy bedrooms with ample closet room, splendid bath with built-in features and a sleeping porch. Hardwood floors down stairs. The house is built on the lot so there is plenty of space on both sides, insuring lots of light and air. There is a driveway on the side leading to an outbuilding which can easily be converted into a garage. Situation is excellent, being within a block of two car lines. This is your chance to get a good home cheap. Very reasonable terms to responsible party.

CLOSE TO VERMONT AND WILSHIRE.

This is an extremely low price for a very attractive, substantial and well finished WILSHIRE residence. The lot is 50x150 feet to a 20-foot alley. Spacious cement porch with colonial columns and a board balcony on the second floor, give this home a pretentious appearance. As you enter a large reception hall, spacious living-room to the right, 15x25, with attractive mantel, and in the rear of which is a fernery 12x18 all inclosed in glass. The dining-room is finished in mahogany. Up-to-date cabinet kitchen and well appointed breakfast room, screen porch, with laundry trays, large basement with Ruud heater and furnace. The second floor plan consists of four large, bright, cheerful, well decorated bedrooms, each having commodious closets and arranged so that they will furnish very attractive. Cabinet bath with built-in features. We can conscientiously recommend this house as being well built in every particular, hardwood floors throughout. Built-in features in abundance, superior fixtures and really a show place at this low price. Located as it is, in the neighborhood of homes costing $50,000 and other attractive surroundings, makes this residence an unusually attractive buy. Satisfactory terms to responsible patry.

LOST,
A Big Bundle of Rent Receipts.

FOUND—That the same money you would put into these will buy you a home of your own.

What a monotonous thing this rent paying is! And how it does bite into the monthly income! The first of the month rolls around mighty often! And by the time the rent is paid, and the other outstanding bills, your "roll" looks as if a cyclone had struck it. I have said before, and I say again, that if you are paying a moderate rent, that same money will buy you a home of your own. Most likely you are paying more than $15 monthly—and getting a very indifferent sort of a place to live in. Most likely you see its defects and would be glad to get away from it, but you've got an idea that you are bound to stay right there and pay that same old rent every month until you are old and gray. Wake up! Don't throw your money away! Go out and see this modern, pretty, well located bungalow that $15 a month will buy. It stands on a lot 72 feet wide and 200 feet deep—big enough for a fine garden and for your chickens. And it is only 17 minutes away on the best car line out of Los Angeles. What a garden you could have on this place! How your vegetables, chickens and fruit trees would cut down those provision bills that are so heavy now! The house is well built, has four rooms—you will be charmed with it. And it is a mighty good buy. The price is only $1250 for house and lot. Pay $100 cash and the balance at $15 monthly. Now, as a matter of fact, don't you think, right down in your heart, that it would be GOOD SENSE to see me about this?

FOR SALE—

We are building the most artistic 5 and 6-room bungalows near the foothills in beautiful West Hollywood. These houses are complete in every detail, with nothing whatsoever left out. They are built for a class of people who are looking for a suburban home, and yet have the advantages of the city.

A school is nearby, good car service and the social features of Hollywood cannot be excelled. The trend of building is westward—property is advancing rapidly, and it will not be very long before the choice foothill property is gone.

Prices are reasonable, ranging from $3600 to $3950. Small payment down, balance like rent. Come in and talk the matter over with us, or take the Hollywood car, get off at Gardner and walk one block north to Pacific avenue.

High-Class Bungalow.
High-Class Bungalow.

Extremely low figure for cash or half cash.

If you can pay at least $1500 cash you have a chance herewith to secure one of the most charming, substantial and equisite bungalow homes in Southern California.

It has everything that any bungalow has, all the usual features found in the better class of homes, but you will be more interested in the unusual features—the carefullyy studied-out attractions that make it a delightful and happy living place.

There's the outdoor sewing pergola, a snug corner with cement floor, built-on seats and pergola roof. There's the big plate glass window almost clear across side of living-room. There are the quaint specially made electrict fixtures, the roomy linen closet, the big storage closet on screen porch, the massive outside chimney with its fern-receptacle, the huge brick columns on porch, the wide lot, 65 feet, the cement walk, fence and such an abundance every where in every room of artistic windows. All floors hardwood, except kitchen.

Most delightful of all is the location of this home, convenient to cars in the most picturesque suburb of Los Angeles, where you can enjoy better air, better water, better schools, churches and service from store keepers.

Price, based on at least $1500 cash, is $2250.

FOR SALE—

THE VERY CHOICEST

APARTMENT SITE IN LOS ANGELES.

WESTLAKE CORNER.

FRONTING BEAUTIFUL SUNSET PARK.

$12,500.

We have for immediate sale the most attractive apartment-house site in this whole city, being the southeast corner of W. Sixth st. and Benton blvd.—4 blocks west of Westlake Park, and the only lot for sale on this beautiful 120-ft. boulevard. It adjoins the $300,000 Rampart Apartments, now almost completed—the only fireproof apartment building in Los Angeles.

Any improvement placed on this lot will overlook Sunset—the only sunken park in the city—and will afford a panoramic view of the beautiful and exclusive Wilshire residence district, the mountains, the whole Cahuenga Valley and the Pacific Ocean.

It has no counterpart here as a high-class site for apartments; is only 17 minutes distant from the business center, and is convenient to 7 car lines—the W. 6th, Western avenue, Heliotrope Drive, Radium Springs, Melrose ave., W. 7th and Stephenson ave., and Westlake ave. (Traction) lines—affording the best car service in the city.

Any one familiar with conditions here knows that the small territory bounded by Westlake and Sunset parks, W. 6th and W. 7th sts., is, and will always be the choicest and most exclusive family hotel and apartment district of Los Angeles. Witness the Hershey Arms, Carondelet Hotel (now under construction,) Trebor Apartments, Coronado Apartments, etc.

Benton blvd. being the western street and fronting a sunken park, affords the only unobstructed view in this choice district.

This lot has not heretofore been advertised for sale, and a comparison with prices of other corners in this vicinity will prove this lot to be at least 33 1-3 per cent. lower in price and 50 per cent. better in location than any other corner offered thereabout.

There are other advantages. Come in and let us tell you about them; but come quickly, as the corner must be sold immediately.

THE VIEW CORNER,

WITH PEERLESS PARK FRONTAGE.

A PERFECT FOREGROUND.

MAINTAINED FREE FOREVER.

FOR SALE—
VICTORIA PARK.
VICTORIA PARK.
VICTORIA PARK.

THE FINEST RESIDENCE PROPERTY IN LOS ANGELES.

EXCLUSIVE FEATURES, THAT SHOULD INFLUENCE YOU IN BUYING, AT VICTORIA PARK, FOR HOME SITE OR INVESTMENT.

Victoria Park is located in the ultra-fashionable southwest district, on the very crown of West Adams Hill.

It overlooks all the lower surrounding country and the magnificent view from here can never be obstructed.

The highest skill of the landscape gardener's art has been employed in making Victoria Park the real masterpiece of all residence subdivisions in Los Angeles.

Victoria Park is laid out with 100 winding boulevards and 20-foot wide parkings.

There are seven-foot cement sidewalks. Four rows of trees along each driveway.

The lots are all large, sixty to 110 feet frontage, and average 150 feet in depth.

The park is illuminated by stone and iron electroliers, fifteen feet high, each with five large electric globes.

No street or driveway names are used, the address for each residence being Victoria Park, with the number of the lot.

The location of Victoria Park is exceptionally convenient, being directly between Pico Heights car line on the north, and the 16th st. car line on the south.

One of the finest asphalt paved streets in Los Angeles runs the entire distance from Victoria Park to the business center of the city.

The roadways in Victoria Park are petrolithic pavement—the highest quality it is possible to make.

The building restrictions in Victoria Park are $5000 and $6000, according to location. However, many homes have been erected which have cost several times this amount.

Other residence property in Los Angeles, with not so many exclusive features as Victoria Park, is today selling for $100 to $200 per front foot. You can buy lots in Victoria Park for considerably less. Victoria Park, therefore, offers an exceptional opportunity from the investment standpoint.

As a place to live, Victoria Park offers you every advantage, and protection, and convenience and comfort that can be had, not only in Los Angeles, but in the finest residence places in the eastern cities.

If you are in the market for a piece of residence property that is really first-class, and the best it is possible to secure in Los Angeles—before you buy, take the time to investigate Victoria Park. We shall be glad to take you out in our auto to see Victoria Park at any time.

IN THE TREND OF PROGRESS.

ON THE VENICE SHORT LINE.

THERE IS NO OTHER SPECIFIC SECTION IN THE whole Southwest today where the profit to be realized in as short a time will be as great as that derived by the purchasers who now invest their money in property along the VENICE SHORT LINE. Property on the line of the subway that is now being offered for sale can never again be purchased at such ridiculously low prices as are now prevailing, and it can be truthfully stated that in one year from now every piece of property we are now selling will be quoted at exactly twice the present price. It is hard for even the most optimistic person to realize what it will mean to be within 15 minutes of the heart of the city, to be able to enjoy all the pleasures of a country home and at the same time retain and have all the conveniences of the city.

ONLY—$400—ONLY.
Large, beautiful 60x145-foot lot, all covered with large full-bearing walnut trees. Price includes 5-foot cement walk, graded and oiled roadway, etc. Right at the new Venice St. Marks boulevard. Your own terms.

Fine 52x145-foot lot, corner, right on the new Venice St. Marks boulevard; covered with large full-bearing walnut trees. Easy terms. This property will double in value within the next two years. Invest now and watch your money grow.

ONLY—$1000—ONLY.
Large 100x151½-foot lot, east front, cement walks and curbs, high ground, beautiful view and only 20 minutes out now; will soon be 15 minutes. Easy terms.

$1550.
A beautiful acre, 100x330 feet, an easterly exposure on a wide boulevard close to car line; cool in summer, and a rare bargain at price asked. Terms easy.

$1550.
A fine acre, well located, 133½x181½ feet, elegant soil, high ground, beautiful view. Just the place for a rambling California bungalow.

72x300—$350.
Here is a money-maker for the lucky fellow who gets here first—a great big lot—72 feet wide and 300 feet deep—for only $350. $10 cash secures it and $10 monthly pays for it. This huge lot is only 17 minutes away on the best car line out of the city. It has rich, deep soil, with water delivered in large steel mains under natural pressure. Pleasant and home-like. What a dandy home you could build up on such a lot, with your garden, chickens and fruit trees! But you'll have to hurry!

Positively
This Is "IT."
Arlington Square is positively "IT," the biggest southwest opportunity of the day! Every reason why it should be—why a little money invested there now will earn you a great big profit. Arlington Square is served by three car lines. In the best part of the booming southwest, blessed with healthy, clean air, and a beautiful view of the mountains. The streets are graded and oiled. There are cement walks and curbs, and wide, tastefully planted parkings. It has every city convenience that heart could wish. Moderate restrictions have made this favored spot the ideal home place for people of moderate means. Hundreds of homes are going up in this section—hundreds and thousands more will be built. This big development insures a tremendous increase in values. Anticipate it while $25 cash secures a lot, and $15 monthly will pay for it. You can buy now for $775 up. Get the facts. See the property. Information at my office or at the tract. Take Inglewood car to Santa Barbara Ave. and Arlington st. Or see Mr. Potter at 2113 West Jefferson st., who will show you about in his automobile.

You've read about single acres that kept their owners handsomely and turned a profit besides. I offer you here an acre with all these possibilities—it's simply up to you! This acre is located at Somerset, only 30 minutes away by trolley. Has rich, sandy loam soil and abundant free water. It is a garden soil, productive—a place where vegetables, berries, chickens and fruit trees will do wonderfully well—and so close to town that your ready markets are at hand, with an express car every day, to ship your products to market by trolley. All conveniences at this pretty suburban place, including good schools, stores, etc. Just 30 minutes by trolley from the center of the city. $10 cash secures this acre, and $10 monthly pays for it. Go see it. Excursions every hour daily and up to 2 p.m. Sundays.

REAL BARGAINS

IN THIS CHOICE DISTRICT IN THIS AD. PROPERTIES THAT, IN OUR OPINION, ARE POSITIVELY THE LOWEST PRICED PROPERTIES IN THE ENTIRE DISTRICT.

WE WILL NOT TAKE UP YOUR TIME TO MENTION SMALL DETAILS CONCERNING EITHER PROPERTY, THE LOCATION AND THE SIZE OF EACH BUILDING, AND OF COURSE THE PRICE IS WHAT INTERESTS THE PROSPECTIVE BUYER.

SOME OF THESE PROPERTIES ARE IMPROVED; IN FACT, NEARLY ALL HAVE SUFFICIENT INCOME TO CARRY THEM AND RETURN A NICE, COMFORTABLE SUM TO THE OWNER. WE CALL YOUR SPECIAL ATTENTION TO THE FACT THAT EVEN ON THE IMPROVED PROPERTIES THE PRICE IS STILL UNDER THE USUAL VACANT PROPERTY PRICES IN EACH INSTANCE.

Allow us to call your attention to the property fronting on this beautiful Park in the center of the City. The improvements already made and those projected for this vicinity are of the highest grade and command rentals which pay handsome returns on the investment. The future of these properties is absolutely assured. The available frontage is very limited and fast passing into the hands of investors who thoroughly appreciate the value of their holdings and decline to entertain any proposition to sell at any figure.

One of the choicest investments on Hill street today is offered at a figure which cannot but appeal to the judgment of the most shrewd and conservative investor. Broadway is no longer able to care for the houses now demanding new and more adequate accommodations for their growing business. Our most successful and far-sighted merchants are now looking to Hill street as the natural and inevitable solution to this congestion. Traffic on Hill street has trebled in the past year. What about the future? Prices MUST advance.

FOR SALE—CLOSE TO WESTLAKE PARK, 135 feet from 7th st., a fine corner, with 2 modern 10-room houses. This is a choice piece of property and can be bought for $17,500, on very favorable terms. Will take $5000 cash, balance 3 to 5 years at 4 per cent., or would take modern 5 or 6-room cottage, with a large lot, in the suburbs preferred, and say $3000 cash. It is seldom that you find this class of property offered on these terms.

Also a modern 14-room house, within four blocks of my office; lot 47½x165; as good as a double frontage, for $13,500. This price holds good for 30 days only, and would take a modern 6 or 7-room house, well located, as part payment. If the price was in keeping with the price of this property.

I also have a 20-room house, lot 50x155, to an alley, on Alvarado st., close to Westlake, for $12,500, half cash, balance 6½ per cent. Might take some trade on this.

FOR SALE—

ACRE LOTS AT LAST.

ACRE LOTS AT LAST.

Ever since the successful sale and building up of EAGLE ROCK ACRE TRACT, we have been endeavoring to secure a suitable piece of acreage in the Eagle Rock district to cut into big acre lots. The search has been a hard one, and for the reason that we wanted to offer to our clients:

FIRST—PERFECT SOIL CONDITIONS.
SECOND—CHEAP IRRIGATION WATER.
THIRD—FINE TREE GROWTH.
FOURTH—AVAILABILITY TO TROLLEY.
FIFTH—REASONABLE PRICES.

NOW WE HAVE THEM!

Reservations can now be made in EAGLE DALE ACRES—big acre lots—some covered with full bearing navel oranges—some with big peach, apricot and walnut trees.

CHEAP IRRIGATION WATER.

Water stock goes with every acre and gives the best water right in the district.

BEST STREET WORK.

All included in the price, including graded and oiled streets, cement curbs and sidewalks.

FINE SURROUNDINGS.

Eagle Dale acres is within the city limits of GLENDALE and is surrounded by beautiful homes and suburban estates.

ALL CONVENIENCES.

Best of grammar and high schools, convenient to churches and business centers of both Eagle Rock and Glendale. Gas, electricity, and both telephones will be installed throughout the tract.

PRICES.

Including all improvements and water right, acre lots $1400, easy terms.

OPENING SALE.

Will be on Saturday, March 4. Only twenty lots in the tract.

RESERVATIONS CAN BE MADE NOW

We should not be surprised if every lot was reserved before the date of opening sale, and would earnestly advise old customers as well as new ones, to make an inspection of the tract at once.

Take Eagle Rock cars on Broadway—get off at Colorado boulevard and Central avenue, at our branch office—ask for MR. BOURNE.

Covina.

FOR SALE—
"COVINA ON THE CAR LINE."
This is the time when the country is full of new people who are looking for good orange groves. A stranger is at a loss to know which section is the best, but after investigating they find that the largest demands for groves is in the Covina, Glendora, Azusa and Charter Oak orange districts.
We have been selling orange groves, both large and small, in these districts for years and have everything listed that is on the market. Below are a few choice 20-acre groves from our list. No. 84—FOR EXCHANGE—20 acres divided equally into lemons, navels and Valencias, all large, bearing trees and in the "pink" of condition. This grove is a beautiful thing to look at, with finest loam soil and abundance of water. Located on boulevard close to school, car line, packing-house, etc. Electric lights and city water. 6-room house and good barn. Right in the frostless foothill district. Price $40,000. Good clear city property to $15,000. Will be considered; balance cash and mortgage. No. 82—FOR SALE—20 acres in frostless foothill section. On clean side of boulevard. Large 14 year old trees and in perfect condition. About 350 Valencias; balance navels. Fine soil and cheap water. Crop estimated at 9000 loose boxes of navels and $1000 worth of Valencias included. 8-room house with bath, city water, electric lights, furnace, etc. Good barn and outbuildings. Team and implements also included. Close to school, car line and packinghouse. This is a RARE BARGAIN at $36,500. Good terms, but no trade. No. 80—FOR EXCHANGE—20 acres mostly navels, 14 years old. Good soil and plenty of water. Recently fumigated and heavily fertilized. On boulevard in frostless Charter Oak district. No house on this grove. Last year's crop $5000. A BARGAIN at $30,000. Good terms. No. 83—FOR EXCHANGE—30 acres located close to Ontario. About 26 acres 12 year old navels; 4 acres 14 year old Valencias. Fine, rich soil and plenty of water. This is known as one of the finest groves in the Pomona Valley. Price $65,000. Will consider clear city property to $35,000; balance $4700 per year at 7 per cent. GEORGE E. COVERT CO., Covina. "IF IT'S A COUNTRY HOME WE HAVE IT."

LAND OPENING.

Temporary Prices on Choice Orange and Alfalfa Lands in the Riverside-Redlands District.

If you think that choice orange slopes, with water, sixteen miles from Redlands, are a good buy at $200 per acre, especially when they can be secured in ten-acre tracts for $200 down and $15 per month, come immediately and get the details of our temporary opening prices in Lakeview. If you think that the best alfalfa land, with cheap water furnished, in the Redlands-Riverside District, is a good investment at $150 per acre, especially when $150 down and $15 per month will buy ten acres, see us immediately. These are bona fide prices, but temporary. There is no interest on deferred payments until January 1st, 1912; after that only 6 per cent. Come and hear the story of beautiful Lakeview Valley, in the heart of the Riverside-Redlands District, and

SEE THE HUGE CONTOUR MAP.

Made from government elevations, which is now on display in our window. Your time will be well spent. It gives you a glimpse of a valley which is as attractively located as any valley in the State, and illustrates why activity is starting and why values will enhance rapidly during the next few months. And it shows why it has a water supply without a peer. Water ready to deliver.

Alfalfa—Walnut and Orange Land.

Adjoining the town of Puente we have some choice acreage to offer, that is certainly inviting to the home seeker or investor.

Puente is 17 miles east of Los Angeles, on the main line of the Southern Pacific and Salt Lake roads, and the new boulevard to Los Angeles is complete at this point. The road is as hard and smooth as a city pavement and travel will always prove to be a "joy ride." Puente has several large stores, First National Bank, High and public schools and all other branches of trade. The climate is ideal all the year around. The soil is a deep fertile loam and produces enormous crops of alfalfa, corn, potatoes, vegetables of all kinds, oranges, walnuts, etc. We have already sold hundreds of acres in the vicinity. Go out and investigate. Water can be had at low cost. Don't miss this opportunity as the amount of land for sale is limited. Lots of 10 acres and up. Price $250 and $300 per acre. Terms one-third cash, balance in 3 years at 7 per cent. Unlimited certificate of title, by Title Guarantee and Trust Co.

DAMP LAND.

South of El Monte we have a limited amount of choice sub-irrigated or damp land that absolutely requires no irrigation to grow alfalfa, potatoes, celery, corn or any kind of vegetables or small fruit. Its wonderful land. Let us show the growing crops and you will be convinced. Lots of 10 acres or more. Price $250 to $300 per acre, one-third cash, balance 3 years at 7 per cent.

FOR SALE.
NORTH EL MONTE WALNUT GROVE TRACT.

This beautiful subdivision consisting of mostly full-bearing walnut trees, is located about two miles north of El Monte, on the main road to Monrovia, and 15 miles from the city. The trees are in fine, thrifty condition and bear heavily. The soil is a sandy sediment loam of exceptional depth and fertility. The water right is all that could be desired, being supplied by a large pumping plant on the tract pumps 175 miner's inches, at bare cost of pumping.

We are going to sell this tract in lots of 5 acres and up. If you want an ideal home site, with a good income, this is just what you have been looking for. This property is in a neighborhood of high-class homes, and within easy reach of churches, high and public schools, electric and steam railroads.

FOR SALE—
BRITISH COLUMBIA FARM LANDS.
VERY CHEAP. LONG YEARLY PAYMENTS.

The best farm land investment in America. Few good sections for $10 per acre. None over $22 per acre; right along the route of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. Lands like this in other parts of America sell for $100 to $300 per acre. Fine climate like Eastern Washington or Oregon. No extremes of temperature with no heavy storms or drought. Climate milder than New England States. No irrigation necessary, rainfall 35 inches, coming during the growing season. Soil rich black loam with clay sub-soil. Large open meadows with very heavy growth of wild peavine, bean, vetch and other rich grasses. Lakes and streams of clear water everywhere. We have some fine bottom land bordering on lakes and rivers, very close to towns, government wagon roads and railroads now building. These lands will be worth $100 per acre when the railroad is running. Large crops of all kinds sell at fabulous prices. Any farmer with a little ambition can make a few acres of vegetables pay for 160 acres of land at present prices. 25,000 men building these railroads must be fed. Oats yield 75 to 100 bushels to the acre and sell for $200 per ton. Potatoes yield 600 bushels per acre and sell for 10 cents per pound. Hay sells for $50 to $100 per ton. These prices will last for a year or two while railroads are building. Splendid for stock raising, dairying, fruit; in fact any one of a dozen departments of a farm will prove equally profitable. Think it over. This is your opportunity to buy a fine farm cheap, now, while the railroads are building. The prices will be advanced 100 per cent. by next fall. Our terms—only a few dollars acre cash, balance five yearly payments. We have crown grants, your title comes direct from the government. No residence or improvements necessary to own land. Buy from the largest and strongest land company in British Columbia and you will get the best land and most liberal treatment. References, any bank in Vancouver. Call and let us tell you about the country. We have men who have been through the country and will give you reliable information. Examine our splendid photographs, maps, and field notes.

MEXICAN LAND
States of Sonora and Sinaloa.
Tracts of all sizes, at low prices.

We have several tracts of from 1600 acres up, at first cost. These would make ideal small colonies for parties who contemplate co-operating in purchasing land in Mexico. They are fine soil, good water conditions and close to the railroad. We can save you subdividers costs and profits if you and your friends can handle one of these tracts. They are suitable for anything from general farming to fine fruit and vegetable raising.

Our Santa Teresa de La Concordia, subdivision, near Hermosillo, the capital city of Sonora, is delta soil, and is watered by the flood water irrigation system, corn, bean, garbanzo, and cotton lands, $5 and $10 per acre. Easy terms. 100 acre tracts.

Fine river bottom silt soil in the state of Sinaloa, with gravity or shallow well water for irrigation. Prices in small tracts from $12 an acre up, according to location and improvements.

Arrange to join one of our excursions which we are sending down at frequent intervals.

Write us for free illustrated booklets and bulletin of prices.

FACTS ABOUT
OWENS RIVER VALLEY
APPLE LANDS.

On the western side of Owens Valley, near the foothills, there is a 30-mile strip of proven fruit lands that will grow as fine big red waxy winter apples as can be grown in any spot in Washington or Oregon.

The lands we offer for sale are located right in the center of this strip of PROVEN APPLE LANDS. Here every condition is perfect for growing perfect winter apples. The lands lie near the foothills and have good slope, affording excellent drainage. The soil is decomposed granite, mixed with soft loam. The altitude is four thousand feet. The climate is the finest in California. There are no extremes of temperature. In the winter, there may be an occasional light snow—but winter weather, such as is known back East, is entirely unknown in Owens Valley. The winter temperature in Owens Valley is just ideal to give hardihood to the fruit trees and that desirable bright red color to the fruit.

Our irrigation system is unexcelled in California. Steel circulating pipes will be laid throughout the property, affording water under pressure. The water supply comes from never-failing mountain streams and is greater than necessary to meet all possible irrigation requirements. The water cost per acre is unusually low. Our irrigation system has received much favorable comment from Southern California farmers who are qualified to judge of its value more than any other farmers in America.

The profits that may be expected from these Owens Valley proven apple lands are easy to approximate. You put out sixty to seventy trees to the acre—you get ten to fifteen boxes of apples to the tree—and at the lowest, you can depend on $1 to $2 per box for the apples. You can often get higher. Owens Valley apples have brought in Los Angeles, the top market prices, ranging from $2.75 to $3 per box.

The causes of the high prices these apples bring are two—first, the decay in recent years of the apple orchards throughout the East and Middle West. This has caused a decrease in apple production in the United States from sixty million barrels in 1896, to twenty-two million barrels in 1909. The second cause is the superior quality apples grown in the real apple districts of the West. Owens River Valley red apples bring fully 40 per cent. more on the general market than the ordinary eastern apple.

The time has come when this country must look to the West for its apple supply. The man, therefore, who secures real apple lands is fortunate—for even the orange growers admit that apple growing is more profitable than oranges. And the man is doubly fortunate who gets in on the ground floor in apple growing in Owens Valley. There is absolutely no question but that these lands will yield under development, greater profits than are possible from any other agricultural pursuit.

The soil on these lands we are offering is the most productive in the State of California. Alfalfa, hay, corn, potatoes, onions and other general crops make yields that are hard to be believed by people who are accustomed to the usual standards.

Our Mr. Hanson has just returned from the North Yakima Valley, where he purchased 30,000 apple and pear trees, to be planted on our Owens Valley lands within the next two months. We have reserved a few thousand of these trees for those who purchase our lands within the next thirty days. So your opportunity is in getting in on these lands right now. After a few weeks, it will be too late for this spring's planting and then it will be necessary to wait another year. Come to our office and let us give you new facts and figures that will open your eyes. If you cannot come, write for photograph and for our booklets, "Fortunes in Apples" and "Questions Asked and Answered."

FOR SALE—OWENS VALLEY BARGAINS.

330 acres, rich loam soil, adapted to alfalfa, potatoes, corn and grain; no waste land; 125 shares of water stock; all fenced; 7 miles from town of Bishop in Inyo county; ⅓ of the place is in red top and timothy. A splendid piece of land and large enough to develop into an ideal general farm. We have a sacrifice price on this property of $25 per acre. Think of good California land with water and well located at $25 per acre!

300 acres 5 miles from Bishop, railroad station on property, with 1200 inches of water; 40 acres in a fine stand of alfalfa; 200 acres in blue joint hay, balance pasture sod. This is a fine piece of land, all level, and well located—station on the property. It also has double the amount of water it can use. Location and soil is fine for apples, peaches, pears, alfalfa, potatoes and corn. Price $55 per acre. 1-4 cash.

160 acres well improved, 8 miles from Bishop and 4½ miles from railroad station; 80 inches of water. Good house, barn and outbuildings; soil first-class, especially adapted to apples. Price $9000; 1-2 cash.

80 acres nicely improved and only 3½ miles from Bishop, 70 inches of water goes with the property. House, barn and outbuildings, 35 acres in a fine stand of alfalfa. This is a very desirable farm, right in the orchard belt, affords the best apple land in the valley, and is now returning a good income. Price $8000; 1-2 cash.

80 acres dark sandy loam soil, with 100 inches of water, which is more than the land can use. Land is level and very fertile—will grow anything. Only 4 miles from Bishop—the principal town of Owens River Valley. Price $3000.

40 acres well improved, with house, barn, some orchard, only 1 mile from center of town of Bishop, 37 inches of water, 30 acres in a fine stand of alfalfa. Place is producing a good income and right in edge of town. Price $6000, 1-2 cash.

We also can offer a bargain in a 25-acre place, with water stock, 6-room house, barn, chicken corrals, garden, 3 acres in alfalfa, close to town. Price $1500.

FOR SALE—

640 acres alfalfa land, close to Bishop, with eight hundred inches of water, at $60 an acre. We consider this one of the best buys in the Owens Valley, and upon which a man can double his money within one year. Every acre of this land is suitable for alfalfa and can be put into crop the coming season and made to carry the property, so far as interest and deferred payments are concerned. It will be a ready seller at $125 an acre, in small parcels, when the alfalfa is in.

We are prepared to offer all sizes of properties in the Owens Valley, from Lone Pine to Bishop. There is no greater opportunity in California for investment in land than in this wonderful Owens Valley, which has a greater and surer water supply than any other agricultural district in this State. We have lands from $30 an acre up to $200—the majority of them carrying a water supply far in excess of the average land in California, with an annual cost which is next to nothing.

If you want to engage in fruit raising, alfalfa, potatoes, onions, dairy or hogs, you should investigate the Owens Valley. The new broad gauge railroad will be completed all the way through the Valley during the coming year, after which prices will begin to soar. The Owens Valley is in every sense of the word a high grade farming proposition. You can buy today, simply hold for one year and make a handsome profit.

FOR SALE—
ALFALFA AND FRUIT LAND.
You have been looking for good land that is close to railroad and school. We have just finished surveying 1500 acres of our large holdings located at Earlimart. This land butts right up to the main line of the S. P. R.R. and at the price that we are placing this subdivision on the market, is the best and cheapest buy in Tulare county.
This land is absolutely free of any stone, gravel, brush or alkali. The soil is a rich sandy loam of great depth and is particularly adapted for the successful raising of alfalfa, fruit and all kinds of vegetables. Water conditions are absolutely perfect. A great and ample supply of water for irrigation can be had at a lift of about 15 feet. We say without fear of contradiction that we care not where you have looked or what you have seen, that we consider this proposition the best in Tulare county.
The price of the land will run from $80 to $100 per acre, on regular terms of one-third cash, balance 1, 2 and 3 years. We also have land farther from the railroad that we can offer you at prices from $50 to $70 per acre, on liberal terms of $1 per acre cash and $1 per acre per month.
If you are looking for land, you cannot afford to pass this opportunity. Good land will never be cheaper than it is today; and 20 acres of such land as we are offering you will assure you future independence. On our liberal terms any one can handle ten or twenty acres.
We want you to come in and learn more about our excursion Wednesday, February 8. Take a day off and investigate our proposition. If it does not prove all and more than we claim for it, we will gladly refund you for your car fare and the time you have lost.

10 acres—$18,000. Navels and Valencias about equally divided, trees 6 years old. 2500 box crop. Ample water. 8-room modern home, barn and garage; near school, and short haul to packing-house. This is a snap.
116.
10 acres—$15,000. All Valencias, 6 years old, a splendid grove, and a big bargain at this figure. At Charter Oak.
142.
5 acres—$7500. Four year old Valencias, a splendid young grove, fast coming into bearing; 5-room house. Charter Oak district.
124.
6 acres—$12,000. All navels, fine large trees, and 3000 box crop. Five-room house. Convenient location at San Dimas, and right on the San Dimas-Covina electric line now in operation.
430.
5 acres—$10,000. All Valencias, close to Euclid ave., Upland, a fine grove with six-room, two-story modern home, hardwood floors and two sleeping porches, splendid investment and nice home.
126.
10 acres—$15,500. Half navels and half Valencias, uniform and in splendid condition. Ideal and frostless location on main county boulevard. Double pipelines, good six-room house and large barn. Ample water. Either as a home-place or for an investment, here is a property with big possibilities.
351.
10 acres—$17,000. All navels, a magnificent grove which has had the best of care, and is located just right, only a short distance northwest of Claremont on main macadamized road. What more could the investor wish for. Worth $2000 per acre.
404.
11 acres—$20,000. Mostly navels with a few Valencias. There is nothing better than this. Large uniform trees, and simply loaded with fruit. 6000 box crop. In the peerless Upland district. Nice nine-room, two-story house, large barn and outbuildings. Considering heavy crop, valuable improvements and choice location, this is certainly a snap.
542.
10¼ acres—$20,000. Mostly navels with a few Valencias. A fine corner on beautiful Euclid avenue, Upland, car line past the door. Four to five thousand boxes on the trees, which are in splendid condition. Nice two-story, seven-room house with fine large barn. A beautiful home place and a bargain.
525.
10 acres—$14,000. All navels. A magnificent grove at Upland. Owner will allow $3000 for the crop. Here is a bargain for $11,000. Grove has been heavily fertilized and next season's crop will go 6000 boxes.
466.
30 acres—A sacrifice. 10 acres good vacant land, and 20 acres in orchard as follows: 10 acres, 15 year old navels, 5 acres, 5 year old navels, and 5 acres, 5 year old Valencias. Good nine-room house in excellent condition, two-room house for hired help and good two-story barn. Nice lawn and ornamental trees. Good crop. Mortgage $10,000. Might take part city exchange. Make an offer and get a big snap. Must be sold.
359.
10 acres—$10,000. Half navels and half Valencias, 5 years old; 4-room house. Owner leaving for the East and must sell quick. Claremont district, and a bargain.
224.
8 acres—$16,000. All navels, nine years old. A magnificent young grove in La Verne. A beautiful home site.

REMEMBER THIS: ORANGE GROWING IS A DISTINCT SCIENCE. DEPENDING FOR ITS SUCCESS UPON A THOROUGH KNOWLEDGE OF ATTENDANT RISKS.

California offers no other investment so profitable—IF the grove you buy has no handicaps. See to it that your grove has the possibilities it should have, and protect your own interests by purchasing through a reliable agent who is a practical orange grower.

FOR SALE—
20-ACRE LEMON GROVE.
This grove is 13 years old and in first-class condition. It is paying a good income now, and, owing to its location near the Owens River reservoir, Good Roads blvd. and S. P. R.R. station, will increase rapidly in value.
Of course you know a lemon grove is worth just about twice as much as an orange grove from an income standpoint. This district in particular secures the highest prices for its lemons.
Price only $35,000, $10,000 cash, balance in one and two years. This is the cheapest lemon grove in this district and should pay for itself in four years.
H. C. PARKER,
225 H. W. Hellman Bldg. A3463 or Main 4463.

in 8-year-old navels, 1 acre vacant land ready to set to trees; grove in excellent condition; plenty of cheap water. This season's crop will net $2500. This location is absolutely frostless; about one mile north of Pacific Electric, and commands a magnificent view of the entire valley. Price $16,000; terms, 1-3 cash.

20 acres, Glendora, just north of electric line, near foothills and no frost; 14 acres in navels and Valencias, 8 to 14 years old; 6 acres 6-year lemons. Grove has recently been fumigated and fertilized; trees in good condition and produce fancy grade of fruit. Crop will net about $4500. Cheap water. Large cement reservoir, house, barn, etc. This is the best buy in the district at $30,000. Terms.
WE ALSO HAVE OTHER GROVES IN THIS SECTION.

FOR EXCHANGE—OR SALE—
By J. A. FITCH, Pomona, Cal.
One of the best stock ranches in the Imperial Valley, will stand fullest investigation. Cash value $62,000, no less spot cash will buy it. Any property submitted must be strictly on a cash basis. To insure a reply please send full particulars first letter of what you have to submit. Here is the property:
664 acres, 352 acres located about 2 miles from either El Centro or Imperial, is stocked with horses and hogs, value of personal property including about 700 hogs, horses, implements, machinery, etc., $5500. This will be turned in at $125 per acre. Is all set to barley, one-half acreage is in alfalfa, two crops being cut each year, balance of ranch situated about 7 miles west of Imperial, 40 acres now in barley, balance ready for seeding. The soil of both these farms is the best that can be found in Imperial Valley. Well water stocked. Property has been placed in my hands for immediate sale. Owner, a professional man, will exchange for suitable Los Angeles income property on a cash basis, might assume on a suitable property. Might consider acreage or orange grove. Here is an opportunity for someone in Los Angeles to get on a farm and make money. Owner's sole reason for selling valuable ranch is that his other duties demand his personal attention.

WANTED—
MORTGAGE FOR SALE.
Client has placed in my hands a $25,000 mortgage on twenty (20) acres of improved orange land in Orange County, located in the city of Anaheim. Ten minutes walk from the center of town.
This grove has ten and eleven-year-old navels, which are in the highest state of cultivation. Other improvements are a $6000 home which the owner lives in, and a $2000 pumping plant with 90 inches of water. All of said property is fenced. Considered by bank appraisers worth $40,000. The owner has refused this amount for the place. The crop this year paid $7000 net to owner. This mortgage is payable $5000, 1912; $5000, 1914 and $15000, 1915, at 6 per cent. interest. The present owner of the mortgage will make an attractive discount, which will be well worth your consideration. R. M. WATSON, 1008 W. P. Story Bldg. Phones—Broadway 4575; F3175.

LAST WEEK

We made the statement in these columns that Midway Northern, Hale-McLeod and Maricopa Northern were going higher. They have advanced from 2 to 5 cents per share. The end is not yet and they are only getting started.

THIS WEEK

We again tell you to buy these stocks and hold for higher prices. Also buy Midway Five right away. If you are uncertain as to just what you should do with your stocks, write us and we will give you our honest opinion. That will not cost you anything. We make money for our clients. That's the way our business grows. Send for our market letters. Mailed free upon request.

AFTER DISCUSSING THE COPPER SITUAtion from all points, a noted copper expert says:

"That the demand will double in the next ten years is practically certain; that the output can be doubled in the same time seems beyond possibility; even within three years there is strong probability of a copper shortage. Higher prices are certain."

The Choix Consolidated Mines are being put in shape to take advantage of these conditions and will give an opportunity for investment unequaled in any other line of business. A smelting plant has been bought and paid for in full. The mines are sufficiently developed to supply high-grade copper ore at a low cost. Labor is cheap, fuel, water and material for fluxing are at hand. The profits should be large and the increase in price of stock should be rapid.

The present price is only $1 per share. Information and new booklet can be gotten and ore seen at 553 S. Spring st., or at this office.

CONCERNING WHITE STAR OIL—
Dividend No. 2 of half a cent a share on White Star Oil stock, payable March 20, was declared yesterday at a meeting of the directors of the company. Developments in the field are of such a nature as to seem to assure the continuation of dividends at this rate, with probable increase as the output of the property is enlarged. The company controls over one thousand acres in the Ventura field, has six wells producing a light gravity oil, and two wells drilling. Its possibilities as a large and steady dividend payer should make the stock attractive as a speculative investment around the present market price of 34 cents

CAWSTON OSTRICH FARM STOCK

Total Recapitalization, $1,200,000
Stock Subscribed, $900,000

Net Profits and Cash Dividends---During the past four and one-half years Cawston Stock has earned in net profits a sum large enough to place it very near the head of the list of gilt edge stocks paying exceptionally big dividends and with tangible assets greatly in excess of the face value of the stock.

The Purpose of the Recapitalization

Is to Create the Funds for the Starting of Cawston Ostrich Feather Stores

In the principal cities of the country, and for a more aggressive advertising campaign. Cawston ostrich feathers are now only sold from the farm direct to the home, also from the farm showroom at South Pasadena, and at the Los Angeles city store. Cawston feathers are never sold by any other stores, and are never sold through agents.

Cawston Ostrich Feathers are Sold Exclusively by Cawston. The starting of these stores will greatly increase the sales of Cawston plumes, for a great many feathers will be sold to people who cannot be reached by the present selling methods employed, and also to many who would buy larger and more expensive feathers if they could go to a Cawston store and select feathers from stock.

THREE WAYS OF KNOWING CHRIST

A Striking Sermon by Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, the Famous Brooklyn Pulpit Orator.

[Preached in Plymouth Church, from Beecher's Old Pulpit.]

THE probabilities are that Paul never heard any of the wonder words of Jesus, no. saw any of His wonder works. During all of Christ's public ministry, Paul was abroad, studying with a foreign master. At the time, Gamaliel seemed a fixed star, and Jesus a will o' the wisp light, floating above the marshes that skirted the Lake of Galilee. During those years Paul looked upon Tarsus as the true city of the soul. But long afterward he looked upon Tarsus as the "City of Dreadful Night," for Tarsus had cost him his absence from his native land, during the Annus Mirabilis toward which the heroes had toiled, the patriots had prayed and the martyrs died. What loss immeasurable was his! When the English Revolution broke out, John Milton happened to be in Italy, pursuing his studies. Because he counted it dishonorable to seek culture or enjoy ease and safety while others were enduring unto blood for freedom, Milton dropped everything and started home. What if young Alexander Hamilton, or young Lee of Virginia, had been in Europe while Washington was struggling for the colonies? And had wakened up to find that they had never struck a blow for liberty. Think you that they would ever have forgiven themselves? So the hour of destiny struck for Palestine, while Paul was in Tarsus, sitting with Gamaliel. It is conceivable that the youth did not know what was going on—did not know that the divine Orpheus had come, with music that was world music, singing the epic of man's soul and God's love. In those days roads were poor, travel perilous, news moved slowly, and in terms of cost and days of travel, Tarsus was farther from Jerusalem than Berlin is today from New York. Meanwhile, Paul was poring over the Talmud, and watching Gamaliel, as a hungry child watches the thresher throw the chaff into the air—a thousand particles of chaff glinting in the sun to one grain of wheat, while yonder, in Palestine, moved that column of light, in the person of Christ's radiant figure. In Christ, perfect holiness was made irresistibly alluring, perfect justice was not cold as ice, but warm as sunshine—until the very publican and harlot fled to Jesus, drawn by an irresistible ecstacy of all-worshipping, all-surrendering love. For five hundred years the whole Hebrew race, at home and abroad, had desired, longed for and prayed for this one moment when the Messiah should come. The Son of Light and Love came, and the whole land was ablaze with divine effulgence, and Paul, the one Hebrew youth who, most of all, desired His coming, was a thousand miles away in Tarsus! It seemed the very irony of fate—it was the hand of God, stretched out above the disappointed youth.

Thirty years later.

When three years had passed, Paul returned to his native land to find that the last scene in the drama had closed, and that he would never be able to say "that which mine eyes have seen, mine ears have heard, and my own hands have handled, I now declare unto you." And yet, by way of pre-eminence, Paul seems to have been the one [illegible] talked with Jesus, [illegible] communed with Jesus. The others would seem to have lived in the outer court of Jesus's life, but Paul to have been admitted into the inner court. Through the imagination Christ dwelt in Paul's heart by faith, and transformed it. Biographies are the greatest books. It is soul upon soul that transforms life. The law of intellectual growth is the law of personal influence. Analyzed, every new epoch of unwonted growth means the coming of a new friend as a vital force. "If all the libraries were ablaze," said Emerson, "after my Bible, Plato and Shakespeare, I would grab Plutarch." But these books are life books, inspirational books, not thought books, not mind books. The young artist little by little is shaped by the great master, just as the young pupil or soldier is shaped by the great teacher or general. By gentle pressure, with a stroke here and there, the potter causes the soft mud to take on the lines of a lovely vase, and Paul seems like a lump of plastic soul, shaped by the Great Artist, who turns the earthen wheel. This explains the words of Paul that seem like love literature and heart lore. What wondrous images Paul uses to express his indebtedness to Jesus! He was a lost child, sobbing in the jungle, and the Savior rescued him. He was a traveler, sick with exhaustion, and fallen like a log in the wilderness, and Christ was the friend who lifted him up, and brought oil and wine. He was a blind pilgrim, who had come to the edge of a precipice, and Jesus's hand was stretched out to draw him back to safety. He was a bird, with wing caught in the thicket, with the hawk trembling, poised in the air, just ready to strike, when the Divine hand released him for flight and safety. He was a soldier, chained to a dead carcass, knowing that tomorrow there would be two corpses, not one, and suddenly this wretched man was free. When the heart loves, privation is sweet. Then sacrifice is a delicious draught. And Paul hungered for chances to show his gratitude, thirsted for self-sacrifice, asked only that he might bear quadruple burdens, and die, not one, but a thousand deaths. Yet Paul had never seen Jesus. He had never heard His wondrous words, never witnessed His wondrous works, never known He forgave His enemies on the cross, nor seen His victory over death. And yet Paul knew Jesus better than any of the twelve apostles or the 500 disciples that dwelt in Galilee.

I.

KNOWING JESUS THROUGH THE PHYSICAL SENSES.

The twelve apostles and the five hundred men and women of Galilee, who were his childhood friends, knew Jesus by the physical senses, through the seeing of the eye, the hearing of the ear and the grasp of the hand. Other prophets are without honor in their own country, but those who knew Jesus best admired Him most. For years they had companied with Jesus, and with wistful yearning gazed with the note of wonder upon the child's lily-like innocence, and the man's oak-like strength. What was this strange child that always must be about His Father's business? He seemed aloof, like a stainless cloud. They asked and asked,

Thou smilest and art still,
Out-topping knowledge. For the loftiest hill,
Who to the stars uncrowns his majesty,
Planting his steadfast footsteps in the sea,
Making the heaven of heavens his dwelling place,
Spares but the cloudy border of his base,
To the foiled searching of mortality.
And Thou who didst the stars and sunbeams know;
Self-schooled, self-scanned, self-honored, self-secure,
Didst tread on earth unguessed at—Better so!
All pains the immortal spirit must endure,
All weakness which impairs, all griefs which bow,
Find their sole speech in that victorious brow.

What a testimony was theirs; "We have seen the Lord of Light and Glory, and have never been able to convict Him of sin. Always He went about doing good. A true shepherd, He led our little flock out of the night, and the wilderness. What others think, we know. What others dream, we have seen. What others longed for, our ears have heard, our hands have handled."

II.

KNOWING CHRIST THROUGH THE INTELLECT.

Poets, philosophers there are who sit in the house of Man's Soul and look out through the window named Intellect, and gaze upon the face of Jesus. They look upon Jesus as an objective something, dwelling apart from themselves. The scientist looks upon the oak and describes its bough and branch; the astronomer looks out upon the stars, and names each planet and sun; the archeologist looks out upon the Pyramid and the Parthenon, and photographs and measures each column, each niche and statue; Renan, Heine and Matthew Arnold look out upon Jesus and describe Him. Heine, the keen, merciless synic, with razor-like intellect, beholds the red rose that bloomed on God's tree of life, and exclaims, "Let us see what is here." One by one he plucks the petals that blacken at the touch. But heaven's sweetest flowers do not bloom for a razor's edge. Matthew Arnold also wanders between the two worlds of thought and faith "one dead, the other powerless to be born." Upon his heart disgust and secret loathing fall. He exclaims:

Now he is dead! Far hence he lies,
In the lone Syrian town; and on his grave with shining eyes
The Syrian stars look down.

Sincerity and sadness, weariness, satiation, and disgust seem strangely mingled. But knowledge is not through the intellect alone, because man is more than intellect. Professor Hale has just discovered, by a new photographic plate, sixty thousand new stars. And Professor Hale also discovered that his observatory must be removed far from the city, because of the jar of the engines and the thunder of industry, and because the smoke of the chimneys stains the air. The intellect is a telescope, whose lens is dimmed by the mists and miasms rising from greed, avarice, hate, falsehood. With the heart man believeth unto righteousness, and with the conscience man confesses his salvation. The sunbeam has white light, indeed, but also heat and color, and the three twisted together make the beam. Where the intellect is one strain, and the affections another, and the conscience a third, which united make up full knowledge. The theologian who uses the intellect alone has filled history with disaster, heresy, ecclesiastical warfare, disruption. Those who have talked of pure logic, have been the men who have taken off the wheels of the Chariot of God, and delivered Christianity into the hands of the Egyptians. The scholars who have talked about culture, and pure intellect, and despised the publicans and such poor, have turned poetry and culture into dishonorable uses, like Poe's philosopher, who was disgusted with analysis and knowledge and so meditated suicide. Pouring the deadly acid into a brilliant goblet of crimson and blue and golden hues, he found the goblet had turned black and was cracked with the draught of despair and death. The cynicism and doubt has blackened the chalice of poetry. It is not enough that man has intellect, and analyzes the truth, he must have affection and conscience, for with the heart man believeth unto righteousness and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation.

By personal experience Paul knew the Jesus who dwelt in his heart by faith. In retrospect Paul is easily Christianity's greatest achievement. If you doubt Christianity, explain Paul. Judas knew Jesus through the eyes, through the ears, and through the hand, and Judas betrayed his Lord. Matthew Arnold knew Jesus through the intellect, and lo, the eternal note of sadness came in, and where the sea of faith once was ful, now he heard its melancholy, long-withdrawing roar. And what does the intellect say to Matthew Arnold? Why, this:

The world that seems so various, so beautiful,
so new,
Hath really neither joy, nor love, nor light,
nor certitude,
Nor peace, nor help for pain.

Now over against Matthew Arnold put Paul. Matthew Arnold and his intellect, have Oxford, have wealth, position, fame, culture, office, lands, honors, but—no joy, no love, no light, no certitude, no peace. But Christ dwells in Paul's heart by faith, and even when Paul is in a dungeon he rejoices, and sings like an angel of God. The brightest light that ever gushed out into our earth after Jesus, streams from the dungeon where Paul wrote his letter to the Philippians. None of the pleasures of the palace that belonged to Matthew Arnold were Paul's. Paul was in prisons oft, beaten with rods, stoned, shipwrecked, in perils of waters and robbers, in perils in the city and in the wilderness, in weariness and painfulnes, in hunger and thirst, in cold and in hunger and nakedness, and yet—all things work for Paul's good. Neither death nor life can separate him from the love of God, for Paul to live is Christ, his every thought is steeped with joy, his every hour suffused with happiness, every duty brings strength to bear it. Matthew Arnold has no joy, no love, no light; Paul has outbreaking joy, overflowing love, and light immeasurable. Matthew Arnold has no certitude, nor peace, nor help for pain; Paul has mental quietude, has found the paths that lead to gardens of peace and full redemption out of pain. Matthew Arnold seems like an amateur musician playing on a thin harp of one or two strings; Paul seems like a great master, sweeping the keys of a deep-mouthed organ, pouring forth cathedral music, and his hallelujah chorus bears the soul forward on mighty waves toward the throne of God. Paul never knew Jesus by the sight of the eye nor the hearing of the ear, and having analyzed Jesus by the intellect, rushed on to newer and higher forms of knowledge, until Christ lived in his heart by imagination and faith. Ah! that knowledge is true knowledge! Once your babe was yours through the seeing of the eyes, the embrace of the hands and by bosom pressure. Then the Angel of Death came and entered the home, the footprint a grave, and now your little boy is yours by faith and imagination. Now he is always bounding into the room and leaping into your arms. Now his music is always in your ears. Once your revered father was yours, when at long intervals he came to your newly-founded home. Now he dwells in your heart by memory, and by faith, and instead of coming only at Thanksgiving time, he is always come but never goes. Nothing can rob us of our own when death hath released our beloved from the body. Our faith children are our true children, our lost parents are our real parents. Our teachers that have gone make no mistakes, being redeemed out of all error, for not until death seals their lips do they become truly eloquent. So Christ dwelt in Paul's imagination and heart, lending culture to his intellect, sweetness to his affection, purity to his conscience, and vigor and strength to his will. What the physical Jesus never did for the twelve, the Christ of faith wrought easily for Paul, and Augustine for the Francis and Thomas a Kempis, and for the most beautiful souls that you have ever know?

IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The military was in the public eye at Los Angeles High School last week by reason of the individual proficiency drill and the company competitive drill, which completed the work of the cadets for the semester.

In the individual proficiency drill, Sergt. Robert Ralston won and was awarded a medal by the commandant, E. W. Oliver. Lieut. Purcell, of 26th Infantry, who is in the city visiting relatives, acted as judge.

The company competitive drill was won by "C" company, Capt. Augur, Lieut. Walker. Col. Schrieber of 8th Reg. N.G.C., acted as judge of this drill.

After the awards, the battalion gave an interesting exhibition drill, Maj. Holly in command. General orders for appointments for next semester will be posted on February 7.

Commencement occurred at Los Angeles High on Friday evening, the class play, "The Lion and the Mouse" was presented on Thursday afternoon and evening. Both of these events have been described heretofore in these columns.

At assembly on Wednesday, a farewell to the outgoing students was given, an important feature of the occasion being the presentation of a gavel to George Clark in testimony of the appreciation of the student body of the young man's able conduct of the duties of his office as president of the student body. His administration has been exceptionally fine in every way and was highly commended by Prof. Housh, from the platform.

Prof. Housh spoke of the high quality of the work of the class for the year, naming those whom he would place upon an especial roll of honor in the recollections of the school. Mr. Clark read the names of the winning athletes of the semester. Miss Elizabeth Duncan, vice-president of the house of representatives, made the speech on behalf of the students in presenting the gavel to Mr. Clark.

The presentation of the class pins to the graduates by the Star and Crescent Society is always a gala, and it was no less so this time than ever. In fact as many think, it was a more impressive affair than ever before. A fine programme was presented, the girls looked very pretty decked in garlands of smilax, and the "hits" were exceedingly humorous. This feature was cleverly presented by the introduction of a "museum," showing L.A. High School, fifty years hence, and producing as specimens, the descendents of the class of S-11. No little idosyncracy was forgotten, yet all was given in the most perfectly good-natured way.

The programme was as follows: Orchestra, march; call to order, Sloan Flack, president Star and Crescent; reading of minutes, Myla Landgraf, secretary; "The Madness of Phillip," by Muriel Rowell; presentation of gavel, Muriel Rowell; song, "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," senior B quartette; museum at L.A. High fifty years hence; address, Dora Rogers, vice-president of S-11 class; selection, orchestra; presentation of pins, S-11 class; response, Tyler Robinson; selection, orchestra; songs, S-11 class.

Miss Franess Harrow is in charge of the senior B class.

Mrs. N. J. Frick, vice principal of Los Angeles High a number of years ago, Mrs. Dorsey's predecessor in fact, paid a visit to the school during the week and enjoyed acquainting herself with the new features and innovations at the institution. Mrs. Frick is now a resident of San Francisco.

At Polytechnic, the commencement programme, the class night exercises and the Ionian programme and presentation of class pins, were the features of the week.

The commencement programme was one of especial interest. It was as follows: Overture to Oberon, Weber, Poly. High School orchestra; "Communism," Faye Daniels; "Athletics—A National Necessity," Earl Dutton; piano duet, "Coronation March—The Prophet, Mayerbeer," Ruth Hensler, Eva Dutton; address by Superintendent J. H. Francis; song, "The Vikings" (Faning,) P.H.S. Girls' and Boys' Glee Clubs; presentation of class, Principal W. A. Dunn; presentation of diplomas, Dr. F. W. Steddom; "Torch March" (Clark,) P.H.S. orchestra.

On Wednesday morning the Senior Ionian Society presented the class pins with appropriate exercises and singing the class songs.

The Monday Assembly at Hollywood High School was a celebration of the debating victory of the Friday night previous. Long Beach High School, with whom the debate was held, brought up to the debate a crowd of over three hundred and they with the Hollywood school and their friends filled the auditorium. Hollywood won by a score of 203 1-3 points against 181 2-3 for Long Beach, this score placing the winning school second in the league. The next debate will be with Polytechnic High School.

Plans are in progress for a girls' jinks to be given in the gymnasium of Hollywood High, on the evening of February 10, at which time the mothers of the girls will be the guests.

Hollywood High has been visited during the past week by eighth grade classes from a number of schools.

A concert was held at Manual Arts on Thursday, which tested the capacity of the recently seated auditorium.

The buildings at this important school are now quite fully equipped and by the opening of the coming semester the school will be very well filled, although it has so great a capacity.

A new department will be opened, at the beginning of the semester. Leather work, brass, and other metal crafts and pottery will be installed. Douglas Donaldson, of the Bachelder studios, will be placed in charge of this department, which insures the best of teaching and methods from the very beginning.

Prof. Anderson, head of the manual training in the El Paso, Tex., public schools, visited the Manual Arts High School and the Polytechnic during the week, having heard of the proficiency of these institutions and wishing to see for himself. He pronounced our schools the most progressive within his knowledge and he has had some acquaintance with the public schools in the larger cities of the East as well as those of the Middle West.

The aviation department of Manual Arts tested out its machines last week, preparatory to a grand meet in the near future. There was a great "garage" full of flyers, in miniature, stored safely away for the occasion.

Oliver W. Best, superintendent of physical training in the grammar grades, has been made secretary of the California State Playgrounds Association, with headquarters at Oakland. His successor has not yet been named. There are, according to rumor, to be a number of changes in the playgrounds affairs, and a number of centers are to be added to the grammar schools.

Dr. Reach, who is in charge of the physical training of five high schools and 107 grades, still finds time to keep well informed as to late methods and movements and to lend aid to and to foster the movement in a general way.

Dr. Beach is of that enthusiastic perament which is necessary cess in such work.

Rocky Outlook.

IS AN ANARCHIST REVOLUTION NOW THREATENED IN FRANCE?

Many Observers Believe That Country Which First Deposed Its Aristocracy from Power May Be First to Experiment With State Socialism or Even Anarchist Communism.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PARIS, Jan. 20.—"Is France really on the verge of a new revolution?" This is the question that serious observers are asking since the great railway strike, when the government called out the troops and mobilized under army regulations the railway employees. Everyone in the Paris cafes, in the hotels and on the boulevards is talking of the serious aspect the working class movement has taken.

Naturally among forty million people there are divergent views as to what may happen tomorrow or next day. There are royalists who become heroic by pulling the beard of the President of the Republic, or by striking the Prime Minister in the face; republicans adrift somewhere in the haze between a form of government representing absolute authority or no authority at all; socialists who wish to work for the State and not private companies; and anarchists, who are by no means few, who are looking forward to the coming commune; and all of these are fighting for their ideas with courage and more or less dexterity.

The official view of the situation as expressed recently by M. Briand, the Prime Minister, in the Chamber of Deputies, is that the government was face to face with a serious revolutionary plot to overthrow the republic.

One thing is certain: Gustave Herve, leader of the left wing of the socialist party, who was believed to be directing the movement from prison where he is serving four years for a subversive article published in his newspaper, the "Social War," was moved "in secret." A large number of leading syndicate leaders are still in prison and Patuad, chief of the union of electricians, has fled to Belgium to escape a warrant. For the moment, therefore, the revolt is crushed.

OMINOUS SILENCE.

Those who think the matter ended, however, do not know what is going on. The very silence is ominous. The government by employing violence against the working class has alienated itself from the "progressive" movement in France, which will be heard from again in a short time. Whether the movement will develop along legal and orderly lines or break out in revolutionary violence remains to be seen. A little incident the other day in the Rue Vercingetorix, a working class quarter, revealed to me the smoldering anger of the people. A small boy was whistling the "Marseillaise," the national republican anthem.

"Stop that tune!" called out one of a group of women.

"Why?" the child asked, little thinking the tune had political significance.

"A bas la Republique!" she cried, and there was a dead silence.

Not a few persons believe that the government made a tactical blunder in forcing military service on the strikers and then ordering them, as soldiers under serious penalties for disobedience, to return to work. One reason is that the government has placed itself under the imputation of taking sides in a dispute between the Northern Railway, owned privately and directed by the Rothschilds, and its employees in revolt. The men were asking for $1 a day wage, which they declare is not much to ask of the richest international bankers in the world. Having crushed the workers for the benefit of the great private corporation, it is argued, the government has gained the hatred of the entire working population. In the second place the government has given the army cause for discontent. According to glorious tradition the French troops exist to protect France from foreign invasion. The government, however, has turned the army into a band of armed Pinkertons to protect the property of the Rothschild family, the famous bankers, who in France are French, in Germany Germans, and in Great Britain are Englishmen. One of the soldiers, himself a labor unionist, openly refused to march against his comrades and the government punished him by sentencing him to six months in prison. Even the violent revolutionists do not ask for better anti-military propaganda than this.

In France today society is divided sharply into two great classes antagonistic to each other. On one side of the "barricade," as Paul Bourget calls it, are the rich middle-class and capitalists who are in control of the wealth of the nation. On the other side is the great army of workers who are fighting for the mere necessities of life. There are no longer any pleasant illusions here about peace and co-operation between the capitalists and the workers. A class war is being waged and both sides are using every means to win the ascendency. Both are organized and acting more or less in [illegible]

THE FINANCIERS.

The financiers, pushing the theory of capitalism to its logical conclusion, present a "collective" front against the growing tide of democracy. The "money trust" in France is probably the greatest combination of wealth ever known. It controls the newspapers and has stifled criticism. Allied with the financiers are the great industrial employers; and, since M. Briand mobilized the railroad strikers as soldiers and forced them back to work, the big steamship companies are preparing secretly to insist that the same thing shall be done in case of trouble with their employees. They will demand that the navy be called on to furnish "blackleg" labor to break the next strike among the sailors and [illegible] And if the government in [illegible] in a strike among the marine transportation companies "on the ground of public interest" then the same reason will exist to mobilize the [illegible] in case they strike, the [illegible] and in fact the whole industry down to the grave diggers, bread makers and cemetery [illegible] are just as important in their [illegible] the social system as the men [illegible] the railroads or steamships.

FORCE WITH FORCE.

[illegible] plans are quite apparent to [illegible] leaders who are fully prepared to meet force with force. For [illegible] many observers think the [illegible] metaphorically, are playing [illegible] and that if they do not [illegible] find some working basis for [illegible] with the workers the revolution [illegible] a question of time. Seri[illegible] that the time will be [illegible] leader of the electrical [illegible] it will be recalled not [illegible] plunged Paris into darkness. [illegible] has not yet begun and [illegible] gone before has been [illegible] of the fiddles. [illegible] attention to the rising tide [illegible] everywhere one has only to point to events in Turkey, Persia, Portugal and the struggle today in England against hereditary privilege. These revolutions, however, are a generation late and, therefore, are nothing new. In France, however, there is an effort to realize the dreams of the present generation. Prince Kropotkin predicts that in case the socialists take Paris only a few weeks will elapse before revolutionary uprisings will follow in Berlin, Vienna, London and St. Petersburg. Owing to the momentous issue at stake the situation is intensely interesting, no matter which point of view one takes in the controversy.

On the democratic side of the "barricade" in France are two great parties, the reformists and the revolutionaries. At the head of the former is Jean Jaures, political director of the daily socialist newspaper, "L'Humanite," and leader of the socialist party in the Chamber of Deputies. M. Jaures represents the moderate socialistic view, which believes in parliamentary action and the establishment of the social democracy by legal evolution. Already the State has a monopoly in matches and tobacco, and has bought one railroad, and Jaures and his party are fighting for an extension of these monopolies until the State eventually controls the production and distribution of all wealth. This is undoubtedly a slow process and costly, as was shown by the purchase of the Western Railway, when the owners with the aid of the politicians saddled on the public at an enormous price a railroad that is always breaking down. Before the railroad can be termed first-class it will have to be rebuilt almost entirely and its rolling stock replaced. Having foisted on the public so much scrap iron at the cost of $60,000,000 the capitalists make capital of the fact that the State owned junk won't run. State socialism, therefore, they say, is a failure.

THE REVOLUTIONARY PARTY.

What is giving the government concern, however, is the revolutionary party. Gustave Herve estimates that in case of a general uprising the number of possible strikers would be 8,000,000, and most of these, he declares, are out for revolution and not reform. The truth of this was shown when M. Neil, secretary of the Confederation Generale du Travail, which is the central syndicate of more than 2500 trade unions, was forced to resign because of the extremist" ideas, to make room for a revolutionary. And the attitude of the extremist" was voiced again recently by Herve, who, when the police turned loose dogs on the strikers, publicly warned the police prefecture that if this occurred again the anarchists would reply with bombs. Dogs have not been used since.

The revolutionists preach "direct action" instead of political action; the general strike as a revolutionary weapon; violence when opposed by violence and "sabotage" or the wilful damage of property during strikes. Recently, since the government has refused to permit strikes among railroad workers, "sabotage" has taken another turn. Parcels sent by the railroads are accumulating in great confusion and when deliveries are made, instead of getting a carload of coal as ordered, a merchant may receive a cargo of potatoes. The government is experiencing the reality of the old fable that one may lead a horse to water but cannot make him drink.

Instead of State socialism most of the revolutionaries are working for anarchist communism. Their plan, as indicated by Pataud and others, is that at the psychological moment the workers' syndicates will take charge of the factories, warehouses, shops and transportation lines, in fact all branches of industry and run these on communistic lines. As a matter of fact the scheme, to start with, is so simple that nothing prevents it being carried out tomorrow except the lack of concerted action. Whether the trade unions could control their men and prevent such a state of affairs lapsing into chaos is the problem.

Few persons who have not studied modern France know to what extent the communistic idea has taken hold on the masses. There exist in France today many purely communistic enterprises and whole forests in Savois belong to the people, in which one may cut freely what timber he desires for his own use or for firewood. During the flood in Paris last spring, for instance, in spite of the theory that the law of supply and demand regulates the price of food, the government closed shops which attempted to raise the price of food during the scarcity, and police were sent to rescue such mercenary shopkeepers from being lynched after the populace had wrecked their shops. And the French are no respecters of persons. When M. Churchard, head of the Magasins du Louvre, at his death failed to leave the great stores to his employees as did Madame Bouccicault in the case of the Bon Marche, the people hooted his funeral cortege and there were several encounters with the police who were there to protect the hearse from assault. These are signs of the times.

FREDERICK BURLINGHAM.

ALL TECHNICALITIES FAIL.

Union Laborite Who Assaulted and Dangerously Wounded Free Workman Makes Useless Appeal.

The District Court of Appeal yesterday affirmed the verdict of the jury which found Charles F. Stevens, a labor-union agitator, guilty of an assault with a deadly weapon on Edward C. Hoffman, an independent workman.

Stevens and three companions laid in wait for Hoffman at a point where they knew he was accustomed to alight from a street car when he returned home after a day of honest toil.

For the single reason that he chose to be free and unhampered in his labors, instead of being in the constant power of someone else, they set upon him with weapons and dangerously wounded him.

His scalp was laid open in several places so that the skull was bare and he was terribly bruised and cut. The cowardly ruffians ran away, leaving him lying on the sidewalk.

Stevens was given a fair trial and was found guilty. He was sentenced to serve two years in the penitentiary. He took an appeal, alleging several technical grounds, but the higher court found that none of them were sufficient to warrant it in giving him another trial.

THE KIND GENDARME.

BY PIERRE MILLE.

The winter had been rainy and mild, and although it was but the end of January, the snowdrops were pushing their heads through the impoverished grass of the meadows by the narrow, winding river Bresle.

Monsieur Cormenot came cautiously down the steep bank.

Having found the place where he had laid his bait the night before, he began to fit up his beautiful fishing rod.

He despised the boiled wheat bait of the ordinary fisherman when fishing for roach, and he baited this hook with a small, light ball of the size of a pea, made of breadcrumbs, honey and asafaetida. His soul was filled with an intense, calm delight; a kind of serene intoxication; he was fishing.

Sometimes the sun shone and the bare trees in the distance took on a very soft lilac tint. From time to time a roach or chub struck at the bait. Then began the fight between the fish and the man. Sometimes he lost, but often brought it to the landing-net, then into his fishing-basket full of wet grass.

After that M. Cormenot proudly put on fresh bait, quite delighted with the strength and patience displayed in the struggle.

Presently he heard footsteps on the soft grass above his head. He turned round; a gendarme was watching him attentively.

M. Cormenot was in nowise disturbed; he was not fishing in the prohibited season, the River Bresle was free to everyone, and, lastly, his conscience did not reproach him with anything.

The gendarme, in a low and gentle voice, as fi afraid to frighten the fish, asked:

"Any bites?"

"Yes," replied M. Cormenot by a silent motion of his head.

Suddenly the float ran out at right-angles with the bank, and dived before M. Cormenot could even tie it.

The long rod bent so abruptly that Cormenot thought it was going to break. With lips closely pressed he allowed the float to run out as far as the line would allow, drew it in and paid out afresh. The great fish leaped clear of the water, his vivid green body flashing in the sunlight. M. Cormenot followed the pole into the water in an effort to keep the captive fast.

"What a fine catch!" said the gendarme. "What a fine catch! Ah! If you were to lose it."

And he, himself, held out the landing-net when the bounding prey came near the bank.

A prisoner, the fish filled the net, and the handle bent with the weight of its body.

"How big he is," said the gendarme, with an air of admiration. "He is as big, as big—as one of my feet! But what is it? I have never seen one like that before."

"It is a char!" replied M. Cormenot, who boasted that he knew all the fish of France. "It is a char. It is a rare fish here, it must have been carried down by the floods. And it must have been famished to bite at ball-bait."

"Ah!" put in the gendarme, in a voice that was always very gentle. "So that is a char? Good gracious! How provoking this is!"

"Why so?" asked M. Cormenot, who continued to look at his prize with pride.

"From October 15 to January 31 it is forbidden to fish for char by the act of May 18, 1878. It is forbidden—prohibited! I must make the charge against you. Good gracious, but this is most provoking!"

"But I did not take it intentionally, you know, I was not fishing for char!" cried M. Cormenot. "It was not my fault if this one got caught on my line! In the first place, char is caught with a fly, and I was fishing with ball-bait. I will put it back in the water, if you like."

His whole attitude revealed infinite compassion—a softened benevolence. Hope re-entered the soul of M. Cormenot. He drew a forty-sous piece from his pocket.

"No, no Monsieur!" said the gendarme, waving off the offer by a gesture, but without any indignation. "Do not be uneasy. I am obliged to charge any person who breaks the law, but there is no need for the matter to come into court. I will arrange that. We are not brutes. I shall state the circumstances of the case. To lose such a fine catch of fish all for one char—what wretched luck!"

"To lose my fish?" questioned M. Cormenot.

"It would die of its wound," said the gendarme; "pollution of the watercourse! That is also forbidden. Good gracious, good gracious, how very vexing this is!"

"Eh, yes," said the gendarme; "I must confiscate that. Good gracious, how extremely provoking it is."

M. Cormenot, unsuccessfully stifling a sigh, began to collect his bait-balls and the fish drum in which he had placed his large lumps of bait.

"Anyone can see that you know how to fish," said the gendarme flatteringly. "What are those lumps of bait made of?"

"It is the mixture as made by Florent—an old recipe, but the best one," declared M. Cormenot, with a touch of vanity. "Some cascarilla bark, some pottern's earth, and a little rind of the incense gum tree, myrrh, some barley meal soaked in wine, a piece of pork liver, a littl garlic, and some fine sand. It is wonderful. And it doesn't smell bad either—it is quite a delicacy."

"And it pleases the fish, and makes it tipsy," said the gendarme.

"It is idiotic to say that it makes the fish tipsy—absolutely idiotic," protested M. Cormenot.

"Certainly, certainly," conceded the gendarme, always benevolent. "I must be going. Au revoir, mousieur; and I am very sorry."

"Gendarme," questioned M. Cormenot, timidly, "will this matter take the usual course?"

"Don't be uneasy," said the gendarme; "they are only small troubles. You have a conscience, too, haven't you?"

M. Cormenot had his conscience. And this gendarme had been so polite that, as he went home, he was not thinking of anything more than the loss of his catch of fish and his fish basket.

It was, therefore, with profound astonishment that he received, several days later, a summons to appear before the correctional tribunal at Brantes "for infringing the regulations and decrees of the river conservancy police, breaking the law relating to fishing, insulting a member of the gendarmerie and attempting to bribe an official."

"The idiot," sighed M. Cormenot, thinking of the gendarme.

However, he hoped still at the bottom of his heart that there had been some mistake. His good faith could not fail to be made clear on the day the case was heard, and one would then know how the affair had happened.

The attitude of the gendarme whom he met on duty in full uniform in the Palis Square confirmed him in this opinion. Candor, kindness and benevolence were pictured on the features of this modest servant of the state.

"What a surprise!" said he, going straight up to M. Cormenot. "Eh? The matter has gone on in the usual course of procedure! I would never have believed it. They must be sorry legal hacks at the bar! But I will arrange that; you'll see. I shall give evidence in your favor—I will see to that."

turbed fisherman, and when this case was called he awaited with confidence the explanation of the gendarme. In fact, the gendarme began to speak in a pleasant manner.

"On January 22," said he, "I had to charge the accused with catching during the prohibited season a fish which I recognized as a char."

"Oh, indeed!" cried M. Cormenot; "It was I, myself, who told him the name of the fish. He knew nothing about it. Ah, what a fool I was!"

"On my observing that it was a prohibited fish," pursued the gendarme, "the accused here present answered with levity that it was rather rare to have the good luck of catching it in the River Bresle, and he did not exhibit any regret. Then, having charged him, he attempted to offer me a two-franc piece, and, on my refusal, tried to hide some ballbait, of which he had then to admit the intoxicating composition, pernicious to fish. Having reproached him with that fact, as being contrary to law and regulations, the accused showed no regret for his conduct and called me 'an idiot,' being in uniform and charging him in the execution of my duty."

"Ah!" cried M. Cormenot; "the ras——"

But his solicitor bade him be silent, fearing he would damage his case.

M. Cormenot was condemned to pay a fine of 300 francs and suffer one month's imprisonment.

He was furious at this treatment at the hands of the seemingly friendly gendarme. He hurried from the courtroom, his face livid with rage, and confronted the benignly smiling cause of his troubles.

The latter watched him with an air of benignity which lent something sublime to his countenance — at once gentle and strong. And before the condemned man could open his mouth—

"Ha," said he; "they have disgraced you! Cheer up. I know the gaoler of the prison, and if you like——"

But Monsieur Cormenot, at this show of hypocrisy, fell fainting in the arms

BOOK NEWS.

Among the earliest of the Scribner spring publications is "The Adventures of James Capen Adams, Mountaineer and Grizzly Bear Hunter of California," more generally known as "Grizzly Adams." The story is written as he told it to Theodore H. Hittell, in a plain and simple style that has all the marks of absolute truth; yet his account of the capture of wild beasts, especially of grizzly bears and of their taming, of his experiences with Indians and hunters, with storms and floods in the Sierras, make up an intensely thrilling, and at times hardly credible, hunter's narrative. Adams was famous in his day, some fifty years ago, for a marvelous understanding of wild animals, and he seemed to inspire a sympathy in them which placed him above anyone else on record as a tamer. The most extraordinary parts of his story are where he tells of how he lived in the mountains for years with an enormous grizzly which he had raised up from a cub as sole companion.

Sir Gaston Maspero's new book, which the Appletons are publishing shortly, is said to have the interest attaching to a book in which a true scholar brings his learning out of the study and makes it available for the general reader. Such places as Siout, Rodah, Keneh, Denderah, Esneh, Edfou, Assouan, Karnak and Philae, are described in their modern aspect, as well as in relation to their ancient history and monuments. M. Maspero, who is Director-General of the Service des Antiquites at Cairo, tells in one chapter his adventures while "Fishing for Statues in the Temple of Karnak." The volume will have seventeen illustrations.

The progress made in perfecting the systems of raised letters for the blind has opened up a wide range of books for their reading. The Harpers this week gave permission to the American Printing House for the Blind to print Lafcadio [illegible]

The London National selects from fiction publications of 1910 fifteen works which it considers notable. Among these, only six were published in America—"A Motley," by John Galsworthy; "Tales of Men and Ghosts," by Edith Wharton; "The Finer Grain," by Henry James, and "Celt and Saxon," by George Meredith; "Clayhanger," by Arnold Bennett; "An Affair of Dishonour," by William de Morgan.

"The Autobiography of Henry M. Stanley," recently published in this country by Houghton, Mifflin Company, seems destined to have a world-wide reading. It is now published in Italian under the title "Come Divenne Esploratore," and a German translation is just coming out. A French version will be ready next April and a Dutch translation is in preparation.

Mrs. Mary Robert Coolidge's book on "Chinese Immigration" is already going to press for its second time. The attempts to exclude the Chinese have considerable analogy with those to exclude the Japanese, which probably is one of the reasons for the very considerable interest in this work.

"The Lion's Skin," a novel by a new writer, Rafael Sabatini, is announced for publication by D. Appleton Company about the middle of February. The action of most of the story takes place in England, during the years preceding the Restoration.

"Molly Make-Believe," which was issued last September and has been for three months among the list of "six-best-sellers," is to be published in a special edition for the blind.

Dr. J. Spillenger

I have had such wonderful success with my method of reducing superfluous fat that I have decided to offer for a limited time—FREE trial treatments. Hundreds of testimonials on file show that my treatment TAKES OFF FAT AT THE RATE OF 5 TO 7 POUNDS A WEEK and what is more, that the FAT DOES NOT RETURN when the treatment is finished. No person is so fat but what it will have the desired effect, no matter where the excess fat is located—stomach, bust, hips, cheeks, neck—it will quickly vanish without starving, exercising or in any way interfering with your customary habits. My treatment is endorsed by physicians because of its easy, natural elimination of abnormal flesh and its beneficial effect on the whole system. Perfectly harmless; easy and quick results. DON'T TAKE MY WORD FOR THIS: I will prove it at my own expense.

CONSULT A SPECIALIST Do the same for the disease of Obesity that you would for any other serious disease, that is consult a Physician who is an experienced and successful Specialist. I am a regular licensed practicing physician and have for about 25 years made a specialty of the treatment of Obesity. My success has been so great that I want every person who is too stout to know of the great work I am doing. All I ask is a chance to prove that my treatment will do in your case what it has done in thousands of others.

READ THESE INTERESTING LETTERS.

Rev. Mary Kimball, 112 S. Jackson St., Janesville, Wis., says: "I wish every sufferer from obesity could know of your Kresslin Treatment. Before I took your treatment I was subject to violent choking fits and my friends were often afraid I would choke to death. Your treatment has cured all this and reduced my waist six inches and my hips eight inches. My garments now are all so large they seem as if made for another woman."

E. A. Richards, Ex-Mayor of Holly Hill, Fla., says: "After spending over One Hundred Dollars for advertised obesity remedies which did me no good it gives me pleasure to state that your Kresslin Treatment has been perfectly satisfactory to me. As well as taking off my fat it cured my Dyspepsia, and now I enjoy the best of health. Also I want to say the reduction from the use of your treatment is permanent."

Mrs. John Bye, Minneapolis, Kan., says: "I really cannot praise your Kresslin Treatment enough for what it has done for me. It has reduced my weight from 203 pounds to 145 pounds and has also wonderfully improved my general health. I can do my housework now without pain or the smothering spells I used to have. My husband says it is worth $1000 to him and the children since I used your Kresslin Treatment."

Mr. J. J. THOMPSON of Durham, N. C., says: "I finished taking your Kresslin Treatment a long time ago but waited before writing you to be sure the cure was permanent. I can now say your Treatment is all you claim for it as you have relieved me of no less than 70 pounds of superfluous flesh. Everyone noticed the improvement in my shape and health and I feel better than I have for years."

The above are fair samples of hundreds of letters on file and arriving daily. They are the voluntary gratitude of thankful people from whom I lifted the burden of fat. LET ME DO THE SAME FOR YOU.

What my treatment has accomplished in hundreds of cases. It will help you. Try it.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE.

Consolidated Midway Makes Another Recovery, the Raid on It Evidently Having Petered Out.

The past week on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange witnessed an attempt to bear the stock of the Consolidated Midway. It was pounded down to about 12 cents, but had made quite a recovery by yesterday and closed at 13 5-8 bid. It was a heavy trader throughout the week.

California Midway also suffered a considerable slump early in the week, but closed yesterday at 47 bid, a gain over the preceding day of 2 1-2 points. Mexican Petroleum common was another stock that suffered a decline in price without any apparent cause, closing at 33.75 bid. There was no trading in Union yesterday, but the stock lost in the closing bid price. Associated Oil made a gain, five shares bringing 46.00.

The bears were in the saddle throughout the week. The trading was confined almost exclusively to the oil stocks.

SAN FRANCISCO EXCHANGE.

Changes in the Goldfield List Not Worth Talking About—Mexican Feature of Market on Gains.

[Special Service to The Times by B. F. Taylor, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4.—Aside from a 2½ point loss in Florence and a point gain in Jumbo Ex. there were no changes in the Goldfields. Belmont lost 2½. Tonopah Ex. was up 2½. McNamara lost 1, Jim Butler 1. Tonopah Mining was in demand at 8. Mayflower continued strong, 6 bid. Nevada Hills lost 2½. Round Mountain was up 1, Peak was up 2.

The real feature of the market was Mexican, which closed with a net gain of 20 points on important news from the property. Ophir was up 2½, Con. Virginia, 2½, Savage 3, G. and C. 1, Yellow Jacket, 2, Union 4, Chollar 1. The news from the Comstocks is all bullish and tips were out early this morning to buy Mexican at the opening. Figures Are Shades Higher at Session's End for Finer Cereal, But Corn Market Ends Off—Oats Waver Up to Lower and Provisions Show Decline.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—Covering by nervous shorts who had overreached themselves of late, gave wheat an upward turn today. In the end, however, the tone was weak, though the close was at a net advance of ⅛c to ⅜c. Corn finished ⅛c to ½c down, oats ⅛c off to a shade up, and provisions 2½c to 10c, decline. May wheat ranged from 95⅝ to 96½, and closed ⅛ up, at 96 flat. May corn varied from 50 to 50⅜, closing weak, ⅛@¼ down, at 50@50⅛. Cash corn was easy. No. 2 yellow closed at 47½@48. High and low points for May oats were 33⅛ and 33¼, with the close a shade off, at 33@33⅛. Provisions were easy. The end left pork 5 to 10 lower; lard down 2½ to 5, and ribs 5 lower.

Cash quotations were as follows: Flour, easy, winter patents, 4.20@4.70; straights, 4.00@4.50; straights, 4.50@4.70; bakers, 3.40@5.00; No. 2 rye, 82@82½; feed or mixing barley, 65@73; fair to choice malting, 84@91½; flax seed, No. 1, southwestern, 2.55; No. 1 northwestern, 2.68; timothy seed, 10.50@10.60; clover, 14.75; mess pork, per bbl., 20.25@20.50; lard, per 100 lbs., 9.75; short ribs, sides, (loose) 9.87½@10.50.

New York Cotton Market.

[Special Service to The Times by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members of the New York Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth st., Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 4—The deadlock which has existed for several months in the market for futures was partially broken during the week by the marked change for the worst in the European trade situation, and values substantially declined to a basis of 14.55 for the active options, compared with 14.95 at the close a week ago. There is a general feeling that Liverpool has overestimated aMnchester's requirements and has taken considerable cotton on speculation against prospective future business. This view would seem justified by the fact that while exports of cotton goods for the last quarter in 1910 amounted to only 251,617,000 pounds, vs. 331,890,000 for the same quarter in 1909, exports of raw cotton thus far for the season amounts to 1,075,507 bales in excess of this date last year. This leaves the Liverpool stock and afloat, 4,419,000 against only 1,103,000 a year ago with the possible exception of Texas, where sufficient time yet remains to receive the necessary moisture to permit planting, conditions throughout the cotton belt are more favorable for planting a larger crop than for many years. Farmers have commenced hauling a month sooner than usual, and a material increase in the amount used is reported.

Logan & Bryan's letter says:

"The normal consumption of cotton during the seven month period from January to August, inclusive, should now be about 1,000,000 bales per month, or 7,000,000 bales. Two years ago with about 6 per cent. fewer spindles than now, the actual mill takings amounted to about 6,600,000. Last year, from February 3 to August 31, the mills actually took 5,221,000 bales and their actual consumption exceeded the mill's takings by 500,000 bales, hence, had they taken as much as they consumed the actual takings for the period would have been 5,721,-000 and this at a time when the mills of the world were either doing "short time" or were closed. This season they have no reserve stock to draw from, hence their mills takings must equal their consumption and, therefore, if the mills employ the same tactics toward closing down that they did last year, if their production of cloth from this date forward merely equals that of a year ago, they must find 5,721,000 bales during the balance of the year.

There are only two places to draw this from, the visible supply and the amount yet to come into sight. The visible now stands 4,083,525 and the amount into sight will approximate 2,200,000, this would give a total to draw from of 6,283,524. Watching this 6,283,524 supply against 5,721,000 imperative needs would leave an insignificant visible at the end of the year, and should this 5,721,000 consumptive requirements merely show 10 per cent. better than after this date last year it would absorb every bale of cotton in the crop and in the visible supply. That the dry goods shelves of the world are bare we feel sure, and that the mills of the world have but a limited supply of the raw material every indication points. The price of finished article is from 5 to 20 per cent. higher than a year ago. The plague in China cannot make them wear any less clothes, in fact, it might call for more."

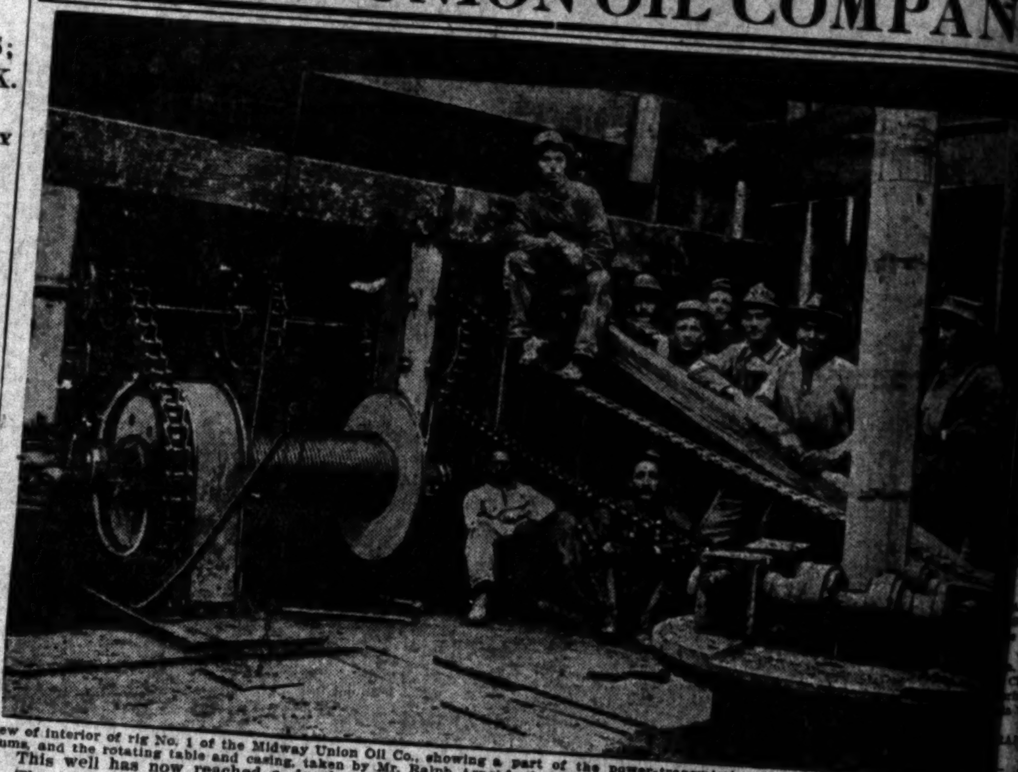
MIDWAY UNION OIL COMPANY



View of interior of rig No. 1 of the Midway Union Oil Co., showing a part of the power-transmission of machinery, one of the drums, and the rotating table and casing, taken by Mr. Ralph Arnold, the company's Geologist and Consulting Engineer.

This well has now reached a depth of approximately 2000 feet.

The following extract bearing on the Midway acreage is taken from the report of Mr. Ralph Arnold, the company's Consulting Geologist and Engineer:

"Taking into consideration the position of the Midway Union's property as regards the geological and structural conditions and results obtained in the surrounding properties, I would say that the lower and more productive oil zone should be encountered at 2800 to 3000 feet from the surface; that wells drilled anywhere on it should yield oil of 20 to 28 degrees Baume gravity in commercial quantities; that the length of life of the wells should be from 10 to 20 years and that the annual shrinkage in production for a well should average about 10 per cent. of the preceding year's yield of the same well."

It is reported the Standard Oil Company has just brought in another well on Section 30, being about mile west of the Midway Union, doing 4000 barrels daily. Superintendent Bender of the Midway Union advises that from the Midway Union property he can see another new well about two miles to the east of Midway Union, presumably on Section 26. It is his judgment that it is doing about 12,000 barrels daily.

These developments prove Midway Union property to be in the center of very heavy production and the Midway Union well No. 1, in our opinion, gives promise of better than 500 barrels daily output.

List of officers and directors, location and area of properties, titles, geology, equipment, development, production and possible earnings will be furnished upon request.

We endorse this property in its entirety and strongly advise the purchase of the shares at once.

We are completing the sale of treasury stock, after which application will be made to list in both San Francisco and Los Angeles.

LIVELY TRADING IN LIVE STOCKS.

OPENING WEAK, BUT EVERYTHING TONES UP LATER.

American Beet Sugar Feature of Session—Western Railroads Report Increased Earnings in January—Weekly Bank Statement Proves a Disappointment.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Stocks made a lively showing of strength during the day's session. The opening was without decided tone, but by the time trading was well under way the market hardened and remained strong and active to the close. Among the specialties American Beet Sugar was strongest, its rise of three points being accompanied by talk of a dividend on the common stock. United States Steel, Union Pacific and Reading all gained more than a point and St. Paul, Great Northern and Northern Pacific were other strong features. Western railroads were benefitted by today's budget of December reports, showing net gains in every case. St. Paul reported a net gain of $527,000; Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, $996,000; Great Northern, $988,000 and Union Pacific, $323,000. New York Central's yearly statement showed a decrease in operating income in all lines of $3,447,000. A cash gain of $3,067,000 as shown in the actual table in the weekly bank statement, was considerably below advance estimates, while the loan expansion of $9,752,000 was small when compared with the increase of $34,600,000 shown in the average statement. Bonds were firm. Total sales, par value, $1,235,000. United States bonds unchanged on call for the week.

New York Curb Stocks.

[Special Service to The Times by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members of the New York Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth st., Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Giroux was the feature of a strong market today. The stock was heavy most of the session, a majority of the sales being made at 7⅛, but just before the close there was good demand for the stock. It closed 7 7-8 bid. Chino was also strong and Ray sold up to 17 3-4. The market for Inspiration was narrow, all sales being made at 8 7-16 and 8½. The feeling continues bullish. The Boston market continues strong, is getting broader and the public is becoming interested. Trading, however, is moderately active and price changes small.

INCONTROVERTIBLE FACTS ABOUT

CALIFORNIA OIL

The development of the marvelously rich oil fields of California has meant and will mean more to the State than any other industry conducted within its borders. More millions in net profits will be made in the oil industry of California during the coming ten years than any other of the State's great industries. Unless the people of California participate in the development of the oil fields of the State these hundreds of millions of dollars' profit will be made by a few giant corporations. At this moment there are several independent oil companies operating excellent properties which offer unparalled opportunities for the making of enormous profits during the coming year. Every "live" citizen of the State ought to make it his business to get the facts about these companies, and see to it that he makes some of the great oil profits that will be distributed in the years to come.

FREE! FREE! CALIFORNIA OIL BULLETIN

For the information of our clients we issue semi-monthly the "California Oil Bulletin," which contains from time to time the facts about all oil companies operating in the various oil fields of the State. We are personally familiar with all the oil fields of California. In the more important ones we maintain personal representatives. Our Mr. A. E. Preston, for several years geologist for the Union Oil Company, is recognized as one of the leading oil geologists of the West. His knowledge of the oil fields of California is equal to that of any one in the world. Thus it may be seen we are always in position to know the best investments in California oil securities.

Every Oil Investment Advised by Us Has Made Good

It is a positive fact that can be sustained by the records that every oil investment advised by us in the past has subsequently made big profits for the purchaser. You can keep in close touch with all oil companies operating in the fields of California by reading regularly the "California Oil Bulletin." You can make big, quick profits by following the investment advice contained in these "Bulletins." Upon request the "California Oil Bulletin" will be mailed to you regularly as issued during 1911 ABSOLUTELY FREE OF COST.

FREE! FREE! Map of Midway

Our engineer recently compiled an accurate, up-to-date map of the Midway-Maricopa-Sunset oil fields. It is the best map ever issued of these fields. A copy of it will be sent to you FREE UPON REQUEST!

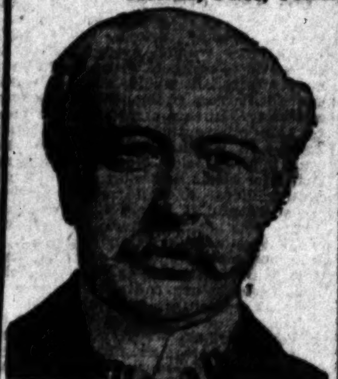
CURED IN FIVE DAYS

Hernia, Piles, Fistula and Varicose Veins



H. J. TILLOTSON, M.D.
Established 30 Years.

I am the only Specialist in Los Angeles who is sole owner of his office and equipment, who does not advertise a fictitious name and photograph. I publish my true photograph, correct name, personally conduct my office. I am the longest established, most successful and reliable, as medical credentials and press records prove. Imitation of my copyrighted announcement is an evidence that I am a bona fide Specialist. I make this statement that you will know you consult a Specialist, who sees and treats patients personally. I possess skill and experience acquired in such a way that no other can share, and should not be classed with medical companies. Experience is the safe standard by which judgment may be valued, and it is unwise and expensive to embrace the statements of medical companies. It is impossible for a medical company to attend college. Companies have no diploma or license to practice medicine in California or any other State. Medical companies usually are named after a doctor. A portrait, whose personality and identity are indefinite, is selected and published as the legitimate specialist of the office. Hired substitutes, ordinary doctors with questionable ability give consultation, examination and treatment.

A thorough investigation should be made by every ailing person as to the specialist he consults. Duty and destiny to self and those who depend upon you demand the best medical attention. I have the ability and can give you this service. I have always charged a very reasonable fee, so that my services may be obtained by any man who sincerely desires to be cured. I make no misleading statements or unbusinesslike propositions; neither do I desire to be particularly independent, and I would like to have you for a patient, if you will come to me on a strictly professional basis, and the inducements that I offer, which are my ability and thirty years' successful experience. Time-saving treatment and guarantee of cure of certain diseases.

NO MONEY REQUIRED TO COMMENCE TREATMENT. Many patients have no confidence in their doctor, because he demands pay before a cure has been effected, and there are many who have been misinformed about their condition, or through unsuccessful treatment have become skeptical and think there is no cure for them. I want an opportunity to treat such cases. It makes no difference about the financial part, as I accept pay for my services as benefits are derived, when I am satisfied the patient is reliable. Health is capital at interest. I will prove my ability to cure you before asking pay for my services.

WRITTEN GUARANTEE.

Dr. Tillotson's written guarantee means a cure or no pay for services. I guarantee to cure certain diseases or refund every dollar you have paid me for my services. My services cost you nothing unless I cure your Varicose Veins, Hernia, Piles, Fissures, Ulcerations, or any disease I guarantee to cure. My terms are reasonable and no more than you are willing and able to pay.

Many Cases Cured Permanently in One TREATMENT. Most Time-Saving. Most Natural. Most Safe. No Detention from Occupation, Family or Home. A Radical and Permanent Cure. I Will Give $500 to Any Charity as a Guarantee That Every Statement in This Announcement is True.

I cure rapidly, painlessly and at small expense. Cured Patients are My Testimonials, however, I do not make patient's Names Merchandise by publishing them. I will give conclusive evidence of my merit which is obtained and maintained by ability. I invite you to come to my office; I will explain my treatment for Hernia, Piles, Fistula, Varicose Veins, Pelvic, Nervous, Blood, Kidney, Bladder and Rectal Diseases. I will give you free a physical examination; if necessary a microscopical and chemical analysis of secretions to determine existing pathological and bacteriological conditions. Every person should take advantage of this opportunity to learn their true condition. Certainty of cure is what you want.

Varicose Veins

In the cure of Varicose Veins, Rupture and Associate Diseases of the Pelvic Region, I am successful in bringing to bear the curative power of Nature's forces in such a manner as to supplant the old-time, wide-open surgical operations. Once it required several weeks to cure these conditions and the method which some still use is such as to endanger the life of the patient and require a long period of convalescence. Now an absolute cure can be accomplished in a few days and with perfect safety.

TRUSSES SELDOM CURE RUPTURE.

Disregard for existing Hernias has cost many lives. The smallest hernias are the most dangerous to life, because of the increased liability to strangulation. I am aware that a great deal of fraud has been practiced on the public in connection with the alleged cure of Rupture, and when I say positively that I cure Rupture, to stay cured, I do not expect any one to accept my statement without investigation of my professional work. My claim to your confidence is based on absolute facts, accomplished results. A personal consultation. I will make a free examination and can explain every detail of your Hernia and demonstrate to you the curative value of the method I have discovered. I invite the careful investigation of any person who sincerely desires to be cured. I cure Rupture, in selected cases, with perfect safety, and entail no suffering, and do not detain you from occupation under Written Guarantee. Many cases cured to stay cured by one treatment.

PILES, FISTULA, RECTAL DISEASES.

These diseases are very common; most frequently found in persons of middle, or advanced age; are exceedingly annoying, often very painful and sometimes very dangerous, and frequently unfit one for pleasure or occupation. My treatment and successes are the result of years of experience; my treatment is kindly applied. I cure Piles without cutting. Some cases are cured by one or more treatments. If I do not cure your Piles, Fistula and other Rectal Diseases, my treatment does not cost you anything. Gentleness in treatment comes from treating many cases, so I guarantee a cure of Piles, Fistula, Fissures, Ulcers and all curable Rectal Diseases.

LIFE'S BLOOD STREAM.

The great clearing house of a person's body is the blood stream. Your blood cells are your bank account. Your only defense against disease is by and through blood corpuscles. My blood-making, blood-purifying remedies have been tried and proven. My blood-cell remedies nourish, strengthen and increase the blood cells and nourish the nerve centers. I want to prove to you at my expense that my blood-making, blood-purifying remedies give power to weak brains and life to nerve centers.

KIDNEY AND BLADDER DISEASES.

With these diseases you may have more complications than are presented by any other diseased organs. By my searching illumination of the bladder I determine accurately the diseases and by my microscopical examination and urinalysis I make sure of the condition of the kidneys, thus laying foundations for scientific treatment.

The Last and Richest New Country on the Continent Is British Columbia 372,620 square miles (equal to 238,426,800 acres) of almost virgin territory—composed of thirty million acres of the finest agricultural and fruit land, fifty million acres of the best timber in the world, the balance containing millions of acres of the richest gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc mining country, as well as the largest coal deposits on the continent; all will be opened up to the development within the next five years by three transcontinental and other lines of railroad.

Seven railroads are chartered to build to Fort George, the geographical and strategic commercial center of British Columbia, and the natural supply point for Canada's great Inland Empire.

Fort George is at the junction of 1100 miles of navigable waterways, and will be one of the largest cities in the West. You can get in ahead of the railroad and take advantage of the wonderful advance in values if you act quick.

Let us send you a free copy of "British Columbia Bulletin of Information," containing up-to-date development news and synopsis of Government land, mining and timber laws.

CREAMERY TO ADD TO PLANT.

Large Concern Finds Present Quarters Inadequate.

Addition to House Ice Cream and Butter Industry.

Construction to Be of Latest Sanitary Type.

With the completion of a large four-story addition for the housing of its growing butter and ice cream industry the Los Angeles Creamery Company will possess probably the largest plant of its kind in the world. The proposed addition will be in the form of a four-story, fireproof structure to be erected just north of the concern's new office and power building, work on which is now being finished.

The new building will be of reinforced concrete construction and 100 by 160 feet in size. Plans for it are being prepared by Train & Williams, architects of the present building of the plant at the northeast corner of Twelfth street and Towne avenue.

The creamery building was erected in 1909 at which time it met all the requirements of the company's business. This fireproof structure fronts eighty-four feet on Twelfth street and 162 feet on Towne avenue and is three stories high. Last year the growth of the company's business forced the construction of an office building and power plant separated from the main building. The building of still another building. The erection of still another be begun as soon as old frame structures now on the site can be razed.

The new office building of the plant faces on Towne avenue and is two stories in height and 50x80 feet in size. The boiler and power building is 52x80 feet and a single story in height. The exteriors of all the present buildings like those of the proposed new building are of pleasing design. The yards throughout are paved with vitrified brick.

The plant throughout embodies the most modern features of modern sanitation, there being practically no wood in any part of the creamery building. The butter and ice cream building will be of the same type.

BEACH CITY TO AMUSE WORLD.

SANTA MONICA'S ATTRACTIONS ARE UNPARALLELED.

Beautiful Bay District Rapidly Becoming Section's Playground. Splendid Amusement Features Insure Lively Summer—Great Building Activity Reported.

SANTA MONICA, Feb. 4.—From one end of the shores of Santa Monica Bay to the other—from the mouth of the canyon to Playa Del Rey—there is unwonted activity in building lines, all sections of the beach seeing signs which indicate that the summer season of 1911 will be the liveliest ever experienced here. There are more houses for the visitors, and the number of new ones includes several three-story apartment-houses of generous proportions.

As there will be more homes, so also will there be more devices to attract and entertain the people. In the amusement line, the week just ending marked the closing of contracts for at least three big enterprises. These are the Mountain Roll, the Scenic Railway and the Revolving Cafe, all on the new concrete pier at Marine street and Pier avenue. Contracts will be let within a few days for the steel and glass dance hall and the theater, both of which are to be built on the pier. More than 300 of the 700 concrete piles required in the construction of this pier have already been cast, and two-thirds of that number have been driven by the jet process into the sand.

This work has progressed so rapidly that the management of the pier has set the date for the opening of that structure for May 30, and the Navy Department has already accepted the invitation to send a flotilla of torpedo boats to assist in the pier opening and Memorial Day celebration that is being arranged. Just north of the pier the Loof hippodrome has been completed and work is progressing in the construction of a $5000 sun parlor and picnic ground, for the use of the general public. And immediately north of the hippodrome the Thompson scenic railway workers are rapidly covering a space 500x90 feet with a Dragon's Gorge of elaborate design. This will be completed early in the summer season.

At the Venice end of the beach work is to start in a few days on David Evans's $50,000 theater and on the new amusement enterprise known as the Merry Widow. The Rapids is being quickly whipped into shape and work is also being rushed on the erection of the big Ferris wheel. In the canal district work is on the eve of starting on the construction of a hundred new summer cottages in Villa City.

The contract has been closed at Santa Monica for the construction of an $8000 concrete retaining wall at Schader's Seaside Terrace tract. This work will be started just as soon as the rain is over. Work is expected to be started soon on the Busch Casino at Ocean and Colorado, and plans are already being discussed for the building of the $200,000 Polytechnic High School group.

The Hotel Windermere, costing $30,000, is nearing completion on Ocean avenue and plans are maturing for a larger structure of the same kind at the corner of Seventh and San Vicente boulevard. Baroness von Zimmermann of Los Angeles, has completed the purchase from the Santa Monica Land Company for a stated consideration of $85,000 of a thirty-four-acre tract on San Vicente, facing the canyon. Here she plans the erection of a fine Italian villa for herself and of others for her friends. The property will be divided into seven estates, each being laid out with spacious grounds and adorned with a handsome residence.

HEMET ACTIVITIES.

Sales by the Hemet Realty Association are reported as follows: Fairview Land and Water Company to Edward C. Coburn, ten acres of orange land in the Fairview tract; Fairview Land and Water Company to F. E. Shirk, ten acres of orange land in the Fairview tract; A. L. Belton to H. L. Thompson, forty acres in the Hemet tract. L. L. Newton of Hemet has also purchased a fine grove in the orange belt.

from the lands of possibility. The contemplation of an exhibit can be followed up by personal inspection upon the part of the visitor. This is the fact that has moved the live interest in the land show upon the part of the practical business man of the southland.

Object to Burnett Act.

The Burnett Tenement House Act is again the target of criticism. Especially is this objection to the State building laws to be noticed in the southern half of California, the Los Angeles architects being almost a unit against it. The local chapter of the American Institute of Architects has passed drastic resolutions condemning the act and asking the Legislature not only to repeal it, but to give to each municipality the power to make and enforce its own building ordinances.

It is held by the local designers that the Burnett laws are for the most part the work of impractical and misguided reformers, who are following after the New York Tenement House Commission. There is no need for drastic housing reform, declare the architects of Los Angeles, especially in this city, where life is lived so much out of doors. Many builders, it is declared, have been kept from building apartment houses of real architectural merit and substantiality because of the stringent requirements of the Burnett laws. The chances of the act's being repealed are said to be slight, owing to the support which is given it by the San Francisco architects and builders. It appears likely, however, that several important amendments will be introduced into it.

CITY CLUB SAYS TAKE THROOP.

ADOPTS RESOLUTIONS CALLING ON LEGISLATURE.

Prison-Labor System That Will Make the Penitentiaries Self-Supporting and Also Give Inmates a Chance of Making Better Use of Their Time.

The City Club yesterday adopted resolutions calling upon the Legislature to accept Throop Polytechnic Institute as a State institution and make an appropriation of $500,000 for its enlargement and maintenance. This action followed a brief address by President Scherer of Throop. He told of his recent visit to Sacramento and said he had received much encouragement that the bill would be favorably acted upon. The resolutions adopted by the City Club will be sent to all members of the Legislature.

President Scherer said that by the proposed change the State would receive an institution worth a million dollars and an equipment so far as it has been established, excelled by no technical school in the world. He believes that by making it a State institution it can in three years be developed into an institution that will equal the famous Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Resolutions also were adopted by the club asking the members of the Legislature to appropriate $350,000 for the purchase of a new site and increased support of the State Normal School here.

W. A. Gates delivered an address on prison reform. He advocates a prison-labor system that will make the penitentiaries self-supporting and also give the inmates a chance of making better use of their time while serving sentences. A prisoner in the Minnesota penitentiaries earns $197 a year above the cost of his living while in California each prisoner costs the State $179 in addition to the cost of living.

The jute mill, Mr. Gates said, in competition with the labor of India, is bound to be unprofitable to the State. He suggested a furniture factory which should supply furniture for State institutions and also manufacture school desks. The manufacture of school desks, he said, would be profitable. Another suggestion was that the jute mills be changed to cotton and woolen mills to make up the products of Imperial Valley and the sheep ranches of California into clothing for the wards of the State.

Beyond the economic arguments, Mr. Gates suggested the great importance of making the penitentiaries turn out self-respecting men instead of releasing them to become a further menace to society. He advocated the extension of the parole system to the extent of having the State employ two men to find positions for ex-prisoners.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

That State University.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4.—[To the Editor of the Times:] A very curious state of things has developed in connection with the demand of Southern California to secure a State University. A strong movement was started for that purpose, 8000 educators united in it, and 50,000 other citizens of this section of the State signed petitions to have one established here. Unanswerable reasons were given and overwhelming statistics were presented showing the absolute necessity for such an institution in the immediate future, and it was naturally supposed that this unanimous demand for it would be granted without opposition from any source, least of all from this part of the State.

Accordingly Mr. Keppel, our County Superintendent of Schools, goes to Sacramento to set the ball rolling among the legislators, when lo, and behold, he bumps right up against a snag (to mix metaphors,) and that snag is located in Los Angeles, the very fountain-head of the movement. He was informed that the legislators had already been sounded and that they would not consider the project for a moment. Now, the people of Northern California have been showing an increasing respect for the wishes of this growing section in recent years, and this flat-footed refusal came as a surprise.

Pushing his investigations a little further the mystery was solved. There is a little clique of people here who are identified with the U. S. C. and the Los Angeles Normal School, and they do not want these institutions to be overshadowed by a new State University. They have ambitious schemes for expanding their pet representatives in Sacramento to steer clear of the proposed new State University.

But that is not all they have done. They have craftily supplied the northern members with arguments against the movement, appealing to their prejudices by saying that the central university at Berkeley would be weakened, and that Southern California was demanding too much. Of course the northern members were astonished to hear such a line of reasoning proceeding from the very heart of the region to be benefited. What uncanny influence was back of it all?

Simmered down, the situation in plain words is this. Southern California has a larger population today than the entire State contained when the university at Berkeley was established. Our main population is farther away from Berkeley than Yale, Columbia, Princeton or Cornell are from Harvard. Our people get together, formulate convincing reasons, furnish ample data, and we make a unanimous demand for an adequate State University. Suddenly, there springs from a mysterious source, a sinister influence, and the members of the Legislature are instructed to say to our representative, Superintendent Keppel, "My dear sir, we have already considered this matter, and have decided that we will not let your people have what they want, but we will give them an appropriation to enlarge the scope of their technical school at Pasadena, and that is all that we will do till we get further instructions."

So it seems there is no use talking any more about the matter. Our own representatives from Southern California who would naturally be solid for the University are against it, and what is more, do not hesitate to face public sentiment in taking that stand. But the whole mystery was solved the other day at the meeting of the Committee of One Hundred.

The little local coterie who are just now dictating politics for the entire State, to be specific, Lissner, Earl, et al., have ambitious plans of their own which are to be matured in a couple of years. They have decided to turn down the just demands of the south end of the State at this time, and have handed out this bait of a technical school to appease, to some extent, the craving for an urgent and manifest need.

Shall we, the sovereign people of Southern California, lie supinely down, and let the Legislature, under the dictation of its masters, walk rough shod over our bodies? Are they not content with ruling the politics of the State? Must they also step in and derange and demoralize our educational affairs? Is not the overwhelming sentiment of the people in this great, intelligent and influential community too vital, too insistent, to be brushed aside in this summary manner, in order to give private schemers a better chance to work out their plans?

W. H. KNIGHT.

Woman With Broom Again.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The "woman with a broom" asked, in Friday's Times, why women are going out in the world to compete with men in business affairs. I would answer, sometimes it is from choice; often it is from necessity. In so many cases it is more to help others than from any selfish motive, a woman seeks to make her way in the world. Not all women are fitted for cooks any more than all men would choose to be farmers, or would be successful if forced into that calling. Why do not men stick to the work they are physically fitted for, instead of competing with women as milliners, dressmakers, as well as cooks? For farmers are calling as loudly for help as women are for housemaids.

This writer claims that the ballot has never helped the working man and will not help the woman. If that be true, it would be equally just to disfranchise him also, and that only the men who do not labor should be allowed to vote and control the government, or have any voice in making the laws. How long would the laboring man stand that?

The broom lady asks "who will pay for the cork-pulling?" If that is a necessary part of politics, it can still be left to men, while women can employ cleaner and more womanly methods.

I wonder if the "chairman of the Democratic convention," whom she mentions as spending so much time planning his campaign and figuring out the results, has no business affairs that are being neglected. Or in what way he may be earning the wherewithal to pay this much-desired cook? She speaks rather sarcastically of the Kansas Senator and his prohibition bill, discrediting the idea that the women's votes had anything to do with it; yet almost in the same breath compares Los Angeles women, who are not allowed to vote, unfavorably with the Kansas women, who are, and states she felt "shocked" at her first sight of our women drinking in cafes and restaurants, tacitly confessing that prohibition at least stops setting a bad example in that way. I will add that I do not think Los Angeles will ever be a prohibition town, however desirable it might be.

Perhaps Gov. Stubbs was right, and if there were less money spent for whisky there would be more for autos and to pay cooks.

I see no reason why voting should cause women to become less patriotic. They might be just as willing to stand side by side with husband or brother, and fight for the right, and as enthusiastically wave the red, white and blue, as the one who would stand on a pedestal to do so.

MRS. ALTA C. KINGSLEY.

MISSING GIRL IS LOCATED.

"Pillar of Fire" People Tell Police Where to Find Miss Allen of London, Long Sought.

Acting on the suggestion of the Chief of Police of Denver that the colony of the "Pillar of Fire" in Los Angeles knew where Miss Ruth Allen of London could be located, a member of the local department was sent to the headquarters at Naomi and Thirty-fourth street yesterday morning and was told that Miss Allen is in the home of the cult at Bound Brook, N. J.

The police of Bound Brook were notified to go to the place where the girl is staying and tell her that her parents in England are frantic to hear from her.

This ends a search of several months for Miss Allen, which was begun in London last November, and conducted through most of the principal cities of America.

Miss Allen was born in London and had lived there until she came to America, in November. She became attracted to the peculiar forms of so-called devotion exercised by the members of the "Pillar of Fire" and determined to join them. Her father, James Allen, refused to permit her to do so and she apparently gave up her intention.

Last November she disappeared. London was searched and no clew to her whereabouts was uncovered. Then the father, recalling the "Pillar of Fire" outfit, determined to search America for her.

PUG WRANGLE STOPS FIGHTS.

Chico Shows Up Much Above Required Weight.

Austin Refuses to Fight and Bout Is Called Off.

Threatening Rain Helps to Decide Postponement.

Young Battling Chico, a pork and bean pug who has fought here a number of times, fell down on himself yesterday morning and thus led to the death of the boxing contests that Manager McCarey of the Pacific Athletic Club had arranged for the Vernon Arena yesterday afternoon.

Chico had promised to make 107 pounds, but when he got on the scaels he weighed 110 pounds. Jimmy Austin, who was to have met him at 107 pounds, agreed to have the fight go on, but under different arrangements whereby Austin was to receive the biggest end of the money offered the boys, but Chico would not agree to any such proposition. The boys wrangled back and forth for many minutes and finally Manager McCarey became so disgusted that he called this preliminary off.

As a matter of fact "it" had rained pitchforks and saw logs on Friday, more softness came down yesterday morning, and more seemed due in the afternoon and the club officials had about decided to call off the programme before the fighters commenced to fight with their mouths.

Lauder and Memsic had an overweight proposition also, Memsic weighing more than a pound above 133 pounds, the weight agreed upon, but there was no discussion on this extra weight.

Both had a forfeit up for weight, but Lauder did not care to make any fuss about it and did not claim the weight money. McCarey figured that with the semi-final out of the way the fight bugs would yell their heads off on account of the omission and as the card would be incomplete and as there was no chance to fill it up he decided to call the main event off also.

He was really figuring on the Austin-Chico battle as a main event in itself and with that out of the way the programme had lost half its value. The chances are that the fights are off for good for the card is not of sufficient importance to be presented again as a head-liner.

Furthermore the Vernon district was very sloppy yesterday afternoon, and the fight bugs' would probably have been very much inconvenienced if they had gone to the arena. It is possible some of these boys may be used in some future contests.

FOLLANSBEE HANDICAP.

Torbellino, an Added Starter, Wins the Feature Race at Emeryville. Arasee Unplaced.

OAKLAND, Feb. 4.—Torbellino, an added starter, won the Follansbee handicap at Emeryville today. The heavy going was against Arasee and he finished outside the money. Torbellino led all the way: Summary:

Seven furlongs: Dargin (Archibald,) won; Woodlander (Mentry,) second; Ben Stone (Glass,) third; time, 1:31 2-5. Tony Faust, Heretic, Miss Picnis, Col. Jock, Lord Provost, Creel also ran.

Three and one-half furlongs: Cash on Delivery (Archibald,) won; Sidon (Shilling,) second; Millo (Riddle,) third; time, 0:44. Pico, Error, Rey, La Cazadora, Percy Henderson, Patent Stopper also ran. Florence Roberts left.

Futurity: Winning Widow (Martin,) won; Roy Junior (McCarthy,) second; Novgorod (Selden,) third; time, 1:12 3-5. No Quarter, Metropolitan, Royal Stone, Port Arlington also ran.

Nine furlongs: Torbellino (Callahan,) won; Markle M. (Martin, second; Fort Johnson (Glass,) third; time, 1:59. Starry Night, Arasee, Azo, also ran. Torbellino and Azo added starters.

Seven furlongs: Domithilda (Riddle,) won; Meltondale (McCarthy,) second; Rinda (Diggins,) third; time, 1:33. Billy Myer, Louise B., Military Man, Lucille Manley, Yellowfoot, Gossiper II, Harry Stanhope, Daneon also ran.

Futurity: Fernando (Fisher,) won; Pride of Lismore (Martin,) second; Pluvius (Selden,) third; time, 1:13. Phil Mohr, Golden Agnes, Marchmonet, Birdie P. and Tony Koch also ran.

MONDAY ENTRIES.

HILL-TOP BOYS WIN THE MEET.

High School Athletes Defeat College Track Men.

Occidental Men Not in Shape for Fast Events.

McClure Beats Bradbeer in Four-forty Dash.

High School athletes triumphed over college track men yesterday when Los Angeles High's team completely overwhelmed the cinderpath squad from Occidental College on Bovard field by a score of 70 1-2 to 42 1-2.

The college runners showed no class and only won first place in two events. The younger High School boys ran away from them in nearly every event. Few close finishes marked the meet.

The feature of the day was the 440 yard race between Bradbeer and McClure. Bradbeer holds the Southern California intercollegiate quarter-mile record and "Micky" claims the interscholastic title. The High School boy won by scarce a yard, but finished fresh, while his opponent was completely worn out.

The heavy track made the time slow and no remarkable records were made in any of the events. A mile exhibition race was run by the Occidental distance men. High School athletes are not permitted to compete in this distance on account of the long hard grind. Annin finished first in 4 m. 58 2-5 s.

The college athletes were handicapped in the shot and hammer events. They used sixteen pound weights while the preps used twelve pounders. The hill-top men had the meet won easily without this advantage, however. Eliminating these two events the score would have been 56⅓ to 38⅓ with Los Angeles High still well in the lead.

The results:

The 100-yard dash: Johnson (L. A.) won, Baer (O. C.) second, McDonald (O. C.) third; time, 10 4-5s.

The 120-yard high hurdles: Dawson (L. A.) won, Dill (O. C.) second, North (L. A.) third; time, 17 1-5s.

The 440-yard dash: McClure (L. A.) won, Bradbeer (O. C.) second, Bradway (L. A.) third; time, 53 4-5s.

The 220-yard dash: Johnson (L. A.) won, Baer (O. C.) second, McDonald (O. C.) third; time, 23 4-5s.

The 220-yard low hurdles: Stanton (L. A.) won, Bradbeer (O. C.) second, Dill (O. C.) third; time, 27 4-5s.

The 880-yard run: Schnoover (O. C.) won, Gillis (O. C.) second, Cupp (O. C.) third; time, 2m., 12 3-5s.

The hammer throw: Pettengill (L. A.) won, McNary (O. C.) second, Brier (O. C.) third; distance, 107 ft., 9 in.

The pole vault: Seay (O. C.) won, Bradway (L. A.) second, Culp (O. C.) and Pierce (L. A.) tie for third; height, 9 ft. 9 in.

The shot put: Sheldon (L. A.) won, McFie (L. A.) second, Brown (L. A.) third; distance, 40 ft. 9 in.

The high jump: McFie (L. A.) won, Baer (O. C.,) Blee (O. C.,) Wieman (O. C.) and Rodman (L. A.) tie for second and third; height 5 ft., 7 in.

The discus hurl: McFie (L. A.) won, Brown (L. A.) second, Sheldon (L. A.) third; distance, 101 ft. 2 in.

The broad jump: Dawson (L. A.) won, Dill (O. C.) second, Brewer (L. A.) third; distance, 20 ft., 3 1-2 in.

The one-mile relay race: L. A. High won. Team: Kidder, Ireland, McClure and Stanton; time, 3m., 41s.

FAST HORSES AT PASADENA.

Matinee Postponed Three Times Because of Weather—Events to Be Held Wednesday.

The Pasadena Driving Club has planned a series of high class matinees to be given during the spring. Two matinees have already been held by the club which have been well attended by lovers of harness horses in Southern California.

The track at Agricultural Park has not yet been put in shape for work

Driving Club have taken advantage of the invitation extended by the Pasadena club and many of them have their horses on the Pasadena track which has recently been repaired and placed in excellent condition.

The matinee scheduled for a week ago yesterday was called off on account of the rain and the date set for last Wednesday. Again rain interfered and it was continued until yesterday and for the third time it has been changed. If the weather is good and the track is in condition, the matinee willl be given next Wednesday. Otherwise it will be held next Saturday.

Many of the best trotters and pacers on the Pacific Coast are in the Pasadena stables and being shaped for the spring matiness. Included among these are Seigfreld, Helen Styles, Crisis, Lady Mac, Dolly Jombro. Among the owners who are backing up the matinees and contributing entries are William Durfee, William Morgan, L. J. Christopher, Dr. William Dodge, C. M. F. Stone, Revell L. English, Besmith & Son, William Whitney.

The coming horse show which will be given at Tournament park, Pasadena, March 16, 17 and 18 promises to be one of the best ever held on the Pacific Coast. It will be given under the auspices of the Pasadena Polo Club and Col. W. J. Hogan has been placed in charge of all arrangements.

Invitations have been sent to every owner in the West and many acceptances have already been received. San Francisco, Seattle, Portland, Salt Lake and Denver have promised entries. Every show horse in Southern California will be entered in the various classes which include practically every kind of horse known.

The approaching polo tournaments which willl be given in Pasadena, Santa Barbara, Riverside and Coronado have awakened a lively interest in horses and these polo events, coupled with the Pasadena Driving Club's Saturday afternoon matinees and the approaching horse show have served to start a line of "horse talk" among the wealthy and aristocratic visitors now sojourning in the various winter resorts of Southern California. About the hotel lobbies and golf links discussions of horseflesh are being revived.

BALL PLAYERS UP ON CARPET.

National Commission to Hear Reason for Suspension.

Orders Investigation Which Affects Young Players.

Wholesale Action by Clubs Causes Deep Probe.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Suspended ball players of all leagues governed by the National Association will have their innings on the official carpet before long as the result of the action taken today by the National Commission.

In a notice to J. H. Farrell, secretary, the commission ordered an immediate investigation of the many conditions surrounding suspensions which frequently have kept promising young players out of organized ball for months.

In its notice to Secretary Farrell the commission asks the reasons for suspending the athlete. In the judgment of the commission, the investigation should cast light on the offense, the date of suspension, and status of the player, when declared ineligible—that is to say, whether he was in the service of the suspending club, was purchased, or was a free agent, and, if the latter, whether title to him is claimed by contract or by acceptance of terms.

Wholesale suspensions, many with little or no provocation, have been reported to the commission, which is determined to probe deep into the matter. Following is the list of suspensions, compiled by the commission for the attention of the association, which will work along the lines mapped out by the big board sitting at Cincinnati:

CLASS A.

Des Moines (W. L.,) 15; St. Joseph (W. L.,) 5.

CLASS B.

Bridgeport (Ct.,) 6; Wheeling (Central,) 5; Seattle (N. W.,) 7; Vancouver (N. W.,) 5; Springfield (I.I.I.,) 15; Lancaster (Tri-State,) 7; York (Tri-State,) 6.

CLASS C.

Roanoke (Va.,) 8; Dallas (Texas,) 12; Houston (Texas,) 7; Galveston (Texas,) 6; Jacksonville (S. A.,) 7; Savannah (S. A.,) 6; Columbia (S. A.,) 7; Joplin (W. A.,) 8.

CLASS D.

AMERICAN SITUATION.

MOUND CITY CLUB DOPE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] President Ban Johnson of the American League, a member of the National Commission, was summoned tonight to his home in Cincinnati by the reported serious illness of his father, who is 85 years of age.

Before leaving town, Mr. Johnson had a star chamber session with E. R. Hodgman and Mark Ewing of St. Louis, members of a syndicate which recently endeavored to buy the Browns.

That the Mound City men haven't abandoned hope of pushing through their project to land the club is evident, although all hands maintained a clam-like silence on the topic. It has developed, however, that at the time the deal was set in motion the syndicate hoped to secure Bob Hedge's stock and also that of the minor stockholders. Ae the eleventh hour the minority body declined to step into line and the whole proposition turned turtle.

The Busy Bee.

ATTELL PLANNING BATTLES AS HURTS ARE HEALING.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Abe Attell, although hardly recovered from the first shock attendant on the broken shoulder he suffered in his last fight, is already planning his return to the ring late in March, according to advices from the East. He is contemplating a match with Jem Driscoll, the English featherweight, the bout to take place at the Olympic in London under the auspices of Hugh McIntosh.

If the battle is arranged, as the American fighter hopes it will be, it will have all the glamour of a world's championship affair, although the boys will probably meet at catch weights. Attell went ten rounds with Driscoll to no decision at New York a couple of years ago.

It appears that the injury Attell received is not nearly so serious as was feared. Physicians who attended Attell told him that it would require four months for the arm to heal, but Abe, evidently believes that two months will be long enough for his arm to become as strong as it ever was and able to withstand the strain of a long fight.

Packey McFarland and his manager left Chicago for the East today. They went direct to Pitsburgh, where Packey is to meet Bert Keyes in a six-round bout Monday night. From Pittsburgh they will go to Philadelphia, where McFarland will train for his six-round go with Champion Ad Wolgast, set for February 22, at Jack O'Brien's club.

Al Kaufman is getting more garrulous every day. The burden of his word-making just at present is a match with Carl Morris. He says he is anxious to meet the latter if sufficient inducement in the way of money is offered.

There is little chance of a match between these two men just at present if Morris has good sense. There is no reason in the world why the Oklahoma "hope" should take on Kaufman until he has gained more experience in fights with easier men.

Kaufman probably knows this as well as anybody, but then, he is in the show business now and when a fighter is doing the theatrical stuff he must keep talking so as to get his name in the papers. Champion Jack Johnson understands this well, and, being good-natured, is probably willing to help Kaufman along. This, it seems, is the reason for the negro's talk about being willing to post $20,000 for a finish fight with Kaufman.

There has been so much talk of big purses for battles in which Johnson is to be one of the principals, with nothing really doing, that he public will hardly believe a match for Johnson is really on, even if it is made, without a decision from the Supreme Court.

Another Triumph.

WOMEN THRONG MIDWAYS OF CHICAGO AUTO SHOW.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With an outpouring of men and smartly dressed women, such as never before attended a similar event, the tenth annual Pleasure Automobile Show closed at the Coliseum and First Regiment armory tonight.

By 10 a. m. Monday the swagger electrics, proud stepping high-powered touring cars and nimble runabouts will be out of the way and their places taken by elephantine trucks—massive vehicles of modern commerce.

The Chicago show not only surpassed all local records for sales and attendance, but early in the day it was announced by the management that the New York shows of last month would be left in the rear in both respects.

The total attendance for the week, as computed tonight by the management was 200,000, while the figure for the New York shows was 173,000, or a gain or 27,000 for Chicago over Gotham.

Ideal weather and the increased interest in motor cars shown by the wealthy farm owners, ranchmen and fruit growers of the Middle West is said to account for this large increase in attendance.

Society, however, was out in greater numbers on Wednesday, when the admission price was $1, than on any previous society day at any show. The numbers even surpassed that of the New York show, when two days were given over to society.

The Thomas B. Jeffery Company states that it has sold since the show opened 181 cars at an average price of $2500 a car. Announcements of heavy sales were made by other exhibitors, among them the following motor car companies: The Chalmers, The H[illegible] ders, Cadillac, Peerless, Maxwell, Willys-Overland, Locomobile, Woods-Electric, Premier, White, Baker, Hupmobile, Mitchell, Everett, F. A. L., Brush, Garford, Detroit-Electric, Abbott-Detroit, Palmer-Singer, Ford, Speedwell, Buick and McFarlan.

Hardly had the din of resounding horns, bells and shouting of exhibitors died away tonight when workmen began preparations for the big commercial car exhibition which opens Monday.

Pleasure-car makers who are not yet building trucks left the show happy with the prospects of good business, while those who make business vehicles as well abandoned efforts to interest people who are fond of touring for pleasure and fell strenuously to the task of converting business men to the idea of giving up horses.

MOTOR MARKET IS BOUNDLESS.

From Mexico's Border Land to State's Center.

Auto Dealers Just Learning About Big Territory.

Low, Medium, High-Priced Cars for Farmers.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

What is the real basis of the excitement concerning the reduction in automobile prices? Are the cars cheaper in price and cheaper in material? These questions can be answered by looking up the records of the 1911 automobiles. They are in several instances lower in price and are in every instance better in quality.

It's a fact that the public is looking for a cheaper car, that is, a lower-priced machine of a standard make. Has bedrock been reached yet? The way things look just now, the lowest notch has at last been found and the lever is jammed in close. Cars can be had at a bargain, if you want a second-hand machine. Well if you desire a new car you must pay the price. Better material than ever is being used in the cars.

How about business? The standard makes of motor cars are selling as well and in several instances better than they were last year. The market has not been swamped, but instead a larger market has been found than ever before. This market is in the outlying districts where the machines are being sent in large numbers.

The farmer is purchasing cars. An interesting tour can be taken at any time over the good roads of Los Angeles county. You can go where the roads are not as good and can stop once in a while at a ranch house. If you do you will be surprised at the number of cars you find in the garages.

These cars are not always the low-priced machines. Many of them are medium-priced cars and a number are high-priced machines. One of the surprises you will get if you go into the garage is the down-to-date style of the place. It has all the latest improvements and the farmer knows just what is doing in the automobile industry.

THE FARMERS' FRIEND.

What has the automobile done for the farmer? It has brought his close to town. It has made him a good roads advocate. It has made him more considerate of the city motorist who uses the country roads. He is not one whit worried about the talk of a slump in any market. He is concerned when he hears about a reduction in the price of an automobile, but he wants the best he can get at the price he has decided to pay and he'll get the best.

The man of the soil is a keen-sighted individual. He has his ear to the ground all the time and his hearing is correct. He knows the difference between the four and the six-cylinder motor and has heard the arguments advanced in favor of each. He gives the cock-sure salesman a jolt as he enters the tiled floor garade and begins to talk motor car.

"Be courteous to everybody and especially to the fellow who drives up with old Dobbin," is the advice of a prominent dealer to his salesmen. It is not an unusual sight to see a man from the country enter a salesroom, take in the cars, then take out his wallet and leave a comfortable deposit for a machine to be delivered as soon as possible.

This market is large. It is larger than the city market ever was. It is becoming larger with every foot of good roads completed. It matters not how low-priced automobiles may become this market is here and ready for the cars. This means that this year should be a record breaker in a different way.

BIG MARKET.

There seemed to be a danger of over-production. Those who were pessimistic forgot the outside territory. It was not fair to judge the trade on the city streets. The good roads movement has gained many friends. These friends have a desire to own a motor. Many of them are purchasing autos this year. That means that the motor mart is four times as large as it was in 1910. If you don't believe this ask a number of the prominent dealers in this city.

There is money in this outside business, plenty of it. The territory must be scoured and there is competition that must be met. The farmer will get the best car possible for the price he decides upon. The farmer's wife also has a say in the matter and his sons are reading the auto news and the auto advertisements.

FAT ROLL.

One of the indications of this desire on the part of the farmer to purchase cars is the large number who visit the salesrooms along auto row. Perhaps it takes a farmer a long while to make up his mind, but what matter it if he is a little slow. I notice that his money comes fast enough when he once decides to buy. Just offer him the right machine and he will kick in with the cash.

One of the surprises of the past week came when a farmer entered a certain salesroom, looked over a number of cars, was shown a machine for less than $1000 and finally purchased a car for more than twice that amount. He peeled off the bills from such a fat roll that the salesman almost threw a fit.

There is not a man on automobile row who is not paying particular attention to the outside districts. Every dealer has an outside man who does nothing but traverse the roads of Southern California. Here is one of the peculiar things. The outside man, in several instances, has beaten, and is beating the man behind the glass.

From the borders of Mexico—yes, there are cars in Coachella and Chula Vista—to the upper edge of San Luis Obispo county, this territory stretches and this market exists. Thousands of prosperous farmers, who are more pleased than ever now that the rains have fallen so copiously, are planning to buy cars. Will they purchase low, medium, or high-priced machines I can tell you. They will buy the car that suits their pocketbok, or at least that suits them.

Take a trip out into the country and study the men who own gasoline machines. They are well-to-do orange or lemon orchard owners, farmers, who have joined the ranks of the motorists and who are boosting for good roads harder than the city autoists ever did. They are only the nucleus of a regiment of auto owners of the future.

In addition to making a serious bid for the next Glidden tour, the Chicago Motor Club has mapped out a fuel economy contest for May 25; Algonquin Hill Climb, June 22; Chicago-New York motor truck run, July 19 to 29; national stock chassis road races at Elgin, Ill.

MANY PURCHASE RAMBLERS.

Lawyers, Doctors, Merchants and Farmers Secure the Cars Which Are Turned Out in Numbers.

An interesting table in answer to the question, "Who buys automobiles?" has been made up by Charles T. Jeffery, head of the Thomas B. Jeffery Company, manufacturers of the Rambler line.

Taking his records from Rambler sales in all parts of the country he tabulated the following: Bankers, 43; doctors, 24; merchants, 97; real estate dealers, 30; lawyers, 8; farmers, 76; architects, 3; manufacturers, 26; contractors, 11; engineers, 4; retired capitalists and miscellaneous, 88.

This census shows the merchants and professional men well in the lead. The record practically represents the twenty-five hundred Rambler cars bought last year, as it was taken from the sales in all parts of the country.

FRANKLIN TOURERS HERE.

Air-Cooled Car Owners Flocking to Southern California and Planning Vacation Tours.

Ralph C. Hamlin, the Franklin dealer in Los Angeles, says he is visited frequently by easterners who have come to California for the winter and have brought their cars with them. The machines are not worth much during the long winter months of snow and sleet back East.

G. H. Williams of Pittsburgh has just ordered a new Franklin to facilitate his stay in Los Angeles during the winter months. Another Franklin owner, G. H. Guion of Denver has had his car shipped out that he might take advantage of winter touring in Southern California.

Jump! No, Never Mind.

VELIE CLIMBS SLICK BOARDS.

Stearns Drives Touring Car Up Mt. Washington.

Takes the Incline Railway for His Unique Roadbed.

Shows His Nerve and Skill on Downward Glide.

E. Roger Stearns has risked his life a number of times, but his most daring act was pulled off Thursday, when he climbed the Mount Washington incline in a Velie touring car. Taking a dare Stearns went up the 37½ per cent. grade in the Velie, which had not even been overhauled in the shops of the Standard Motor Car Company.

When the Velie reached the foot of the incline a knot of people who had heard of the dare had gathered to watch the car perform. The boards were wet and greasy and the ascent seemed more difficult than ever. Stearns looked dubious, but when his passenger smiled he decided.

Starting at the boards with as good a run as he could secure, Stearns shot the car up the hill and reached the summit in fast time. From the dizzy height the driver looked down and the recklessness of his act impressed itself on him for the first time. He was far above the city, where he had sent the car on a fierce demonstration, but the question was, how could he go down?

UP HIGH.

Few automobiles have ever been driven up a 37 per cent. grade. Just as few have been driven down. From the heights the descent looked even more terrible. The passenger looked at the running-board, and then at Stearns's face. The Velie driver was unperturbed. He had a chance to show his nerve and he displayed it for the benefit of the man with him on the front seat of the car.

Then the slide down the steep grade was commenced. The wheels slid. The boards were slick and the car began to glide at a dangerous speed. With his hand grasping the wheel firmly, and with his foot on the pedal brake, Stearns looked straight ahead. The car slid faster.

When the Velie reached the steepest part of the glide Stearns was using all the foot brake and had grasped the hand-lever of the emergency. The rails were almost straight up and down. The car had never been on a steeper climb. Every faculty which Stearns has and some which he did not know he possessed, came into action in the fight for control.

JUMP QUICK.

Stearns has been up in a balloon 6220 feet above the earth. He looked down without even a swimming sensation in his head. On the Washington cable incline he was given thrills which he did not get even in the Los Angeles-Phoenix road race. It was a struggle for life, in which one false move meant a horrible death.

With the emergency full on Stearns had other moves coming. The car had attained a pace that was dangerous. He looked at the passenger for the fraction of a second and said:

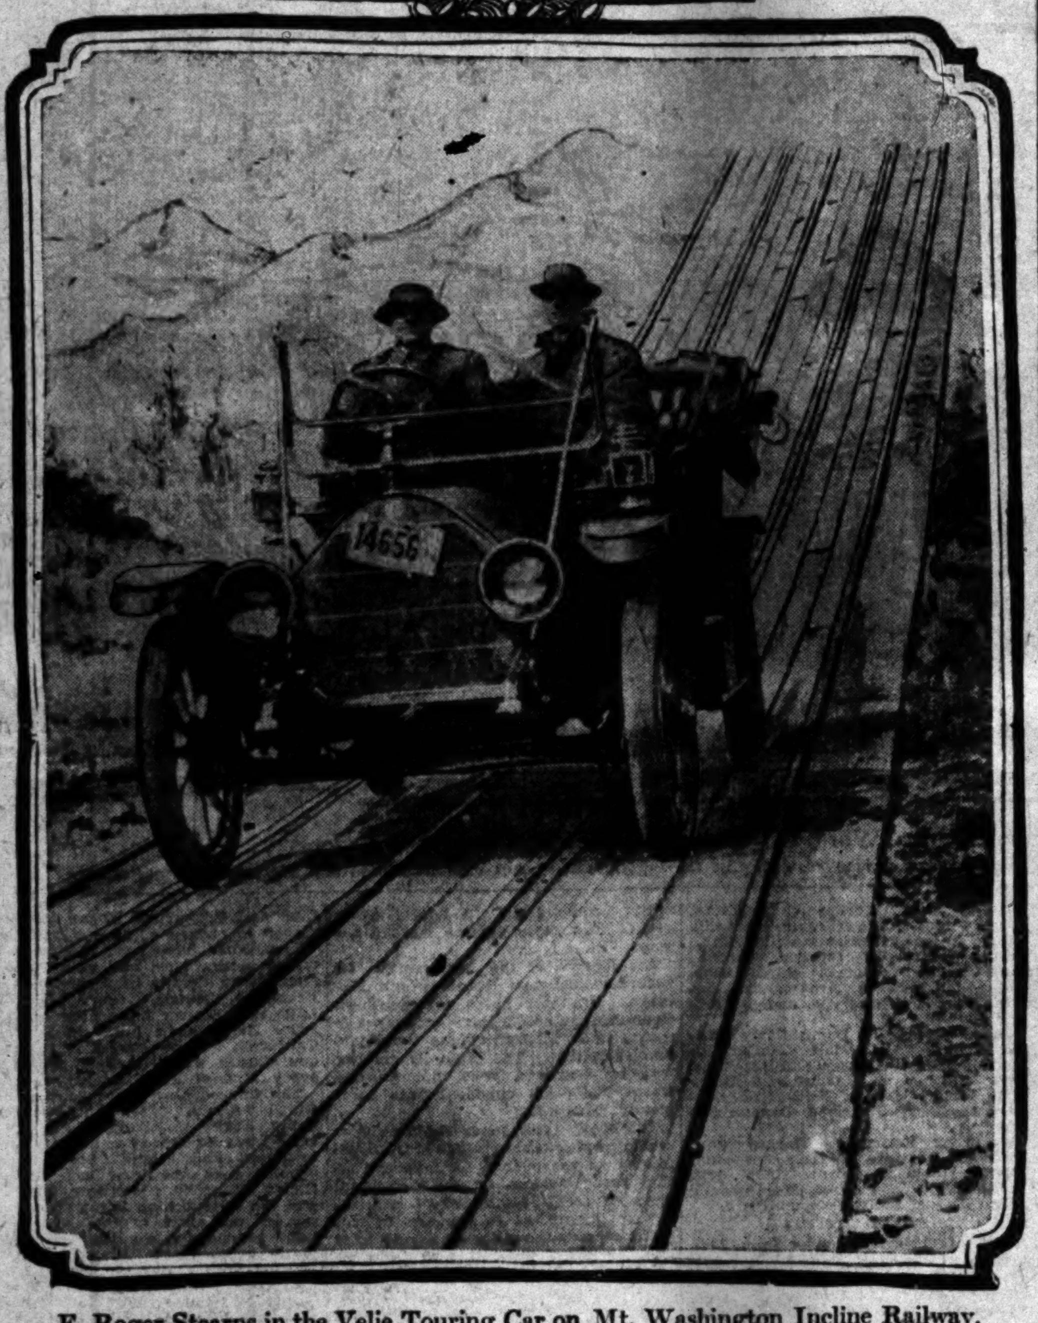
"Bert, get ready to jump."

He had come to the last showdown. Only one chance remained for him to control the splendid car. He threw the motor into the reverse speed and in the nick of time the engine helped to hold the handsome touring car. It was a terrific test on the drive shaft, but the Velie made good.

It was not necessary to jump, though passengers at the foot of the incline thought the end had come for the daring autoists. Had Stearns become excited, the Velie would have been rolled into a heap of wreckage at the foot of the steep hill. Instead the excellent mechanism of the car was proved as it never could have been proved and the ability of Stearns as a driver was emphasized.

The Velie manufacturers have claimed much for their car, but the demonstration on Washington incline showed the full value, not only of the braking system but of the forward and reverse speeds of the motor. It was a stiff climb to reach the top. If you don't believe it take a look at the grade or enjoy a ride in the cable car. As you go up, remember that E. Roger Stearns drove a Velie all the way up and then slid down again and is alive and happy, ready to tell the story of the reckless drive.

Three-wheeled electrically driven trucks, capable of carrying 5000 pounds at a load, have been put into service on the piers at Hoboken, N. J., by the big Hamburg American Steamship Line.



E. Roger Stearns in the Velie Touring Car on Mt. Washington Incline Railway.

The motor was snapped after the steep thirty-seven per cent. grade had been topped and when the car was racing down again.

GRANT FINDS LARGE MARKET.

Visits the Middle West and Is Surprised at the Many Possibilities for Autos in the Interior.

H. A. Grant, a mechanical engineer, formally of the Maxwell-Briscoe Company, after an extended tour through the Middle West reports that the automobile business will receive a tremendous boost among the farmers if some means can be devised for giving them a practical motor car knowledge.

Acting upon the results of his investigation along this line, Grant has outlined a course of study which he is endeavoring to have published in the farm papers all through the country. He says the territory is so large that there is positively no danger of overproduction. He has visited the States where the automobile is a novelty as yet. He says the market is far larger than he supposed.

Long Auto Race.

Frank P. Fox of Indianapolis has entered the 500-mile international sweepstakes race over the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, on Decoration Day. Fox is known as one of the hardest, most fearless drivers who sit behind the wheel today, and despite the physical handicap of an artificial leg, he has been the winner of many races during the last three or four years. Most of his driving has been done in the East, although he has been a contestant in several of the events at the Indianapolis track.

New License Numbers.

New York's new license numbers for 1911 are at last being issued. The 28,000 plates necessary are being turned out as fast as possible by the makers at Albany. Although only 28,000 applications for renewal of automobile licenses have been received thus far, there were 65,000 licenses issued last year. This would indicate that 37,000 applications have not been sent in.

That French chalk or talcum powder dusted between the inner tube of a tire and its casing is intended to act as a lubricant between the adjacent surfaces generally is understood. But that it also serves a useful purpose in preventing the tire from heating is not so

UNITED STATES MOTOR COMPANY

Changes in Price Noted for New Season and Opportunity to Get Standard Motor Is Presented.

Changes in the price of the automobiles put out by the United States Motor Car Company are predicted to mark the beginning of a new epoch in motor car standards.

In making the reduction, Benjamin Briscoe, the president, realized an ideal for which he has been working for a long time. That is the manufacture of a light durable machine at a cost which can be met by the working people.

The reductions are as follows: Brush runabout, from $485 to $450; Brush roadster, from $600 to $485; Brush 600-pound delivery wagon, from $685 to $650; Maxwell four-cylinder 22-horsepower, from $900 to $750; Maxwell 25-horse-power, from $1100 to $950.

The Stoddard-Dayton models, which include twenty-nine distinct types, are to sell from $1175 to $4800. They are handsomer than ever, especially in the inclosed body types.

Quaker City Show.

As a result of the motor show in Philadelphia having to be divided and displayed in two armories, two miles distant from each other, a movement for the erection of a large convention hall, on the order of Madison Square Garden has been started. It is proposed by the Mayor that the hall be located in Fairmount Park, in which the Centennial of 1876 was held.

Don't Buy Your Car on One or Two Talking Po

A few talking points, however strong, don't make a good car.

The principal argument for some cars is the fact that they have a self-starter. On others it is abnormally large tires. Self-starters and abnormally large tires are poor and insufficient reasons upon which to base your decision. They are merely talking points, inflated far beyond their proper value in order to catch your attention.

A car with two very strong points and several weak ones is not a good car for you to buy. It is the old story of the chain being only as strong as its weakest link.

We don't exaggerate any one feature of the Six. Every feature and part in it is equally good.

The engine, clutch, transmission, axles, frame, all equally as strong and well made—far above This perfect harmony throughout is what makes the Six such a quiet, smooth-running reliable car.

There are more than two thousand Mitchell use in the United States. They have an enviable tion and particularly here in Southern California.

Before you buy any large car, see the Mitchell cause of its uniform quality throughout, and reputation.

One of the hits of the demonstration yesterday was the drive through the main streets on high gear. After starting with the lever in the "high" notch Murphy sent the Mitchell through town, choking the motor down to four miles an hour at Sixth and Spring streets.

There is no jolt or strain when the car is started with the pneumatic clutch. Complete control of the engine is secured by one lever. If it is necessary to stop within three feet the car can be brought to a dead halt by compressed air.

The band brake encircles the flywheel and stops the engine by holding the flywheel stationary. When descending a grade the car is allowed to drive air-compressed cylinders contained in the flywheel. The amount of compression in the air-cylinders is controlled by the one lever and the air is allowed to escape only in sufficient quantities to allow the car to move as fast as desired.

Should the motor be stalled on a railroad crossing, the air can be used to propel the car at least fifty feet, or out of harm's way. This appears to be a means of avoiding the danger of shocking accidents at railroad crossings.

CARDINALS WIN FIRST GAME.

Santa Clara College Nine Is Defeated in the Opening Contest of the Season:

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Feb. 3.—After a delay of more than two weeks on account of wet weather, the Cardinal baseball team managed to play a full game yesterday afternoon. Santa Clara College visited the campus and the Catholics were defeated, 3 to 1. Enderle, '12, of Santa Ana, was in the box for Stanford and he held the visitors down to two hits. "Bill" Achi, '12, a Hawaiian, was behind the bat and he showed up well.

The men who played for Stanford were: Enderle, '12, pitcher; Achi, '12, catcher; Capt. Ball, '11, of Los Angeles, first base; Tallant, '11, of Santa Barbara, second base; Terry, '14, shortstop; Stan Mitchell, '13, of Los Angeles, third base; Childs, '12, of Redlands, left field; Cass, '13, of Los Angeles, center field; Beeger, '13, right field.

In the Santa Clara line-up was "Tommy" Yborrando, the former St. Vincent's player, who is attending Santa Clara, where he is a star in two or three branches of athletics.

Although the season is just getting under way, the Stanford team looks good to the students and the prospects are good for again winning from California. Eighteen members of last year's squad are among the sixty candidates for the team. Coach Ganong, who will catch, is a good leader and Capt. Ball is proving an excellent lieutenant.

SOLDIER KING MATCHED.

To Race Hawaiian and Japanese in Match Marathon Race at Honolulu.

An international Marathon race is to take place at Honolulu on February 22 when "Soldier" King, a San Francisco runner who has some good coast records, is to meet Antone Kaoo, a Hawaiian, and Tsukamoto, a Japanese.

The Marathon craze which passed over the United States two years ago is at its height on the Hawaiian Islands at the present time and the race between King and the Hawaiian champion is the center of sporting interest.

The dark-skinned inhabitants of the islands are taking almost as much interest in the long-distance running as Australians do in prize fighting. King, whose term in the army expired last month, has run at Honolulu before, and has a good reputation among the natives there.

JACKRABBIT IN HONOLULU.

Chases Over the Goat Trails of the Island and Is Object of Curiosity to Natives.

W. S. Lyle recently returned from a pleasant vacation trip to the Hawaiian Islands. He took his Apperson with him. He drove from Los Angeles to San Francisco and, after touring around the bay a few days, shipped his machine to Honolulu.

Lyle reports terrible roads on the islands. The natives mapped out a trip for him on what they called their best highways. These best highways proved to be little more than goat trails in many places and the riding proved anything but pleasant. The scenery, he said, was the only redeeming feature about the motoring there. The Apperson "Jackrabbit" acted per-

Another Forward Step.

POWER WAGONS MONEY SAVERS.

GARFORD TRUCKS SOLVE QUESTION OF MAINTENANCE.

Practical Difficulties Which Team Drivers Encounter Are Overcome by the Gasoline Freight Carriers. Engineering Development Proves Much.

Almost any power wagon if properly applied—if applied so as to get its real value as a labor saving machine—is much more economical of operation than any kind of draft animal service. This has been the case for a number of years. The only thing that is keeping any interested party from getting the benefit of this is the effect of tradition and habit of mind. Ten years ago an express manager pronounced an automobile impracticable because it took three-quarters of an hour to put the anti-skid chains on it when winter came, and, upon the same occasion, he justified nine hours in sharp-shoeing his horses on the ground that "we have always been doing that."

Roughly speaking, the cost of operating a power wagon, including depreciation and interest on investment, is in the large run about 50 per cent. higher than the cost of operating a draft animal unit of the same load capacity, but there are few set applications in which the power wagon fails to do over two and one-fourth to four times the work of the corresponding draft animal unit.

One of the practical difficulties with which some team users have to contend in adopting power wagons is the fact that their drivers are all trained to some particular trade or practice, such, for example, as that of express messengers or trained handlers of parcels, and the ordinary type of gasoline truck requires either the training of these men to the dexterity necessary for their successful and economical use or the employment of professional chauffeurs, who in turn have to be trained to the particular business in hand and who are seldom adapted to it; or else the situation requires the compromise of the added expense of a helper on each vehicle.

This important consideration was the underlying incentive of the Garford Company, which led through periods of careful test and experiment to their adoption of the friction disc transmission. Not only does this demand less manual dexterity in operation than any other form of gasoline truck, but the fact that the change of speed does not take place in steps relieves the operator of the necessity for using anything like the degree of judgment as to "changing gear," which can only be obtained by the ordinary man after much practice. With the friction disc, graduations of speed can be regulated to a nicety and soon become an almost subconscious habit with the driver in accommodating other traffic and conditions of the road.

The power wagon as an engineering development offering marked economy over previous equivalent service is, as I have already stated, an accomplished fact. It only remains for the public to learn how to use it to the best advantage and to care for it and to realize that during the period they are learning that the designer had already learned before they began, and the chances are that the apparent difficulties encountered are, therefore, easy of correction by them instead of the fault of the truck or in any sense inherent in the power wagon.

It is obvious that in the introductory stages the liability to damage the truck is going to be in proportion to the simplicity of its operation in inexperienced hands.

SECRET OFFICIAL SCORES.

Ban Johnson Has Scheme to Do Away With Criticism Heaped Upon Present Incumbents.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Official scorers in the major leagues this season may be permitted to work in secrecy, if plans announced yesterday by President Johnson of the American circuit make good. Taking his cue from recent interviews accredited to Tom Lynch and John Heydler, the head of the junior league announced he would put the question before the National Commission for consideration at the next meeting of this body.

In past summers the scorer, usually selected from the ranks of the Baseball Writers' Association of America, has done his daily task alongside his brother-workers with all hands knowing the identity of the official selected for this job by the owner of the club. Oftentimes the position has stirred up petty misunderstandings, with the result that the league heads have decided to adopt a new system in the future. Hence the secret job which seems to meet with the approval of all the powers that be.

MANY MITCHELL SALES.

The sales of the Mitchell "Six" so far this season by the Greer-Robbins Company are double those of the last year at this time, according to a report just made by the local agents. Most of the Mitchell cars delivered have been with the seven-passenger body. The Greer-Robbins Company at present is sending rush orders into the factory because of the unusual run. Recent deliveries of the Mitchell "Six" have been to J. C. Drake, L. W. Wickes, Charles G. Miller, Mr. McConnell and Mr. Durkes.

GOOD HIGHWAYS EARLY REALITY.

Great Progress in Building of Modern Roads.

Three Paved Ways to Beach Worth Millions.

Ranchers Saving Big Money in Hauling Crops.

Wednesday was the third anniversary of the good roads system in Los Angeles county. Just three years ago the Highway Commission came into possession of the $3,500,000 voted for the building of a system of boulevards.

If a third anniversary celebration had been held it might have included a trip over smooth pavements to Santa Monica, Venice, Long Beach, Whittier and Downey, Pomona, Glendale, Burbank, Lankershim and Hollywood. The system at this time consists of radiating thoroughfares in all directions out of Los Angeles. This is not all of the work that has been done, but it is the important work practically completed at this date.

It is hardly an exaggeration to say that three paved roadways to the favorite beach resorts alone will be worth millions of dollars to Southern California. Automobile traffic in this direction has increased at a tremendous rate and will increase even more rapidly under favorable conditions. The tourists who come West this year will probably be impressed with that improvement more than any other one thing.

While the beach roads are of great importance in that respect, the completion of thoroughfares to the interior points of the county has another tremendous significance. It means a great deal to the towns of Whittier, Pomona and intermediate points, the San Fernando Valley and all parts of Hollywood that they are within easy access of Los Angeles. Ranchers in the hauling of this season's crops will save largely in time and expense by moving their products over the county boulevards instead of through mud and dust. The effect of good roads building has already been shown in the advancement of suburban property along the lines completed.

One other good roads achievement of importance has already been celebrated. The opening of the Newhall tunnel in December, when the Chamber of Commerce excursion drew 500 persons there in the largest automobile excursion ever run, was of great importance to the entire southern part of the State, as it opened a channel of traffic and transportation reaching all the way to Santa Barbara.

In the fourth year the accomplishments of the last year should practically be doubled. Of the three years spent in good roads building, but nine months of the time has offered favorable conditions for prosecuting work. It was less than a year ago that the county came into possession of an adequate rock supply. That rock supply is inexhaustible and further construction becomes a much simpler matter.

When it is realized that, with all of these main arteries completed, there is still money enough in the appropriation to build more than twice as much paving, in addition, the magnificence of the good roads system will appear. Better than this picture of a boulevard in whichever direction the automobilist wishes to go through orange groves and grain fields and foothill canyons is the fact that it will soon be a reality.

STODDARD MAY GO TO MEXICO.

Owner of Popular Touring Car Is Willing to Wait Until Gun Play on Border Ceases.

J. R. Holmes and party of Seattle arrived here last week on their way from San Francisco to Mexico in a Stoddard-Dayton touring car. The party made the run from San Francisco in four days. Holmes reports the gun play started down on the border he has changed his plans somewhat. Holmes is expecting to see the Mexican country before he leaves, but says he is no hurry about it at the present.

His Stoddard-Dayton is fast enough to get away from any of the rebels, he says, though he has no desire to try its speed in this way. The car is fast and has won a warm place in the heart of the enthusiastic owner. It is a handsome machine which is running as well now as the day it was purchased. Though he is making the Stoddard-Dayton Motor Company garage his headquarters, Holmes declares he has no need to enter the workshop with his car, as the motor always keeps running whenever he needs the tourer.

GLIDES INTO NEW QUARTERS.

Goode-Chinn Motor Company Has New Site and Plans Are Made For Prosperous Season.

W. B. Goode of the Goode-Chinn Motor Company is sure that the Glide will make its best record this season. He is confident that in the new quarters things are to hum as they never did before. He has secured a part of the garage and salesroom occupied by the Corbin. He has ordered two carloads of Glides which are on the way.

The handsome line comes this year in the limousine and landaulet types. One each of these machines is on the way to the Los Angeles agency. These cars are finished elegantly throughout and are among the lowest-priced limousines on the market. They show the same class as the touring cars which made such a hit at the recent automobile show in Fiesta Park.

The Goode-Chinn Company controls the entire Pacific Coast as territory for the Glide. Agencies have been established in San Francisco and in Portland. Goode is planning to make a tour of the Pacific Coast as soon as possible. He expects to handle a large number of cars this year.

Rubber Business.

MONEY JINGLES IN OUR COFFERS.

CARROLL MAKES STARTLING TIRE REPORT FOR YEAR.

Goodrich Manager Computes Output of Autoists Which Reaches Into the Millions and Tells What Becomes of the Old Tires Which We Throw Away Sometimes.

During 1910 Los Angeles spent nearly $3,000,000 on automobile tires and leads any other city of its class in the world in this respect. This tabulation was made by F. R. Carroll, manager of the Los Angeles branch of the Goodrich Rubber Company.

"If the driver would use a little more care and consideration in the selection and treatment of his tires," said Carroll, "he would save himself much loss of temper and many dollars.

"The first great cause of tire troubles is the placing of small tires on a large car. Far better to select a tire one size too large than one size too small."

The manufacturers are remedying this evil to a large extent by putting out "odd sizes" that will fit rims much better than the regular sizes in many cases. These "odds" are usually a size larger than is claimed for the rim.

Another cause of trouble Carroll says comes from improper inflation. The blow-out can nearly always be traced to this defect. The poorly inflated rubber fabric bends back and forth until it becomes weakened and sooner or later blows up.

The question has often been asked, What becomes of the old tires? They are sent back to the factory and put through a process whereby the fabric is eaten away. The rubber is then converted into rubber matting, garden hose and a rougher grade of rubber goods.

The average auto owner has a small idea of the number of tires used yearly in the country. The Goodrich Company claims a daily output of 3000 tires. Employment is furnished for 5000 men in this production.

NEW COLUMBIA AND MAXWELL.

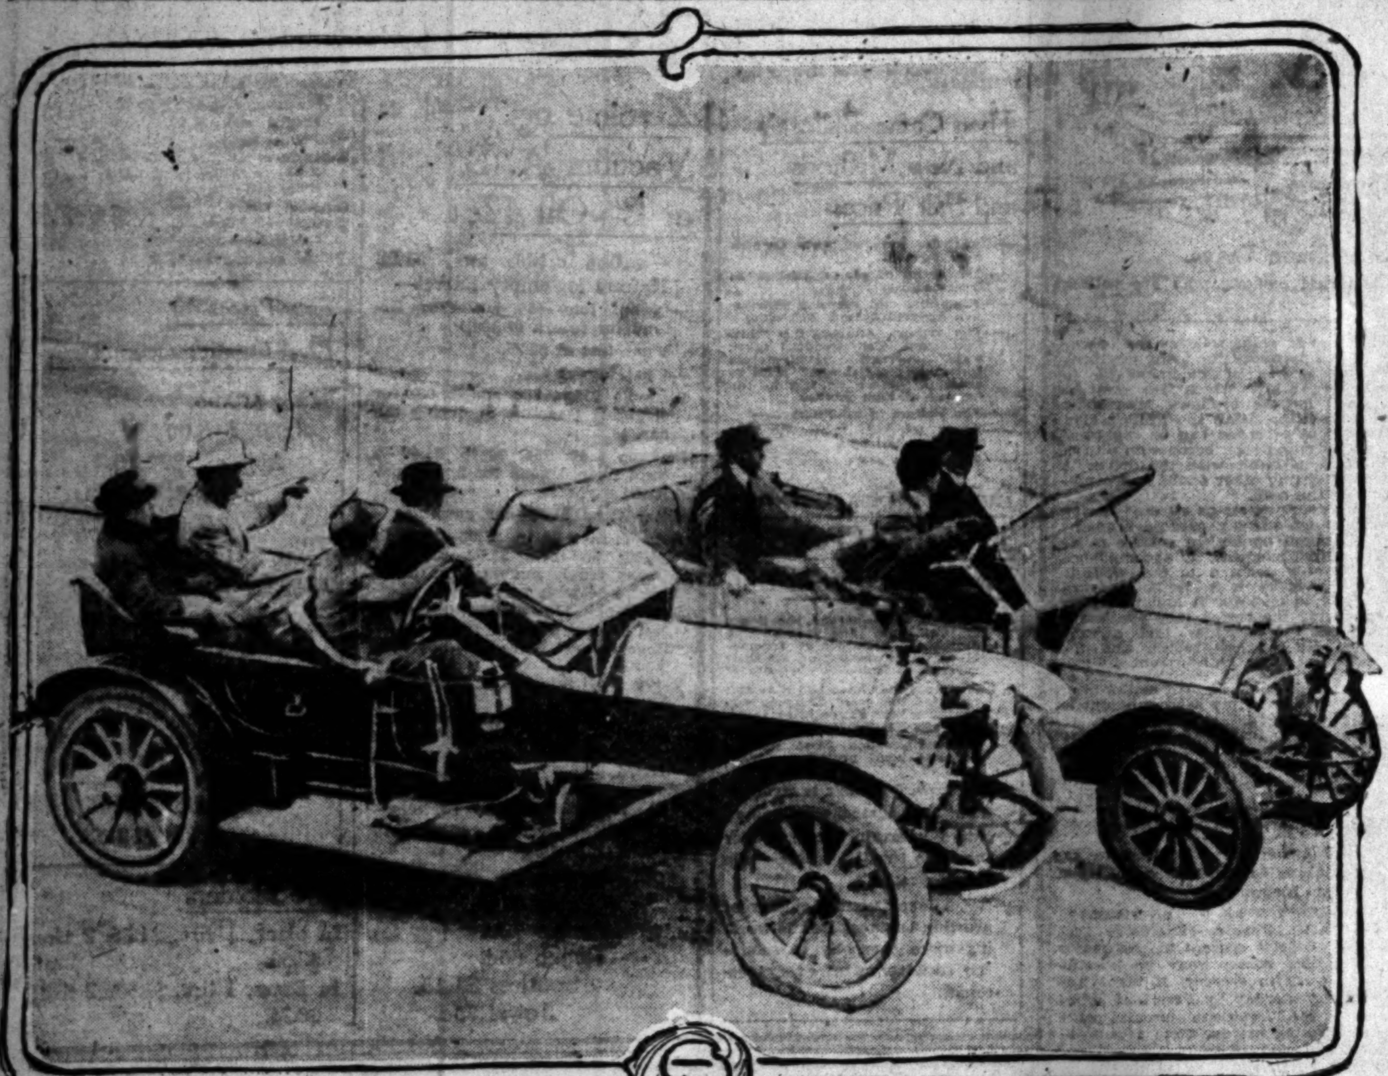
Handsome Finish Adds Grace and Beauty to the Models, Which Are More Popular Than Ever.

A Wedgwood green color is one of the distinguishing qualities of the 1911 Columbia cars. The color is difficult to describe but contains much pure yellow and is one of the most practical colors ever devised for an auto. It is striking.

The shade will stand several coats of varnish without changing the color or looking rusty or yellowish. The name is taken from the celebrated English ceramics for which the English potter Wedgwood was knighted in appreciation. It makes a most nobby finish.

The Maxwell 1911 model is not a radical departure from the construction which has characterized it heretofore. Features originally adopted by President J. D. Maxwell have been retained with refinements in such points as the oiling system, appearance of the dash, equipment of foredoors, increased wheelbase and the general style of the car.

The machines are being turned out in numbers and there is said to be a demand for the new model cars. The Maxwell is finished in several different types which can be had for several different prices. The car has made good on the severest tests and is more popular than ever.



Seeing the City in Halladay Touring Cars from the Crown of Elysian Park's Highest Hill.

Earl Anderson is at the wheel of the nearest car with J. B. Cravens on the front seat and E. J. Scienke and W. M. York in the tonneau. Dr. D. G. Turnbull is at the wheel of the other car with Warren Vance on the front seat and a live prospect in the tonneau.

From the Heights.

CLIMBS CITY'S HIGHEST HILL AND HALLADAY CHANGES HANDS.

WHILE taking in the sights from one of the highest hills in the city limits, J. B. Cravens decided to purchase the handsome five-passenger Halladay touring car in which he was seated. Whether it was because he was inspired by the view of the entire city spread beneath him or because he was pleased with the work of the Halladay it is hard to say. Cravens almost shocked Warren Vance, the agent, by his alacrity in jumping at a decision.

The demonstration was made in the most friendly manner. Cravens and a number of friends called at the Halladay Motor Car Company and Vance invited them for a spin into Elysian Park. The two cars glided to the top of the grades with the greatest of ease and the demonstration made a hit with Cravens. Around the curves the Halladays sped until the crown was reached. Then the cars were stopped.

Beneath the autoists the city was spread and the air was enjoyed within fifteen minutes from the time the cars had left Buena Vista street. Earle Anderson, of the Halladay factory, was at the wheel of one Halladay and Dr. D. G. Turnbull in the other. It was a race of interest after the two cars started and Turnbull won easily.

Despite the fact that he had been beaten through the hills Cravens decided to buy. He had seen enough of the car to decide him at least for this year. Now Mr. and Mrs. Cravens will have a handsome machine in which to tour Southern California. They are both enthusiastic autoists who are ready for long rides which they are sure to get.

The deep mud of Buena Vista street was easy for the Halladay. Though the roads of Elysian Park are soft the car climbed to the summit on a demonstration that made a decided hit with the occupants of the car. Cravens began bragging about the machine before he had driven three miles.

"I'll take this car," he said to Vance, while the two were watching the smoke curling from the distant chimneys in the city. "Perhaps I will have to take a four-passenger, but in any case I'll have the five or the four as they both look good to me."

[illegible] of an early delivery had his purchase been decided than he became a booster for the Halladays and tried to sell a carload.

Dr. Turnbull, who drove the other Halladay, is an enthusiastic booster also. He has owned eight cars, but says he likes his new Halladay best of all. He recently secured a new five-passenger gray touring car and the Halladay makes splendid time with the nervy physician at the wheel.

WAVERLY ON RECORD RUN.

Electric Four-Passenger Beauty Makes Remarkable Trip on New York Roads in Fast Time.

The Waverly Electric passenger cars on exhibit at the Chicago show are reported as one of the neatest electric exhibits of the entire display.

The luxurious interior furnishings of these cars make them attractive for display purposes. The Waverly people are also quite proud of a recent record made from Philadelphia to New York.

The electric roadster made the trip, which is 112 miles through snow and over ruts and bad roads of all kinds, in a trifle over five hours. The maximum speed of the roadster is twenty-five miles an hour and it evidently was running close to the limit most of the way on the record run.

The leading Waverly Electric for 1911 is the new four-passenger brougham. The body of this car is built in a single piece. It is much roomier than most of the four-passenger types and is finished wth exquisite furnishings on the interior.

AUTOCAR TRUCK DOES WELL.

A record of 35,000 miles for truck tires down in San Diego county was reported last week. The tires were Hartford solid truck and were used on an Autocar truck. This record was made over the worst roads in the San Diego district in hauling merchandise of all kinds. M. S. Bulkley, who is the local agent for the Autocar truck, claims to have used these same tires for demonstrating purposes before the car was sent to San Diego. He used it for over 7000 miles. The local agents for the Hartford tires say this

AUTOS ARE NOT WELCOME.

Fight About to Start over Exclusion Act of Two Years Ago Barring Cars from Bar Harbor.

Efforts which have been made at Augusta, Me., to effect a compromise on the threatened fight to repeal the law enacted two years ago excluding automobiles from Bar Harbor and Mount Desert Island have failed and the entire matter will now be fought to a finish in the Legislature. Residents and a number of automobile manufacturers are interested in having the law repealed. Its reepal is opposed by the entire body of summer residents. The exclusion act was voted upon in July, 1909. Of the four towns on Mount Desert Island, three favored the ban on automobiles. They are Eden, which comprises the village of Bar Harbor; Tremont and Mount Desert, the latter containing the summer resorts of Northeast Harbor and Seal Harbor. The fourth town, Southwest Harbor, refused to accept the prohibition on motor cars. This, however, made little difference, as the only road into that town from the mainland passes through Mount Desert and Eden, and the authorities of both places promptly served notice that they would prosecute violations of the law, even by automobilists desiring to go to Southwest Harbor. The only way left was to use boats for the conveyance of automobiles.

WATCH YOUR TIRES.

A large part of tire valve trouble is caused by the cutting away of small particles of the rubber washer which is fitted into the top of the valve cap, and the falling of these particles into the inner parts of the valve stem, where they often work between the seat and the valve and prevent the latter from acting properly. To stop leaks from this source, all that is necessary is to cut small discs of leather, so that they will fit into the cap and cover the rubber washer. This will allow the rubber to be used as a cushion and will keep it from being injured when the valve is screwed into place.

Are You a Novice?

It is always a dangerous proposition for a novice to attempt to solder a honeycomb radiator. While it may be possible for him to repair the first leak, it is more than probable that he will loosen the solder on other joints and put the radiator in worse condition than before. A temporary repair can be ef-ting a small bolt with washers at each end through the tube around which the leak occurs; tightening the nut on the bolt will draw the washers against the end of the tube so that the leaw will be stopped. A rubber washer on one end of steam packing in the sheet form will give better results.

PLENTY OF AUTO RACING.

There is likely to be plenty of racing on the Florida sands this winter, as the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association has granted a sanction to the Motor Contest Association to hold a series of races on March 27, 28, 29 and 30, on the Atlantic-Pablo Beach near Jacksonville. Daytona, where record-breaking races have been held, has also applied for a license. The beach is forty miles long and runs from what is known as the Jetties on the north to St. Augustine on the south. The northern end of the beach will be used for the racing. An eighteen-mile road of concrete and brick has been built by Duvall county

One, Two, and Three-Ton Capacity

A Truck Your Present Employes Can Successfully Operate

Almost any power wagon, if properly applied—if applied so as to get its real value as a labor-saving machine—is much more economical of operation than any kind of draft animal service. This has been the case for a number of years. The only thing that is keeping you or any other interested party from getting the benefit of this is the effect of tradition and habit of mind. Ten years ago an express manager pronounced an automobile impracticable because it took three-quarters of an hour to put the anti-skid chains on it when winter came, and, upon the same occasion, he justified nine hours in sharpshoeing his horses on the ground that "we have always been doing that."

Roughly speaking, the cost of operating a power wagon, including depreciation and interest on investment, is in the large run about 50 per cent. higher than the cost of operating a draft animal unit of the same load capacity, but there are very few set applications in which the power wagon fails to do over 2¼ to 4 times the work of the corresponding draft animal unit.

One of the practical difficulties with which some team users have to contend in adopting power wagons is the fact that their drivers are all trained to some particular trade or practice, such, for example, as that of express messenger or trained handler of parcels, and the ordinary type of gasoline truck requires either the training of these men to the dexterity necessary for their successful and economical use, or the employment of professional chauffeurs, who, in turn, have to be trained to the particular business in hand and who are seldom adapted to it; or else the situation requires the compromise of the added expense of a helper on each vehicle. This important consideration was the underlying incentive of the GARFORD Company, which led through periods of careful test and experiment of their adoption of the friction disc transmission. Not only does this demand less manual dexterity in operation than any other form of gasoline truck, but the fact that the change of speeds does not take place in steps, relieves the operator of the necessity for using anything like the degree of judgment as to "changing gear," which can only be obtained by the ordinary man after much practice. With the friction disc, graduations of speed can be regulated to a nicety and soon become an almost subconscious habit with the driver in accommodating the other traffic and the conditions of the road.

It is obvious that in the introductory stages the liability to damage the truck is going to be in proportion to the simplicity of its operation in inexperienced hands, and we know of no stronger argument than this in favor of your purchase of a GARFORD.

These incidents emphasize the necessity of great care in correspondence in order that results may be obtained on the merits of the contestants as players. Thirty-two men are engaged in this match, conducting as many games; and there is room for many slips in combinations, without adding risks of careless methods.

Foreign Sports.

Occasionally a sporting sheet from England or China or the Fiji Islands or some other out of the way place strays into Southern California. It is a liberal education as well as a good vaudeville performance to peruse some of these leaflets. A photo of a peevish looking cannibal doing the pole vault in South Africa is an interesting specimen of foreign sporting pages. The news is brought in by a Honolulu "pink" that the Marathon racing, which was at the height of its popularity in America two years ago, has just struck the Hawaiian Islands. A half-page layout in the sports section of a conservative English newspaper includes the words and music of the "latest" popular song, "I'm Afraid to Go Home in the Dark." It all goes to prove that we are not so far behind times here in Southern California, even if the colleges are still in subjection to the A.A.U.

Perservering Aviators.

Down in the hangars which were occupied by the local aviators at Dominguez field there is still just as much life as ever. There have been only a few flights by these amateurs and they are working away just as hopefully as they were the time when they told the committee in charge of things that they would be up in the air in a day or two. We must have a lot of respect for their nerve in staying by the proposition the way they do. If somebody hadn't put in years of failures there wouldn't have been any aeroplanes.

Coaster Tournament.

When several hundred of the "coaster squad," that is, the boys who won Rockaway coasters for selling copies of The Midwinter Times, get together for a meet at Luna Park, February 18, there is going to be a real show. The little fellows have already gotten a rumor of the affair and are training as consistently as any star college track man ever thought of doing. There are some nifty prizes to be given out to the winners of those races, kiddos, so oil 'em up good and go to it. That twenty-four-boy relay race is going to be the most exciting event on the programme. With a good rooting section on the side lines the college football games wouldn't be in it for class. If there is any boy in the city misses the chance to see that meet or take part in it, he ought to be larruped.

Things are different at the present writing and the public is somewhat opposed to this win, lose or draw guarantee, in which there is so little sportsmanship exhibited.

Wolgast must remember this: he is not a champion of the type that can make demands and get away with them as Battling Nelson did. In other words, the Wisconsin chap must first prove that he is the drawing card before the promoters will take the financial risks that he is demanding of them.

It would not be fair to belittle Wolfast. He hasn't shown enough to prove or disprove anything. He may be of the right kind of material to hold his honors, but he ought to be willing to give further demonstration before demanding a king's ransom for his appearance.

The professional game has fallen into disrepute in some circles for various reasons, but with a number of limitations that have been suggested, it can be made a clean sport.

Most sports favor the twenty-round match. In twenty rounds a boxer knows that science counts, and instead of a slugging bout or a holding back for one punch, there will be clever work of the kind that will interest the spectator in a healthy way. That is what boxing fans ought to consider.

The knockout will never be totally eliminated so long as there are bouts the amateurs as well as the professional. The chances for that sort of thing will be lessened, however.

There is less, too, of the so-called brutality of the ring than most outsiders imagine. The average boxer is well trained for a match and in good condition when he is ready to start. He suffers comparatively little from the blows that are struck, as you can readily tell by seeing him the following day, or even a couple of hours after the affair is at an end.

FIRESTONE WINS AT AUTO SHOW.

Solid Rubber Makes Hit on Big Trucks—Lemmon Is Pleased With Report.

Tires contribute so much to the success of the motor vehicle that the tire question has become one of the most important to the owner of automobiles. At the Chicago show the rubber tire equipment was given a special place and received a great deal of attention.

This year a quick removable rim for solid rubber tires has made its appearance. It is in use on a number of trucks. It is made in the rim plant of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company. The driver is enabled to make quick changes by using these rims and they have many advantages which appeal to automobile owners.

R. J. Firestone, sales manager of the Firestone Company, is authority for the statement that Firestone solid tires were in the lead on equipment. He claims that twenty-six vehicles were on display in the Madison Square Garden show with the Firestone tires against twelve of the nearest competitor.

Jack Lemmon, local manager for the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, says he is proud of the record Firestone tires have made. He is doing a big business.

GOSSIP ALONG GASOLINE ROW.

Almost every automobile dealer in Los Angeles is planning a trip to San Francisco for the Panama-Pacific automobile road race.

Warren Vance is making a Halladay record. He sold three cars last week without half trying. If he works real hard for six days it is hard to say what he will do.

They are having a great time in Chicago, according to the latest report. The 1911 cars look better than ever and the autoists are a happy bunch just about to leave for home.

Charles Halliwell has done well during the absence of the Pacific Coast representative for the Warner Autometer. He had a long list of cars to report with Warner speedometers attached when the visitor from the East dropped in.

Stafford Bixby is paying particular attention to the traffic ordinances. He has been warned by the crossing patrolmen several times and he refuses to be captured unless he makes a mistake.

W. D. Howard has sold more Winton cars to date than he disposed of last year. The big six-cylinders are in demand and Howard is making a record.

How about road records. We have heard little about this sport since Don Lee went away. He will be back again soon and then it will be time to talk about that Fernando Nelson trophy.

That Redlands hill climb will call a number of Los Angeles autoists to the city of orange groves. The date, one week from Washington's Birthday, suits a large number and the entry list should be well filled.

The automobile show in San Diego this week attracts a number of Los Angeles auto dealers, but the roads are fierce. It is a hard drive even down the coast route as the mud is hub deep in many places.

There is a new bridge going in near Oceanside and the road through the mud hollow will be abandoned. This is a good move as the slush is fierce at this season of the year.

Earle Anderson, factory man for the Halladay Motor Company, likes Los Angeles so well that he will remain here for the winter and perhaps stay here the remainder of his life.

"Doc" Green cannot rest on his laurels for at least three months. He expects then to take a long tour, perhaps to Honolulu. He deserves a vacation after the record he is making this season.

Harry Lord likes driving through the mud in an E. M. F. He says its great fun mud-larking over the country turnpikes. He is willing to try to go anywhere.

Joe Nikrent may go to Oakland for the big road race. He proved his class at the Motordrome and showed well at Santa Monica. Now he has a chance to go after the big fellows of the Bay City district.

Clyde Leppo says the mud is deep in San Luis Obispo county, but not too deep for the Kissel Kar. He scored a success on the long tour and says the outside market is in excellent shape.

INSURRECTOS STOP BARNEY.

Oldfield's Racing Cars Held Up at El Paso.

Race Meeting at Mexico City Slightly Uncertain.

Council of War Held, But No Conclusion Reached.

Barney Oldfield, automobile king of the track, may be able to break records of various kinds but he cannot run away from the Mexican revolutionists or run into them either.

He has a race meet scheduled for Mexico City February 18-19 and instead of making his preparations to leave for the republic, he has climbed up a tree. In other words he is up one in any event, for he is not sure that he will race there after all.

Bright and early yesterday morning the local Southern Pacific officials telephoned to Barney that with a lot of distinguished consideration and other stuff they were very much pained and yet delighted to inform him that they had his car of automobiles at El Paso and graciously awaited his further pleasure. They were further grieved to announce that they could not get hte machines any further on their way to Mexico City on account of the pesky revolutionists. What did Mr. Oldfield want to do about them?

"Say," replied Barney, over the 'phone, "you are willing to ship them back here to me, but does it cost me anything?"

"Oh, nothing but the freight both ways," added the urbane railroad clerk.

And there you are. Oldfield further begged to inquire if the Espee had consulted its attorney about the scheme of him paying the freight both ways to have the cars returned or sent on by way to Laredo and some other places, and as the attorney had not been consulted the autos seem to remain in statu quo, whatever that means with reference to freight shipments.

Oldfield has not heard from his manager, Bill Pickens, for some days, and does not know whether Bill has joined the insurrectos, bought a guitar and eloped with a senorita, or is just waiting for something to turn up.

Barney held a council of war yesterday afternoon with Jim Jeffries, Frank Chance, Three-Fingered Brown, Jack Kipper, Dr. Brown and a few more of his friends, but no one seemed to know just how to put down the rebellion.

The four autos are in El Paso and Barney is here slowly preparing for the invasion and you will have to guess the rest.

SOX NOT CRAZY FOR STARTING EARLY.

A lot of baseball fans think the Boston Red Sox are crazy for starting out in the middle of the eastern winter toward their training quarters in Southern California, but experience shows that they are doing the best thing possible, for the team that gets the early start is the one that has the best chance to finish strong or to be consistent.

Last year in the National League the Cubs and Giants were both at the bottom of the list before the first two weeks of play, but after that they gradually crawled to the top. The Giants led for a week and then the Cubs reached the top May 28, and stayed there until the fire went out.

Pittsburgh was never lower than fourth, but the weaker clubs which had the luck in the early part of the year gradually dropped back toward the rear and stayed there.

Experience has shown that if a club starts early and works gradually into shape it has the best chance for continued success, barring accidents, and this is one reason why the Red Sox are coming to Southern California this month.

Westward Ho!

PATSY TO START A WEEK AHEAD.

DONOVAN OF THE RED SOX COMING TO PAVE THE WAY.

Manager's Wife to Accompany President Taylor's Right-Hand Man—Great Party to Come West from Chicago on the Boston Special.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Manager Patsy Donovan of the Red Sox will leave Boston nearly a week ahead of his team. He starts from this city on Feb. 13, and will go directly to Chicago, where the spring meeting opens on the following day. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Donovan, who is going to take that trip to California with the team.

The Boston contingent will start from the Hub on Feb. 18, leave the following day from New York City, and arrive at the Windy City on Monday. The special train will pull out for California at 9:15 o'clock on Monday night following.

Additional names are being received almost daily for this trip to the Coast and it is not at all unlikely that in addition to the players, fully a dozen fans will make the journey with the team from Boston. And others may be picked up at New York and Chicago.

The Red Sox are banking heavily on Tommy Madden to come through in fine style this year. He is out in the open air every day indulging in plenty of exercise and making a determined effort to get down to pretty nearly the normal playing weight even before training starts.

Manager Donovan has evidently decided not to do any more worrying over the Carrigan situation. Word has come from Maine that Bill will insist upon holding out, and that unless that bonus clause is removed he will not be one of the party that takes that California trip. Patsy is confident that any further move in the matter will be made by Carrigan and he knows that President Taylor will be out coping with the situation.

CHICAGO AUTO SHOW CLOSES.

Fiesta Exhibit Handsomer Than Motor Salon.

Stoddard Sedan One of Big Hits in Windy City.

Lozier and Reo Champion Also Divide Honors.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The automobile show which came to a close last night was marked by the largest crowds which have ever attended the big Chicago exhibit. For the number of cars shown and the business done the show has been a success, but from an artistic viewpoint it cannot be classed with the Los Angeles show.

There were buyers here from all sections of the West and many good contracts were closed, especially among the accessory firms. Nothing could demonstrate the standardization of the modern motor car more than this show. There are few novelties and practically no radical changes in either style or construction. There are certain refinements and improvements, but all the standard cars have the accepted ideas throughout.

STODDARD SEDAN.

There are three novelties worthy of consideration. One is the Stoddard-Dayton Sedan. This is an inside-drive car seating four or five people and has lines which are new and distinctive. It is suggestive of the Sedan chair after which it is named and has been the center of attraction.

Another novelty was the Pierce-Arrow touring landau which is quoted at $8000. This incorporates many European ideas in body construction.

The third novelty is a side lamp shown by the Franklin Company. Instead of the regulation side lamp there is an electric light fixed on the dash.

A number of stripped chassi are shown. None attracted more attention than the Cadillac. The new Cadillac torpedo was also exhibited.

Among the racing machines shown were Ralph Mulford's Lozier and the Reo "Thirty," which holds the transcontinental record from New York to San Francisco. The Reo torpedo roadster was also exhibited for the first time.

MANY THERE.

The Pacific Coast has been well represented. Among the well-known automobile men were Leon T. Shettler, Don Lee, W. D. Newerf, James Garvey, E. L. Eigholz, Al Leonard, F. W. Pabst, D. B. Ross, W. H. Halliwell, A. C. Rockwell and H. A. Bubb.

Shettler, after a meeting with the Apperson brothers, left for the Coast Thursday. Don Lee attended a three-days' convention of Cadillac agents and was also one of the old guard which held a Cadillac banquet.

W. D. Newerf closed one of the biggest deals at the show. He contracted with the Dorian Remountable Rim Company for the entire Coast. Garvey will go to the Coast to take charge of the California end of the Dorian rim, which was one of the hits of the show.

BOOM FOR GOOD ROADS.

Autoists of New York and Pennsylvania Ready to Work for Better Highways from State to State.

Taking the stand that New York statutes serve as models for other commonwealths to follow, the Executive Committee of the American Automobile Association has appealed to Gov. John A. Dix not to transfer the work of construction and maintenance of good roads to the office of State Engineer and Surveyor.

A boom for good State-built roads, in Pennsylvania, has been started by the Quaker City Motor Club of Philadelphia. It is also announced that hereafter the Fairmount Park race will be on an authorized circuit of automobile contests. Some little dispute has arisen over the division of the proceeds of last year's race, the bulk of which, $6669, goes to charity, but it will not interfere with the holding of the event during the coming summer.

GROUNDERS.

According to an alleged interview in a Chicago paper Arthur Devin picks the Giants and Reds to fight it out for the National League pennant this year. The Cubs, according to the Giant third sacker, have shot their bolt. In the winter time Devlin works for a Chicago street railway as an investigator in the law department.

"Buttons" Briggs, formerly a pitcher with the Cubs, is said to be suffering from tuberculosis. He will go to Arizona in the hope of improving his health.

Hans Lobert is one player who rarely strikes out. He fanned but nine times in ninety games last year. Willie Keeler, in his prime, had a much better eye than this. In one season as a Highlander, Keeler played in every game but two, yet never once whiffed.

Bill Abstein, the first baseman for whom Fred Clarke had no use after the Pittsburgh-Detroit world's series of 1909, proved the best man at his position in the eastern league last season. Bill looks pretty good to Jack Ryan.

Dan Howley, a former catcher of Indianapolis, plans to take two teams to Ireland next fall. Hub Hart and Jack Heydon have already signed to go with Howley.

Jesse Baker, the young pitcher secured from Spokane for $6000 of Charlie Comiskey's bankroll, has been dubbed "Deerslayer" by the windy city scribes. Baker is one of the mightest hunters of the State of Washington. He killed thirteen deer for a party of seven a few weeks ago. Baker is also some pitcher. Last season he pitched sixty-one consecutive innings of shutout ball.

Be More Careful.

So many automobile accidents have happened as the result of people stepping in front of machines, without taking the precaution to ascertain if one was approaching, that the Massachusetts Highway Commission lays much stress upon the necessity for the exercise of greater care on the part of pedestrians. In the report, which is now being printed, the commissio states that there were last year 1182 accidents in the State, in which automobiles were concerned. This is an increase of only 52 over the year previous. The fatal accidents, however, increased about 50 per cent., there being 77 people killed in 1910 against 54 in 1909. The accidents in the country

KING'S GAMBIT CHESS TOURNEY.

THIRTY-EIGHT GAMES DECIDED; EACH PAIR TWO GAMES.

Twenty-six Entries With Week Open for More—Gilbert Defeats Several With Bishop's Gambit, Splitting Games With Blundin and Later Met Defeat Against Hanna.

The King's Gambit Tournament of the Chess and Checker Club of Southern California was opened Wednesday with a list of twenty-six competitors, which number is expected to be augmented during the week allowed for entries. The entrants include the following well-known players:

O. Barnett of Lincoln, Neb.; D. G. Holt of Santa Monica, I. L. Gilbert, N. F. McMurray, J. E. Carr, O. E. Frazier, Max Krueger, J. B. Pridham of Pomona, Ross Hanna, H. Enwels, W. V. Lee, W. K. Fletcher, D. C. McCallum, Benjamin Elson, F. Moss, F. W. Peterson, George Stockinger, L. A. Darling, Henry B. Bates, P. R. Ruth, Charles E. Richardson, W. Struve, E. H. Blundin, C. E. Lennan and M. C. Ettinger.

Thirty-eight games have been decided, under the system requiring two games between each pair of competitors, with following results:

Gilbert defeated J. B. Pridham in both games, attacking with a Bishop's Gambit and defending with a Queen's Knight's Gambit; Gilbert repeated this operation exactly in his games with Krueger; the industrious Gilbert also beat Blundin with the attack in a King's Knight's Gambit, but found his victorious career checked by Blundin, who defeated him at the same opening; Blundin won both attack and defense of the same opening in his games with Carr.

Gilbert again essayed the King's Knight's Gambit against Hanna, but met defeat; Darling with the white pieces won a Bishop's Gambit from Bates. Barnett opened his favorite King's Knight's Gambit against Enwels, but lost, and taking the black pieces, again lost in a Muzio Gambit. McMurray and Bates broke even in two Knight's Gambits, and Krueger, white, beat Fletcher at the same opening. Carr and Moss played two Cunningham Gamits, taking a game each.

Peterson beat Gilbert in a Vienna Gambit attack, and Gilbert beat Carr with a Bishop's Gambit. Ruth beat Krueger in both attack and defense of King's Knight's Gambit, and Gilbert defeated Ruth with the same attack.

Enwels defended successfully a Hamppe-Allgaier against Lee, who in turn defended against him to an even score. Barnett and Pridham broke even in Cunningham and Muzio Gambits, and Pierce won both Steinitz and Pierce Gambits against Hanna. Carr and Enwels divided the scores in Knight's and Hamppe-Allgaier Gambits respectively. Pridham and Lennan took a game each in the Vienna form of the Gambit. With a Bishop's Gambit Darling beat Bates and Gilbert beat Lennan.

Holt beat Barnett, in two Cunningham Gambits, defeating Enwels also in defense of Hamppe-Allgaier, Enwels winning from Holt a Vienna Gambit.

FLYING SPARKS OF MOTORDOM.

The Nokomis Motor Club of Nokomis, Ill., has been formally admitted to membership in the A.A.A.

One sees few small automobiles in Germany. The demand runs to touring cars. In Nuremberg gasoline costs 32 cents per gallon.

Gray is becoming more and more popular as a color for road and touring machines. It does not show the dust and is hard-wearing.

Owing to lack of facilities for repairing automobiles in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, the field for American-made automobiles has not been encouraging.

An entire sewing machine factory plant was recently moved to new quarters five miles distant, by means of three-ton motor trucks, at Cleveland, Ohio.

What is said to be the largest rubber plantation in the world, containing twenty-nine square miles, is located in the Department of Soconusco, Mexico. It contains seven million trees.

Automobile dealers and manufacturers of Indianapolis, Ind., will have their annual opening February 27 and 28 and March 1, 2, 3 and 4. Each dealer and manufacturer will have a special display at his own establishment. There is no building in Indianapolis large enough to house a show under one roof. A number of out-door events, including night and day parades, a hill climb and novelty races will be held.

A device shown at the Detroit show, that has caused much talk since, is pocket combination receiver and transmitter with a short insulated wire and plug attached is furnished. The user looks for the first telephone, telegraph or trolley pole that has one of the boxes designed for this use. He inserts the plug in a hole in the box and is immediately in communication with the company's exchange.

There can be no longer any doubting, but that the era of the motor vehicle for commercial purposes has arrived and that the next few years will be witness to remarkable changes in the transportation methods of the country and particularly in the large cities. The enthusiasm and interest displayed in motor trucks at all the automobile shows is clear indication that business conservation has yielded to the self-propelled vehicle.

The vehicle industry in America uses more hickory than any other, is most dependent upon it, and takes about 65 per cent. of the total cut, of which more than one-half is used for spokes. About 1 per cent. of the annual cut of hickory is used in the manufacture of automobile spokes and wheel rims. To give a relative idea of the real meaning of this statement, the American automobile industry last year used approximately 800,000 wheels, containing about 9,000,000 spokes, not to mention an enormous additional amount of material necessary for the construction of the felloes.

Autos in Jerusalem.

In the city of Jerusalem there are but two automobiles. Like Jerusalem, like Palestine. It may be many years before the automobile becomes a popular vehicle, even for purposes of pleasure, in Palestine. But there is a plausible reason for the holding back of improvements in the way of locomotion. The trouble is with the roads. It is doubtful if much worse roads exist in any part of the so-called civilized world. Up to this time, there has been but one tourist who has had the bravery to attempt to thread the roads of Palestine with an automobile.

Dove of Peace Lights.

STODDARD MAN NOT IN FIGHT.

CHURCH REFUSES TO HEAD ANY NEW DEALERS' BODY.

Stoddard-Dayton Man Is Satisfied With Brisk Business and Is Too Busy to Take Part in Any Tussle. New Sedan Inclosed Car Makes Great Hit and Baker Is Popular.

Norman W. Church, Coast representative for the Stoddard-Dayton, is not willing to head any movement which has for its object the organization of a new automobile dealers' association. This is final on the part of Church, who is not belligerent and who has no desire to stir up trouble.

"There is enough to do in the Stoddar-Dayton line," said Church yesterday, "to keep me busy for some time to come. I have no desire to take part in a movement to organize a new automobile body. I am contented to remain in an unofficial capacity as representative of the Stoddard-Dayton line of cars.

"Of course there is plenty doing in the East, and in the West. Things are lively on the Pacific Coast. We have excellent reports from our agencies all along the Coast and we are looking forward to a great year. What would be the sense of my taking part in a movement which might prove unpopular?

"Honors will not be thrust upon me. I am not seeking them and would refuse any overtures if they are made. Business at the Stoddard-Dayton Motor Company is brisk and the cars are moving. We are pleased to report progress but not along the lines of organization into a dealers' body."

One of the handsome Stoddard-Dayton cars which the local agency is to receive is the Sedan inclosed limousine. It is finished elegantly and the broadcloth and whipcord is of the best. There are improvements in this car which have never been shown before. Church is to secure one for his own use. This car made a great hit at the New York and Chicago automobile shows. It has proved one of the Stoddard-Dayton sensations.

The Baker electric models are moving fast. The coupe is perhaps the most popular model. The shaft drive car has made the hit the factory promised it would. The machine will travel 100 miles easily on the storage batteries. It is stylish and ornate and there is a large variety of choice.

During the past week the Stoddard-Dayton Motor Company has placed the Bakers in a prominent position on the salesroom floor. The machines have attracted a great amount of attention and have proved a great drawing card even during the rain.

BOWLING SCORES.

The class of bowling among the players in the Electric League at Brunswick Alleys picked up much during the past week. Arbogast jumped into the lead with a margin of one pin over Roop. The principal interest continues to center around the individual averages as the competition is much closer there than among the teams.

PREMIER CLASH OF THE SEASON.

McLoughlin and Bundy to Be Tennis Opponents.

To Settle Championship of Coronado Courts.

California Players to Meet in Winter Tourney.

The championship of the West in men's singles will be determined when Thomas Bundy, the Los Angeles crack racquet wielder, hooks up with Maurice E. McLoughlin, the San Francisco champion, in the famous Coronado Country Club championship trophy event at Coronado next week.

Bundy won the cup in 1907 and 1908, while McLoughlin's two legs on the cup were won in 1909 and 1910. The trophy must be won three times by any one player to become his property.

The doughty Los Angeles player is not in the best of condition, having played very little tennis during the past two months, devoting most of his time to business. Reports from the north state that McLoughlin is in fine fettle and ready and anxious to give battle to his southern rival on the courts.

Bundy was awarded No. 2 position by the Ranking Committee of the U.S.N. L.T.A. William A. Larned, the veteran tennis champion, was awarded No. 1 position. Bundy ploughed his way through all comers in the national contests and played the champion a five-set match in the challenge round. McLoughlin was given fourth place by the committee although many racquet experts firmly believe that he was entitled to a notch higher.

The Coronado contest will decide the superiority of the northern and southern champions. While there is keen rivalry between Bundy and McLoughlin when under fire on the courts, they are the best of friends and will play partners in the men's doubles, and have every prospect of annexing this event.

Miss May Sutton, the queen of tennis players in the world, has entered the tourney and will play in the singles and doubles. She is in fine condition and is playing a remarkably strong game according to all reports. Melville Long and Hal Foley, two of the best players in the West, are expected to file their entry blanks before many days. They hail from the Bay City. The committee placed Long in No. 5 position. Bacon and Young of Duarte have entered and they make a powerful combination. John Holmes, champion of Pasadena, will play in the men's singles. He has shown wonderful improvement recently and will give an excellent account of himself.

THREE GOOD COURTS.

The three courts of the club are cement, with slightly roughened surface—the latest improvement in this kind of court, which gives the ball a slower bound, and the player a firmer foothold. A large covered grandstand stretches the length of the courts.

The clubhouse is large and elegantly appointed. From the second floor, where tea is served each afternoon of the tournament, a splendid view of the championship court is commanded and this is always a popular place of vantage with the women.

Prominent among the men players who will compete are: Thomas Bundy, Maurice McLoughlin, Simpson Sinsabaugh, F. Bacon, C. Young, John Holmes, A. E. Bell, Clifton Herd, Nat Browne, Claude Wayne, E. G. Galusha and Winfred Mace, the champion of Southern California. Mace won the championship while Bundy was playing in the East.

The following well-known lady players have entered: Miss May Sutton, Mrs. Harvey, Mrs. Bruce, Miss Nannie Rowan, Miss Alice Scott and Miss Florence Sutton.

Play begins on the morning of February 8, and the tourney ends February 11. A dance will be given by the management of the Hotel del Coronado, on the night of February [illegible] for the tennis players and their friends.

The Long Beach Tennis Tournament opens on the Hotel Virginia courts February 15 and ends three days later. Nearly all of those who participate in the Coronado tourney have entered the Long Beach meet.

"Old Hoss" Pete Steiner, of Sterling, is the oldest horse driver in America. He is 76. Ed Geers is 60. Pete started racing when he was 20, and next season will be his fifty-seventh on the track. He doesn't smoke or chew.

George Dietrich, secretary of the Grand Circuit, says Steiner is recognized as the oldest driver since the death of Julius Mosier of New Hampshire, who was driving when 80.

Steiner was raised on a stock farm. His father bred draft horses. Pete's brothers were raised in the draft horse business. He had twenty-four brothers and sisters. But Pete had sporting blood in his veins and took to the trotters. He would not accept an interest in the draft horse business offered by his father.

PREMIER CLASH OF THE SEASON.

McLoughlin and Bundy to Be Tennis Opponents.

To Settle Championship of Coronado Courts.

California Players to Meet in Winter Tourney.

The championship of the West in men's singles will be determined when Thomas Bundy, the Los Angeles crack racquet wielder, hooks up with Maurice E. McLoughlin, the San Francisco champion, in the famous Coronado Country Club championship trophy event at Coronado next week.

Bundy won the cup in 1907 and 1908, with McLoughlin's two legs on the cup won in 1909 and 1910. The trophy must be won three times by any one player to become his property.

The doughty Los Angeles player is not in the best of condition, having played very little tennis during the past two months, devoting most of his time to business. Reports from the north state that McLoughlin is in fine fettle and ready and anxious to give battle to his southern rival on the courts.

Bundy was awarded No. 2 position by the Ranking Committee of the U.S.N. L.T.A. William A. Larned, the veteran tennis champion, was awarded No. 1 position. Bundy ploughed his way through all comers in the national contests and played the champion a five-set match in the challenge round. McLoughlin was given fourth place by the committee although many racquet experts firmly believe that he was entitled to a notch higher.

The Coronado contest will decide the superiority of the northern and southern champions. While there is keen rivalry between Bundy and McLoughlin when under fire on the courts, they are the best of friends and will play partners in the men's doubles, and have every prospect of annexing this event.

Miss May Sutton, the queen of tennis players in the world, has entered the tourney and will play in the singles and doubles. Daisy King won one race at Medina last summer, two at Berea, one at Millersburg, two at Attica, and two at Chagrin Falls, pulling the outfit from one town to another.

Pete spends most of his time in winter around the grocery store stove.

"I was just reading about Ed Geers," said Pete, as he laid aside a horse paper. "Ed's an old friend of mine. Used to drive against him. Now, he's on the big ring and I'm still a half-miler.

"Hal Pointer made Geers. About twenty-five or thirty years ago Ed drove Hal Pointer in 2:05. They couldn't beat him. J. C. Hamlin, a Buffalo millionaire, tried his best to beat Hal Pointer, and couldn't, so he bought him and made Geers his driver. After that whenever Ed saw a good stepper he got Hamlin to buy him. They brought out The Abbot, Fantasy, Heir-at-Law and a lot of other good ones.

"Fifty years ago any horse that stepped a mile in nineteen was considered a whirlwind. Nobody ever dreamed that some day Dan Patch would go it in 1:55. Why, thirty-five years ago Dexter set 'em wild when he did a mile in seventeen and a quarter.

"Tracks were two or three minutes slower then, and the high-wheeled carts were about four seconds slower than the bikes they use today. The tracks were so narrow only one horse could go at a time. Breeders were scarce. You couldn't get more than $100 for winning a sweepstake. Now you can get about $10,000."

"Pete's the gamest man I ever did see," said a neighbor as Steiner left the store to hitch up Daisy King. "Pete and I were raised together. He'd bet on the weather and fight at the drop of the hat. And how he could fight! I guess he can still use his old flippers pretty well. No country toughs ever broke up any of our barn dances when Pete was there."

"Was he ever married?" asked a drummer.

"Nope. As far as we can remember he only courted one girl, and he sold his chance on her. One night Pete was going to take her home from a party. Some fellow, knowing Pete was gamey, says to him: 'Pete, what'll you take for your chance?' Pete says: 'I'll take a nickel,' and the fellow handed him the money. The other fellow took the girl home, and not long afterward they were married. Pete never did any more courtin'."

STANFORD MEN BEAT "OLD JUP."

TRACK ATHLETES GET OUT OF MUD IN INDOOR MEET.

Three Weeks of Rain Drive Cardinals to San Francisco to Limber Up on Dry Track—Southern Freshmen Make Bow in College Cinder Path Work Well Performed.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Feb. 3.—Eleven Cardinal track men tonight slipped one over on the elements that have been bucking the track squad ever since it started to train three weeks ago. The men went to San Francisco and competed in the indoor meet that was conducted by the Olympic Club. For the first time this year they had an opportunity to try out on a dry track.

Tom Coleman, '12, of Los Angeles; Taylor, '11; Millsap, '12, of Pasadena; Dawson, '14, of Los Angeles, and Campbell, '13, competed in the relay event. Dawson and Ted Geissler ran in the seventy-five-yard dash. Campbell entered the 300-yard event and Dole, '11, of Riverside, and Olmstead, '14, of Los Angeles, put the shot.

Dawson, Geissler and Olmstead made their debut in college track athletics. These Los Angeles boys are about the classiest track athletes in the freshman class and are being counted on to grab a large number of points in the "baby" meet with California. Geissler and Olmstead were members of the freshman and 'varsity football teams last fall and Dawson is a top-notcher in tennis. Before they graduate they should gain an unusually high rank among the men who have represented the Cardinal in athletics.

Although the track men have been wallowing in mud for three weeks they are sticking at the grind with splendid spirit. "Dad" Moulton says he has never had as good a bunch of workers. The only thing lacking to make him really happy is a larger number of freshman recruits.

Manager Burbank completed the track schedule this afternoon. Meets are to be held as follows:

February 25: Stanford freshmen and Santa Clara, at Stanford.

March 4: Stanford 'varsity and U.S.C., at Los Angeles.

March 8: Stanford freshmen and St. Mary's, at Stanford.

March 18: Stanford freshmen and California freshmen, at Stanford.

March 25: Stanford 'varsity and Olympic Club at Stanford.

April 1: Stanford 'varsity and U.S.C., at Stanford.

April 5: Interclass meet.

April 15: Intercollegiate 'varsity meet, Stanford and California, at Berkeley.

A Living Chair.

To suggest that four boys may sit comfortably, each on the knee of another, sounds like telling them to lift themselves by their own boot straps. One wonders what the "last one" is going to do.

Yet the trick is perfectly simple, and when the boys act quickly and in unison, the effect is very amusing.

They must first stand in the form of a cross, with each boy's right arm touching the arms of his neighbors at the center of the group, and each one's back at right angles to the one behind.

At a signal, all four sit down simultaneously as if about to sit in chairs. Each one will find himself on the knee of the boy behind him. There will be no "last" boy.

The same "stunt" can be performed by more than four persons by enlarging the circle to take in the increased number. In this case each boy must be careful to stand at a sufficient angle to his neighbor in front to furnish the necessary support.—[Youth's Companion.

Where Gallantry Ceases.

"I always believe," he gallantly said, "in yielding to the ladies."

"I suppose you always give way to your wife when you and she happen to have an argument?"

"Invariably."

"And you never fail to relinquish your seat in the car when it happens that some woman would have to stand unless you did so?"

"Certainly."

"Do you take off your hat when you get in an elevator where there are ladies?"

"I never fail to do that."

"If you had secured the last lower berth in a sleeper would you give it up to a lady who would otherwise have to occupy an upper?"

"Of course. I have done it frequently."

"In case you stood in line in front of a ticket window, would you be willing to go away back to the end so that some woman might have your place?"

"Say, what do you think I am—a fool?"—[Chicago Record-Herald.

Some Stand-Ins.

OFFICIALS DO NOT DO DUTY.

Overlook Many Queer Tricks by Favored Horsemen.

Good Things Are Slipped Over When Price Suits.

Many Funny Races Are Contested on Trotting Tracks.

"I don't know how they do it," said the veteran, "but some men seem to be able to take more liberties than others in the racing game, and I have been trying to figure out how they manage it.

"Take the case of the man who was caught red-handed on the Canadian circuit last year fixing men to suit himself and controlling jockeys. This individual had been on the ragged edge for some time, and on half a dozen occasions had been saved through what looked like providential intervention. There wasn't quite enough evidence to hang him, figuratively speaking, but last summer at a place not far from Detroit on the Canadian circuit a fearless judge caught him 'right,' as they say.

"This man's game for many years had been smooth. He would pick imaginary particles of lint from the coats of the racing officials and the prominent men of the turf world and tell them how well they looked. He had a perfect genius for making acquaintances with men who had money and were willing to take a chance with it, and he could convey in the subtlest manner possible the impression that he knew a lot that he would like to impart, but prudence forbade. It was astonishing what he could convey by shrewd winks and nods while discussing races that had been run and others that were to come off at no distant day.

EASILY NAILS VICTIMS.

"There is an old theory that no dead square man ever bought any green goods in New York; but the police records are filled with instances of men of high repute in their home community coming to the big city to exchange a small amount of good currency for a lot of bad. That was the way my man nailed his victims. He picked out many a prominent citizen and made few mistakes. He knew all the jockeys apparently intimately, and, as he had a big stable of horses, generally he found it convenient to distribute his riding so that most of the lads were under obligations to him.

"Working in a thoroughly systematic manner through an agent who was as smooth as his master, the plans were well laid and many a poolroom owner rubbed his eyes in amazement when he read the returns of races that showed no ordinary improvement in the form of the horse the confederacy had wagered on so heavily. Some of the men this fellow found ready to put up thousands of dollars on a race of which he had conveyed the impression that it was fixed, would want to punch you in the eye if you even whispered that their business methods were questionable. Why is it that some men's code of honor is different the moment they approach a sporting proposition?

AVOID JOCKEY CLUB TRACKS.

"There was another bird of prey associated with this chap I'm telling you about that was in the same boat. They managed to race at the same meetings in the North, West and South, and generally avoided the Jockey Club's tracks, though they occasionally put in an appearance around New York in the early spring and late fall. While around Gotham they walked in a straight line. Their methods were about the same, with this difference: The other fellow largely bet his own money, while the 'fixer' relied upon getting somebody else to take a chance. He had them all over the country, too, and it's a remarkable thing that with all his scheming and fixing few of his good things came off, and the men who stuck to him lost money in the long run.

"The undoing of the man came about accidentally they say; that is, the actual proof was secured by chance. The authorities had waited patiently in the hope that somebody would turn State's evidence and make it easy to apply the extreme penalty. While they were waiting one of the racing officials on the Canadian circuit opened a letter by mistake and found a detailed statement in connection with the disbursements of a fund for which a check was enclosed. The letter was addressed to my man and it had been opened by error, at least that's what the officials say, the letter getting mixed with the association's mail.

"With the proof at their hand it was easy to make some of the beneficiaries confess, and the verdict was that the chief conspirator should walk the plank. There was some punishment for others and several that should have got it didn't, but the main thing is that the chief highbinder who had been a pest for so many years had been branded properly at last.

NOW RACING IN SOUTH.

"Now what is the result? He is running horses in somebody else's name in the South, and his clients—he has a few left—are being touted as assiduously as of yore. I have no means of knowing whether the man himself is being permitted to enter the grounds of the southern racetracks, but I do know positively that they pulled off a good thing there not more than two weeks ago, because the man's telegram to a well known New Yorker, who is always ready to take the sort of chance I told you of at the early part of this talk, was shown to me.

"Where does the punishment come in? Do you think it hurts him to go abroad with a brand of dishonor? Nothing in his life to date would convey that impression. Of course, he won't be allowed on the ground of any racing association hereabout, and it is a certainty that the members of the Canadian Racing Association will not stultify themselves by reinstating him to any privileges.

"The other instance was on the trotting tracks, where a man who is known from coast to coast raced a horse all last season and was never better than second in any contest in which he took part, and the miles were from 2:04¼ up to 2:12. It was common talk all down the Grand circuit that the man would not let his horse win because he wanted to stake him in 1911; that is, enter him in the early closing events, where the remuneration would be greater. In plain language, this well-known driver, and every Grand circuit follower knows his name, pulled the horse; did not try to win with him, and the lax officials let him do it without a rebuke so far as the records show.

JUDGES LAX IN DUTIES.

"What they should have done was to take the driver out of the sulky some fine afternoon, substitute another man in his place and after the horse had won, rule the dishonest man off the turf. No mere fine or suspension for a month would be fit punishment for an offense which unfortunately seems to be condoned in some quarters, especially when the driver in question has a big stable.

"This same man has been guilty of the same sort of work before, and he was richly rewarded, his horse winning more than $15,000 the year he cut him loose. Whether he will or not the coming year remains to be seen. There are many honest turfmen hoping and praying that some phenomenal horse will appear in the cheater's class and beat him when the money is down."

FRANKLIN TRUCK WINS.

A Franklin 1910 truck won the "Journal" Truck Economy race at Portland January 21, according to just received by Ralph C. Hamlin, manager of the local agency. The roads were muddy and there was one 18 per cent. grade. The entries in the race included a Buick, a Sampson, a Schart and a Stoddard-Dayton. The run was made at a cost of 2½ cents a mile.

Never Saw His Legs.

When George Washington Richards, the Boston publisher and turfman, started out in the business world after leaving college, he was not so prosperous as he is now and on more than one occasion he was forced to visit a pawnshop to make both ends meet. From frequent visits to "uncle," Richards became pretty well acquainted with the proprietor, to whom he was introduced by a mutual friend some years later, when fortune had just begun to beam upon him.

"It seems to me," said the pawnbroker, with a twinkle in his eye, "that we have met some place before."

Richards surveyed the other thoughtfully for some seconds, and then replied:

"Yes, come to think of it, I guess we have met before. But, strange to say, this is the first time I knew that you were bowlegged."—[Des Moines Capi-

Automobile authorities and enthusiasts were very much exercised when they learned that the Croxton-Keeton car was really a taxicab. The machine made an excellent showing, keeping up within hailing distance of the leaders in the race; it outlasted some of the cars which were expected to be among the leaders when the race was called off. The taxicab body had been taken from the machine and a racing body put in its place in the race. —New York Times.

Somewhat of a sensation was created at the finish by the discovery that the Croxton-Keeton car, which scored 1,004 miles, in fourth place, was a taxicab chassis instead of a pleasure or racing car. The taxi chugged along steadily through the race, attracting attention mainly by the dogged way it held to the heels of its fleet rivals.—New York Press.

GREAT COASTER TOURNAMENT FOR "MIDWINTER" NEWSBOYS.

Several Hundred Youngsters to Meet in Competition at Luna Park Week From Next Saturday. Winners Are to Receive Valuable Prizes From "The Times."

A BIG "Times" coaster tournament is to be held at Luna Park, Saturday, February 18, at 9:30 o'clock. Every boy in Southern California who won one of the Rockaway coasters given away by The Times for selling Midwinter copies, is eligible to compete.

These coasters are neat little four-wheel affairs propelled by foot power. Each youthful salesman who disposed of sixty copies of the big Midwinter number at the mailing price of 15 cents, received a coaster.

Prizes including sweaters, baseball mitts, pocket knives, punching bags, hockey sticks and other sporting goods are to be given out to the boys who win in the events.

Luna Park is to be thrown open with free admission to boys of all ages. Both those who expect to race and spectators will be allowed in the park without charge.

The track is a circular board course with eight laps to the mile and will accommodate seven racers at one time. The large number of entries will make it necessary to run a number of heats in most of the events. The winners in the various heats will race in the finals for the prizes.

Every boy who won one of the speedy little coasters given away by The Times for selling the Midwinter Numbers is oiling and getting his machine in shape for the event.

No entry fee is to be charged. The boys who wish to enter are to clip out the entry blank and mail it to the circulation manager at once.

Several hundred of the coasters were won by boys from the age of 6 years up, all over Southern California. The races are divided into classes for the various ages, so that the little fellows will have a chance as well as the older boys.

OUTSIDE TOWNS.

It is likely that the owners of coasters in the towns some distance from the city will hold try-outs to determine which driver shall represent the town at the meet. A number of the coasters were won by boys in Pomona, Alhambra, Whittier Long Beach and there are some in nearly every town in Southern California.

The relay race is the only contest which is not open to all entries. In that event the first three teams of eight men who are entered will be given a chance to compete. The boys in a neighborhood will have to get together and elect their captains and organize their own crews as entries will only be received for three full eight-boy teams.

Each contestant in the relay race will go one lap of the course in competition with the two racers from the other two teams. As each boy comes up to the finish mark he will touch off the next race on his side. This will continue until the eight boys on each aggregation have gone the eight laps, which is one mile.

A handsome sweater or baseball mitt will be given to each member of the winning eight. Besides the relay there are contests in quick turning, races against time for one and two laps, and dashes.

There is but one restriction upon the contestants; that is, they must agree to practice for at least one hour on the course before the contest. For this purpose the park is to be thrown open to the contestants some time before the tournament. The time has not been fixed as yet, but every fellow who wishes to enter will have a chance to try out on the track.

A number of officials have been appointed to take charge of the tourney so it will be pulled off in strictly businesslike style. Each contestant will be required to come up to the scratch at the announcement of the race for which he is entered. Judges will see that there is no fouling. Stop watches will be used to keep the time records. It is hoped that some championship records can be established for future racing on the course.

SPEED SKATES.

The meet will include exhibition races on "Times" Rockaway "Speed Skates." This is a new-fangled roller skate that is to be given out to the business boys who sell The Sunday Times. Further announcement of this Sunday Times contest will be made at the Coaster meet. This will be of special interest to every boy who sells or desires to sell the big Sunday issue of The Times.

Since The Times "Special" coasters were given out a few days ago a number of the little fellows have worked up remarkable speed on them. It is expected that the competition will be keen. Those who expect to enter are putting in every minute possible getting down to the best form and speed.

A large number of special prizes are to be given to the boys who secured more than twenty credits in the Midwinter selling contest, but did not get the sixty credits which was necessary to secure a coaster.

These prizes consist of sweaters, caps, catchers' mitts, fielders mitts and all kinds of athletic goods. Every fellow who sold more than twenty of the Midwinter numbers but did not reach the sixty mark should be present to get one of these prizes. They are given out voluntarily by The Times, as no prizes were offered for less than sixty orders.

The officials for the meet are: Starter, Arthur Lee; assistant starter, Shannon B. Meyers; referee, Lou Guernsey; clerk of course, "Pat" Wheelan; Judges, J. B. Snyder, Horace Gillette; timers, John Dukes, M. F. Shakley.

Programme of events:

The 1 mile relay race: Open to the first three teams of eight men each who are entered, each contestant to go one lap; prizes to each member of the winning team.

One lap dash: Open to boys from 12 to 15 year; prizes for first and second places.

One lap dash: Free for all; prizes for first, second and third places.

One lap, race against time: Free for all; best prizes of meet for first and second places in this event.

Two lap race against time: Free for all; prizes to first and second places.

Quick turning races: Free for all.

All entries to these races must be sent in at once, on the entry blank accompanying this article, to The Times Circulation Dept. The first three relay teams that are organized and entered will be the ones to compete in the tournament.

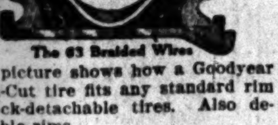
No-Rim-Cut Tires

Cost Nothing Extra Now

Goodyear No-Rim-Cut tires, until lately, cost 20 per cent. more than other standard tires. Yet last year our tire sales trebled—jumped to $8,500,000.

Now, because of enormous production, they cost no extra price.

No-Rim-Cut tires have become the sensation. Half a million have already been sold. And 64 leading motor car makers have contracted for them for 1911. For these are the only practical tires which make rim-cutting impossible. Let us explain.



The 63 Braided Wires

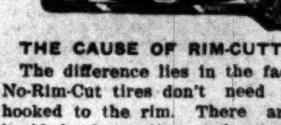
This picture shows how a Goodyear No-Rim-Cut tire fits any standard rim for quick-detachable tires. Also demountable rims.

Note that the rim flanges, which are removable, are turned to hook outward with No-Rim-Cut tires. The rounded flange comes next to the tire casing, and rim-cutting is made impossible.

We have run these tires flat in a hundred tests—as far as 20 miles—with never an instance of rim-cutting.

The next picture shows how an ordinary tire—a clincher tire—fits this same rim. The rim flanges here must be turned to hook inward — to grasp hold of the hook in the tire. That is how the tires are held on.

Note how that thin edge of the rim flange digs into the tire. That is what causes rim-cutting. A tire may be ruined beyond repair in a single block if you run it flat.



THE CAUSE OF RIM-CUTTING.

The difference lies in the fact that No-Rim-Cut tires don't need to be hooked to the rim. There are 126 braided piano wires vulcanized into the base. This makes the base so unstretchable that it can't be forced off without removing the rim flange. No hooks and no tire bolts are needed.

When the tire is inflated these braided wires contract. The tire is then held to the rim by a pressure of 134 pounds to the inch.

This is the only practical method to make an unstretchable tire base. A hard rubber base or a single wire won't do. The braided wires which contract under air pressure are essential to a safe hookless tire. The control of this feature gives us control of the only practical tire which won't rim-cut.

GOODYEAR
No-Rim-Cut Tires
With or Without Non-Skid Tread

10 PER CENT. OVERSIZE.

Here is another advantage. Goodyear No-Rim-Cut tires are made 10 per cent. wider than rated size. This means 10 per cent. more tire to take care of top, glass front and other extra weight. With the average car, this 10 per cent. oversize adds 25 per cent. to the tire mileage.

You can now get these No-Rim-Cut tires—these oversize tires—without any extra cost. These two features together are saving motor car owners millions of dollars on tires. Our Tire Book tells how to cut tire bills in half. Ask us to send it to you.

In the big automobile shows held this year more pneumatic tired cars were equipped with Goodyears than with any other make.

He from his forward and goes down to take a try. He is also accurate at free throws and has a larger per cent. than any player in the colleges.

Lorbeer, the other defense man, is the strongest all-around player on the Pomona team this year. He is rangy and covers well. He also has a knack of being at the forward end of the field at opportune moments and throwing goals.

Walter Hall of U.S.C. could fill either guard position to good advantage. He has a tendency to leave his opposing forward at times, however. This has proved disastrous to the U.S.C. team at times and is the only thing that disqualifies him for a place on the All-Southern.

Hollister, the Occidental captain, deserves credit for a good season's work. Hollister has been largely responsible for the best team that the Highland Park school ever put out. He played a star forward all season besides coaching a team of raw material. Next to Blair and Renneker, he is the best forward in the conference.

SHARK HUNTING IN THE ISLANDS.

GREAT SPORT WITH MAN-EATERS IN HAWAIIAN WATERS.

Fish Found in Great Numbers and Clubs Are Formed to Catch Them—Dead White Horse Is the Bait Most Desirable For Use.

There is no sport more thrilling than hunting sharks or perhaps shooting flying fish. Lately in the Hawaiian Islands it has become the craze and a firm with launches has been established to promote the sport. For $10 they secure the necessary dead white horse for bait and provide the launch.

Sharks are to be found in great numbers in the seas around Honolulu and they follow the large streams into the harbor in the effort to get the food that is thrown overboard.

There are a great many clubs around the shore and a cry of "Shark! Shark!" often creates an amusing panic. One bite is enough to kill and a man is hardly more than one swallow to a seventeen or twenty foot shark. Ten to twenty feet is their usual size, though there have been stories of larger ones and tales of thrilling events.

Where the people surf-ride on the waves they are never seen. "Melahinis," i. e. tourists, often mistake the deep-sea fish, the "uloa," for a shark. The Japanese sampans know the difference; uloa means to them luxury, whereas the shark produces but a very tough meat only good for its cheapness and only eatable to those who can stand its repulsive odor.

The Hawaiian lost his taste for sharp meat a long time ago, or to be more exact, about three generations ago when a few Portuguese of San Pedro started shipping the result of their fishing to the Hawaiian Islands.

Lately in Hawaii a process was devised enabling the oil of the shark to be used for lubricating purposes. Shark teeth in the olden times took the place of the precious metal or stones that are not found on the islands. The choicest pieces of jewelry were made with women's hair and shark's teeth. All the fish hooks were made with the bones of the shark. Even the skin which is extremely thin is used for covering purposes and the making of toys. The old Hawaiian drum that always preceded royalty or announced the sacrifice at the temple to idols was a burnt-out stump of cocoanut tree covered with shark's skin.

The natives despise the modern turn that all their sports have taken. They do not use the steam launch, gun or explosives like the American and Japanese. They go to the wild shores back of the mountain range and fish in the old primitive way, not for commerce, but for themselves and for the mystery of the sport. They will stand way out on a rock, nothing on but a loin cloth, staring for hours for the fish to spear or the school to come. Their ancestors were 400,000 strong, they lived on fish, and did almost nothing but fish. It is believed that leprosy was started by the overeating of fish. Not a hundred fishermen are left.

Several methods were adopted by them in shark hunting. They might couch the sharks with human flesh on very large sharp hooks, or they might catch them in the same way that crocodiles are caught in Africa. By swimming in the water and holding in the right hand a piece of iron pointed at both ends, the shark, instead of biting the man, bites the point and is towed ashore by a rope.

The most exciting and the preferred way was to attack the monster in a free-hand fight. Perched on some outlying rock, or swimming around the clear warm water, the dark-skinned native waited for a glimpse of a shark. Then a dive would bring him under the fish and the fight would start as the shark turned on its back to bite. As a rule the fight would result favorably for the man. Some-

FACULTY ERRS, SAY STUDENTS.

Stanford Captains Believe New Move Is Bad.

Ban on Freshman Games Will Paralyize Sports.

New Schemes Suggested to Relieve Situation.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Feb. 3.—Cardinal students are in the "dumps" as a result of the announcement that the university authorities intend to place intercollegiate freshmen contests under the ban. The students are almost unanimously opposed to the change, but, as has been the case many times before, this will not influence the faculty to any extent in its action.

There is a ray of hope, however, that partly takes the sting out of the latest move of the faculty. The "babies" may continue to be eligible for intercollegiate 'varsity teams. While the ban has been placed on freshmen struggles as such, the order is believed by many students not to be intended to keep the freshmen from trying to make places on the 'varsity. While some consolation is to be found in this interpretation of the rule, it is probable that when the time comes to put the rule into operation, freshmen will be kept out of all intercollegiate games, including the 'varsity contests.

The objections of the faculty to the "baby" struggles in football, track and crew, are numerous. Chief among them is that the distraction resulting from the contests, particularly the football game, seriously interferes with the newcomers' studies. The campus is in a state of excitement before the freshman game that almost equals the unrest before the big game, says the faculty. While this statement is somewhat of an exaggeration, nevertheless during the last two years, when Stanford has had especially strong freshman teams, the "baby" struggle has caused perhaps more excitement than should have been developed.

The faculty maintains that its plan is to encourage a more general participation in athletics. Most of the students believe that by prohibiting freshmen from competing in intercollegiate games the faculty is defeating the very purpose it wants to accomplish. Kenny Dole, '11, of Riverside, football captain last year, is not in favor of the ruling. He says:

FOOTBALL STAR OPPOSED.

"It seems to me that this action will work directly against the policy the faculty has been trying to carry out in the last few years, namely, to get the largest possible number of men into athletics. With the freshmen intercollegiate meets cut out, the number of freshmen trying out for teams will be very small, as the chance of their making a team will be a fraction of what it has been. If their interest is not aroused the first year the chance that it will be aroused later is hardly possible."

Bert Ball, '11, of Los Angeles, baseball captain, says that the freshmen will not improve in scholarship as a result of being kept out of intercollegiate athletics, as the hour and a half they usually pass in practice each day during training seasons will not be devoted to studies.

According to "Doc" Schaupp, '12, crew captain, rowing will be hit harder than any of the other sports by the ruling.

"The faculty recommendation if carried into effect will seriously retard the development of 'varsity crews," he says. "Men trying out for the freshmen shell do so because they hope to develop themselves into rowers of 'varsity caliber. Dan Murphy said that a man cannot row well until he has been in the boat two years."

That the freshmen who have participated in intercollegiate games during the last two years did not do poor work in their studies is shown by the university records. Six freshmen have played against California during that time and none of them is deficient in a single course of study.

Some of the students who know it is useless to endeavor to oppose the action of the faculty are busy devising methods by which the change will not cripple Stanford athletics. It is proposed that the universities hold four interclass games each year, each class at Stanford meeting the corresponding class at California. This plan, it is claimed, will scatter the interest of the students so that the freshman game will not cause as much distraction as it has in the past. Also, such a move would give more men an opportunity to get into athletics, and this is the SPECIAL PRIZES.

Following is the list of boys who worked securing subscriptions for The Times Midwinter, but did not get enough to secure a coaster, yet who secured more than twenty credits, each one of whom will be awarded a handsome and valuable prize in proportion to the number of orders he secured. The prizes will consist of sweaters, caps, catchers' mitts, fielders' mitts, league balls, batts, etc.

These prizes are given voluntarily by The Times, as they were not promised unless the full sixty orders were secured.

The awards will be made at the Big Coaster Race Tournament, Saturday, February 18, 1911.

CLASSY CAMERON CARS CLOSE COMPETITORS of cars double their price. It is the only 4-cylinder car made today that will make 26 miles on one gallon of gasoline, and will only use one quart of lubricant oil over 100 miles. Do you know of any car of the 4-cylinder type that can make that mileage. If you don't believe my statement, it won't cost anything to investigate, and you will know all. We have the right car made in the right way, from the right materials, sold at the right price. No intending purchaser of a motor car who wishes to be fair to himself can afford to reach a decision until he knows what we have to offer. PLAYERS WORK IN OFF SEASON.

Los Angeles Baseball Stars Are Keeping Busy.

This City Is the Center of Winter Activity.

Angels Building New Stands at Washington Park.

Contrary to the ideas of some of the fans, ball players do not go "back to the mines" in the good old winter time, for more than one-half of them stick around the big cities and rest. Scores of them play winter ball and some even go so far as to work, which many of us think a ball player cannot do.

There are only two men of the northern teams in this vicinity at present, Kid Mohler of the San Francisco Club and Mickey La Longe of the Sacramento team. The Kid played winter ball with the Doyle team for several weeks and is visiting relatives, while La Longe is still playing with the McCormicks, but will probably lay off after this week.

Jess Stovall, formerly of the Vernon team, has been posing as a carpenter for several months and within the next week expects to go to Redondo to work in a billiard room. Kit Brashear, also once of the Vernons and now manager of a team in the Northwest League, managed the Doyle team for a time and has just returned from a trip to the springs.

Coy, Carlisle, Burrell, Schafer, Thorsen and Murphy have been working at the new Washington Park ball grounds, formerly the Chutes, and they have dug holes, surveyed and have dipped into the various forms of work to be found around a ball ground in the process of rejuvenation.

Hap Hogan, manager of the Vernon team, thinks he has been doing a lot of hard work this winter getting his contracts signed and looking wise.

Jimmy Toman, formerly of the Los Angeles team and once an umpire in the Coast League, has been umpiring for several months in the Winter League while living in this city. He may take a job as an ump in some minor league.

Roy Brashear of the Vernon team has been living quietly this winter in this city while Catcher Drummond Brown has been making his home at Ocean Park and playing Sunday ball up at Oxnard in Ventura county. Rube Ellis of the St. Louis team has been living out at his ranch near Rivera herding the chickens and taking life easily. Oscar Jones, who belongs to the San Francisco team and cannot get his reinstatement, has been pitching this winter at Whittier, but has been in this city the greater part of the time.

KEEPING STORE.

Hughey Smith and Bert Delmas of the Los Angeles team have a little store in San Francisco and are selling a patented tool put out by an eastern house. Pitcher Klein is working in a poolroom in the metropolis and Walter Nagle has been lounging around his home at Santa Rosa and working in one of the county offices. Roy Castleton is at his home in Salt Lake; Criger is just "sticking around" in this city, as are Dillon, Tozer, Howard and Daley. Murphy has been trying to regain his health in this city and has played some winter ball.

Pitcher Delhi is a clerk in the Merchants' National Bank at Third and Spring streets; Bernard is attending school yet; Orendorff is organizing a Class D ball league, and Hallinan is a clerk in the San Francisco office of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company.

Old "By Blood" McVickers, former ground keeper at the new Washington Park grounds, has taken on a lot of weight since he has been idle and expects to go to ranching if he can trade off his house and lot on the East Side for a farm. Kid Mohler wanted dad to go to San Francisco and take charge of Recreation Park this summer, but Dad says his wife could not stand the climate there and he turned down the offer.

Lindsay and Tennant played ball this winter here. Tennant has returned to San Francisco and Lindsay is taking things quietly until time to report to Nashville in the Southern League, where he is supposed to play this summer. Dick Breen, drafted from Spokane by the Cincinnati team, has been fishing and hunting at Laguna Beach. Reiger and Hasty have been playing winter ball and McArdle of the San Francisco team is in San Diego working as a steam fitter. Bernie McKay has been employed in the Santa Monica oil fields.

This is a thumb nail history of the winter movements of the ball players known to the fans of Southern California and it will be seen that the majority of them are working regularly.

Needed Change.

WARD TELLS WHY HOME TEAM DECIDED TO GO TO BAT LAST.

"WHEN time is called for play in the big leagues now," said John M. Ward, once a glowing luminary of the game, "the visiting team gets ready to take the bat, and the home players trot to their positions in the field. That's understood. That's the regular order of the proceedings, and you never see a team leader even thinking about any other procedure.

"And yet some twenty years ago the order of business used to be just the other way. Home teams, in the long ago, went to bat first, and the visitors took the field with almost as much regularity as the reverse is done at present. Why so? And why the change?

"In the old days a sort of superstition seemed to govern as to the necessity of getting first crack at the new ball. It was figured that a brisk attack upon the new white sphere would net two or three runs, and that by the time the home team got through with this first assault the opposition would not only be demoralized, but the ball would be blackened up so that it would be harder to see and land upon. All this, of course, was merely a survival of the ideas that prevailed in our kidhood days, when we played upon the vacant lots, and when one ball was usually the sum total of the stock at hand. On the lots if the ball went over the fence play had to be suspended until it could be recovered; if the leather did not come back, the game usually had to be called then and there.

"That superstition of our boyhood—which, on the lots, was wholly logical and natural—was carried over into the professional game. For many years the advantage of first crack at the new ball was figured as outweighing the advantage of last innings. It was years and years before the players woke up to the absurdity of the idea. In a big league, with an unlimited supply of new balls at hand, the vanishing of a foul over the stand simply meant the prompt introduction of another new white ball into the game. With new balls continually coming in, one club might get a crack at just as many as the other team, and hence there was no possible advantage in the first assault, unless a club was fortunate enough to get a bunch of runs right at the jump and without fouling any over the back wall.

"All in a minute, as you might say, the managers woke up and came to the conclusion that first bat wasn't to be compared with the value of last innings. Hence, for the past twenty years, the home club has gone to the field at the start and sent the visitors to bat, and I do not think there have been three cases since 1890 where the home club has taken first batting innings. Queer, though, how the old ideas of the back lots clung to us in our early professional days."

STODDARD-DAYTON RECORD.

A run of 7000 miles with but two punctures is one of the best records reported for Diamond tires recently. This record was made by the Metzler Investment Company with a Stoddard-Dayton car. The owners claim the rubber seems to be in fine shape and apparently good for several thousand miles more. The front tires are hardly showing any wear.

Good Concession.

WELSH WRITES OF M'FARLAND.

THINKS PACKY FOOLISH TO ASK NAMING OF REFEREE.

Will Agree to Meet Him with a Neutral Referee Before Any Club in this Country and Offers to Give Him the Handicap by Allowing Weight in Afternoon.

Concerning a possible fight between Packy McFarland and Freddie Welsh, the latter writes the following self-explanatory letter from England to an American newspaper:

"I am sorry to say that another attempt to bring about a match between Packy McFarland and me, has fallen through. The referee question is at the bottom of the failure. Packy demands the privilege of appointing the referee. I submitted to that once, and as a result the only adverse decision of my ring career stands against me. I will never again have any referee in a contest with Packy McFarland but one mutually agreed upon. Of course if we were to meet at the National Sporting Club in London, neither of us would have any word in the matter, but would have to accept the referee selected by them.

"Before my last contest with McFarland he demanded that Mr. Corri should be the referee. I would not agree to his dictating the referee, but I agreed to having the names of a number of well-known referees put in a hat, from which one name was to be drawn; and I was quite willing that his choice should be one of the names. The difficulty was overcome in that instance by our meeting at the National Sporting Club. After the unsatisfactory result of that contest negotiations were started for another meeting. Packy started wih a demand for his choice of referee. I refused, of course. Then a compromise was effected and we agreed to let Lord Lonsdale appoint the referee. It seemed then as if a meeting between us was certain, but without a word of explanation or of farewell, Packy left suddenly for America.

"Recently Hugh D. McIntosh opened negotiations with me for a fight with McFarland. He said he had Packy's consent and to prove it showed me a cable from him saying he would meet me at 133 pounds, weigh in at 2 o'clock, but must have 'Corri referee.' I don't know why he is so insistent on Mr. Corri as referee, and don't care; but I will not let McFarland dictate the referee. Perhaps Mr. Corri feels, as others do, that his reputation is not bettered by this singular instance. At any rate he has published a letter, refusing to act.

"The situation now is this: I would rather fight Packy McFarland than any other man in the world. I am a lightweight and will meet any man in the world at 133 pounds ringside; but I will compromise with McFarland, as he has announced his inability to make that weight, and will fight him anywhere in the world that the best purse is offered and for a side stake of a couple of hundred pounds; referee to be mutually agreed upon; weigh in at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at 133 pounds. [illegible] I would prefer to fight referee—but if he prefers it, will meet him in England.

"I hope my friends in America will understand that I am eager to fight McFarland, and that it is he who raises what he knows to be an insuperable obstacle by making his unreasonable demand to name the referee. I have paid no attention to the many falsehoods that have been circulated in America about me, and write this only because it is of public interest. My personal reputation needs no defense.

"I may say that after my contest with Matt Wells at the National Sporting Club, to defend my title as lightweight champion of Great Britain, on the 27th of February, I shall be very glad indeed to meet either Ad Wolgast or Owen Moran. I claim that no man can decently call himself lightweight champion of the world who has not met and defeated me. But I will say more about this later.

"My permanent address is 7 Coldstream Terrace, Cardiff, where I can always be reached by any promoter wishing to transact any business.

"Sincerely yours,
"Fred Welsh."

Limit More Elastic.

AUSTRALIAN BOXING METHODS PRODUCE MORE LIGHTWEIGHTS.

"THEY do things differently over in this country from what they do in Australia," said Harry Brandon, yesterday, on Spring street, "and one of the noticeable things is in prize fighting. Over here the pugs haggle and wrangle over the weights they are to fight at and if they are to meet at a given weight and one of them is over a few pounds the other claims any forfeit that may have been put up.

"In Australia they have a better system and it has been brought into use simply because the majority of the fighters there are lightweights. This is because the limit over there is 140 pounds instead of 133 as in this country. We have the advantage there over this country, for a boy who grows out of the lightweight class here and cannot make less than 135 pounds would still be a lightweight there for some years.

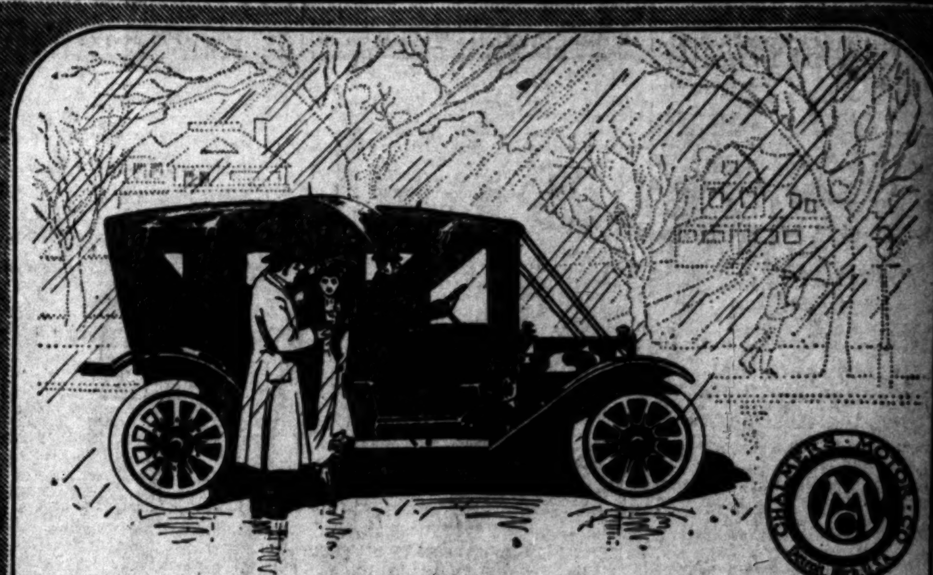
"That higher classification makes it very easy for the Australian boys and consequently there is more fighting there in the lightweight class than there is here and there are more lightweights. There is really no welterweight class, for when a man cannot be a lightweight he is supposed to be a middleweight. If he has any class at all as a lightweight he can easily show it in the middleweight division.

"The middleweight limit there is 158, the same as it is here, and all men [illegible] who have worked up from the middleweight division. The best lightweights we have had there in recent years are Meeghan, Douglass, Sullivan and Hock Keyes.

"The system of training used there now is about the same as that used in the United States. In early days they had a little rub-down and a little sparring and some road work. There was no gym work to amount to anything and the carrying out of these lax methods is the principal reason why Australia has produced such a lot of poor fighters in the past ten years. Of course there were Peter Jackson and Fitzsimmons, but these men were freaks in a way and natural fighters that the crude Australian system could not spoil.

"Since the advent of Burns and Jack Johnson the Australians have become wise, for they were quick to see that the Yankees must be right in their methods for they won all their battles and results are the best evidence of the correctness of any new theory.

"Now the Australian pugs have adopted the American methods of training, including plenty of road work and gymnasium stunts, and I really expect them to do better in the next few years than they have in the past. The Australians are a race of sports for they send a great part of their time out of doors and why should they not develop athletic men? Our pugs have been bums, but there is no reason why they should not show better in the next five years. You will have to



Always At Your Service

A good motor car asks no favors of the weather. The day has passed when owners of automobiles pack their cars in moth balls with the first descent of Jack Frost.

With the arrival of the bracing cold and snowy days, ninety-two per cent of Chalmers owners, put on windshields, tops, chains, caps, gloves, warm coats and robes, and—"go to it." It's great!

With top and side curtains, warm robes and a "hot iron," any car is comfortable all winter long for all members of the family. People don't "wait till spring" any more to buy cars. An automobile is a twelve-month proposition and as serviceable in saving time in one season as another.

In fact, in winter, when street cars are so often tied up, when they are always crowded and filled with bad air, is when many city dwellers appreciate their cars the most.

Who's afraid of a ride in the stinging winter air? Or who's afraid of a little battle with a snowstorm? Modern men are not molly-coddles because they refuse to wear iron clothes and carry a sword and insist on a bath every day. A drive to business with the thermometer below freezing is the part of an experience that makes you feel like whipping the stuffing out of your day's work and taking a fall out of your biggest problems.

The wisest buyers purchase cars in the fall and winter. Then they are ready for use when the warm days come to tantalize you into the country.

Besides, these buyers get a full year's use of their cars before the car becomes a year old. Leaving our own interests out of the question, we want to tell you frankly that if you are going to buy a 1911 car at all, now is the best time to place your order.

So far as Chalmers cars are concerned, they are built on a quality, not a quantity basis. A good many people who wanted Chalmers cars last year were disappointed, because they waited too long to place their orders. We are ready to show you the new models at your convenience.

None Better at the Price—Few Better at Any Price.

That is the way we feel about the Chalmers "30."

This is the car that won the 1910 Glidden Tour,—the longest, hardest touring contest ever held.

This is the car that has never been defeated in a road race or touring contest by a car of its own price and power class.

This is the car that has won more motoring events in proportion to the number entered than any other car in the world.

This is the car that has made good in the hands of thousands of owners. This is the car whose quality has lifted it above the class where its price might seem to place it. This is the car that appeals as strongly to those who want the best car regardless of price as to those who want the best car for the least money.

There are many good cars made nowadays and any good car is a good investment. Yet we believe Chalmers cars offer the best value for the money. Compare them with others. If you can possibly afford a car, buy one, for there is no better investment. We hope it will be a Chalmers. But whether it is or not, do not deprive yourself and your family any longer of the pleasure that by right is yours and theirs. When you are making the rounds, drop in and see the Chalmers cars. They talk for themselves a great deal better than we can talk for them.

WILL THEY BE INTERPRETED?

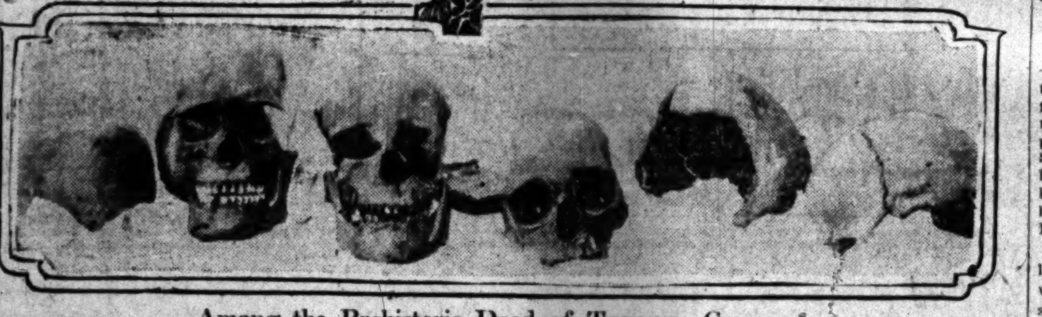
What Is the Story of the Ancient Mound?

Discoverer in the Topango Delves for It.

Over a Hundred Skeletons Already Found.

"Jack Robbit Lodge," is the picturesque name given by W. W. Coolbaugh to his cabin four miles up the Coast from Santa Monica. Here, on a six-acre flat—the delta of Topango Canyon—Coolbaugh is patiently waiting to prove upon his government claim. Coolbaugh is an old prospector and miner and in searching along the Malibu Coast for a claim upon which to file as a homestead he discovered that this fertile flat was unsurveyed government land. Forthwith he took possession, and here he is monarch of all he surveys. He enjoys all the rights of a squatter, and is patiently awaiting the coming of the government surveyors and the day for making his final proof. It was while "holding down" this claim that he discovered the ancient Indian mound, whose mysterious and musty contents are partially revealing the story of the dim past. Topango Creek flows near by, bearing its message from the upper reaches of Topango and Garapatos canyons, pouring its feeble flood into the Pacific. Coolbaugh finds "books in the running brook, sermons in stone, and good in everything," and the long hours of the winter nights he spends in an effort to piece together the bones and stones which have been uncovered during the balmy days.

While making a clearing of the meadow, his practiced eye was attracted to the oval-shaped and evenly formed mound, whose partial contents are today being investigated by the Smithsonian Institution. No sooner had this practical old miner sunk his pick into the soil that forms the covering of the mound than his unerring conclusion was that the hillock was the work of man. The earth was of a kind unlike that of the surrounding flat, and this proved to him that it had been carried there for the purpose of covering something sacred, or valuable, it might be, reposing underneath. Cautiously and with care he continued to excavate, until his spade came upon large boulders. Excavations were made at several different points, and all with the same result. He selected the westerly side of the mound for operations, and after removing the stratum of boulders, he found himself working in a soft, black ashy soil. At a depth of a few inches below the stone covering he came upon the tops of the massive skulls of what he at once determined were those of a tribe of Indians that had roamed the Santa Monica Mountains long ages ago.



Among the Prehistoric Dead of Topango Canyon.

Coolbaugh excavating and soliloquizing at the ancient mound which he discovered, and a few of the massive skulls he uncovered.

Up to this time the mound, which is perhaps 100 feet long by forty feet in width at the broadest point, has yielded portions of more than a hundred skeletons—and the exploration has scarcely been commenced. Coolbaugh continues to marvel at the discovery, not knowing what secret the next stroke of his shovel may reveal. Up to this time he has found nothing of metallic or intrinsic worth, aside from the value which the bones, implements, weapons, utensils, tools, idols or images may prove to the scientists who are endeavoring to read the story of another age as brought to the surface.

Coolbaugh has conversed with old timers, whose parents and those before them frequented these parts in the latter part of the seventeenth century; but so far he has been unable to find even faint recollection of the time when the mouth of Topango Canyon was used by the Indians as a burial ground. One of the families of Spanish descent had heard in the long ages ago of an Indian legend, which, handed down from father to son, seems to connect the incident of the wholesale burial with the first ouebreak of the "Smoking Mountain," which is not far from the outpost of the Indians' happy hunting ground. According to this legend, in the days before the face of white men had been seen along the Coast of Southern California — before the natives of the mountain canyons that run into the sea had ever seen the white wings of explorers' or pirates' ships as a speck on the broad expanse of sea—there occurred an Indian massacre, when all of the inhabitants of a Topango village were killed by a marauding enemy that fell upon them. The bodies of the dead were piled in a heap, according to the prevailing custom, covered with stones, and a funeral pyre burned over their heads. The fire thus started, so the legend runs, leaped deep into the fissures between the rocks, it gave birth to the mountain, whose intermittent smoking continues to this day.

The massacre of an entire village in those days, for the petty crime of stealing a cow, was not unusual; but the connection between this ancient grave and the origin of the burning mountain, as carried in the legend, is a turn to the story which Coolbaugh is unwilling to accept as gospel truth.

The old delta philosopher, whose nightly companions are the bones of warriors of a once proud and defiant race, has found among other things a rude stone device which he at first believed was either a weapon or some implement of husbandry or culinary use. But this theory he has since abandoned and is satisfied in his own mind that it was undoubtedly the mace or royal scepter, which was carried by the man of large frame who as a herald always announced the approach of the chieftain of the tribe. When Sir Francis Drake visited along these shores more han 300 years ago he reported having found the chief, or king, as Drake called him, thus accompanied. The chief was invariably distinguished by wearing an ornamental chain of a boney substance "every link or particle thereof being very little and thin, most finely burnished, with a hole pierced through the middest." Small links answering this description have been discovered in the mound. There are other links that might have been used as wampum. These consist of shells strung on sinews or fiber, rubbed down to a circular shape. In the burial of the Indians of that day it was the custom to lay the weapons and effects away with the bodies of their owners. It was also their practice in preparing the bodies for burial to double the knees against the chest, and thus bind them firmly with a stout cord. The bodies uncovered at the Topango dela are for the most part in this position, although some of them have evidently fallen over. Beside them, too, are found the stone implements, the flint arrow heads and the other bone and stoned rills, needles, implements and handiworks and tools of the craft.

But the generally-accepted theory of Coolbaugh as well as of those who have viewed the ancient burial mound is that the burial antedated the coming of Drake by many years, as the stories that were told by the natives to the Padres in 1776, when Junipero Serra visited the Malibu coastline, included no recital of a general slaughter during the years immediately preceding. The memory of those then living, coupled with the tales that had been told to them by their fathers and grandsires, carried the history of the canoes back to Drake's time. The next backward step leads to Cabrillo, the Portuguese navigator, who sailed the waters of Santa Monica Bay as early as 1542, touching at the mouth of the Santa Monica barranca. He found the natives who flocked to the beach to greet him a friendly race and their relations during his brief stay were pleasant. In their recital to him of their tribal customs, they spoke of the practice of burying the dead, rather than cremating them. They also told him that it was their practice to place at the feet of the sitting dead such articles as they may have owned. These stone tools were to indicate the occupation of the dead. In exhuming the remains found in the Topango Mound, Coolbaugh finds the stone implements and dishes thus placed. With them he finds also bone whistles, such as might have been used by these Indians, who sang funeral dirges with acompaniment whistled through a deer's leg bone.

One of the first skulls brought to the light of day was found to have a long flint arrowhead deeply imbedded in the region of the temple. Several of the other skeletons show deep fractures such as might have been inflicted by battleaxes or tomahawks, but as yet no war clubs or axes of any description have been discovered. Another of the skulls had horns, which protruded from near thef ront of the car cavity and encircled the head. These horns, which were two or three inches in length, were apparently of the same bone composition as the skulls and had evidently been a part of them; but they were so slender and mellow with age that at the first handling after exposure to the air the horns became separated from the skull.

SISTER HIS MOTHER-IN-LAW.

His Wife His Niece-by-Marriage, and His Father-in-law His Brother-in-Law—Complicating Wedding.

Night before last at the home of the groom's father, the beautiful new show gardens in process of creation at No. 4213 Mission road, the youngest son, Clifford C. Stratton, and Ethel May Washabaugh were married by Rev. W. Franklin Irvine, minister of Rose Hill Chapel. The union brings about some most peculiar relationships.

Some time ago the sister of this groom was married to the widowed father of the bride, while the groom's brother is married to the sister of the bride. The resultant mix-up is in part as follows, and on the whole is so intricate and far-reaching that it would take no end of research on the part of a Philadelphia lawyer to unravel the complications: This husband's sister is married to his wife's father, so his sister becomes his mother-in-law, and his wife's father is at the same time her father-in-law. This husband is married to his own niece (by marriage.) The husband's mother and father are step-grandparents to his wife, and at the same time her mother-in-law and father-in-law. This husband's wife's father is his own mother's son-in-law.

This husband's father-in-law is also his own brother-in-law. This wife's sister-in-law is at the same time her stepmother. This husband's sister will be grandmother to his own children, and at the same time their own aunt. And so this puzzle runs. The most difficult factor in the whole problem, however, is this: What relation will the children of these several connections bear to each other?

The smiling little bride on the night of the wedding, after a long discussion in an effort to get to the end of this matter, dismissed the whole subject with the remark, "What is the difference as long as you are happy?"

Never Let Up.

ARREST REVIVES AN OLD SWINDLE.

THE GOVERNMENT INSPECTORS CATCH MABRAY SUSPECT.

Notorious Gang Operated from Coast to Coast Promoting "Fixed" Fights and Copped Roll of Farmers Who Bet on a Sure Thing. Forty-three Rounded Up.

A man giving his name as James Spencer, but who is said to have been identified as C. F. Philpot, of the notorious Mabray gang, was taken in custody here yesterday. This gang swindled thousands of persons in every part of the United States and flourished until the Federal government broke it up about five years ago.

Forty-three of the crooks have been dealt with by the government, and the others have been hunted fugitives for several years. Uncle Sam is desirous of getting every one, and for some time has had a standing offer of $200 reward for the capture of individuals.

The arrest of Philpot was made yesterday by the postoffice inspectors at the request of the United States Marshal's office, which located him here as "Spencer." As the prosecution will be hand[illegible] by the former department, its officers were called in to finish the case.

Philpot has been under suspicion for several days. The officials desired to get absolute evidence as to his identity before they proceeded against him. They decided to take him in custody yesterday, and did not act a moment too soon.

The suspect, in some manner, received information that he was being followed and was preparing to depart from the city. He was arrested while trying to dodge the men who shadowed him on Main street, and was on his way to the Arcade Station.

He positively denied that he is Philpot. To controvert his statements, the officers pointed out to him the initials, "C. F. P.," in his watch. He was unable to give a satisfactory explanation as to how he came to have such a timepiece, if his name were as he gave it.

The Mabray crooks operated the most extensive "brace" game ever conceived in this country. While it worked from coast to coast and from the gulf to Canada, its favorite field was among the wealthy farmers of the Middle West.

The scheme was to get an unsuspecting person to bet on a fixed fight, wrestling match, horse race or other form of sport. The victim was assured that the game was fixed and that he could not lose.

They would have a wrestler, who was more than commonly clever, enter a prosperous community. One by one the gang would visit the place. A small match would be arranged, and their representative would win easily from his opponent. In this manner he would work up a local reputation.

Meantime, a search was made for a victim. Any farmer who exhibited interest in the bouts would receive attention. A careful investigation would be made of his "sportiness" and the size of his bank roll. Then he would be plucked.

In the majority of cases, the sucker was willing to take his loss with good grace and say nothing. In some cases, in order to impress their victims that they had lost by accident, the defeated wrestler would fall as though in a faint and squeeze red ink out of a sponge on himself to give the appearance that he had been seriously injured.

"We'll all be arrested for murder," one of the crooks would shout, as he ran away. Swindlers and victim would escape. The wrestler would also take his departure after everyone else had gone. Sometimes a horse race or a prize-fight was arranged in a similar manner.

Death in Los Angeles Takes Master Figure.

Itinerant Tinsmith Became Industrial Captain.

Life Full of Vicissitudes, Fortunes, Works.

Captain of industry, industrial and commercial soldier of fortune, pioneer in the hewing of civic and political history in half a dozen Western States, founder of cities and of great industries, far-seeing prophet of the prosperity to follow the trail to the great Southwest, there are few, even of his business associates, who realize all the loss means by the death in Los Angeles, a few days ago, of Samuel Wilson Little.

Up to the very end of his 92 years of life his career was crowded to its limit with variety and vicissitudes such as seldom fall to the lot even of wanderers. His own influence and that of his associates was one that made itself felt in a dozen States and in territory most potentially rich in possibilities of any in the country. The fortune that he left, large as it was, is inconsiderable in comparison to that which, at one time and another, he turned into channels of usefulness.

A dozen times in his life Little knew affluence and poverty to follow close upon each other's heels. He made fortunes rapidly and spent them with no less speed in the development of great enterprises. Of a large perspective himself, he habitually dealt in big things. When a journeyman tinsmith

HOSTESS AT LUNCHEON.

Mrs. M. J. Monnette, No. 911 Western avenue, was hostess Friday afternoon at a well-appointed luncheon, the decorations for which she carried out mainly in pink and green. Bouquets of pink carnations and roses were arranged about the dining-room, and on the table were cut-glass vases filled with roses. Crystal candles with pink silk shades and place cards bearing hand-painted sketches of pink roses completed the attractive arrangements; single roses were given as favors. The Venetian orchestra rendered music during the afternoon. The guests included: Mrs. Engle and Miss Engle of Chicago; Mrs. J. U. Lloyd of Cincinnati; Mrs. S. M. MEANS MARKET FOR OLD STEEL.

DEAL CLOSED FOR PLANT AT REDONDO BEACH.

Warman Crucible Steel Company Will Within Sixty Days Begin the Manufacture of Metal Casts Up to Five Hundred Pounds—Mountain of Silica at Corona Purchased.

By a deal closed yesterday in Los Angeles and at Redondo Beach, the latter city secures a large open-furnace steel plant which will be the entering wedge for sweeping manufacturing and industrial changes in the Southwest.

The Warman Crucible Steel Company will, within sixty days, begin the manufacture at Redondo Beach of high-class steel casts up to 500 pounds.

MANY MEN AND WOMEN

in Los Angeles acquire wealth buying, selling and exchanging real estate, automobiles, chattels and numerous other articles through the medium of The Times classified advertisements. Times "Liners" put you in touch with the other fellow, and they contain an antidote for every "want."

Month after month, year in and year out, The Times prints more advertising than any other paper in the world.

The following figures tell the story:

For the week ending Sunday, January 29, The Times printed 2068 more agate "Liners" than the aggregate of all other Los Angeles newspapers combined, and 6579 more than its nearest local competitor.

The total number of "Liners" published by The Times for the seven days from January 23 to 29, inclusive, was 13,796. The prize of Five Dollars in Gold has been awarded to Mrs. C. A. Danielson, No. 843 West Thirty-seventh Place, city, whose estimate of 13,796 "Liners" was the first and only correct answer received in last week's contest.

FIVE DOLLARS IN GOLD GIVEN AWAY

One week ago today The Times printed 5746 agate "Liners." On the same day its nearest local competitor printed only 2513 agate "Liners."

On Tuesday, February 7, and on each Tuesday thereafter, a prize of Five Dollars in gold will be awarded to the person making the first nearest correct estimate of the total number of "Liner" advertisements published in The Times during the seven days from Monday, January 30, until Sunday, February 5, inclusive.

Estimates should not be made until after the publication of The Times on the last day of the week for which the contest is held, and they must be delivered before 10 a.m. the following Tuesday. The name of the prize winner for the preceding week will be published every Wednesday. This contest is not open to employees of the Times-Mirror Company, and this company's advertisements should not be counted.

All letters should be addressed to the Contest Editor, and each will be numbered in the order of its receipt in the office, 531-535 South Spring street.

TAILORS WILL SAVE MONEY; PATRONS WILL BE PINCHED.

"Insurgent" Skin-Tight Trousers and Corsets About to Be Saddled Upon Helpless Man, Who Must Bow to New Dictum of Fashion as Gracefully as He Can, and Smile When Lacing Gouges His Backbone.

LOS ANGELES TAILORS will welcome the arrival of the new skin-tight trousers. It will enable them to save an eighth of a yard of cloth from every suit pattern. This means thousands of dollars a year to the makers of men's apparel.

The passing peg top, withal, is the most expensive style, from a sartorial viewpoint, yet evolved. The extreme cut calls for broader widths in cloths than the weavers turn out. It means that the cutter is compelled to be more generous in order to produce the "Mother Hubbard" effect from hip to shoe top. Tailors say wearers of peg tops invariably obey the homely injunction of Eggleston's character to "Git a plenty while you're gittin." Without the baggy lines peg tops were not peg tops at all.

Rough calculations made yesterday after interviews with half a dozen representative tailors, indicate that Lavinski, who makes an average of 1500 suits a year, will find himself better off by $500 when he foots up profits just before his annual spring clearance under the "skin-tight" edict, assuming that Lavinski pays an average price of $2.50 a yard for his woolens.

Other tailors who make three or more times as many suits as Lavinski, can count their increase in thousands, despite the higher rent for their superior location, which Lavinski argues, they charge for in the price of a suit.

The saving to the ready-to-wear manufacturer is obviously great enough to compensate for the extra tariff on wool, and optimists will at once figure out that the shopkeeper can afford to dress the store dummies in "woollier" habiliments at an extra unheard-of cut.

It's back to Nature in the matter of men's clothes. Down to Nature is a triter view of Fashion's latest freak—the molded-to-the-figure garment.

The advent of "insurgency" and the suffragette witnesses the passing of the peg tops and the padded coat. With the coming of the hobble gown is heralded the approach of skin tight trousers and—heavens, Maude—a garment with a corset back to surmount them.

"Mere man's again the victim?" But bee not. According to the tailors, he's only coming into his own.

Wouldn't it make you gasp!

Tailors, that is, tailors for men, not males who make man-tailored toggery for women (note the difference, please,) offer the cheering assurance that man will in the future wear clothes that fit him.

Did you e-v-e-r?

The Slim Jims will at once resent the implication, however well meant. Indeed, there is a sinister meaning. The announcement is a two-edged affair; all the grown-up males, and the near grown-ups, will rise to rebuke with the positiveness of a proponent at a suffragist meeting.

PLIGHT OF HORATIO.

"No man is great to his barber or his tailor." Have the tailors grown tired of making athletes out of anemics by the subtleties of the shears, and resolved to shake him down from bulging shoulders and exaggerated hips to lines that make the male figure no longer a snare and a delusion?

of Los Angeles before the passing of another year.

Why, even the "stand-pat" trousers, the kind that are never clear out of the agony, are no longer cut medium peg, despite what the "stand-pat" tailor-to-man tells you. No -ir-r-e-e-e. If there is any fullness at all it is Insurgents in the "Insurgent" Trousers.

How some of our dignitaries will appear when they reach the stage of the new skin-tights.

"Far be it, Clarice," say the tailors-to-men.

Man in the new trousers that FIT him will be to the women—but the fair sex, that is the suffragettes, are not concerned about the fit of—Anyway, those big "football" lines; that kind your tailor made, are doomed.

They are as good as gone already. Unless Horatio at the gate has the real goods for the skin tights to cling to he will be put to certain straits, clearly defined by his clothes, and Guineveve will see just what he is at a glance. She won't have to take his word for it and believe all his patter about athletic events he won or nearly lost.

Binns, who ordered two pairs of trousers with his last suit at the price of the one suit complete,—will take fresh courage. The tailors-to-men unbend enough to hint that the happy medium promises to last until trousers "insurgency" will have fitted so far to the other extreme that Binns will yield to the importunities of Mrs. Binns, who will make a selection for him that is cut more in the fashion.

"Stand pat" tailors-to-men, by which is meant the conservatives, are a bit skeptical about the early appearance of the freak. They point to the popularity of the pegtops and declare they are so big and roomy and com'fy and the like, that they will never go out entirely. They've been in so long, too, you know. It does seem like a sacrilege. Besides these airy pantaloons which were evolved from the English riding breeches by the "college" tailors, the newcomer will be a mere shrunken shadow; a pantette, that is to say.

But there is no getting away from Fashion. You can't beat it. The tailors-to-men have announced that the pantette is coming. In New York, Philadelphia and other eastern cities it has already arrived. Suggestions daily become more pronounced in Los Angeles.

Notice how the newer suits of the nifty dressers are made with the balloon left out of the trousers and the trace-the-form back they are affect-just enough to permit the customer to have free access to the pocket. The secret is out at last. Makes it handy, Claudine, when you want to pay your tailor.

Where is the freak coming from this time? How should anybody know? Or does anybody pretend to know? Even the tailors-to-men admit they don't know.

"Nothing particularly new about it," the cutter to one of Los Angeles' most exclusive tailors-to-men said yesterday. Simply the reappearance of a former fashion with enough change to lend it distinction."

"ONE-FIFTY A LEG, SEATS FREE."

The new corset back, mark you, is intended to give mere man a waist line. It will be longer than the Seymour garment, which mysteriously arrived when tight trousers were de trop years ago. Then Seymour permitted the bystander to see more of the free seat the wearer got when he paid $1.50 a leg for his nether garment at the exclusive pants makers.

The woman without a waist line and the man with one are products of the times, is what the expert had to say in connection with this new-fangled coat.

No, it does not indicate that woman is becoming more masculine and man more effeminate.

According to the draper, it shows a tendency of man to become more masculine—while woman is approaching her proper status. Funny, isn't it?

You see the draper has delved pretty deep into his subject. He says the case of man is the only instance in the whole animal kingdom where the male of the species is not the most richly gotten up and most gorgeously plumed. Woman has usurped his natural right since the cave days when he crawled from his abode with a club and hunted a snake for dinner. Get it, maybe?

That isn't all. The worst is yet to come.

He believes the taste for more attractive attire is growing and man is wearing more color today than he has since Louis, something or other, of ture of the Louis period to indicate man wore these a—what you call 'em to shape himself into the desired mould, at least the old prints, which the tailors-to-men follow, indicate as much.

"Can't say," said the expert, "that the corset will be resorted to by men of girth and broad backs to give them the right proportions to set off the new coat. Probably. The new with a pronounced flare at the hips."

The general effect of the new fashion will be mushroomy. Note the understanding that holds up the flare. Put an "insurgent" politician or two into the "insurgent" garments and that other thing—Gee. Then pipe the pipestems of the biped under the flare, Pauline. Or those Roman columns that might give a Samson the green eye.

February Clearance Sale

One Great Advantage of a Baker "Sale"—Reductions Are From Baker's Regular "Close-Margin" Prices. See the Point?

THERE'S a big difference between this sale and others you know of—THIS sale is REAL and TRUE. There isn't a word of exaggeration in the advertisement nor a price of false value in our stores. A fixed custom of the Baker stores demands a "clearance" at the end of each season in order that the Baker stocks may be kept free of accumulations. A Baker "clearance" is no half-hearted measure, but a bold, radical fixing of prices that compels spirited buying by sheer force of unprecedented values. Baker methods are vigorous and direct. Prices are put down to a point that discloses money-saving opportunities beyond your greatest expectations. Come early while the assortments are at their best. Come tomorrow morning.

of November, 1853, on the Weekly been started at 4, 1850, by T. J. had come to country where he weeks helping find suitable homes. He was a cent, but he of hard en-deavor. Editor Dryer soon learned that it was well that he had made the acquisition, for Pittock was a rapid and accurate compositor. He ate at Dryer's house, adjoining the primitive printing office, and sleptp upon a cot behind the type cases. It was his bed for two or three years, and he now says that he never slept anywhere more comfortably.

Young Pittock not only set type, but worked the press, mailed the papers and carried them to Oregon City on horseback to catch the boat for points up the river. His great usefulness being demonstrated, in a year or two he had achieved the foremanship. Then Dryer, who was really more of a politician than editor, offered to take Mr. Pittock in partnership with him with a young man named Gunn. The arrangement proved unsatisfactory. Gunn dropped out and Dryer in 1860 was nominated for Presidential elector. Here was young Pittock's opportunity and he seized it. He took the paper from Dryer and his real proprietorship of the Oregonian began. Dryer never came back to he Oregonian Young Pittock never left it.

The Weekly Oregonian had vigorous competition even in those early days. The country was remote and isolated, conditions were primitive and population sparse. Yet Portland was an active and prosperous place. There was plenty for a live newspaper to print and to do. Having secured a firm hold with the Weekly Oregonian Mr. Pittock very soon saw that the time was ripe for him to start a daily newspaper. There were indeed two other daily newspapers in the field at Portland, then a town of about 3000 people. But they did not contain much news, or much else worth while.

ON THE OLD "CONSTITUTION."

In December, 1860, young Pittock went to San Francisco to purchase a press and other materials for his forthcoming daily edition. He made the trip on the old ship Constitution, which had a stormy voyage and was very nearly wrecked. He failed to get a press, such as he wanted, but he arranged to get one later. He got back to Portland in January, 1861, after an absence of about a month, much longer than he had intended to remain and long enough for his young bride to have given him up as lost. The long delay was occasioned for the most part by the fact that the only regular steamer running to San Francisco was the Constitution and her failure to reappear at Portland had led to the belief there that she had been wrecked. Young Pittock brought back with him the news of his own safety.

The energetic young publisher went ahead with his arrangements on his return and started the Morning Oregonian February 4, 1861, on the old weekly hand press. In the meantime a third daily paper, the Times, learning that the Oregonian was about to go into a daily edition, had started a daily, making three competitors for the Oregonian in a very limited field; so the Oregonian was fourth in a little town of 3000 people. But young Pittock knew the business just a little better than any of his competitors. He understood the value of news, and news was of the highest importance in those days, for the rumblings of the approaching Civil War had begun even then to reach the Pacific Coast. There was no telegraphic service. Mails were limited and irregular, and roads were in winter well-nigh impassable. How to get the news from the East and California was a problem that the three competitors of The Oregonian had not even attempted to solve in any effective way. But young Pittock found a way to meet the difficulty and conquered it. There was already a transcontinental telegraph line to San Francisco with a branch north to Yreka. There was a stage line from Yreka to Portland. Mr. Pittock arranged to have general telegraph matter forwarded by wire from San Francisco to Yreka and thence by mail to Portland. The Oregonian did not get service this way every day, but it came through most of the time far ahead of any other publication. It was, therefore, real news and it was printed as news and read as news.

The Oregonian was much aided in those early days by its definite and firm stand for the Union. It opposed secession and fought slavery. It believed in the destiny of a great and united nation. The other papers were not all so loyal. One of them became a secession newspaper. All of them disappeared one by one before the advance of the strong and lusty young daily Oregonian. Yet Mr. Pittock's keen news instinct and his unfaltering patriotism do not tell the whole story of his early success with

WHERE IS HE?

We desire to inquire as to the whereabouts of Richard Harding Davis. There is said to be a revolution in progress in Mexico, and Richard is not there. Unless he makes his appearance on the field pretty soon the blamed thing is liable to bust up and quit.

CONGRATULATE OTTAWA.

We desire to congratulate our great northern neighbor, the city of Ottawa, on the fact that it is "shut off from the world." It is a fine thing to be shut off from the world once in awhile, in order that jangled nerves and assaulted ears may get a chance to rest up and forget.

FUNNIEST THING YET.

A dispatch from San Juan Del Sur states that the Honduran Congress has refused to borrow money from J. Pierpont Morgan. This is the first time in its history that Honduras has failed to borrow money from anybody on earth willing to loan it. The dispatch must be a joke.

HOPE THEY ALL GO.

If all the hobos read the newspapers, Northern Mexico ought now to be a particularly inviting spot to them. The hobos at present there seem to be having a good time, with plenty to eat and nothing to do. We hope all the hobos will go there as quickly as possible in order that the rurales may round them up and kill the whole tribe off at once.

RAPID EVOLUTION.

One after another the villages of California are applying for city charters. Go out anywhere in the open sections of this State and put up a blacksmith shop and a grocery store, and the first thing you know you have a village. Next thing you know you have a city. Communities seem to grow as fast in this blessed climate as the grain of wheat placed in the warm earth after a good rain.

IT'S WHERE YOU FIND IT.

We notice that a number of prospectors are seeking for gold in the Coachella Mountains of Southern California. It wouldn't surprise us to learn that they found some good veins in that region. It used to be said that you couldn't find water down there, but they are finding plenty of it now. It may be the same way about gold. Anyway, everybody knows that all California is pretty well shot through with the yellow stuff.

EL CAMINO REAL.

We are glad to note that the influential Newman Club of Los Angeles has fallen into line with the sentiment for a restored and revivified "Camino Real." The suggestion has been made that at least a portion of the $18,000,000 which the State is authorized to raise and expend on highways be devoted to the restoration of El Camino Real. If this were done, California could boast of the most picturesque, historic and famous highway in America. It would be a renaissance worth while.

TOO LATE.

Friends of the late Edward St. John, who committed suicide at Coney Island because he had embezzled the funds of the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing Company, say they knew he was worrying and that they would have given him the money to square himself had he spoken to them. Doubtless St. John would appreciate these kind motives could he now know about them, but he can't. Wonder why the other fellows didn't take a notion to say something before it was too late?

SNEERS AT THE FATHERS.

Having run amuck unavailingly at everybody and everything connected with the present generation of men and things, Heney has turned himself loose on the fathers. He sneers at the men of the Revolution. He says that "it took them eight years to drive out a handful of British soldiers," and that when they framed the American Constitution their stomachs were empty and the spirit of independence was low," and that anyhow they had no right to frame a Constitution, for they were elected "only to amend the articles of federation."

How bad the spirits of Jefferson and Washington and Adams will feel when they read the anathemas of this disgruntled offspring of a brass foundry.

THE PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS.

Would it have been better for the race if happiness—steady happiness—instead of change and frustration had been the ordained lot of every living creature? As soon as bliss became uninterrupted, would it not cease to be blissful? The pursuit of happiness, rather than happiness itself, seems to be the destiny of man.

Certainly, from hard knocks and necessity have sprung most of the advantages—if they really be advantages—which we today are enjoying. Perhaps without tears we had had no telephone, without separation no steamship, without hindrances no electric railway, without desperation no aeroplane. The question is whether the telephone is worth the tears, the steamship the sorrow, the aeroplane the suffering? Unless they have assuaged more misery than was expended in wresting them to the service of man, for the pursuer of happiness, pure and simple, they are of no account.

If, with the coming of children, there had been no birth pang, if for every effort there had been immediate success, if there had been in marriage no disappointment and in death no defeat, if life had been one cloying Eden of health and ignorance, then there would have been no racial development and our happiness would have been that of the cabbage or the caterpillar, pure and sim- who, like flies in a cobweb, are struggling in the meshes of modern civilization, the cry for the simple life is as sweet as the songs of the sirens—and too often! as delusive. If we could escape the blows of fate by renouncing the conventions imposed by society, no brave man would wish to pay the price. No, we would rather view life from the top of the mountain, even at the risk of breaking a limb.

After all, in the pursuit lies the real pleasure, in the struggle the chief joy. As soon as the prize is won, it is apt to prove disenchanting. The greatest happiness in life has always been and always will be in anticipation; that, at least, experience tells us with no uncertain voice. Every sunrise bright with hope, every sunset golden with promise; to live on the tiptoe of anticipation from day to day; to be careless of the rubs and snubs of fortune; this is the only way to pursue, to court, to win the nymph of happiness. Also to be thankful, if in life so far, happiness has never reached us in sufficient quantities to destroy the joys of anticipation and to create monotony.

OLD JAY'S FOLKS.

The descendants of the late Jay Gould are certainly doing all that can be expected of them to prove his theory that money is the stuff that not only makes the mare go, but that does a much greater thing, which is, namely, to level social conditions and literally turn red blood blue.

Jay Gould was the grandfather of this little girl Vivien who marries Lord Decies, the Irish nobleman, 28 years her senior; and he was the father of Anna Gould, who married Count Boni de Castellane, and later cast him off to marry the Prince de Sagan, with whom she is at present in cohabitation. Thus we see that the offspring of the old wizard of the stock pits have climbed right straight along until they now occupy seats in the upper ten bandwagon.

Now there was about as much blue blood in the veins of Jay Gould as there is in a turnip. As far as birth went he was as common as dirt. He even got his start in life in the most plebeian traffic imaginable, which was the business of hides and tallow. He then became a tanner of hides. The decayed and tumble-down village of Gouldsborough in the Pocono mountains of Pennsylvania still holds many redolent memories of Jay Gould's beginnings in life.

But Jay was a forehanded man, always eager to make a dollar and blithe to make it any way he could, not stopping to waste time on a thought as to whether or not the other fellow was maybe getting the worst of it in a way that might not stand scrutiny according to the code laid down by the Keeper of the White Gate through which it is said the spirit must enter and give an account of itself after death. Jay made money and he made it hand over fist. Also he made monkeys out of the Vanderbilts, the Astors, Jim Fisk and a whole lot of other gentlemen who thought they knew something about running railroads and things. Incidentally, it may be remarked that Jay squeezed some thousands out of the persons who formed that great vague mass called the public.

So, one day when the jig was up and the old hide and tallow man turned his toes to the daisies his folks found themselves about as well heeled with the long green currency of the realm as reasonable folks had any right to expect. As a matter of fact they were rolling in money.

There is an old proverb which says that "it requires three generations to make a gentleman." Jay Gould's money has been used to demonstrate that only one generation is necessary to make a lady. His children and his children's children have gone out into the highways and byways of Europe and they have bought noblemen for husbands the same as you might go out into the country and buy rutabagas.

All of which is to say that money is the stuff, and that when William Shakespeare said, "Put money in thy purse," he had a real hunch. Coin is the great alchemist of the times in which we live. It has the magic that can make not only red blood blue, but it could, if put to the test, make a silken purse out of a sow's ear.

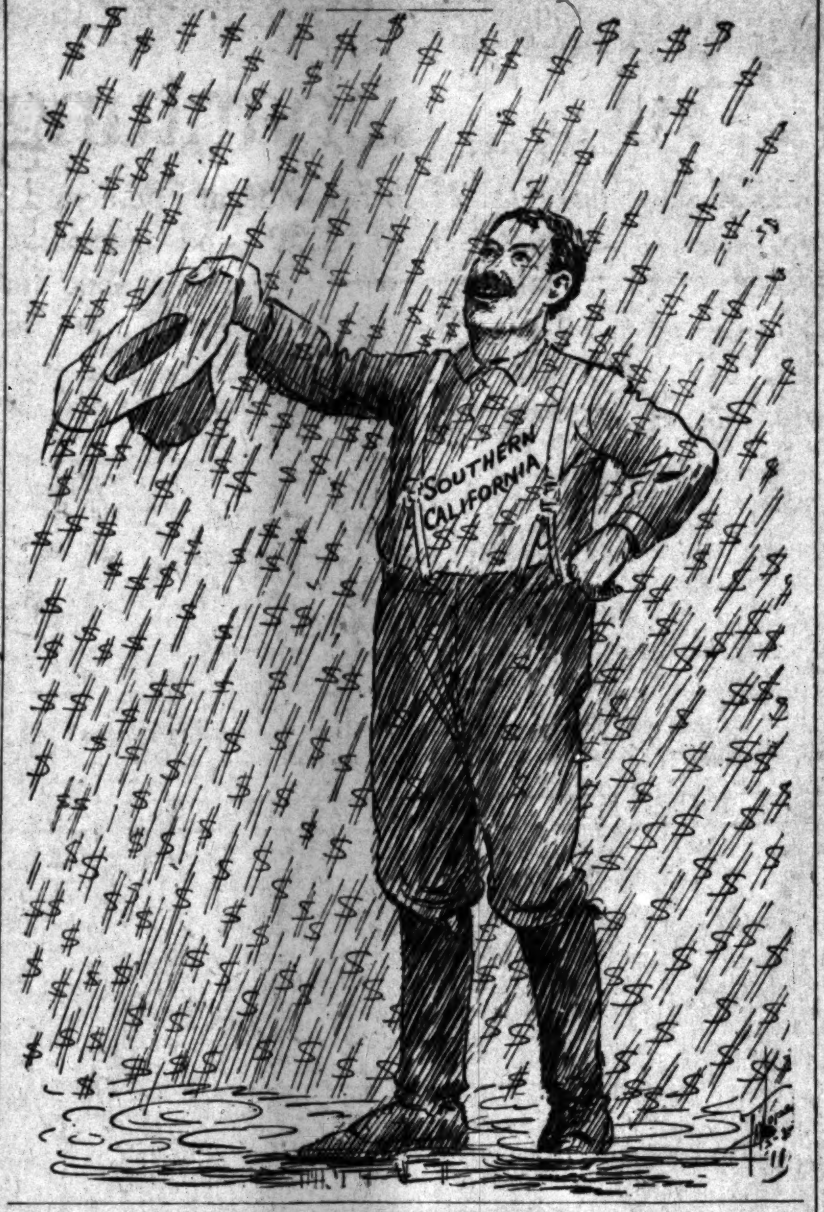
ANNIHILATION.

It is the vexed and disappointed spirit who accepts the doctrine of annihilation. It is the man who "fears his fate too much and who knows that his deserts are small," who lays hold on annihilation. It is the sensualist who seeks for the gospel of eternal death among the puerilities of science, and so satisfies himself that he can safely do wrong because there will come to him no day of reckoning.

When a man is dead his earthly friends are able to reproduce his life and actions through the process of mental reckoning which we call memory. How then can it be claimed that the originating power goes into nothingness? Is it in the economy of the universe that any power is irretrievably lost? Does not every force find form and energy in some of the processes of Nature and her laws? If it be true that "God geometrizes," is it not also true that He dips His pen in infinitude to write the answer? Take the human faculties and attributes and there will not be found in all the lexicons of bioplasm a formula to account for their origin or define their essence. What is hope? It is the rustle of the wings of futurity against the walls of our prison house. What is fear? It is only a retroactive condition without which hope should beat its wings against futile air. What is memory? It is a picture gallery of the brain, iodized by the light that never shone on sea or shore, and sensitized by the essential bromides of thought and feeling arising from the soul of man. What is consciousness? It is the pulse of God, the telephone answering back the story of the eternities. What is conscience? It is a toll house on the way to justification, a reminder that we are answerable to a law. What is will? It is a helmsman self-constituted, who yet steers with his eye forever fixed on the polar star of destiny. What are intuitions. They are pickets on the outpost of reason. What is aspiration? It is a finger board pointing upward to a state of perfectness to which there is no earthly road.

And are not aspirations, and intuitions, and will, and conscience, and consciousness, and memory, and hope and fear, each as real and as answerable as a mathematical problem? And yet which of these conditions—the most common to humanity—finds its type or its predicate in matter? Can one put a padlock upon hope, or resolve fear by the use of acids? Can we tie up in a handkerchief the promises and the prophecies, and the presentiments which, at one time or another, fall into every life?

"Better Than Gold."



The philosophy of materialism is not proved by evolution; it is not demonstrated by science; it is not confirmed by reason, and Nature in her infinite processes rejects it. Take the common but none the less wonderful process of vegetation. The life that dwells in a grain of wheat, entombed for 4000 years in the wrappings of a mummy, bursts forth in beauty and fruitfulness when warmed by the sunshine, nurtured by the rain and embraced by the earth. Yet that life was not in the elements alone, for the combined forces of Nature could not produce a hill of corn from an imitation of a kernel of grain, or an oak tree from an acorn of carved wood. Why then may not the spirit, the divine germ of man, when its fleshly wrappings shall be removed, and it be planted where it can be nurtured by the sweet influences of another life, develop into an existence of which our clogged and dumb senses have as little comprehension as has the acorn of the oak?

The materialist says that life ends with the death of the body; that life goes out forever like the flame of a candle, for it had no existence separate from the once pulsing but now inert mass of fibers and nerves and veins which once contained it.

O shallow reasoner! Was there not a time when those fibers and nerves and veins, silent as now, pulseless as now, were waiting for the quickening of the coming life? From whence did that life come? Look well, oh Materialist. Hold your ears you who fancy yourselves sufficient without a law, or a spirit, or a God? Did you see the eternal life flash into the inert web woven by the bioplasms? Did you hear the music of its movement? Did you feel the thrill of its presence? Did you witness the eloquent response of the untried muscle, knitting, and swelling, and grappling with its unspoken purpose? Did you watch the subtle dyes marking the unblazoned ways from heart to brain as the God-given life, with fleet and unstaying motion, pricked the inoculating germ of immortality into the pulseless, colorless mass, hurrying on in obedience to undeviating law into the viewless, reachless eternities?

The body of the unborn babe was death until life came by. The body of the man must be death again before life's work shall begin anew. We know that the body will pass on into the foliage of forests and the plash of streams, and who shall say that the life may not journey on, "unhurt amid the wreck of matter and the crash of worlds?"

NAT GOODWIN'S WICKED PARTNER.

Nat Goodwin's wicked partner, George Graham Rice, alias Herzog, alias something else, has a charming personality. He "hath an outside person and a smooth dispose, framed to make women false," and in the art of divesting suckers of their surplus cash he has no equal in all the land. He lacks only the ability to escape punishment for his misdeeds. He has served two terms in the New York penitentiary, and, according to the latest advices, he is now in the clutches of Uncle Sam, for an alleged misuse of the mails, and while in durance vile his wife has obtained a Reno divorce from him. His late matrimonial partner gave evidence that the possessions of her spouse amount to millions.

How much of the proceeds of Herzog's depredations on the public went to make up the $1,700,000 which Nat settled upon Edna Goodrich and himself, is one of those things which like Lord Dundreary's conundrum "no fellow can find out." But as Nat has escaped any share of the criminal prosecutions, it is presumable that he never knew of the crookedness of his wicked partner, but in his innocent-hearted artistic soul believed that the money was the result of honest industry. He will no doubt be surprised and wounded at discovering that it was tainted money, and he will naturally desire to restore it to the victims, but there are so many of them, and they are scattered so widely, that he will be unable to follow the promptings of his righteous inclinations. Nat, it is said, does not now intend a fifth matrimonial experiment. The chorus girl who, in his last divorce case, was the co-respondent, is reported to have acted as a culinary artist before she exchanged the kitchen for the glare of the footlights, and Nat draws the line right there—he will not lead a low menial to the hymeneal altar.

INFORMAL EXTRADITION.

An interesting international complication may arise from the present revolution—so called—in Mexico. A company of insurgent Mexicans, recruited possibly in New Mexico or Arizona, might raid a border town, overcome the local police or the Mexican garrison, rob the banks and merchants, and cross the line into the United States with their booty. If they were an organized military force their offense might be classed as a political one and they could not be arrested in the United States and returned to Mexico, because a requisition for the extradition of a mere political offender could not be honored. If, however, they were robbers and murderers, masquerading as revolutionists merely for the purposes of plunder, our government would, under its treaty obligations, be compelled to secure them and surrender them to the Mexican authorities, although it would be morally certain that their trial and execution in Mexico, or rather their execution without a trial, would take place shortly after their return.

When A. P. K. Safford was Governor of Arizona, and Luis Torres was Governor of Sonora, these executives were accustomed to arrange for the capture and return of fleeing criminals without troubling the Department of State, either in Washington or in the City of Mexico. Torres was so accommodating in the matter of surrendering fugitives who committed crimes in Arizona and then fled to Sonora, that some of the Hermosillo papers sharply criticised him for his complaisance.

A pair of merchants in Tucson sold to some customers at Bisbee a large lot of dry goods. There was then no railroad connection with Bisbee and the goods were packed and loaded on mules by the vendors, the purchasers not being present at the packing.

When the packages were opened they were found to contain mouldy dried apples with a center of brickbats. The swindlers fled to Hermosillo. Gov. Safford, in accordance with the practice which had prevailed, wrote Gov. Torres to arrest the rascals and deliver them at the border, where a Pima county sheriff with deputies would receive them and take them to Tucson for trial.

This time Gov. Torres failed to deliver the scoundrels. He reported to Gov. Safford that the Mexican papers opposed to him were now denouncing him for arresting criminals without any directions from Mexico City and causing them to be escorted to the border, and delivered to the sheriff of Pima county. He was therefore reluctantly compelled to decline the request of his great and good friend for the usual informal requisitionary proceedings. But if his great and good friend would indicate what punishment the malefactors ought to receive he—Gov. Torres—would see that they got it. Gov. Safford rejoined that he thought about three months on the chain gang would be right. Gov. Torres answered that the streets of Hermosillo needed cleaning and grading, and that, in order to promote the ends of justice and aid in the necessary sanitation of the streets of Hermosillo, he would have the local judge give the fugitives four months each for violating the city ordinances—and the judge did.

FULFILLMENT.

She stood in a Reception Hall,
Crowded with Wealth and Fashion,
And every eye was glued upon
A Poetess of Passion;
She stood for weary hours long,
That just one little finger
Of that famed hand might in her own
A fleeting moment linger.
She gazed and gazed with greedy eyes,
With yearning, craving, striving eyes;
She said: "Ah, me, how nice to be A feted, fine celebrity!"

She stood in a Reception Hall,
The center of attraction,
And she had reached Fame's pinnacle
By paths fraught with distraction.
From North to South, from East to West,
She fled, reporters trailing,
Society and Women's Clubs
Her advent wildly hailing.
She smiled, with satiated eyes,
With dreary, weary, tired eyes;
She said: "Ah, me! who'd wish to be A pestered, bored Celebrity?"

Startling Cure for Run Down Nerves.

Robinson Thermal or "Turkish" Bath at Home, Costing But a Few Cents Produces Astonishing Results.

Drugless Treatment Proves Revelation in Treatment of Many Diseases.

One Robinson Thermal or Turkish Bath for those of weakened vitality will do more good in a half hour than three months' vacation on a farm—infinitely more than can be expected from any drug in the world.

Many startling cures have been produced by the use of the Robinson Thermal Bath. It is revolutionizing the treatment of disease. Prominent physicians are abandoning drugs in many cases for this new treatment. Those who have tried them are astonished at the change in their condition.

The intense exquisite feeling of happiness, strength and mental clearness which results are impossible to express in words.

Open up the pores and the change seems almost miraculous: nerves are strengthened at once, kidneys get well; eczema, pimples and skin diseases vanish; bad colds, lumbago, rheumatism, dyspepsia, throat and lung trouble, insomnia and constipation disappear as though some wonderful force had lifted them away.

Every man or woman can now have a Robinson Thermal Bath at home, at a cost of but a few cents, and without trouble.

This can be done only by the Robinson Thermal Bath Cabinet, which is a model of ingenuity. No matter what the size of your purse, you can have one of these cabinets.

The Robinson Thermal Bath Cabinets are now being exhibited and are on sale in Los Angeles at The Broadway Dept. Store.

Ask the dealer also for that great book, "The Philosophy of Health and Beauty." The regular price is $2.00, but you can get one free for a limited time.

Don't pass another day without seeing these cabinets. If you cannot go yourself, just send your name and address today to the ROBINSON MFG. CO., Suite 77, Snowflake Bldg., Toledo, Ohio, for full illustrated information, free.

Ailments of Men Happily Overcome

SUCCESSFULLY TRIED BY MANY.

Undoubtedly the following prescription will work wonders for that great class of men who, through dissipation of their natural strength, find themselves in their "second childhood" long before the three score and ten allotted to life's pleasures and enjoyments are reached.

It is presumed to be infallible, and highly efficient in quickly restoring in "nervous exhaustion," weak vitality, melancholia and the functions.

First get 50 cents' worth of compound fluid balmwort in a 1-oz. package, and 3 ozs. syrup sarsaparilla compound; take home, mix and let stand 2 hours; then get 1 oz. compound essence cardiol and 1 oz. tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom). Mix all in a 6 or 8-oz. bottle, shake well, and take one teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring followed by a drink of water.

By mixing it at home no man need be the wiser as to another's shortcomings, and expensive fees are avoided.

Lack of poise and equilibrium in men is a constant source of embarrassment even when the public least suspects it. For the benefit of those who want a restoration to full, bounding health, and all the happiness accompanying it, the above home treatment is given. It contains no opiates or habit-forming drugs whatever. Mix it at home and no one will be the wiser as to your affliction.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Harbor Committee of the City Council decided yesterday to recommend that the submerged land in the outer harbor known as the Huntington fill, be set aside for all time for municipal purposes.

The Glendale and Lake street property of Jessie W. Taylor has been ordered sold by the Sheriff to satisfy a judgment for $20,309, secured by the intervenors in the action brought by Mrs. Taylor against Grace Morris, and others to quiet title.

The estate of John Fiske Barnard, amounting to $164,000, was ordered divided among the nine heirs of the testator, yesterday. The widow, Julia B. Barnard, gets a one-ninth interest and in addition the household goods in the Pasadena home.

Frank Fuentes, a big, husky baker, refused to support his family when twins came into it, but Judge McCormick induced him to promise to give his wife $6 a week, and he was released.

A son of a prominent Iowa man was arraigned in Police Court yesterday on a charge of attempting to passen fictitious check.

At the City Hall.

HOLD FOREVER TO THIS LAND.

HARBOR COMMITTEE DECIDES TO SO RECOMMEND.

Would Have the Submerged Ground in the Outer Harbor Known as the Huntington Fill Set Aside for All Time for Municipal Purposes.

The Harbor Committee of the Council yesterday morning decided to recommend that the submerged land in the outer harbor known as the Huntington fill be set aside for all time for municipal purposes. The ordinance to be adopted provides that no franchise or concessions shall hereafter be granted on this piece of ground but that it shall be used for municipal wharves and docks.

It is regarded as probably the most valuable piece of submerged land owned by the city in the harbor. The Huntington franchise has been declared forfeited and there has been no litigation to delay the city in taking possession. It is also generally known that City Engineer Hamlin's plans for the expenditure of harbor bonds contemplate beginning the first extensive work of development on this site.

The Harbor Commission has already discussed the situation and the ordinance came before the Harbor Committee with its approval. The Huntington fill now takes a place with the Los Angeles river bed as ground sacred to the public enterprises of Los Angeles.

The municipal railroad question was also discussed by the committee. Councilman Stewart called attention to the fact that the adoption of the new charter on March 6 may change conditions in respect to it. It will not come under the jurisdiction of the Harbor Commission. As the adoption of the charter amendments will not be certain until that time the executive management of the road remains a question of uncertainty. Chairman Betkouski of the Harbor Committee suggested a special commission for the building of the harbor road. It was finally decided to leave the matter with the City Engineer, the Board of Public Utilities and the Harbor Commission for the present.

A resolution of the City Club asking the Mayor and Council to take steps toward securing better defenses for the Pacific Coast met with a cold reception. Uncle Jerry Andrews said that the United States is one of the most belligerent nations of the earth, trying to tease the Japanese into jumping on its back, applauding jingo newspapers and otherwise showing a scrappy disposition. He wanted to refer the matter to Representative Hobson. Councilman Stewart was of the opinion that the City Council could not do much toward the fortification of San Pedro harbor except to lend any assistance it could to the representatives and Senators from the West. The resolution was filed.

Wilmington came forward with a demand for immediate improvement of its harbor, referring again to the anteconsolidation promises of the city. The people from there said the Mayor is getting somewhat cross over their repeated requests and they now came to demand action from the Council. They wanted to know why some one did not take steps to hurry up the decision on the bonds and why meantime the city could not advance money to carry on the work. The committee decided that the Wilmington people did not understand how anxious the Council is to get a decision from the Supreme Court on the bonds so that it can go ahead with the work, and filed the communication.

Hit by the Ordinance.

R. Ferguson and his wife, an elderly couple living in the southwest part of town, who make a living by conducting a small laundry, have complained to the City Council that they are hard hit by the new ordinance. Because they use one horse and wagon for delivering the small washings they do, they are taxed $5 a month, the same as the big laundries. If they operated a hand laundry they would escape the tax, but although they wash by hand, since they deliver by horse they come under the heavier tax. Five dollars means the best part of a week's washing to them.

BUILDS A TINY MOTOR.

E. O. Walser, a watchmaker employed in a local jewelry establishment, has constructed an electric motor which he says weighs one-eighth of an ounce. The motor is about as big as a half-inch piece from the end of a lead pencil and is arranged to run forward or reverse at three speeds. A pocket battery to which it is attached provides the motive power.

PRE-MILLENIAL DISCOURSE.

The public is invited to the meeting of the Presbyterian Ministers' Association, at the Bible Institute on Monday morning at 10:30, to hear an address by Rev. T. C. Horton on the subject, "Why I Am a Pre-Millennialist." Dr. Horton is an able and entertaining speaker, and persons interested in the subject should hear him.

CLERGYMAN'S DISCOVERY AFFECTS ESTATE.

Last Act in the Litigation Involving the Property Appears in the Issuance from the Sheriff's Office of a Writ for the Sale of Realty Left by Zerelda Wheeler.

The last act in the litigation involving the property of Zerelda Wheeler appeared yesterday in the issuance of a writ from the office of Sheriff Hammel. The writ was for the sale of the real estate in the name of Jessie W. Taylor, a daughter of Mrs. Wheeler, under a judgment for $20,309 secured in Judge Hervey's court in the action brought by Jessie W. Taylor against Grace Morris, and others, to quiet title.

The property includes a twenty-nine-acre ranch at Glendale and a two-story house and lot on Lake street. The sale of the property may be tied up pending an appeal to a higher court, provided Mrs. Taylor gives a bond for a sum twice the amount of the judgment, but this has not been done.

Mrs. Taylor was administratrix of the estate of her mother, but her powers were suspended. There is an action now pending in Judge Bordwell's court for the revocation of her letters. In the action that resulted in the judgment against her, the decree was in favor of the intervenors, W. A. Snedeker, administrator of the estate of Mrs. Wheeler, and Frank W. Kelsey, guardian ad litem of the three children of Mrs. Morris, the mother. Helen O. Morris, now being an inmate of the State Hospital at Patton.

It appeared from the testimony that Mrs. Wheeler and her daughter, Mrs. Taylor, invested $12,000 in flats on Flower street, previous to the death of the mother, the latter contributing $8000, and the daughter, $4000. This property was afterward sold for $26,000, and the money invested in the Glendale ranch place, the title to all of the holdings being in the name of Mrs. Taylor.

Under the terms of the will, the share of Mrs. Morris, another daughter of Mrs. Wheeler, is to go to her three children at her death, and it was to quiet title as to Mrs. Taylor that the original action was brought. Rev. John Morris, a Nebraska clergyman, is the husband of Mrs. Morris.

The will of Mrs. Wheeler was in possession of Mrs. Taylor a long while after the death of her mother, and it was only by accident that Rev. Morris, who was visiting here, discovered the features of the document relating to the share of his wife in her mother's estate, which was to be one-half.

AGED WITNESS.

SON'S DIVORCE ACTION.

Judge Dobling of San Benito had charge of the divorce trials yesterday and granted three decrees. One of the features of the session was the testimony of Amos D. Cooper, aged 84, in the action brought by his son, S. D. Cooper, for a decree from Hattie Cooper, whom he charged with desertion and cruelty.

There was a disinclination on the part of Cooper counsel to call the old gentleman, but the court wanted to hear his story. But little information was obtained from him. He could recall some of the incidents in the stormy matrimonial career of his son, but only vaguely, as his memory was treacherous.

"I don't remember things like I used to," he said, and everybody believed him.

The Coopers were married in San Bernardino in 1904, and it was testified that the wife was cruel in her treatment of a child by another marriage, who was a cripple. She had been away from Cooper for more than three years. He got his decree.

Edward O. Flood gave his wife Florence Flood, his property valued at $4000, located in Berkeley, in the hope that the gift would make her good-humored, but it had no such effect, and she left him two years ago.

WEAKENED ON TWINS.

PROMISED TO PAY.

Frank Fuentes, a big brawny baker, was in Judge McCormick's court yesterday charged with having refused to contribute to the support of his pair of twin girls, Alice and Frances. It was shown that Fuentes was the father of an earlier child, and that he did his duty as a good father and husband, by supporting the family. But the coming of the twins seemed to take the heart out of him, and he neglected to provide food and clothing for the double contribution of the stork. However, upon Fuentes agreeing to pay his wife (who was in the courtroom) $6 a week, he was allowed to go.

Dan Walsh, charged with burglary, pleaded not guilty, and his trial was set for March 22.

The trial of K. Tokino, and N. Nysham, Japanese, charged with assault with deadly weapon, was set for next Wednesday.

Charles McKasson, a Kansas City man, was sent to Folsom for five years for burglary. It was shown by the testimony that in the opinion of the police McKasson had been concerned in several hold-ups in the Chinese and Japanese quarter.

Reuben Cunningham, a youth from Vancouver, B. C., charged with burglary was sent to the Preston Industrial School at Ione, until he is of age. Reuben will linger there about ten months.

The following informations were filed, accused to be arraigned Tuesday: Jerry Arnold, failure to provide; W. E. Stewart, check, no funds; Raymond Sands, grand larceny; C. E. Means, check, no funds.

ORDERS DIVISION.

BARNARD HEIRS GET SHARES.

Judge Rives yesterday issued an order to divide the estate of John Fiske Barnard of Pasadena among the heirs-at-law of the testator, nine in number. The property involved is appraised at $164,205.50, and each heir is entitled to the undivided one-ninth of the estate. The beneficiaries number Julia B. Barnard, the widow; Annie B. Wells, Helena Barnard, John A. Barnard, Gertrude B. Wells, Robert C. Barnard, Ethel M. Mushnell, Wilford K. Barnard and Archer F. Company, St. Clair, Madison & St. the estate, the widow, is given the household effects, jewelry, etc., in the Pasadena home.

The personal property includes the following stocks: Missouri & Illinois Bridge and Belt Railway Company; East St. Louis & Suburban Railway Watson, John M. Carson, Gregoria del Lou's Belt Railway Company, United Railway Company, United States Cast Iron Pipe & Foundry Company, Chamber of Commerce, St. Joseph, Mo.; Westinghouse Airbrake Company, and bank and telephone stock.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

INCORPORATIONS. Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by the I. N. Van Nuys Building Company, capital stock, $1,500,000, incorporators, I. N. Van Nuys, Susanna H., J. Benton, Annie H., and Kate Van Nuys, subscribed, $1000; Dominguez Water Company, capital stock, $1,000,000; incorporators, Kasper Cohn, James J. Watson, John M. Carson, Gregoria del Amo and H. W. O'Melveney, subscribed, $1250; Quality Grocery Company, capital stock, $10,000, incorporators, A. J. Goodlin, N. P. Goodlin, M. L. Marvin, A. B. Marvin and A. U. Thompson, subscribed, $1010; Home Builders' Building Corporation, capital stock, $200,000, incorporators, H. R. Taylor, Jr., J. R. and Charles W. Taylor, W. W. Williams and G. F. McCulloch.

LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION. The petition of Aasin Johnsen, widow of Didrik Johnson, asking that she be appointed administrator of the estate of her husband, was filed yesterday. The estate is appraised at $6000. Cynthia L. McCown, widow of George McCown, asks for her appointment as administrator of his estate appraised at $24,000. The largest asset is 207 1-2 acres located in Nodaway county, Mo., worth $10,000. The petition of Public Administrator Frank Bryson, that he be appointed administrator of the estate of Thomas Casey was filed. Casey's assets consist of Wells Fargo & Company Express money orders, calling for the payment of $800. He has no known heirs.

DAMAGE ACTION. Suit was instituted yesterday in the Superior Court, by Frank Vasquez, guardian ad litem of Manuel Vasquez, against the Los Angeles Railway Company, and the Pioneer Fertilizing Company, praying for the recovery of $15,000, alleged to be due on account of Manuel Vasquez being struck by a car of the railway company, and seriously injured, December 8, last at Sunset boulevard and North Broadway. The boy was riding on a wagon of the Pioneer Fertilizing Company and that corporation is made a party to the action.

JANUARY RECEIPTS. In January the receipts of the County Clerk's office aggregated $7038.20, the sources including: Probate, $1216.45; civil, $4770.50; miscellaneous, $1053. The receipts for the corresponding month last year were $6616.90.

ACTION ON NOTE. An action was begun in the Superior Court yesterday by N. A. and E. M. K. Wolcott against J. H. Bullard, C. M. Du Vernet and the Los Angeles Realty Company, to secure damages amounting to $7000, and the cancellation of their signatures on a note for $15,000, that will not be due for three years. It is set out in the complaint that the plaintiffs guarantee a note for that amount given by the Los Angeles Realty Company, to Bullard, they to receive 200 shares of the capital stock of the corporation. The defendant, Du Vernet, an officer of the company, failed to deliver the stock as it is alleged the agreement provided for, and for the failure so to do the damages are asked.

The Inferior Courts.

WOULD FACE MUSIC ALONE.

CHARGED WITH PASSING FICTITIOUS CHECK.

Son of Prominent Sioux City Man Is in City Jail, But Refuses to Let Parents Know of His Trouble. Fair Speeder Just Misses Charge That Might Mean Jail.

Dressed in a natty suit with the bottom of his trousers turned up many inches to display something new in hosiery, Fred W. Kammann, about 21 years old, son of Fred W. Kammann, secretary of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company of Sioux City, Iowa, stood up in the prisoners' dock in Police Court yesterday morning to be arraigned on a charge of passing fictitious checks.

Kammann remained mute and his preliminary examination was set for tomorrow afternoon. Kammann was then taken back to his cell in the City Jail to await his hearing. He was arrested Thursday by Detectives Beaumont and Roberts and until yesterday morning kept his identity quiet.

"My father is a prominent man in Sioux City, Iowa, and I don't want him to know anything about this," he told the detectives. "If I should write and tell him he would help me out, but I am going to get out of it by myself. Then besides I don't want it to get around home that I have been arrested here."

Kammann looked as if he had recently left college but, he told the detectives that he had just come to Los Angeles from San Francisco, where he worked in a theater. He is charged with attempting to pass a check for $10 in a clothing store on South Main street.

As a proof that he is who he said he is, Kammann showed the detectives a letter received some time ago from his father in which the latter's name appears on the letterhead as secretary of the company named.

FAIR SPEEDER FINED.

JUST MISSES JAIL SENTENCE.

"I took my top off and didn't know I was going so fast," was the explanation made by Miss Elsie Stern, a handsome young woman living at No. 131 South Pine street, Hollywood, yesterday morning when she appeared in Police Court to answer to a charge of speeding.

Miss Stern was driving on West Washington street when seen by motorcycle officers. They followed her and finally overtook her. The complaint filed, stated that she was going twenty-nine miles an hour.

"That is just one mile inside the stone-pile limit," said Judge Chambers with a smile. "If you had been going—that is I mean if the officers in their complaint had cared to make it over thirty—it would have been compulsory to send you to jail."

Miss Stern smiled and fumbled with her pocketbook, when the judge concluded his remarks with the making of the fine $25.

"Twenty-nine miles an hour" covers a multitude of sins and applies in most cases where the speeder was not going thirty-five miles and is a first offender.

DOUBTS FICKLENESS.

STORY DOESN'T CONVINCE.

Antonio Contreras told a good story but Police Judge Chambers sent him to jail yesterday morning for sixty days for petty larceny.

Contreras was charged with stealing a watch from a friend, but Antonio declared it was a mistake.

"My friend gave me his watch and told me to pawn it for him," he said. "I said I would be glad to do him the favor and took the watch and started for the pawnshop, but before I got there he had changed his mind and had got an officer to arrest me so he could get his watch back."

With the remark that Antonio had done pretty well the judge fixed the punishment at $60 or sixty days.

Wants Fine Remitted.

Claiming that she had been promised immunity from punishment by police officers if she would plead guilty to a charge of conducting a blind pig, Mrs. Mary Alio, No. 2201-03 East Ninth street, appeared before Police Judge Chambers yesterday morning and asked that the fine of $200 which was imposed upon her Friday be remitted. The matter was postponed until Monday when Judge Chambers will hear what she has to say.

Fifteen Pay Fines.

Patrolman Ward, stationed at North Main and Wilhardt streets, made his presence felt yesterday morning when he arrested fifteen violators of the traffic ordinance. The men later appeared in Police Court before Police Judge Chambers and paid fines of $3 each. The majority of cases resulted from the drivers not driving around the intersection of the streets.

Police Court Brevities.

Charles Chung, a Chinaman, charged with conducting a lottery, was fined $50 by Police Judge Chambers yesterday morning.

E. H. Missall, president of the Missall Lime Company, Ninth and Towne avenue, was fined $50 by Police Judge Rose yesterday morning for working injured mules.

FOR POOR SICK FAMILY.

Italian Residents Will Give a Benefit Performance in Gamut Club Hall to Relieve Distress.

"To Them That Hath"

A Short Sermon To Fat Folks

"To them that hath shall be given" is a sentence that applies to fat people very neatly. It is common knowledge that once a human being begins to fatten up, to what they have already is added more than they want until finally a stage is reached where reduction must be made or decided disadvantage results.

Then comes forward the ages-old query, "Reduce—but how?" To the uninformed nothing suggests itself but the (to them) twin evils—less eating—more activity. They contemplate a more or less lengthy siege of dieting and exercising. So it may be said safely that every man or woman in the land now undergoing the fattening-up process has his or her mental eye fixed dubiously on that not far distant day when he or she will have to don the "ashes and sackcloth of reduction."

This is not an enlivening prospect, and so it is with considerable satisfaction that we announce the emancipation of the fat. Nowadays one may reduce much or little, a pound a day if desired, or hold their fat in check absolutely stationary, without doing a tap of exercise, missing a single meal, doing a particle of harm or causing a solitary wrinkle. All that's required, as hundreds testify, is the taking after meals and at bedtime of one Marmola Prescription Tablet, which tablets are sold by the Marmola Co., 225 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich., or any good druggist, at the uniform price of 75 cents, this sum being accepted for a case of tablets so well and generously filled that even one produces desirable results.

CALIFORNIA FURNITURE CO.

A Drapery Service
Unequalled in Los Angeles

¶ The remarkable facilities and resources of the "California's" drapery department are unequalled by any house in Los Angeles and surpassed by none in America.

¶ Our drapery department is in charge of capable men who are qualified by natural artistic ability, and by years of close intimacy with high-class interior decorating, to assist you in attaining the most effective results at least cost.

¶ This service, while it is a most important factor in making the home beautiful and in effecting economy, costs you nothing.

¶ Our showing of specially designed Arabian lace curtains—verdure and modern art tapestries for wall hangings and upholstering—English and French chintzes and cretonnes—and fancy linens in block prints for bedroom draperies—is most unusual and worthy the inspection of all who are interested in artistic draperies.

¶ We invite you to come and see these and the many other distinctive and beautiful drapery ideas.

¶ However extensive or limited your requirements, we shall be glad of the opportunity to demonstrate our ability to serve you economically and well.

Some new and unusual drapery suggestions are shown in one of our windows this week.

YOU ARE GROWING YOUNGER MOTHER

BANISH THOSE GRAY HAIRS!

Kill the Dandruff Germs—Stop Hair Falling

Thousands of mothers are looking younger.—Their gray hairs are gone. The natural color has come back, and with it a new growth of soft, glossy, luxuriant hair. Why should you look old before your time, when you can look years younger by using

WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR REMEDY

Dandruff Cured

Three applications removed all the dandruff and left my scalp clean, white and smooth.
Wm. Croak, Rochester, N. Y.

It Is Positively Guaranteed to Restore Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color

If other "so-called" Restorers have failed, don't give up hope, but give WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR REMEDY a trial. You run no risk. If it is not exactly as represented, your money will be refunded.

PROFIT BY OTHERS' EXPERIENCE

Gray Hair Restored

My hair was getting quite gray and falling out rapidly and I was troubled with a terrible itching of the scalp. My head was full of dandruff, which fell upon my clothes and kept me continually brushing it off. While on a visit to Rochester I heard of your Sage and Sulphur for the hair. I got a bottle and used it. A few applications relieved the itching, my hair stopped falling out and gradually came back to its natural color. It is now a nice dark brown color, soft, glossy and pliable. Several of my friends want to use it, and I want to know what you will charge me for six bottles of it.

Grow Hair on a Bald Head

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is fairly covered and keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

Remember None of the Garments Are Damaged

—And but a few slightly soiled, as stated in the letter below. The Name of the mfrs. —Birkenfeld, Strauss & Co., stands for the highest quality in undermuslins. Making more garments than any other concern in the world, they have reduced their cost to a minimum and are therefore enabled to turn out much better underwear than competing houses at considerably less cost. There is absolutely no parallel in Los Angeles retailing for this remarkable purchase, which brings to you the finest muslins at less than maker's cost. Read the letter below. The prices and descriptions of the garments, and be here at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning, prepared to buy an entire new supply of muslins.

BIRKENFELD, STRAUSS & CO.
MANUFACTURERS OF Ladies' Muslin and Flannelette Undergarments
LARGEST IN THE WORLD
61-63-65-67 WOOSTER STREET.
New York

Messrs. Muse, Faris, Walker Co.,
Los Angeles, Calif.

Gentlemen:—On January 6th a fire occurred in the building next door to our factory, on Wooster St., and the entire plant was totally destroyed, at a loss of about $200,000. Part of the roof of our building adjoining these premises was also burned away. As a natural consequence, thousands of dozens of goods in process of manufacture, as well as in our various stock departments, were slightly soiled from being handled and thrown about by the Fire Department men during the course of the fire.

We have just adjusted our loss with the Fire Underwriters; hence, in order to get rid of this merchandise, we have this day accepted your buyer's offer for the entire lot of Salvage Goods at a great sacrifice. Therefore, the Fire Insurance Loss is your gain.

The goods contained in this lot of merchandise represents all of this season's productions, and is a beautiful lot of muslin underwear. They consist of gowns, drawers, corset covers, skirts, chemise, combinations, princess slips, etc. Many of the goods are not soiled at all; however, irrespective of this fact, we have gathered the entire lot together and sold it in one lump.

This purchase ought to enable you to give the people of your city the biggest opportunity to procure muslin underwear at such prices as were never before offered in the history of manufactured white goods.

Wishing you every success, we are,

Respectfully yours,

Birkenfeld Strauss

[illegible]ED PARTNERS.

[illegible] Alexander was cau- [illegible] aggressive, Alexander [illegible] Little smashed [illegible] picked up the pieces. Little upset the apple cart if it was in his way, Alexander would walk far around to avoid it. Little would rove and wander in search of the dollar, Alexander would insist on staying in one place. Alone, Little failed because of his ultra-vigorous methods and Alexander because of his too-great conservatism. Together they succeeded chiefly, apparently, because each was a check on the other and complementary to him.

Perhaps the greatest individual stroke of their careers was that by which they founded a city and, incidentally, went broke doing it. Later, when their predictions as to their pet townsite came true, they reaped the reward of their foresight—or rather, Little's foresight—but there was a long time between.

They were running a little tinshop at Greencastle, Ind., at the time. Alexander generally stayed at home and minded the shop. Little was usually out drumming up business and keeping his ears and eyes open. A good deal of his time he spent at the little hotel talking with people from the outside world, looking out for bigger chances.

One day he overheard a few scraps of a conversation between two railroad men from Chicago, stranded at Greencastle between trains. That was at the time of the building of the Illinois Central Railroad and the two men whom he overheard were on the "inside" as to its route. What Little heard was merely a hint as to the place where the new road would cross the old National Road—the great "pike" that ran straight through from Baltimore to St. Louis.

He jammed on his hat and pelted back to the shop to tell Alexander about it. As usual, the latter took the conservative view. He pointed out that railroads were notably uncertain critters and that if they tried to beat the rest of the population to the expected townsite at the junction of the two great arteries of trade, they might find that they were several miles out of the way after it was done.

FOUNDING A CITY.

Little insisted and the upshot was that the two took their canes, locked up the shop and started for the present site of Effingham, Ill., located at the junction of the Illinois Central and the National Road. They walked the entire distance. Once on the spot indicated, they staked out a townsite, drew maps, subdivided the tract into city lots with streets, alleys, etc., not forgetting to leave a right-of-way for the railroad, and then started out to tell people about it.

In the end, though the time was long, their judgment was justified. The railroad came through and passed along the very right-of-way that had been marked out for it. At that time Little and Alexander owned a whole town, except for what they had sold to others as longsighted as themselves, and they made comfortable sums in the boom that followed the Illinois Central southward.

The happiest recollections of Little's life were those of his days as a journeyman tinner, especially on the Mississippi and in the Southern States. All along the great river they mended pots and kettles for the thrifty housewives of every town in the valley, taking their pay mostly in muskrat and mink furs that they later sold in New Orleans.

Tiring of this, they went 'cross country to Rome, Ga., where they ran a little hardware and tinners' shop. Out of it Little daily drove a decrepit horse and wagon, peddling their wares through the entire countryside, his skill as a tradesman bringing in hundreds of "dickers" that the conservatism of his partner in the business would cause to be incontinently rejected. The disagreements over some of these led to a separation of months—the longest time that they were ever apart.

A third of the States and Territories of the Union were, at one time and another, the scene of the operations of the two men. Their activities embraced practically every vocation that commercial soldiers of fortune could engage in. Little operated for some time in Virginia, to leave it on hearing of the growing importance of Lincoln, Neb., and the possibility of its being selected as the capital of the new State.

BOOST FOR LINCOLN.

He and Alexander at once left for Lincoln and threw all they could command in the way of resources and influence into the scale, at the same time backing themselves to the extent of sinking their available capital in Lincoln realty. A more enduring monument to Little than any which his children can erect to his memory is the towering Little Block in the heart of the Nebraska capital, the biggest building in the city. Much of his fortune was long represented in that venture that was at last made successful only through a few hard-fought votes. He was the first Prohibition Mayor Lincoln ever had.

In New Mexico it was his capital that made possible the development of the Black Diamond coal industry at Gallup, now giving employment to hundreds of miners and constituting the chief asset of that city. In this section, he fathered the Colton cement industry and it was through his faith in it and the sums he spent to maintain it that the company was more than once saved from dissolution.

He was among the first to commence the colonization of the great citrus lands of West Highland and one of the early olive growers in the great fields of the San Fernando Valley. Though incapacitated by age from active participation in business, his perception remained as keen and his methods as aggressive as ever and his capital made its every dollar's worth of influence felt in the enterprises into which he entered.

IN THE LIMELIGHT.

Foreman Michael J. McNamara of the New York Fire Department has been running to fires for thirty-eight years, and feels that his bones and muscles are about played out. He became a fireman on April 21, 1873, and became a foreman in 1886. Several years ago a newspaper held a voting contest for the most popular fireman in the city, and offered a diamond badge valued at $3000 as a prize. McNamara received 6,000,000 votes. His closest competitor was a million or so behind. McNamara bears many scars received on duty. On March 7, 1907, he was caught under falling walls at a fire that occurred at Amsterdam avenue and Sixty-ninth street. He was laid up for seven weeks. In 1898 he was thrown from the engine when it collided with a surface car and was laid up for nine months. He was placed on the retired list February 1.

Paul J. Rainey, the big game hunter, who came back with two live polar bears from the Arctic regions, where he had been hunting with the Whitney expedition last fall, and who has been shooting bears along the Mississippi River this winter, is going forth to hunt again. This time he will go to British East Africa, Borneo and India, any place, in short, where he can get wild animals to have their pictures taken and be lassoed and brought back to New York alive. Mr. Rainey will be accompanied on the trip by John C. Hemment, a photographer, who has been on other expeditions with Mr. Rainey and who has 50,000 feet of films for the moving pictures he will take of the beasts.

"Uncle John Butleer, the oldest voter in New Jersey, has celebrated his one hundred and first birthday anniversary at his home at Ocean Grove, N. Y. Since last year, when it was supposed he was but 99 years old, the discovery of authentic records adds a whole year to Mr. Butler's age. When his son was born, Butler changed the date in the family Bible, so that a slave, born at the same time, and who would have been free at the age of 21, was obligd to remain in the older Butler's family a year longer.

SOCIAL CLUB ORGANIZED.

The St. Thomas Social Club was organized on Thursday night, in Parish Hall, Pico street and Mariposa avenue, with the following officers; President, D. J. Coyne; vice-presidents, Miss Mildred Mahoney, Mrs. E. J. Rodden; secretary, M. Vaughn; assistant, Miss Quinn; treasurer, M. Clark.

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION.

The Southern California Ministerial Association of the Christian Church, will meet in the First Church, Eleventh and Hope streets, on Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock, and will also hold an afternoon session. Interesting papers will be read and discussed.

The Rains of California.

"Rain, rain, and sun! A rainbow in the sky," sings Morlin, "in riddling triplets of old time," when Bellicent, Lot's wife, the Queen of Orkney," questioned him, woman-wise, about things he couldn't or didn't want to tell. Anyhow he made the rainbow, only daughter of the rain and sun, glorify the storm.

And our California rain always wears the radiant crown of the seven brilliants. We do love the sunshine, but oh, you rain! Our California would lose its perennial summer but for "the rain drops' showery dance and rhythmic beat." We have learned to accept sunshine as the common lot of man; a radiant matter of course; an every day commonplace. But the rain comes as a special blessing; a course of joy; a heavenly treasure trove, found in the sky; money from home; a letter from a sweetheart; a visit from a friend, old and true and dearly beloved.

We look at the brown hills, the gray meadows, and the long dusty roads—all nature tanned and bronzed by seven months of rainless summer. It is October! Sullenly frowning above the hills and over the meadows, peering through the mountain passes, the cloudy face of November. The blue sky is clouded with disappointment, looking down upon the dry courses of the brooks; the dusty washes of the river bed, the rock-strewn drouth of the mountain torrent. So, suddenly peeping through the clouds, laughing in a burst of crystal tears—it is the dimpled face of April—so happy with its own surprise for its best loved State, that she is crying and laughing at once like the overjoyous school girl that she is. Anywhere else in this land, April comes by appointment. She wrote on the January page of the calendar, sending word by the month of the double face, that she was coming; telling when she would arrive—April first, and like a thoughtful guest, telling also just how long she would stay—that she would pack her trunks with clouds and sunshine and rainbows on the thirtieth of the month, and fly away to make room and welcome for her beautiful sister May. April is no surprise "back East." She comes in April every year.

But here, in our blessed and favored California—she is so certain of her glad welcome that she plans a little surprise for us every year, and bursts upon our vision unexpectedly. All that we know, when January opens the door with a cheery "Happy New Year," is that she will come along sometime in that part of the year generally known as winter. We respond to January's spring time greeting with a glorious out-of-door Tournament of Roses in that summer city of Pasadena, and say:

"Have you seen anything of April on the way?"

And January laughs—

"My capricious little sister? Right behind me! She was three months back when I left Old Year Junction, but there's no telling where she is now. She may dance in upon you before I get away—nobody knows. She never runs by schedule in California."

And sure enough, she never does. Any morning after New Year her humming bird couriers may announce her and the hills catching the pleasant fragrance of her breath, cry, "She comes! Our Mistress of Tears and Smiles," and they lift their heads to kiss her flying feet as she passes over them, weeping for joy at their loyal homage and laughing to see them blush with emerald tenderness and affection, which is the manner of blushing among the California slopes and summits, and very lovely it is, on the face of a brown hill.

You can see the first faint tinge of verdure tinting the bronzed cheek, climbing to the rounded brow with deeper apple green, growing a little brighter every day, until from brow to foot the mountain is mantled in an emerald so gloriously bright and pure that you would think another day of sunshine would make it burst into a living flame of iridescence.

And then out of the ground break the troops of April's happy children in all the colors of floral beauty—rainbows in the grasses smiling back to the rainbows in the sky. Nodding their multicolored heads to one another they cry back and forth—

"What time of the year is it?" asks a tiny bud, in a little bewilderment, as one who is too suddenly awakened from pleasant sleep.

"January!" answers a comrade, "didn't you hear the Tournament of Roses marching by, last week?"

"April—April—April!" cries another, "do you think I don't know my mother's kiss! All the Januaries in the century couldn't awaken me like that!"

"She came in December, last year," echoes another.

"It's me, my precious ones," calls the laughing voice from the weeping skies. "It's me—your mother. I came a little late this year because I didn't want to bring myself too close together in the Old Year and the New. It's your mother. I will stay here long enough to start the orange blossoms for the June weddings, and get the perfume of California flowers in my robe before I hurry on to my poor frozen children back East—your dear little sisters asleep under the snow. Maybe I'll come back to you next November and stay all next winter with you."

That's the way April and her rains come to California. And that's why the rains always bring such boundless joy to Californians.

Of course, speaking of joy and delight and mirth and dancing gayety, we must make some allowance for the visitor from the East, who has been accustomed to live all the year round by the almanac.

It does make some difference, depending on whether you are paying meter rates for water, or five dollars a day for climate.

What sort of a climate, I wonder would suit all the Children of Earth? The Esquimau dies when the grass grows under his feet, in place of the ice floes. The Swiss mountaineer pines away with homesickness when you banish him to pleasant prairies, smooth as a dancing floor, with rich soil ten feet deep. He longs for a sheltered nook twenty feet square, in a patch of rock, where a climbing cow with a prehensile tail and a tongue four feet long may find pasture and give milk some way or udder. The Hawaiian cries himself to death in a land of a hundred soups and no poi. An American visits every place and lives nowhere, including home. An Englishman lives everywhere and calls England "home," to the third and fourth generation. A Chinese, with a fine appreciation of the two countries, wants to live in the United States and to be buried in China. The Irishman lives anywhere rather than Ireland and fights any one who reminds him of it. Where is there a land that pleases us all?

I suppose Heaven is the only place that exactly fills the bill. But it takes a whole lifetime to get there. In the meantime, while we are waiting, California presents itself as "something just as good."

HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEETING.

The Historical Society of Southern California will have a public meeting in the assembly hall of the University of Southern California, Monday at 7:30 p.m. A paper will be read by Valentine M. Porter of Santa Barbara, on "Gen. Kearny's Part in the Conquest of California;" address, Dr. Grant

Dr. M. P. Heron, president.

G. B. Warman, manager.

They'll Use Waste Steel of the whole Coast in the new plant at Redondo Beach. Heads of the Warman Crucible Steel Company, which has made definite arrangements to build here.

REDONDO STEEL PLANT.

In this enterprise it will utilize the millions of tons of high-class steel waste which has accumulated in every big city on the Coast from Seattle to San Diego in the last twenty-five years.

For the transportation of this material to San Diego, the company will run a line of its own tugs to Portland, San Francisco and every city worth while, which is within the reach of tide water. While the new plant begins with an initial battery of only four furnaces, the plant will be doubled in size in the near future and as soon as possible a rolling mill will be installed for the use of low grade steel and scrap iron.

In securing this plant for Southern California, the Redondo Beach Chamber of Commerce and the Los Angeles Chamber of Mines and Oil have scored a local industrial triumph. The good results will begin to accrue immediately, for dirt is to be broken on the four-acre site of the new foundry within thirty days. This site is a portion of a tract of ninety-one acres one the east side of Redondo Beach set aside by the Redondo Improvement Company to be used exclusively for industrial purposes.

It has now been more than a year since G. B. Warman came to Los Angeles to study the possibilities of the steel business about here. Mr. Warman had closed an experience of thirteen years with the steel works at Cleveland, and had also served a number of years with the Prime Steel Company of Milwaukee. With him came his brother, N. W. Warman, who is an expert foundryman. Both men believed in the possibilities of this locality for their line and they found men like Dr. M. P. Heron, C. W. Foote, Rol King, W. J. Hess and E. C. Thomas ready to talk business with them. Dr. Heron has become president of their company and C. W. Foote is its secretary-treasurer. All of the company's stock is not only subscribed, but fully paid in and every dollar of it is held close.

At Corona they purchased a whole mountain of silica sand, of which they will need vast quantities to mix with their fluxing compound. This silica makes a glaze which is the salvation of furnace linings. The Corona sand is superior to desert or beach sands because it is free from salt and mineral. It is said to be 98 per cent. silica. It is impossible to estimate the quantity of available high-class steel waste lying idle in cities along the Coast, but G. B. Warman, who is to be the manager of his company, as well as its pattern expert, estimates that there is enough steel in sight to run an enormous plant twenty years, and long before that period has expired he expects to be manufacturing his own iron and steel at the Redondo Beach plant.

A remarkable feature of the possibilities of this business is that millions of tons of magnetized black sand are now undergoing a natural process of concentration upon the shores of Redondo Beach and Huntington Beach. These sands offer an incomparable opportunity to the iron industry. They run from 40 to 50 per cent. pure iron, and their separation by means of electricity is a comparatively simple proposition. The sands are simply passed over electric separators and being magnetic the valuable sands instantly adhere. This is not a proposition which the company will immediately undertake to handle, but it is an asset with which the company reckoned in considering the present enterprise.

The sands represent an almost inexhaustable supply of raw material which can be called upon at any time and from which the company will be- waste has been utilized. No difficulty will be experienced in securing a market for the production of high-class steel casts. The local trade is eager in its demands for such an article.

The most gigantic plant could not cope with the present demand and this demand increases daily with the spreading industrial growth of the entire southwest. Every concern in the country which uses machinery of any kind will have use for the parts to be manufactured by the Warman Crucible Steel Company. Many concerns which do not now specify steel casts will be glad to do so when the supply is of local manufacture, saving not only time, but the cost of freight shipments, and giving the consumer an opportunity to oversee the manufacture of the patterns he desires. The enterprise will operate to save all users of machinery both time and money and it will utilize millions of tons of steel now lying idle.

Gov. Wilson of New Jersey says: "You are just as big as the things you do, and as small as the things you have undone. The size of your life is the scale of your thinking." This sounds more like the scholar than the politician, but the manner in which the Governor bossed the election of a Senator to represent his State at Washington, is proof that his remarks are as well adapted to politicians as to any other people.

Climate Failed—Medicine Cured

It has been abundantly shown that rest, fresh air, and good food, do help many persons suffering from tuberculosis. But, to be really honest, it must be admitted that the disease is seldom more than "arrested." Something more is needed.

Eckman's Alterative is a medicine made for the cure of Tuberculosis. It has cured this disease again and again. Often these cures have been effected where the surroundings were not ideal, where no intelligent care was taken of the patient, where money was scarce; good food and good cooking unusual—yet cures resulted. Now we argue and urge that Eckman's Alterative should be used in every case of Tuberculosis, in addition to good, nourishing food, and fresh air, which we all need.

The facts—the evidence of cures that have been made—are interesting reading. A remarkable cure follows:

Weldon, Ill.

Gentlemen "Through Eckman's Alterative I have been saved from a premature grave, and, feeling that I might benefit suffering humanity, I take pleasure in writing you a brief history of my sickness, which you are at liberty to use.

On December 14, 1904, I was taken with typhoid pneumonia. My lungs became very much affected; my sputum was examined and Tuberculosis Bacilli was found. On February 21st, 1905, was advised to go to Fort Worth, Texas. While there an abscess in my right lung broke and discharged. I grew worse, and became very much emaciated. My physician informed me that I must go to Colorado as quickly as possible. I left Texas June 1st, and arrived in Canon City June 3rd, very feeble. After being there two weeks, my physician informed me that nothing could be done, as my case was hopeless. Three weeks later I returned home, weighing 103 pounds, the doctor having given me no assurance of reaching there alive.

On the 14th of July I began taking Eckman's wonderful remedy for Consumption, it being very highly recommended. Today I weigh 158 pounds. I am stout and well and can do any kind of work about my grain elevator. I have not an ache nor pain in my lungs, eat well, sleep well, and never felt better. I would be glad if every person afflicted with Tuberculosis took Eckman's cure."

(Signed Affidavit) ARTHUR WEBB.

Eckman's Alterative cures Bronchitis, Asthma; Hay Fever; Throat and Lung Affections. For sale by The Owl Drug Co., and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet of cured cases and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.

Variety In Every Department
Variety so arranged that it assists in your shopping so unobtrusive that it cannot bewilder you;—such variety is one of the first principles of this establishment.

It is one which the women of Southern California are ever ready to appreciate.

It means to you, an understanding, at a single glance, of what is best in all the fashion ideas which the season has brought forth; what is most appropriate for your own individual wearing, among the adaptations of the greatest idea thoughts of the greatest style authorities on this and the older continents.

It means that no store, East, West, North or South, exhibits a wider choice of whatever is desirable in women's outerwear, for no sooner has New York, London, Vienna, or any other recognized style center been acquainted with a new style than ever eager representatives of this store seize upon it and forward by special shipment its best examples for the approval of Los Angeles women.

We claim—rightly, we think—that nowhere else in the whole great southwest can as great Variety be found, that nowhere else is your shopping so simplified, that nowhere else can you be so sure of seeing all that is desirable in outergarments.

And we KNOW, beyond all quibbling or questioning, that the prices here are always and unvaryingly the lowest. It is our constant effort that they should be so.

Our Second Floor
Is always visited first by the careful shopper who seeks Smart Suit and Gown
and there is a very real reason for the pre-eminence which we enjoy. The backbone of the business of a store of this kind is its suit and dress department. And we, who have always recognized this fact, put into the values which our big second floor contains an amount of care and thought and study which insures their being at all times the very greatest that the city affords. New York Store suit styles are concededly authoritative. New York Store suit and dress designs are, beyond all else, new, fresh, unhackneyed.

This season there is a greater and wider choice for your particular benefit than we have ever been fortunate enough to obtain before at such an early date. Newer mixtures, newer designs reign throughout the whole department, and the price range varies from $19 to $75. By that we do not mean that the majority of suit styles shown here are at the higher price, but that at every price step there is a full and complete selection awaiting your pleasure.

Here, Then, Are Two Special Serge Values
For Monday
Blue Serge Suits at $18.50.
The result of what the buyer termed a "mighty good deal, a mighty good buy and a mighty good value." A large number of smart new styles in English serge, correctly tailored according to the demands of the most advanced styles, strict in line, graceful in curve. Right, you will agree. At this special price of $18.50, they are truly remarkable.

Cream Serge Suits at $18.50
Cream or in fine stripes of new patterns, these present as noteworthy a buying opportunity as the year has brought forth. So few other stores have a selection of cream serge suits which is at all worth while, and their prices on garments of this nature are so uniformly high, that we expect our special for Monday will occasion the most widespread appreciation.

Another Special Offer.
This one in Dresses
At $15
Your choice of scores of charming Spring designs in plain and figured silks, foulards, messalines and pongees. A remarkable assortment not alone from the price, but from their splendid variety. Among the colorings offered are navy and Copenhagen blues, golden browns, tans, reseda and wistaria. Also there are a number of pretty combinations of black and white, blue and white and brown and white, many of them in the strongly contrasting effects so greatly in vogue. And there are plain blacks, of course.

An Important Announcement
Regarding Furs
In spite of particularly heavy buying of furs during December and January we find that there are in our stock a number of odd pieces and a few sets of the higher grade furs. These we do not wish to store until next season, and in order to avoid doing so we will make exceptional inducements to present purchasers. Half prices will be bettered, and she who is able to use at this time a handsome fur piece in Mink, Lynx or Ermine, or in the better grades of Fox, will find it decidedly profitable to visit our fur department this week.

A Final Clearance Sale of Fancy Waists, $3.95
Here will probably be your last opportunity to participate in this great money saving sale. Waists that were formerly marked as high as $17.50 and that were sold here all last week for $5, have been re-marked and added to the large assortment of high-priced waists which had already been reduced to $3.95.

All colors are included, all of the desirable fabrics of which smart waists are made.

A first glance will convince you beyond all doubt of the verity of the values quoted. Not every style may be found in every pattern, but there is a wide choice, in spite of decided inroads upon the stock during the past week.

What the

With the exception of the sixth floor and half of the seventh, the building will be occupied as soon as it is ready to receive the officers.

If the growth of county business continues to increase at the same rate as it has in the past, all of the extra space will be required within a few years. The occupants and their locations follow:

Basement: Carpenter shop, county charities and lunch room for copyists.

First floor: Recorder.

Second floor: Supervisors, Auditor and Treasurer. Mezzanine: Board of Equalization.

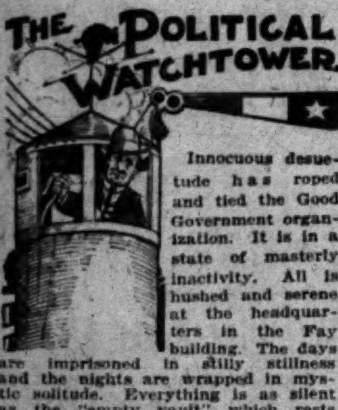
Third floor: Assessor and Tax Collector.

Fourth floor: Surveyor, Superintendent of Schools and law library. Mezzanine floor: Dictating and consultation rooms.

Fifth floor: Rooms for four departments of the Superior Court. Mezzanine floor: Jury rooms, Coroner, Game Warden, Horticultural Commission and Public Administrator.

Sixth floor: Vacant.

Seventh floor: District Attorney; half vacant.



THE POLITICAL WATCHTOWER.

Innocuous desuetude has roped and tied the Good Government organization. It is in a state of masterly inactivity. All is hushed and serene at the headquarters in the Fay building. The days are imprisoned in stilly stillness and the nights are wrapped in mystic solitude. Everything is as silent as the "empty vault" which rests snugly ensconced in a bevy of dust and cobwebs in the secret chambers of the holier-than-thou sanctum.

Meyer Lissner, erstwhile lord high mannikin puller of the organization, is in a state of considerable peevishness. It seems that the little boss strenuously endeavored to sneak back in the inner circles of the G. G. clan upon his return from Sacramento, where he spent several weeks looking after the "interests" of the peepul, sometimes called the heel-stamped mob. The wily manufacturer of rubber stamps and crawling creatures found to his dismay and chagrin that he could not come back. The air was heavy with chastisement when Mr. Lissner called at the headquarters several days ago. A bunch of congealed pemmican filled the ozone and the "boss" gazed about in amazed wonderment. For a moment he didn't know whether he had beaten Doc Cook to the "big nail" or a chunk of the 52-second latitude had crowned his Napoleonic knob.

The heavy oak door leading to the executive committee room was closed. The fair Etheldreida who looks after the stenographic work of the Goo-Goos politely informed Mr. Lissner that the executive committee was in session and he would have to call some other time.

"Ye gods and little fishes," snorted Lissner, "and such base treatment in my own haunts. What ho! and likewise what meanest it?"

"I take my orders from Mr. Graham and Mr. Anderson," replied the fair one as she went about her work.

The "little boss" was stumped, but he didn't admit it. He gazed angrily at the big oak door, took a menacing glance at the shorthand girlie and beat it, post haste, immediately quick.

The cunning one was not to be outdone. He wasted no time in starting the ball rolling that put the skids under the organization. "Without money," quoth Lissner, "these traitors must give up the ghost. I will do it." and he immediately set about to check the flow of coin into the coffers of the Goo-Goos.

Lissner is still treasurer of the Good Government fund, an entirely separate affair from the Good Government organization. The G. G. fund has been the chief nourisher of the G. G. movement; without its aid it would have to turn up its toes and listen to slow music.

The trick worked. The executive committee realized its "mistake." They scraped their waistcoats on the velvet floor to the "little boss," but he was obdurate and would not listen.

"The deed is done," bellowed M. L. "You have brought it upon yourselves." As a result, George Baker Anderson, secretary, was asked to resign and all other employees at the headquarters were politely requested to leave, with the exception of an attractive stenographer who reports at the headquarters every day for two hours in order to "keep up appearances." Anderson is doing politics at Sacramento. He is the famous "People's Lobby" champion. Meanwhile Lissner is licking his sleek chops and making ready for the next city campaign. When he resigned from the Good Government organization during the late campaign he got in bad with Secretary Anderson and a majority of the executive committee. They waited a long time to get r-r-revenge and they finally got it—in the neck. Selah!

Friends of Dr. A. C. Platt, the Democratic candidate for Coroner, who was defeated by Cal Hartwell in the last election, are making ready for a "recount" in case Tommy Bullwhine is successful against Capt. Fredericks. It is stated on excellent authority that if Tommy wins a dozen defeated members of the "unterrified" who lost on November 8 will ask for a recount. Many of them lost by 20,000 votes, but that wouldn't deter a real Jeffersonian Democrat from having the ballots counted again, just for luck. Coroner Hartwell beat the doctor-politician by 1770 votes. Pratt really thinks he was elected. The result of the balloting shows to a layman that he was duly "elected" to resume his practice as a physician at Azusa, where he hails from. Woolwine has gained 300 votes in sixty precincts. He will have to travel considerably faster in order to nose out the present incumbent.

Don't listen to this unless you really want to; it's the best joke of the political season. A strong muscle-bound rumor has it that Clarence Taggart, the bewhiskered City Tax Collector, is going to run for Mayor, with a large MAYOR. Taggart is the real button-buster of the present city administration. Every time he struts down the street he drops three or four buttons on his waistcoat. When approached and asked if the rumor had a semblance of truth to it, Taggart took an extra hitch in his belt, stroked with majestic touch his facial fenders and said: "I have nothing to say; I am in the keeping of my friends." If he is wise he will let his friends keep him until after the votes are counted in the August primaries.

Several prominent members of the "regular" Republican organization held an important meeting at the Hayward Hotel the forepart of the week. The meeting was called for the purpose of "discussing" the local situation. Col. R. W. Richardson presided. A dozen stalwart leaders of the Los Angeles G. O.P. were in attendance. Nothing definite was decided, but Col. Richardson remarked that something would be "doing" ere long. Deputy District Attorney Frank Blair and W. H. O'Connell took a leading part in the meeting. In all probability, "regular" headquarters will be opened before the end of the month and preliminary precinct organization work started. W. C. Mushet and Willis Booth are talked of for the head of the ticket. Barkis is willin' in the case of Mushet, while Booth is noncommittal.

Seven faithful members of the local Democracy held a conference in the Byrne building Thursday afternoon. Chairman Albert Norton presided. "We discussed local politics," said Mr. Norton. "It was an informal affair and nothing specific was done. The charter amendments were threshed out." Joseph Call, Prof. Lorin Handley, William Harris, late candidate for Sheriff, and several other leading lights of Los Angeles Bourbonism were present. Charles Wellborn, Police Commissioner, in all probability will head the Democratic ticket in the next election. Several leading capitalists in the city are willing to put up loads of money if Wellborn makes the race. The coin end of it listens well to the pieless Dems, who are anxious to lean against the pap-counter.

Doctor's Best Formula
Breaks Severest Cold in a Day and Cures Any Curable Cough.

This has been published here for several winters and has proven the quickest and most reliable formula obtainable for coughs and colds. "Get two ounces of Glycerine and half an ounce of Concentrated Pine compound. Then get half a pint of good whiskey and put the other two ingredients into it. Shake it well and take one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bed time. Smaller doses to children according to age. Be sure to get only the genuine (Globe) Concentrated Pine. Each half ounce bottle comes in a sealed tin screw-top case. Any druggist has it on hand or will quickly get it from his wholesale house. Any one can mix it. Don't experiment with preparations because of cheapness. It don't pay to fool with a bad cold.

BLAME LAID TO FOG AND MIST.

TROLLEY OFFICIALS INQUIRE INTO COLLISION.

Motorman of the Car Which Approached from the North Says He Could Not See the Other One Until Within a Few Feet of It—All Injured Treated and Discharged.

Officials of the operating department of the Pacific Electric Railway made an investigation yesterday to determine the causes and fix the responsibility of the accident which occurred at Slauson Junction Friday night. The crews of both cars, the tower man, inspectors, and all passengers who could be located were called to testify.

It was found that, at the time of the collision the Whittier car was at a standstill, having stopped because the tower man at Slauson had the semaphore set to allow a northbound car to pass. The San Pedro car, Motorman Woods, was running at a speed, which, most of the witnesses testified, was not more than twenty to thirty miles per hour, and was under control.

When all the testimony had been taken it developed that as far as could be learned the only reason for the accident was the fact that the fog and mist which obtained Friday evening coated the front window of the San Pedro car so heavily that it was impossible for the motorman to see the car ahead. Passengers in the forward compartment of the car stated that with the headlight from the northbound car shining in their faces it was impossible to see more than a few feet in front of the car, and they could not see the Whittier car from where they sat.

Motorman Woods testified that he was within a few feet of the forward car before he was able to see it. He immediately reversed his motors and applied the air, but owing to the wet tracks the wheels refused to grip, and the cars crashed together.

According to the statement of officials following the investigation, Woods is in no way held responsible, he having done exactly the proper thing to prevent the accident. It appears that after the first shock, the reversed motors on the rear car caused it to rebound, thereby preventing much more serious effects from the collision.

All those injured have been treated and discharged from the hospitals, and the completed report, turned in to officials of the company yesterday, shows no one seriously injured.

How Millions End Their Corns

Nobody who knows about Blue-jay has any trouble from corns. Five million corns every year—25 every minute—are now being removed by this plaster. Please try it on yours.

A Blue-jay plaster is applied in a jiffy, and the pain of the corn ends at once. The plaster is so comfortable that the corn is forgotten. Within 48 hours the bit of B & B wax so loosens the corn that you lift it out. More people use Blue-jay—by 50 times over—than anything else for corns.

See the Picture

A is the harmless red B & B wax which loosens the corn.
B is soft felt to protect the corn and keep the wax from spreading.
C is the comfortable narrow band which goes around the toe.
D is rubber adhesive. It fastens the plaster on.

FACTS FEATURES AND FANCIES FOR WOMEN.

By ~ Olive Gray.

DAILY BEAUTY HINT: "The exercise which I most prize," said a woman who has retained to middle age the form of a young girl, "is what I call 'the floor dive.' It consists of extending the arms as far as possible above the head, as though reaching for something placed on high, then with the muscles rigid, sweeping the arms to as near the floor as possible without bending the knees. This exercise, I find, keeps the waist supple, the hips reduced and sends the blood surging through the veins, clearing the complexion."

It has sometimes occurred to me that possibly one of the reasons why we are so devoted to Dame Fashion in spite of her exactions, is that she so completely typifies the law of compensation.

Look back over the styles of the past and you will understand what I mean.

While perhaps it may seem that her dictates are devised especially for the women who do not consider economy, still it is true that there is always a "way out" for the more frugal sister. The big sleeves of one season, can be utilized to make the full waists demanded for the next; and the puffy waists of yesterday contain ample material for the balloon panniers of tomorrow. Take the present fashion of the scant skirt—just see what a boon it is for the girl who makes over her clothes! She can "get out" a skirt in this cut from almost any old worn out skirt—since so little goods will be required. Then she can save enough on petticoats to buy at least one new outer skirt—or the material for it.

If she happens to be one of those who naturally select the bands and trimmed effects in skirts, the possibilities are still greater, for with the deep band of different material, at the edge and bands to match upon the bottom of coat and sleeves—she can put one and one together—that is she can combine two old suits which are almost entirely gone and make a very respectable appearance.

As to hats, the girl who cannot fashion for herself one of the charming little turbans or hoods, is to be pitied—for she cerainly is lacking in knack. It takes such a mere bit of fabric and the more odd and original the ornament, the better—so she can, if at all ingenious, make herself quite chic, this season, with little expenditure.

Of course, she must buy good shoes, for there is no concealing these facts, under the present style of dress. I saw a girl the other day who would have looked really very well dressed had it not been for her shoes. These were ill fiting, of awkward shape and they spoiled her appearance. I am sorry to say that they were also uneven at the heels. Some think, you know, that the parts of their appearance which do not appear to themselves, don't matter; but quite as many persons see your back as your face, even in our busy city. I sometimes wish that every one had an all around mirror to dress by. If, before starting out, we could stand within a tubular mirror, encircled by our own reflections, there would be fewer sagging skirts, half pinned belts and run down heels.

Belles With Bells.

An odd fancy struck me the other day, as I walked with a girl for a block or so. Something about her handbag jingled as she stepped, making a rhythmical sound quite like a bell. Wouldn't it be rather pretty, I hought, if we wore bells—just tiny ones—which would announce our approach. I always like to meet, on the mountain roads, those great wagons with their six or eight mules decked out with graces or bells; and I have often wished that it would become the custom to attach bells to all kinds of conveyances. I suppose though, if this were done, some would manage to get bells which gave forth nothing but disagreeable sounds and eventually the Society for the Prevention of Noise would have to organize a more rigorous campaign.

But the personal bells—if well selected—and we might have a Sound Committee to pass upon them, would rather add to the interest of life, it seems to me. "Here comes Isabelle! I know the sound of her bell!" Or perhaps—"Goodness! There is Annabelle—hurry around the corner!"

Truest Charity.

In response to the incident which I related, recently, regarding the man with the broken jaw, I found upon opening my mail, a little note from some kind hearted person who did not even sign her name, so truly unselfish was she, and with it enclosed two five dollar bills for the poor sufferer. That beautiful act has illuminated for me all these dark rainy days and I wish both she and I could know how happy it made the recipient. I hurried to the doctor with the money and he promised to reach the man within a few hours. I took a receipt from the doctor for "money for the man with the broken jaw," and he will take one from the patient—and if I ever meet the generous giver of that holy gift I hope to be able to tell her exactly the good use made of the money.

A Tonic Salad.

I heard of a new way to use beets as a salad. Boil the vegetables without cutting the skins. Save the green leaves, wash and pick over carefully and then mince fine. To this greenery add the beets also well minced, then combine the two and serve with a French dressing. It is claimed that the leaves thus used lend a tonic to the system and the salad is pretty and palatable.

A New Egg-Beater.

It is said to "beat them all"—this egg beater which is demonstrated at one of the housefurnishing stores. It is of German block tin—a small round tube, enclosing two cones, one of which is perforated and attached to a long handle. You churn this up and down, for so short a time that it scarcely seems worth while to do it at all, and behold the eggs beaten to beat all—or the cream whipped perfectly. Then, if this is not enough, and you want more service out of the little invention, you may take out the tiny "dasher," and after beating up the ingredients for an ice cream, you may pack the tin tube in ice and there is ice cream for dinner without a bit of trouble and with little ice.

In Miniature.

Decry as we may the adoption of grown-up fashions by little people, there is always something delightful about a juvenile reproduction of the fashions of the day.

I thought this, as I observed a dear little girl of about eight years, wearing with a most womanly air, a short, scant skirt and jacket to match, a tiny turban and a little set of furs, the stole of which she had thrown across her small, square shoulders just as would the most fashionable of debutantes. Of styles arise from their girlishness—their "little girlishness"—I might say; and this fact may be added to their quaintness when adopted by the wee Miss.

Once More.

Again I must ask that my correspondents please refrain from sending postal cards for replies and that they enclose addressed envelopes rather than loose stamps. The latter are apt to fall out as letters are opened, and also it is better that you write your own address, which more certainly assures its correctness than if I, in the hurry of many replies, figure it out and possibly make mistakes in initials or names.

Approaching Fashions.

In opera bags some very pretty ones are of tarnished gold or silver cord, crocheted in Irish lace style, and made up over colored silk to match the costume.

Bands that hold in fullness are disappearing from the bottoms of skirts, and bandless skirts are not, in the newest expression, fitted in toward the ankles from the hip down.

For evening coats seal plush and other fur fabrics are in great demand, and they are also used as linings for coats of chiffon, satin, lace, etc., according to information from Paris.

Wide braids are used in perpendicular bands and panels and in circular rows on skirts and in fancy sections here and there on both coats and skirts and for cuffs and collars on coats.

We have now some Empire gowns, many Directoire, some inspired by the garb of the Garde Francaise, some Byzantine and Russian colorings, and there is a touch of Oriental in most.

GLIMPSES OF SAN FRANCISCO.

[Special Correspondence to The Times.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3.—The House of Representatives has designated San Francisco as the city to hold a world's fair to celebrate the opening of the Panama Canal, but the directors of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition have not decided just where the site will be. Furthermore there will be plenty of trouble before they do decide it.

Before Washington voted to favor us it was generally understood by the people of the city that Golden Gate Park was to be the site. Gov. Gillett mentioned it in his proclamation submitting the tax amendment to the people. Now there are mysterious whisperings evidently from an inspired source that perhaps another site would be better.

Some of the newspapers say that seven sites ought to receive favorable consideration as the fair site. They mention Golden Gate Park, the water front, Lake Merced, Yerba Buena Island, the Oakland Mole, Tanforan and Visitacion Valley. If it was left to the people themselves nine-tenths would vote in favor of Golden Gate Park. But it is not going to be left to the people and unless the directors are careful an ugly scandal may develop.

It is a little early just yet to say how much of a stimulant to business the anticipation of the fair will be. There is no denying the fact that everything has been very dull here for months past. Now there are some evidences of a revival. An instance of this is the case of a prominent lumber dealer, who said that as soon as he heard the good news from Washington he shut his roller-top desk and raised the price of lumber 10 per cent.

Naturally there is a difference of opinion as to who did the most to win the fair. A Market-street merchant exhibited in front of his store large photos of six men, under the caption "Our Boosters." Immediately he was deluged with complaints because he overlooked an army of other men. In despair he took down the pictures and substituted one of President Taft, under the caption, "Our Biggest Booster."

Inasmuch as the rain falls alike on the just and the unjust it is hard to tell in just what class we are. The rain has certainly been falling on us in copious quantities. It is hardly fair to the aviators to balme them, but there is on denying the fact that the downpour started with their advent and has not ceased since their departure.

The Merchants' Association has found that the city has been defrauded out of thousands of dollars because municipal inspectors permitted inferior work on the Hall of Justice. In addition to the bad work, the city paid the inspectors over $700 for just one month. Perhaps in the future it would be cheaper to pay the inspectors to stay away altogether.

The City Engineer estimates that the Spring Valley water plant is worth $37,500,000. The corporation places its value at $46,000,000. This is merely a slight difference of opinion and we cannot know the true value until Mayor McCarthy tells us what it is. He is an expert on water plants, as he beat the last election on a proposition to buy Spring Valley for $35,000,000.

There are a lot of new faces among the policemen who now patrol Market street and the tenderloin. All the old-timers have been transferred to the fog belt, because they could not detect the gambling hells around the central station. The murder of a victim in a resort has temporarily disturbed police serenity. No serious alarm as to the consequences is felt by the police sergeant, who gave his revolver to the gambler to kill the man. The sergeant had two good excuses for not going to the scene of the trouble. In the first place the elevator man would not let him ride in the elevator and in the next place he thought it was his duty to telephone for aid to the central station half a block away.

From the sacred precincts of the richest organization in town, the Pacific Union Club, comes news of cruel war. The ultra set has decreed that all members must wear full dress after 6 o'clock. The negligee set, headed by Willis Polk, the architect who designed the club, are fighting this hard rule. It may result in a compromise on full dress after 7 o'clock.

DRINK HABIT

The Gatlin Treatment

Cures the Drink Habit in THREE DAYS. No Hypodermic Injections or Disagreeable Features—Failure Impossible.

The "Easy Way" To Stop Drinking

Think of it! THREE DAYS—no longer! Only seventy-two hours in which to take away all desire and appetite for drink under contract. Any business man—any man—can spare three days in which to avail himself of that great ASSET—that which makes the business go—SOBRIETY.

The Gatlin Home treatment should be taken by those who cannot come to the Institute for three days.

The greatest privacy is maintained at the Gatlin Institute for either men or women who desire seclusion while taking treatment.

The Gatlin treatment contains no poisonous drugs, no substitutive stimulants—there are no bad after effects—a treatment so harmless that a child could take it, yet the most effective remedy ever discovered. In THREE DAYS every trace of alcoholic poison is eliminated from the system, and with it goes all craving and desire for alcoholic liquor.

Only the Gatlin treatment assures permanency.

All patients accepted for treatment under contract to cure in three days—under contract to cure satisfactorily—or treatment costs nothing.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 4, 1908.

To the Pittsburg Press Pub. Co.,
Pittsburg, Pa.

Gentlemen:- I take this opportunity to thank the Pittsburg Press, in the name of the Catholic Total Abstinance Union of Pittsburg for their generosity in making it possible for the union to send six (6) persons, suffering from the "liquor habit", to the Gatlin Institute, No. 340 South Highland aveunue, for treatment, thus aiding us in our efforts to reform.

I must say, that the result of the (3) days' treatment is nothing short of marvelous. The persons sent were confirmed drunkards, considered incurable by their relatives and friends and were in bad condition physically. The Gatlin treatment killed all desire for drink and put them in such good physical condition that it caused great surprise among their relatives.

The Institute and its treatment was given a severe test, as the persons sent them had been heavy drinkers for years, which the following will show:

Man, 67 yrs. of age, drunkard for 40 yrs.
Man, 57 yrs. of age, drunkard for 35 years.
Man, 44 yrs. of age, drunkard for 20 yrs.
Man, 35 yrs. of age, drunkard for 10 yrs.
Man, 29 yrs. of age, drunkard for 6 yrs.
Woman, 40 yrs. of age, drunkard for 10 yrs.

These people were, at the end of three (3) days completely cured of their desire for alcoholic drink, and in better physical condition than they had been for years; they one and all said that they had never felt better. I am only too glad to endorse an institution of this kind. I think it has solved the liquor question. It is just what is needed in this city and that this treatment should be taken up by the authorities; the drunkards instead of being sent to the jail and Workhouse should be given this cure, it would be cheaper than supporting them in idleness for 30 or 60 days at cost to the taxpayer, besides it would bring joy and hapiness into many homes. The families of these men and women say: "That it seems as if they were risen from the dead", to see them once themselves again, and their prayer is for God to bless the Pittsburg Press and the Gatlin Institute, that has restored their loved ones to them again.

I have the honor to remain, very sincerely yours,
CHARLES D. McSHANE,
First Vice-President

"OREGONIAN'S" ANNIVERSARY

his newspaper. More than all else the publication owed its prosperous fortunes then as now to his sound business judgment, his mastery of details and his steady industry. He established from the first a system of cash payments and he zealously met with money every Saturday night the demands of the pay roll. In his entire 58 years (nearly) on the Oregonian Mr. Pittock has never failed to meet the weekly or daily payroll. Of course nowadays the regular payment of printers and other employees is merely a part of the regular office routine, but in the early times the newspaper proprietor who felt that he had any imperative obligation to pay the printer promptly was an exception.

MR. SCOTT'S CONNECTION.

At the close of the Civil War, the Oregonian was pretty well established in the public confidence. It had a considerable circulation and it had triumphed over its competitors. It had had several editors, but none of them had formed a permanent connection with the paper. In 1865, Mr. Pittock's attention was called to a young man then serving as librarian in the Portland library. He was said to be a good writer. Mr. Pittock employed him to be writer of editorials. Very soon he was made editor. This was about April, 1865. The young man's name was Harvey Whitefield Scott. The association of these two men continued with a single interruption from 1865 until 1910, when Mr. Scott died. Mr. Scott had meanwhile acquired an interest in the paper, but Mr. Pittock remained always, as he is now, its chief owner and its manager.

The advent of Mr. Scott and the genuine success of the Morning Oregonian in the first four years of its existence by no means marked the end of its struggles. The paper was Republican, but notwithstanding the issue of the Civil War there was a strong Democratic sentiment in Oregon and the Northwest. A Democratic newspaper, called the Herald, with strong backing, was started and was vigorously supported by the Democrats for several years. Then it succumbed to the superior character and influence of the Oregonian. Later came along Ben Holladay. Holladay had acquired a fortune and much fame by his pony service across the plains and in his other enterprises and he started to build a railroad from Portland to San Francisco. He concluded that for support in his railroad and other enterprises he ought to have a newspaper and get into politics. So he started the Bulletin, morning and evening editions. The Bulletin was to be backed by the ample money of the railroad builder and by the influence of the many politicians who enlisted under his flag.

Here was formidable competition indeed, but Mr. Pittock met it with his customary quiet courage and unshaken determination. The Democratic paper, the Herald, was still in the field and the Bulletin made a third. Holladay hired an editor at $100 a week. Some of his printers through the "fat" methods of those days made as much. He poured money into his newspaper, but after a while he got tired, for his other undertakings did not develop as well as he had expected. Holladay called on the politicians to put up for the Bulletin and they complied for a while. But in the long run they quit and the Bulletin succumbed. Meanwhile, the Oregonian had had a hard run and Mr. Pittock had sold an interest to Mr. H. W. Corbett, who was much opposed to Holladay and his methods. It was through the exigencies of this arrangement that Mr. Scott retired from the Oregonian. After a few years he returned, in 1877, with Mr. Pittock. The Corbett interest was bought back and Mr. Pittock and Mr. Scott were the sole owners from that time on.

The Holladay battle was hard, long and precarious. The Herald disappeared early in the fight. The Oregonian alone kept on. Mr. Pittock says today that of all his experiences none was so arduous or difficult to meet and combat as the Holladay opposition. The Bulletin had successors as rivals of the Oregonian. Along about 1880 the Northwest News came along and lived for a few years. Then at the height of the silver excitement in 1894 the Morning Sun was started, but it gave up after a year or two. Since that time the Oregonian has had no competition or attempt at competition in the morning field. But it has not been without its trials and hardships.

The Pacific Coast in the days following 1892 and 1893 was pretty generally for free silver. The Oregonian alone of the important newspapers in the Pacific Northwest was firmly opposed to silver and committed itself to the gold standard. It was an unpopular policy and the Oregonian suffered in business and apparently in prestige. But time has vindicated its judgment and all its readers now bear cheerful testimony to its straightforwardness and real courage. The record, indeed, made by the Oregonian throughout the silver campaign in the face of much hostility gave it a national reputation and is now one of its valuable assets. It takes determination of a high order for a newspaper to oppose day in and day out for months and years the prevailing sentiment of its community; but such courage the Oregonian had and has. The public knows that it will tell and it will print the truth as it sees it. Such a policy has been Mr. Pittock's from the first. It was carried out with remarkable steadfastness and strong resolution through many years by Mr. Scott, but behind him always was primarily the firm support and sturdy encouragement of Mr. Pittock. His greatest quality is perhaps his unfailing devotion to any cause in which he may be enlisted. He is a man unafraid.

The city of Portland has grown in the fifty-seven or fifty-eight years of Mr. Pittock's residence here from a hamlet of 1000 to 1500 people to a great and flourishing city of about 250,000 residents. The surrounding country has had equal growth. When the Oregonian was started all the Northwest was the Oregon country. The principal town was Oregon City though Salem was a pushing competitor. Portland very soon distanced both of them and became the most thriving and populous place in the entire north country. In those days Seattle was nothing or next to nothing. Tacoma and Spokane were not even dreamed of. Olympia was hardly more than a name. Walla Walla was indeed the center of a growing agricultural community and had already borne its part in more than one tragic pioneer episode. Aberdeen, Everett, Bellingham and all the bustling, hurrying new cities of the growing State of Washington were yet the seats of the forest primeval. There was some river commerce in Portland, a few people had gone into Eastern Oregon and settlements were springing up through the Willamette Valley.

STILL AT THE FRONT.

In these circumstances the Daily Oregonian was born. It is probably the only important institution in the entire Pacific Northwest whose identity with the life and development of a great country has been continuous for sixty odd years, and is even more conspicuous at the end now than it was in the beginning.

The Oregonian today bears none of the marks of a primitive newspaper. Its home is in a fine modern newspaper building. Its equipment is complete and up to date. All its methods mark the journal of today. Its present position is due no less to the foresight and sagacity of Mr. Pittock today than it was in the beginning, for he has the quality of mind and the active purpose that insists always on keeping ahead of the times and being prepared for all emergencies, so that the Oregonian through him is very strongly fortified for any contest.

It is an interesting circumstance that the home of Mr. Pittock, an entire block in the center of Portland, was once in the heart of the forest. In the early days when Portland was but little more than a village bordered by heavy growths of timber, Mr. Pittock went back into the woods from his printshop on the river, and picked out a site for a home. He built a little cottage where he took his bride and reared his family. To reach it he had to follow a trail through the woods. Now the trees have disappeared and the block, still his home, is surrounded by all the activities and evidences of a busy metropolitan city.

This experience is typical of Mr. Pittock's life story. From the forest he carved out his home. In the vicissitudes and the hard conditions of a pioneer community he founded and built The Morning Oregonian.

—Two Large Collections of Rare Antique, Persian and Turkish Rugs, Bought for less than ½ Actual Value, for Spot Cash, to be Placed on Sale, For One Week, Beginning Tomorrow, at the Same Proportionate Reduction

—This is an extraordinary event in every essential, for lovers of fine Oriental rugs. This sale embraces the entire private collection of Mr. M. Torasian's fine Antique, Persian, Turkish and Caucasian rugs and carpets, which we secured at less than one-half their actual value, together with several hundred fine pieces purchased earlier in the season from A. B. Tekirian, the celebrated rug collector of Persia and the Orient. This sale will include seven hundred and sixty pieces, embracing an assortment of exceptional merit. It is a collection of Oriental rugs altogether out of the ordinary, and the values are genuinely sensational.

—These rugs will be displayed and this special sale conducted on our first floor, adjoining main entrance. Sizes and prices of a few of the rugs selected at random are quoted below, giving an idea of the special values which are proportionately duplicated on each and every rug. No exchanges or approvals can be permitted during this sale, and the sale will last only throughout the one week. The values, as given in each case, are based upon actual selling worth, and are absolutely guaranteed as represented. This unusual opportunity to purchase Oriental rugs far under real worth and under conditions which eliminate every particle of risk, should not be overlooked.

Mossholder returned it is believed Straight Mossholder, however, and, when questioned morning, said anything of the night before and did not know who accompanied him home.

Walter H. Straight, who was found dead on the front porch of a friend's house with part of his clothing mysteriously scattered about.

Mrs. Mossholder stated that she had heard her husband and some other man traverse the sidewalk to the porch and slowly climb the stps. She said she thought Straight was with him but she did not know positively. Mossholder pounded on the front door and when he was not allowed to enter, he walked around to the rear of the house and got in through the rear door.

Yesterday morning about 7 o'clock when Mrs. Mossholder stepped upon the front porch to get the paper she saw Straight on the porch, dead. She summoned assistance and ordered the body removed to Paul's undertaking establishment. The Coroner meantime had been notified and he ordered an autopsy performed.

In telling the Coroner of the affair, Mrs. Mossholder recalled a circumstance which she had observed a few minutes after her husband and Straight arrived at the house.

"After my husband entered the back door, I heard some one else come up on the porch," she said. "I looked through the window and saw that there were two men. One of them turned and saw me looking at him and he ran away. The other crouched down in the shadows. I feared they were burglars and bolted and locked all the doors and locked the winoows. I didn't hear any further disturbance."

As the post-mortem examinatior gives the cause of death as heart failure and Straight is known to have been afflicted with that disease, the Coroner was of the opinion yesterday that as far as he was concerned the investigation was about completed.

The theory is advanced by the police that Straight and Mossholder left the lodge hall where they attended the meeting in an intoxicated condition. They were perhaps seen on the street by robbers and followed to Mossholder's home where Straight was relieved of his valuables while lying prostrate on the porch.

TESTING THIRTEEN HOODOO.

Club Is Organized by Young Men Who Defy the Unlucky Numbers and Invite Ill-Fortune.

The Thirteen Club, organized by thirteen young men and holding its first regular meeting January 13, will have its first initiation Monday night, the 13th inst., the meeting to be called to order at 8:13 o'clock at Hotel Granada, No. 419 South Grand. The organizer of the Thirteen Club, the initial of whose last name is the thirteenth letter of the alphabet, is H. M. Motzkus. He was elected president, C. A. Carlson is vice-president, W. Hoskings secretary and R. McKenzie treasurer. They have every known omen relative to thirteen in the by-laws. The club's membership will be limited to thirteen sections of thirteen members in each section, a total membership of 169.

The club will give many social functions during the year. The first will be a musical entertainment. The club extends a special invitation to any young man wishing to become a member and be initiated to attend the first meeting. Every member is given the privilege of bringing friends to the entertainment, which is free.

FEELS THE GRIP OF UNCLE SAM.

GOVERNMENT KEEPS RIGHT AFTER SMUGGLER.

Man Who Has Just Completed a Sentence in the County Jail Here for Bringing Opium Across the Mexican Border Will Be Taken to Arizona for Trial.

Tom Murphy, who has just completed a sentence in the County Jail for smuggling opium across the Mexican border, will be taken to Tucson, Ariz., this afternoon for trial on a similar charge. He will go to Arizona in custody of an attache of the United States marshal's office.

Murphy was convicted of the illegal opium traffic, after a confession which implicated his pal, Olin Poole. Poole, however, was the arch fiend in the case, he proposing the scheme to Murphy, and demonstrating how easily it could be accomplished. Poole is now serving a four-year sentence in the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, for his part in the affair.

According to the Federal statutes a prisoner can be prosecuted for taking the contraband from one State into another, regardless of a prior prosecution tion for taking the stuff across the international border. Murphy procured the opium, it is alleged, at Juarez, Mex., and, after taking it to El Paso, continued on with it to Los Angeles.

He was employed as a brakeman by the Southern Pacific, and had no difficulty in bringing the stuff from the Texas city here. Despite the fact that he has served one sentence in Los Angeles for smuggling the opium across the Mexican border, he will be prosecuted again in Arizona on a charge of taking it through that State. After he has served his Arizona sentence, in case of conviction, he will be prosecuted all over again in Texas.

CHAUFFEUR GETS STUNG.

New York Chief of Police Witnesses Driver Flipping the Meter and Starts Investigation.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—The mystery of "flipping the meter" known only to initiated chauffeurs, has been unwittingly explained by an offending adept to the chief of the city bureau of licenses, and as a result, he has set departmental machinery in motion which will compel the taxicab companies to take down 400 meters with permission to assemble them only when they have been so altered that crooked chauffeurs cannot swindle the public by their aid.

While Chief Oliver was riding in a taxicab the other night, he saw the chauffeur jiggle the flag above the meter, whereupon the hand on the dial jumped from $2 to $6.40. The astonished chief investigated and learned that the practice has been general among the unscrupulous and is known as "flipping the meter."

Old Man!

Get Some Vim Into You

Don't imagine you are a dead one just because your hair is getting gray. You can be as young as any of them if you'll get some new energy into your tired body.

There's no rational excuse for you grunting and complaining about pains in your back, stiffness in your shoulders and legs, that "tired feeling," weak back, nervousness, indigestion, constipation and failure of vitality. It should not be. Nature started you with a constitution that ought to have held you good until you were eighty, and you ought to feel like a boy now. But you have overdone some things and wasted your vitality. You still have the constitution, but lack the force. That's electricity, and Electra-Vita will restore it.

Mr. Daniel C. Smith, 1507 Henry st., Berkeley, Cal., says:

"At 76 years of age, I am extremely youthful and active, and able to compete in tests of strength with men 50 years my junior. I am in perfect health in every way, and attribute this fact and my strength and youthful activity to the use of electricity. I consider Electra-Vita the best device made for applying electricity to the human body."

Pick out the men who have used Electra-Vita and you will see men of force, men of power and confidence, men who respect themselves and are respected and admired by their followmen.

Electra-Vita is the electric invigorating device for infusing electricity into the body. It renews the energy and activity of every weak organ. It increases vitality and power and makes a man of you in every way. No chronic disease or weakness can exist where there is plenty of electricity.

Electra-Vita does not shock nor blister. It generates a steady, unbroken current of electricity, and is always charged, ready for use. All you have to do is adjust it properly and turn on the power. From the first moment the glowing electric stream courses through the nerves and veins, carrying new life and force to every weakened part.

The man does not live who cannot be made a better man by the application of Electra-Vita. Those who have used it say that it is the grandest remedy of the age.

Under Cruel Hoofs.

CRUSHES BOY ON SCHOOL STEPS.

LAD MAY DIE FROM INJURIES BY RUNAWAY.

Mother, Seeing Bruised Little Form Taken on to Ambulance and Not Knowing It Is Her Son, Expresses Sympathy for Parent and Does Not Till Some Time Later Learn Who the Injured One Is.

Though he ran up the steps of the State Normal School grounds at Fifth and Hope streets in an effort to escape, Harold Ryle, 3½ years old, son of R. W. Ryle, No. 412 South Hope street, was overtaken by a runaway horse about 10 o'clock yesterday morning and so severely injured by the animal's hoofs that he is not expected to live.

Harold Ryle,
the four-year-old child who was followed up the steps and seriously injured by a runaway horse at the State Normal School yesterday.

The boy was playing with some of his youthful friends in the road in front of the school. They were making mud pies and were so interested in their play that they did not see the horse bearing down upon them. A woman passing on the sidewalk saw the horse, which was running wildly and dragging a partly broken buggy behind it, turn straight toward the children. She screamed and the children looked up the street.

The three children with whom Harold was playing quickly jumped to one side and let the horse pass, but Harold, evidently thinking safety lay in the higher ground of the school, ran for the stone steps leading from the sidewalk to the elevation on which the school is located. He had climbed but a few steps when the horse rushed after him. The child was knocked down and he rolled beneath the buggy. The horse lost its footing and struck its head against a step, dying within a few minutes.

The police ambulance was called and the lad was hurried to the Receiving Hospital. Dr. Carter, the police surgeon in charge of the hospital at the time, examined him and though he found no indications of a fracture of the skull, said that he feared that injury will develop and the boy was removed immediately to the Children's Hospital.

Harold is the youngest of three children. His mother had left him at play but a short time before he was hurt and did not know of the accident until she saw the police ambulance at the corner. Out of curiosity she walked to the corner and saw the little form lifted into the ambulance. The clothing of the child had been so discolored that she did not recognize him. She expressed sympathy for the child's mother, saying that "whoever she is I feel sorry for her—poor woman. I know how it would be if he were my child," and then returned to her home.

She was met at the door by another woman living in the house, who started to express her sympathy when she noted that Mrs. Ryle was unaware of the misfortune. It was several minutes before she was told that the injured child was her own son.

ACTIVE WOMEN.

Miss Helene Crone, a young Danish woman, has just taken the degree of "Magister" in Slavonic philosophy at the Copenhagen University.

Miss Gerda Planting-Gyllenbaga is the first woman in Sweden outside of Stockholm to be chosen to the City Council. She was elected to the council of Huskvarna. In Stockholm two women are already serving as city councilors. This is the first year that women have been eligible for the office outside the capital city of Sweden.

Miss Rosika Schwimmer and Vera Glucklich are responsible for the organization of a Junior Woman Suffrage League in Hungary. This league was organized after two public meetings, at which Miss Schwimmer and Miss Glucklich both spoke. It began with a membership of 250 young men and girls between the ages of 18 and 24.

Mrs. Christine Ladd Franklin is the chairman of the committee of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae to whom candidates for the Berliner Fellowship must file their credentials. The Berliner $1200 for research in science is the largest endowed fellowship offered to women in the United States.

Miss Bessie McMahon, who for several years was his stenographer and typewriter, is a beneficiary to the extent of $[illegible] in the will probated at Allen[illegible] [illegible] Ulrich, a lawyer, of Catasauqua, who, two years ago, was the Republican candidate for Congress in the Berks-Lehigh district against John H. Rothermel.

For Nervousness and Sleepless Nights

This condition is usually caused directly by faulty digestion, likewise dizziness, headache, belching, sour stomach and offensive breath. Persons afflicted in this way will be glad to avail themselves of the information given below. It is the prescription that has gained such widespread reputation among doctors for its remarkable results in the treatment of stomach troubles. It is said to give almost instant relief and if used for sufficient time will cure the worst case of dyspepsia. "Two ounces essence of Pepsin; three ounces syrup of Ginger; one ounce Catandir compound. Mix and take one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bed-time." Catandir always comes put up in one ounce sealed packages. Any druggist should have it in stock by this time, or he will quickly get it from his wholesale house. For best results mix the Pepsin and the Ginger, then let stand about an hour before adding the Catandir. It will be more convenient to get the ingredients from the druggist and mix them at home. Any one having stomach trouble should certainly try this.

and simple-minded that it is like telling Santa Claus stories to a kindergarten to wheedle them. But when I have a woman to interview, I know I am up against it hard.

I seem to be straying somewhat from the point; but I shudder to think of the "consultations" we must go through with when women get the ballot and want advice—which they never intend to take.

The Fascination of a Sneer.

While we are on this topic, we may as well finish it.

Oscar Wilde—I think it was Oscar—wrote a play called, "The Importance of Being in Earnest."

I don't know what the play was about; but it had an irritating title; because, of course, the important thing is not to be in earnest.

The person who is in earnest only sees one fly wheel instead of the whole engine. Furthermore, he is a bore and it is worse to be a bore than to be wicked. The only sinner the world will never forgive is the bore.

The only important thing is to be interesting. And you can't be interesting if you are bent on being important. Wherefore the only important thing is unimportance.

Honest, these are not word tricks.

As I look upon the men who have achieved success in the world they all seem to have appreciated this point. Naturally I look first to my own profession for examples.

The two most brilliant young newspaper men I ever knew were the two who were least in earnest. They were both airy young fellows who regarded news and editors and newspapers and most of all the public as a careless bit of foolishness, to be tickled with a feather.

After all, what is the importance of the discovery of a new world; a revolution that uncrowns twenty kings; the election of a Democratic Congress compared with the fact that your cook put too much cheese in the spaghetti?

I could love the whole tribe of womankind if they would lightly grab the ballot with a laugh and a sneer and stop talking about it.

But they will spoil the picture by ranting over their rights. As though anybody had any right to anything except the fistful that you can snatch and hold.

And of course I expect every discerning person to read between these lines and to see that those two brilliant young men were, under their laughter and cynicism, the two most-in-earnest persons I ever knew in my life.

Concerning Inspectors.

The Legislature, I am proud to see, is following the plans of the reformers in Los Angeles and "inspectors" are being created by squadrons.

They are to have plumbing inspectors and lighting inspectors and inspectors of inspectors. If Doc Howton were only inclined to turn reformer, he might be able to get his old job back.

Raising Tomatoes.

Roger Stearns, the automobile man, has let the contract for raising another tomato.

Last year, a kind Congressman sent Roger some tomato seeds which must have been worth about four cents and he hated to see them going to waste.

His wife persuaded him that it would be great exercise for him to make a vegetable garden in the back yard; he could plant the tomato seeds and soon they could proudly munch from their own vines.

Upon laying out the garden, Stearns found that the garden hose wouldn't reach; so he bought a new hose which cost him $10.

Upon careful experiment, he discovered that he wasn't so fond of physical culture as he had thought; so he hired a laborer at $2.50 per day to stir up the earth. He stirred $10 worth and the seeds were put in. Along with other seeds which he had to buy.

The tomato seeds seemed to be chronic invalids and didn't grow. Whereupon Roger hired another gardener who told him that he needed a load of fertilizer. This cost him $4.

The family anxiously waited and watched but the tomatoes didn't seem to come up with enthusiasm. So he got another gardener who told him pityingly that he had the wrong kind of fertilizer. Roger took his advice and sent to a sheep farm for the real stuff.

These various adventures cost him $8 or $10 more.

The bugs came along and chewed on the vines and the caterpillars got their bit; so the net result of the harvest was one tomato. It cost Stearns $38 but it was a pretty good tomato.

POLITICAL DRIFT.

Senator-elect Lippitt of Rhode Island is a conservative of the same class as Senator Aldrich. He was one of the latter's advisers when the last tariff bill was being prepared, and is believed to have had much to do with shaping the cotton schedule. His record is that of a modern successful business man. He has never held office, and is without experience in public affairs. He has, however, the public confidence, as his own affairs and the affairs of others which have been entrusted to him have never suffered.

Edward Grannis, representative to the New Hampshire Legislature from Claremont, is the third generation of his family to represent Claremont. His father, Laurens Grannis, represented Claremont about seventy years ago, and Timothy Grannis, Edward's grandfather was representative about 100 years ago.

Mayor Charles P. Nevin of Butte, Mont., is not a temporizer, nor is he easily frightened. In ordering that the red light district of the city be closed up on February 1, he said that he was sick and tired of the situation and of being threatened and it was up to the opposition now to "bring on their bomb."

Luke Lea, independent Democrat and publisher of the Nashville Tennessean, has made a flying leap into the United States Senate. A deadlock had existed in the Tennessee Legislature for three weeks when Mr. Lea announced his candidacy. He was elected the same day, receiving two more votes than the number necessary to elect. He is but 32 years old and has been a hard fighter for prohibition. Physically Mr. Lea is of imposing appearance. His physique has helped in politics, for he first came into prominence politically when he forcibly wrested the gavel from the hands of the chairman of the State Democratic convention which nominated Gov. Patterson four years ago.

The story is now circulated in Massachusetts that Senator Lodge, recently re-elected, against the opposition of Gov. Foss, will shortly resign his seat and accept an appointment from President Taft as Ambassador to England.

The Baltimore American recently did the State of Maryland a good service by proving that an alleged libel was the truth. The paper was sued for $10,000 damages by Isaac P. Horsey, a Democratic supervisor of elections in Somerset county, who alleged that an article published by the American, saying that the election in that county was a barefaced fraud, did him injury. The American had the ballot boxes brought into court and showed that hundreds of Republican ballots were thrown out by the judges. It also proved that the ballot was fradulent, containing a number of fictitious names with heavy black lines to guide Democratic voters and with no lines at all to guide Republican voters. Trial of the case lasted four days and a verdict in favor of the American was rendered by a jury composed of about an equal number of Democrats and Republicans. The verdict is counted as the most severe blow yet administered to fake and fradulent ballots, which are used at every election in Maryland counties having a considerable white as well as negro Republican vote.

Paint Without Oil

Remarkable Discovery That Cuts Down the Cost of Paint Seventy-Five Per Cent.

A Free Trial Package Is Mailed to Everyone Who Writes.

A. L. Rice, a prominent manufacturer of Adams, N. Y., has discovered a process of making a new kind of paint without the use of oil. He calls it Powderpaint. It comes in the form of a dry powder and all that is required is cold water to make a paint weather proof, fireproof and as durable as oil paint. It adheres to any surface, wood, stone or brick, spreads and looks like oil paint and cost about one-fourth as much.

Write to Mr. A. L. Rice, Manufacturer, 466 North St., Adams, N. Y., and he will send you a free trial package, also color card and full information showing you how you can save a good many dollars. Write today.

The officers found Philistines have yet to that the artistic tem- intoxicating in itself other stimulants to make a noise like a blind pig. But the get-togethers had to separate, and the club is now extinct.

When the students of the College of Fine Arts, in Garvanza, started in to play, about a year ago, they did it with might and main, keeping it up for three moonlit evenings on the that the denizens of Bohemia need no spacious grounds of the art school. They built themselves a platform of vast dimensions, out in the open air, and on this they disported themselves for three magical nights in Indian war paint and feathers, doing stunts that were as picturesque as they were educative. They gave three periods of Indian life, starting with primitive conditions and ending with today. Their tableaux were full of life and color. They sang weird chants to the moon; they went through the grotesque steps of the Snake Dance with wild abandon. The affair was one of the most memorable "art stunts" ever given in Los Angeles, and attracted thousands of interested spectators. All the costumes had been carefully planned and prepared, so that the illusion of reality was almost perfect.

The "smoker," of course, is a time-honored institution among all art students of the sex that indulges unrebuked in the weed that cheers. Here the soul of the hard-working painter may soar on clouds of pungent incense to elysian fields of fame. Here he may "relax" to the very limit—sans collar, sans tie, sans almost everything but his artistic temperament; he'll need that to clothe his thoughts withal. Here he may wrangle, argue, preach, expound with his peers, leaving mighty artistic reputations without a leg to stand on. Pouf! Rembrandt couldn't paint, Rodin can't sculp, Whistler was no etcher!

The members of the Art Students' League of Los Angeles have their "smoker" every now and again, with music mixed in the smoke of tobacco and word battles. Like the other art schools in Los Angeles, the league has also its half-hour sketch class, "recess," as it were, when they play with pen and pencil instead of the brush and charcoal stick. The Palette Club of the School of Art and Design, near Westlake Park, has been established many years, its members sallying forth to the park and other green spots when outdoor nature beckons more loudly than usual. It's hard to keep the artistic temperament pent between four walls of brick.

SOMETHING DOING, SURE.

The painters of our town and the students of our various art schools, are getting their heads together for a grand old splash in play. They're planning a fancy dress party, to be held at no very distant day. Believe me, when painters get into gay and festive toggery they wear it with regal grace, for with them the play's the thing and mummer's the word.

"Billy" Wendt's idea—a glittering one, too—for an appropriate suit for himself, one that will withstand the assaults of all the blamed art critics, is a suit of armor made of stoppers from beer bottles. Armed cap-a-pie, won't he be a shining example for other landscape painters to follow—with an ax? He has already sent in a hurry call for beer stoppers to all his friends, with frantic appeals to the breweries. Yet he fears that he may have to cable for stoppers "made in Germany," if his costume is to be ready in time.

No roaring lion ever had a more majestic mane than Jack Wells, but he declared himself willing to sacrifice it all for the sake of art. He wants to be a Roundhead of Cromwellian austerity, and the helmet won't fit unless he clips his locks. He will mow them to the very roots.

Bob McClure willl appear as a sportive Ace of Hearts (a role that fits.) Miss Rhea Dunne as a still more sportive Cleopatra. Miss Lillian Drain as a lovely lady of the tenth century. One of the league students, Hart Schultz, will don Indian garb and paint and do some war dance stunts. Another student, a dark, handsome girl of Italian descent, has a contadina's costume, sent her from Italy, which she has decided to wear. There will be lords and ladies at the coming costume party, priests and mountebanks, princes and princesses—a veritable kaleidoscope of brilliant colors and graceful designs.

But however brilliant a success the prospective costume party turns out to be, it will have to scintillate pretty hard to beat that famous "turpentine dinner" which Rob Wagner recently gave to a handful of his artistic friends, and which will go down in the chronicles of art as the most unique entertainment ever held in Los Angeles or anywhere else. A turpentine dinner? Sounds a little rummy, doesn't it? But you should have been there! That dinner's gustatory freakishness would have delighted the god of misrule and the goddess of cookery. Um, yum, but it was great, and a portrait painter with a well-developed funny bone, was its presiding genius.

The guests came in evening clothes, but when dinner was announced they were provided by their host with fair smocks to protect their bosoms, shirt and otherwise. Each was given a huge palette, one brush and one palette knife. The most of them discarded the brush as a useless incumbrance, but clung to the knife as the one and only tool necessary to gustatory enjoyment. The palette was the plate, and was held on the arm.

First came a fixatif cocktail, a dilicious drink, tasting very much like a Martini, and served in a tin oil cup. This was drunk, presumably, to give an adhesive coating to the stomach. The food which was served came in tin cans and tubes, and was ladled and squeezed in gobs, all over the palette till it looked as though every man and woman present was a painter of yellow and vermillion sunsets, and as through his or her palette had just been "set." Red gobs, yellow gobs and green gobs were there, all delicious on the palate and pretty on the palette. Oil and terpentines came in cans, and all were tasted and pronounced very good.

After the small black varnish, served in tiny squat turpentine cups, Mr. Wagner produced a pancake of generous proportions, thumb-tacked it on the wall, and proceeded to paint a wonderful portrait out of real food from his palette. Then to prove that an artist can live by his brush, he—ate his picture.

An "amateur night" vaudeville performance was pulled off after the turpentine dinner, for Mr. Wagner had noticed so much talent in Bohemia that he had decided to give the most aggressive braggarts a chance to make good. Nobody had prepared anything, of course, and the stage and the footlights were spontaneous and improvised.

The first number was a song by Miss Dorothy Trask, entitled, "Mother Likes Peaches, but the Seeds Scratch." She stood up erect and beautiful as Trilby, and sang with all her heart and soul—but the audience preferred to have her sing with her voice. They called loudly for the hook, and the poor, abashed young lady was dragged ignominiously into the wings.

Her brother, Wayland Trask, stung by the defeat of his sister, came to blows with a piano in the next number. It was a piano duel between him and Count Wachmeister, but though Trask weighed 220 pounds against the Count's 218, the Count won by four languages, as the Trask could play only two—English and Coon.

A monologue by John Donovan was exceedingly droll, and the reciter would probably have retired with applause had he not said he would tell them the story of an Irishman and a parrot. The audience, fearing that the story might have some swear words) which always offend the esthetics) called for the hook. Rob Wagner attempted an imitation of a hard-boiled egg, but the audience sent him back to cold storage via the hook.

Tom Murphy essayed to sing the part of the bull in "Carmen." He came out dressed like a package of Durham. A vaudeville sketch of a young lady who fell by the Wayside Press was most feelingly interpreted by Alfred Allen. The balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet" was played by Rob Wagner and John Donovan, the one being a Romaine salad, the other a mint julep in the gallery. It was the messiest but most finished number on the programme; that is, it was finished by more requests than the others. There was much difficulty in hooking Juliet out of the gallery. Everett Barker started to sing a song entitled "Oh, How I Love the Smell of Paint!" but the hook reached him before he had time to finish the chorus, beginning:

"Paint, paint!
'Rah, 'rah, 'rah!"

Rob Wagner, who was stage manager, announced that after the prizes were awarded there would be a debate between the Bohemians and the Philistines on the question: "Should the artist be paid?" Riot ensued. There was much abuse and backbiting, and the Bohemians were hopelessly defeated and slaughtered. When the milkman arrived at 8 a.m., he found the book agent, the real estater and the rich dilettante smoking amid the wreckage and in full possession of the studio. Not an artist was left with an argument to stand on.

And thus, properly enough, Rob Wagner's turpentine dinner and vaudeville performance ended in fragrant smoke—incense, if you like.
